Three Acres of the Past

Sunday, May 27, 1972

HIDDEN AWAY among the derricks and oil pumps in the shadow of Signal Hill is a small plot of ground that time has passed by.

It looks much the same today as it did 80 years ago, and it apparently isn't going to change much in the next 80.

This gentle slope of sun-drenched land is the old Long Beach Municipal Cemetery, and its mysterious past is rivaled only by the oddity of its location.

SITUATED AT THE northwest corner of Orange Ave. and Willow St., deep in Signal Hill territory, the cemetery actually is Long Beach property. All around the industry of Signal Hill probes the earth for black, liquid treasure. But despite the fact that the little burial ground sits atop fabulously rich oil deposits, no wells mar its greens, for it is protected by the City of Long Beach and the oil derricks stop at its borders, like an army halted by a river.

Adjoining the old graveyard on the west is Sunnyside Cemetery, but a low hedge and a good many years separate the two. Sunnyside was started in 1906, making it a "Johnny come lately" when compared with the old municipal cemetery.

NO ONE IS SURE just how old the burial ground is—the oldest marked grave is that of one Milton F. Neece who was buried in 1878 at the age of 17 years.

But the graveyard goes back farther than that. Leonard Ryan, sexton, has been there since 1937. He tells about an old man who used to come around the cemetery back in the late 1930s. This elderly gentleman told Ryan that his father had been buried there "years ago—when I was a little boy." Ryan estimates that the man was in his 80s when he first met him!

Even official records don't shed much light on the early days of the cemetery. Mae D. Pierce, chief clerk in the Long Beach city engineer's office, can show you the old books.

THE CITY OF LONG BEACH was first incorporated in 1887, and took over operation of the graveyard on July 10, 1900, from the old Long Beach Cemetery Association or "L. B. Cemetery Co." as it was listed in many entries.

In those days the acreage was known as Signal Hill Cemetery, and the lots had all been sold off for private burial areas.

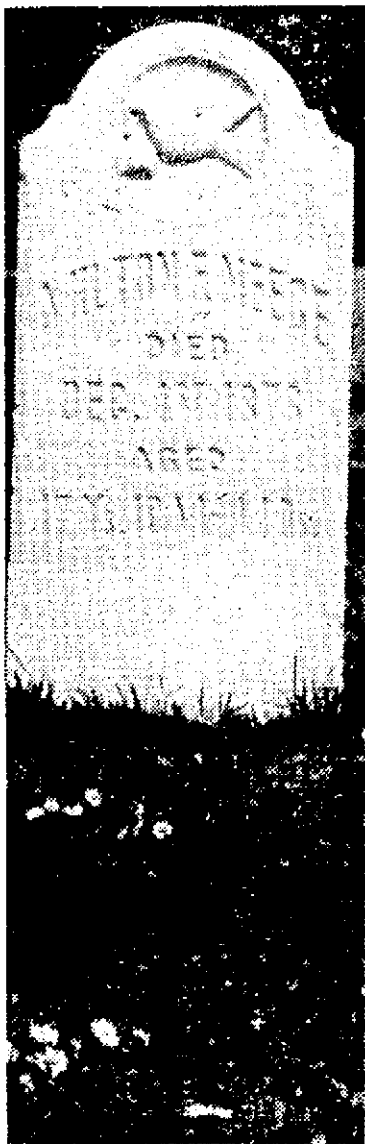

The record books were kept in such a vague manner that the city was unable to determine how much was paid for the lots—or how many persons were interred in the graveyard. The north end of the burial ground was a potter's field of unmarked and unidentified graves, and while the city has made a valiant effort to survey the headstones and spot them on a map, it never will be able to find out much about the potter's field graves.

ON THE EARLY PAPERS the 3½-acre burial ground is described as the "east one-quarter of farm lot 68, American Colony tract." And mention of the American Colony brings up the name of the cemetery's most famed occupant, William Erwin Willmore.

Willmore, city planner, visionary and philosopher, was an official of the American Colony Land and Water Association, organized in 1882. He signed an option contract to pay $100,000 for 4,000 acres of Rancho Los Cerritos, in order to build Willmore City.

His bubble burst and in 1901

he died a pauper, but his Willmore City grew into Long Beach. He lay in a forgotten grave until 1913 when the Signal Hill Civic League erected a modest monument over his final resting place.

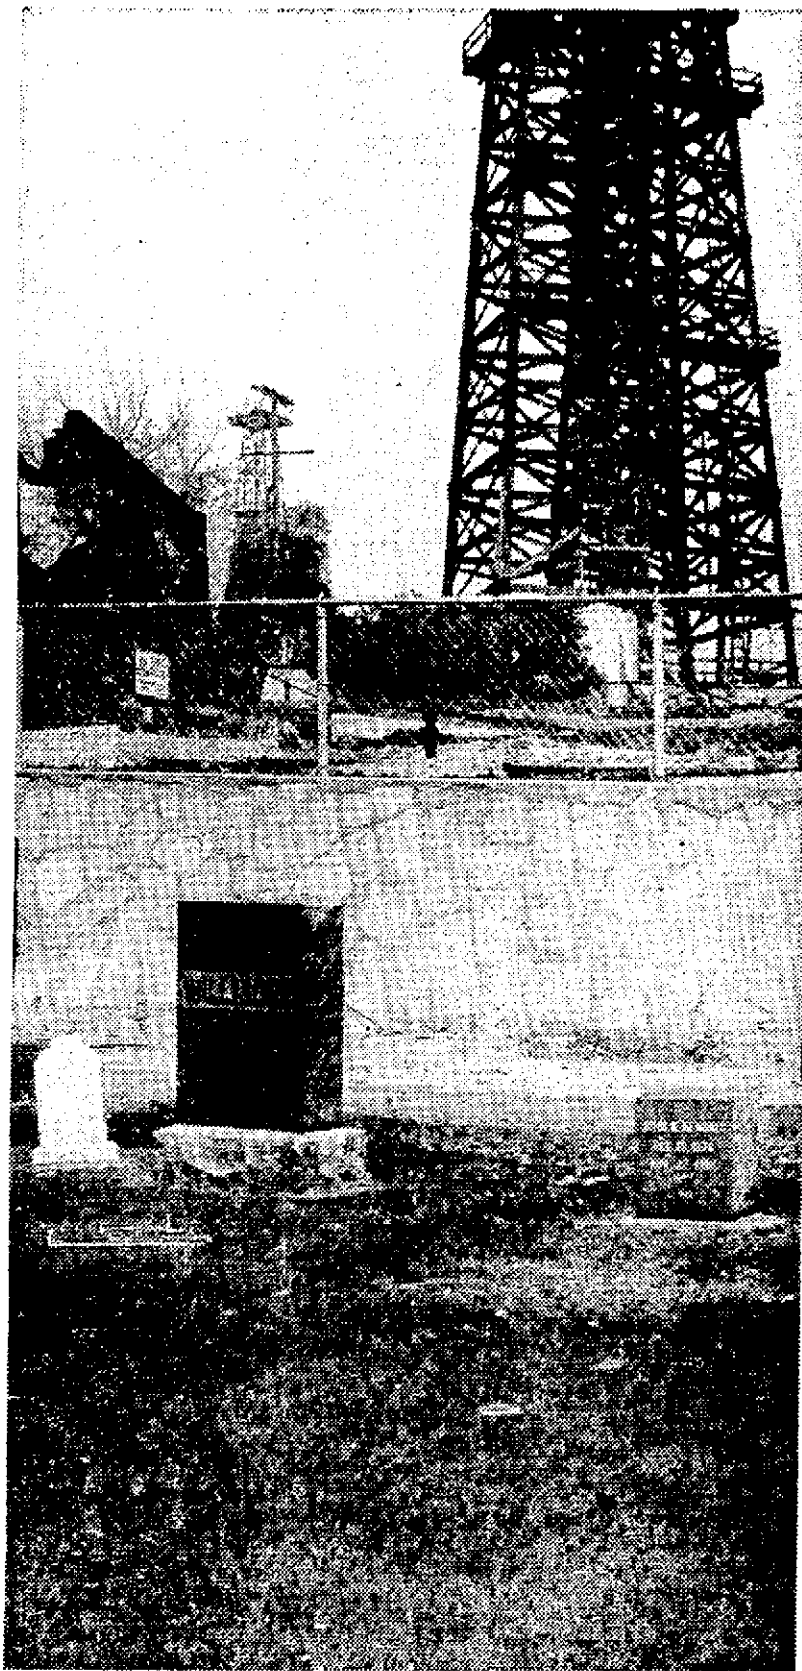

THE CITY AND Leonard Ryan have done much for the old burial ground. The city converted some old driveway area after it took over administration of the cemetery, and made some more lots available—but today there are only about 10 or 12 lots left for sale.

Ryan recalls how, 19 years ago when he came there, the graveyard was pretty well forgotten. Wild mustard was making inroads among the graves and there was no water line. Ryan knocked on doors in City Hall until he got a water line and instructions to "do the best you can." He did his best—and it was good enough. The little cemetery is beautiful.

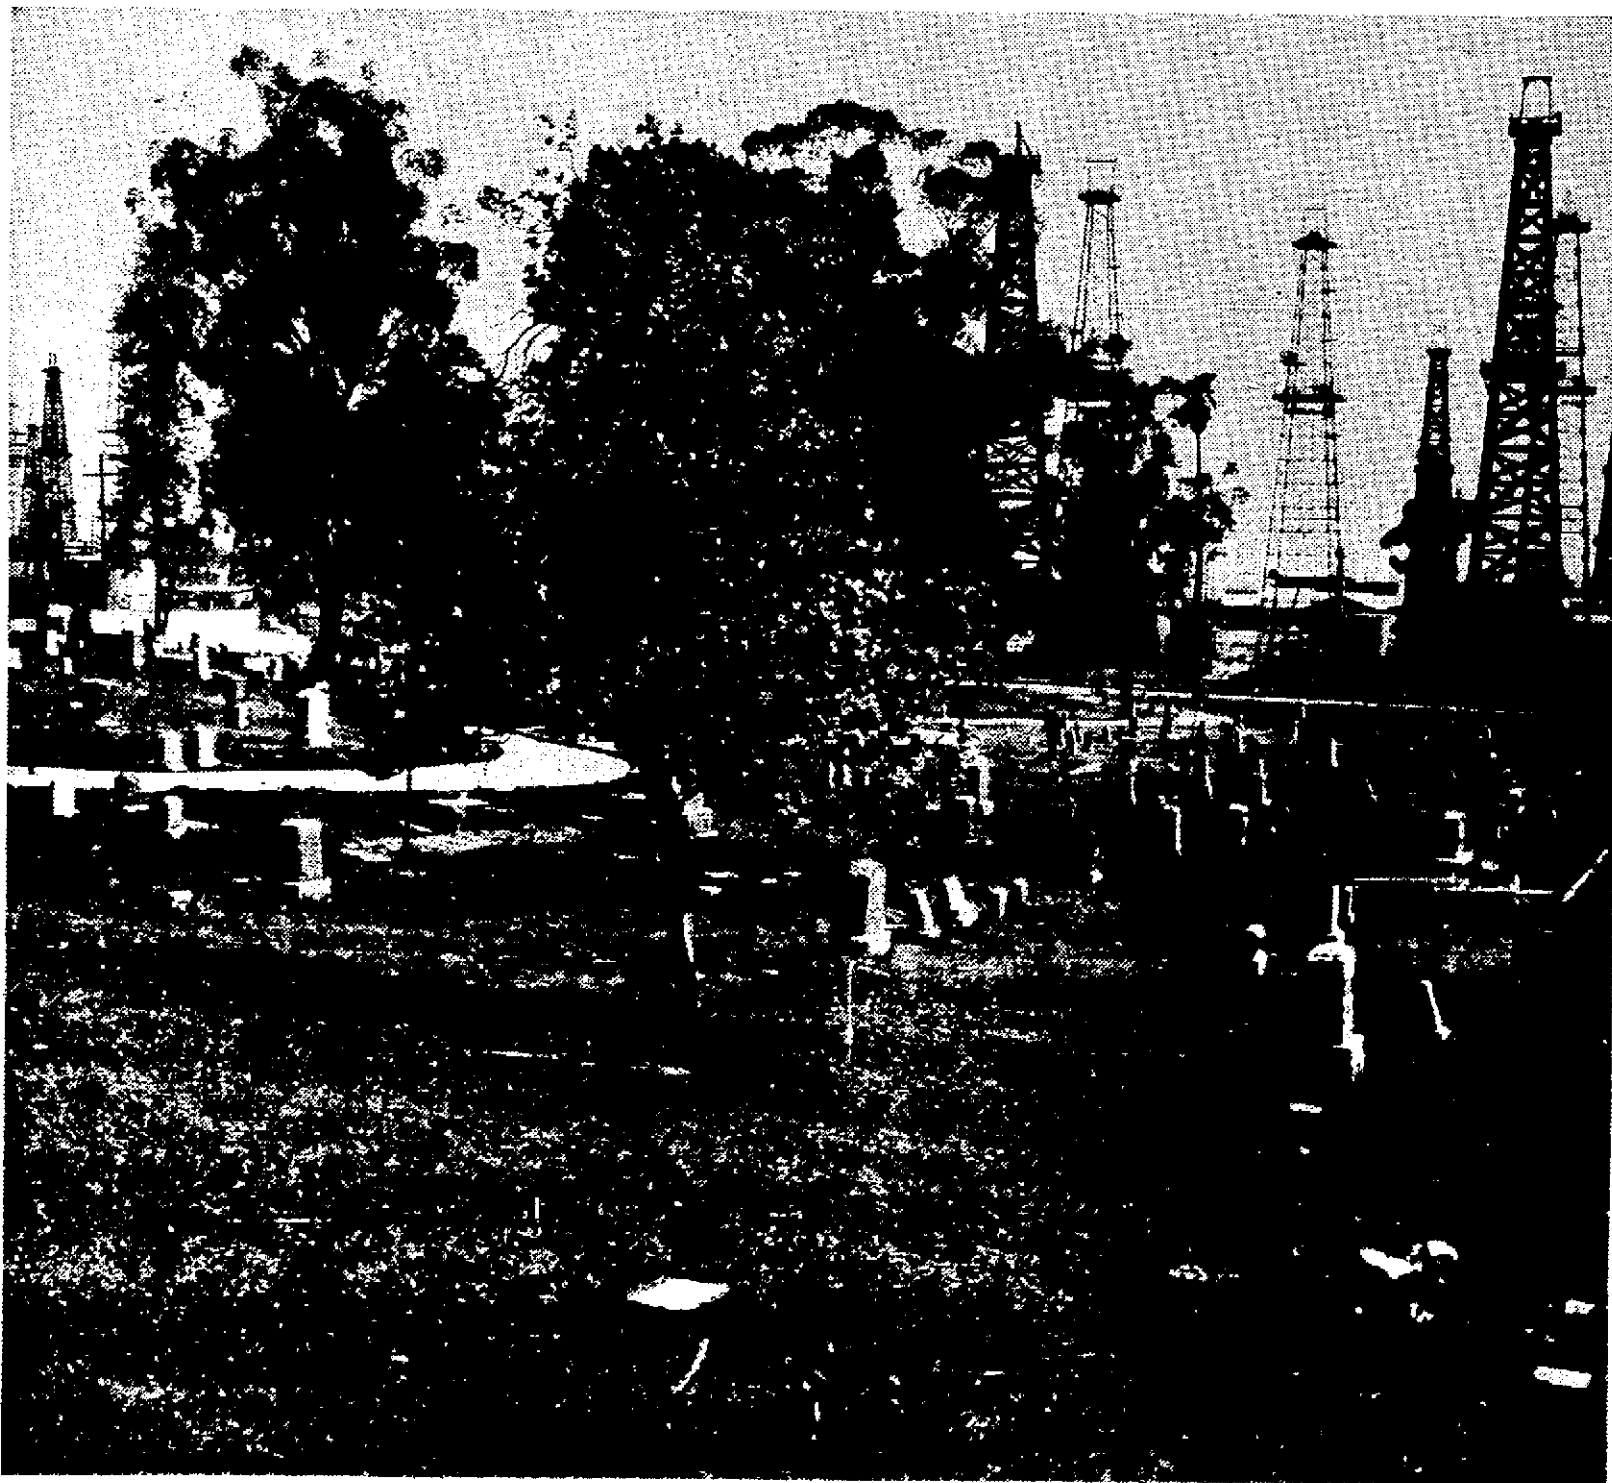

THE ADMINISTRATION of the burial ground has been handed back and forth for years. When the city first took over, it was put under the Board of Public Works, then it went to the Water Commission and later was put under Parks and Public Service. Even today there is no perpetual care assurance—the cemetery is kept up under a park maintenance appropriation!

Oil pumps creak and groan all around, and heavy traffic thunders by on streets just outside the fences, but inside the little burial ground everything is peaceful—just as it was when William Erwin Willmore gazed out across the plain to the sea and envisioned a city growing there.

Inside the fences are three acres of the past.

Wall separates the grave of William Erwin Willmore, city's "father," from busy Orange Ave., oil wells.

As crumbling old markers of L. B. Cemetery become irreparable, modern, ground-level stones replace them.

Good food and a real vacation deep in the Sierra does wonders with boys of 12 to 16 years of age in R. M. Pyles Boys Camp. Sports fare is varied.

By James Phelan

AWAY BACK in the administration of Calvin Coolidge, Freeman E. Fairfield founded Oil Tool Corporation, which now has its headquarters at 3075 Cherry Ave. in Long Beach. Over the years, Oil Tool Corp. has grown and prospered.

This month its 30th anniversary rolled around, and in keeping with the tribal customs of the business world, Fairfield decided to celebrate his company's 30th birthday.

Corporation birthdays, according to proper tribal rites, are observed with either a mass cocktail party or a Nero-type banquet where good fellowship flourishes amid high-calorie viands.

But Oil Tool Corp. decided to stage a different kind of celebration. Instead of feeding a throng of already well-fed businessmen, Fairfield sent out engraved announcements to the 2,500 friends and business associates on his guest list.

The announcements informed them that Oil Tool Corp. was 30 years old, and that the company was celebrating by making a contribution in the guests' names to the R. M. Pyles Boys' Camp.

Last week Oil Tool Corp. gave the boys camp a whopping check representing the "tab" for the party that Fairfield didn't throw.

THE PARTY where nobody came proved to be a remarkable success. Already, Fairfield has been snowed under with letters from his "guests" expressing warm approval of the idea, and the mail still is bringing 20 to 30 letters a day.

"Best darn party I never gave," says Oilman Fairfield.

THE PYLES BOYS' CAMP, now in its eighth year, has been inspiring unusual things in the California oil industry ever since it was founded.

The camp, high in the rustic solitude of Sierra National Forest, was organized, built, and is supported entirely by men and women of the oil industry. It came into being back in 1949, when a group of oil men decided to pay their respects to Robert M. Pyles for his years of service to the industry. Pyles, Huntington Beach oil man, told his friends that the tribute that would give him the most satisfaction was a camp for deserving youngsters.

IN EIGHT YEARS, the California oil industry has pumped a quarter-million dollars in cash and another quarter-million in donated labor and material into the camp high in the mountains 30 miles northeast of Springville, Calif.

Oilmen packed the entire camp and all its equipment over trails into the remote site. Each year a group of oil leaders drum up the budget for the operation of the camp. This year it runs to $30,000. And each year a host of oil people—high salaried executives and plain riggers and drillers alike—journey to the camp to help hundreds of boys enjoy healthful and character-building vacations that they otherwise could not afford.

THE CAMP PAYS all expenses for the boys—transportation, food, bedding, recreational equipment—the works. If a boy doesn't have proper clothes, the camp outfits him free of charge. It draws no lines on race or color, and opens its hospitality to Negro and Mexican youngsters as well as white.

"A boy is a boy," Bob Pyles puts it simply.

The camp operates for 12 weeks, and each boy gets 13 thrilling days among the towering trees and sparkling trout streams of the High Sierra. The camp is deep in the unspoiled mountain reaches and can be reached only by a six-mile hike. Each season the tons of food and supplies must be mule-packed in.

THE BOYS, from 12 to 16 years in age, are selected from the oil producing areas of the state, many from Long Beach and Orange County. Pyles himself, with the help of judges, social workers, police officers, and school officials, picks the boys.

"We have two basic requirements," Pyles says. "A boy must be unable to afford a camp vacation and the kind of youngster that will profit from it."

During their two weeks at camp, the boys ride horses on mountain trails, learn crafts, woodsmanship and conservation, swim and junk rainbow trout from streams, sing around crackling campfires, stuff themselves from heaping plates of wholesome food, and sleep under brilliant stars far from the smoggy skies of the Southland.

THEY GAIN AN average of six pounds of weight and two inches of chest expansion.

They also gain some intangibles that can't be measured.

The camp quietly and unobtrusively instills in them qualities of good citizenship, self-reliance, and cooperation with others.

"A lot of the boys come up looking for a gimmick in the deal," says Bob McAdams, former Scout executive who directs the camp program. "They have never had anything given to them without strings before, and they take the city-bred viewpoint that there must be some angle."

INSTEAD, THEY find a camp where there isn't a single sign saying "Don't" where the only thing expected of them is to enjoy themselves and get along with the rest of the gang.

"Some people say you can't do much with a boy in two weeks," McAdams says. "But we know by a lot of experience that you can."

The Pyles files bulge with heart-warming evidence that this is true. Mexican lads from squalid farm-labor camps get a wider horizon of life and learn a deeper meaning in the flag ceremony held each day at camp. A Negro boy who knew first-hand the warping effect of racial discrimination stood up at the final campfire and with misty eyes told his new-found buddies:

A boy with a continual chip on his shoulder, who had never got along with others, lost his belligerence in the camp camaraderie and wound up winning the boys' vote as honor camper.

When the camp shuts down in September, a follow-up program goes into operation and each year it has been expanded. The oil men keep in touch with the boys and help maintain the feeling, born at the camp, that "somebody cares."

THE PYLES CAMP provided vacations for 40 boys the first year of its operation. Last year it served 330. This year more than 400 will make the trek into the High Sierra and in the closing two weeks this fall the camp will be host to its 2000th boy.

The oil industry has thrived on long-shot gambles, and in the Pyles camp it has hit a gusher from its unique investment in the youth of California.

Its reward has been a whole crop of better boys, some of whom Bob Pyles hopes will become the oil men of tomorrow.

And there has been the added dividend of the praise of such people as Joseph Kennick, head of the Long Beach Juvenile Bureau, a man in a position to know the lasting values of the camp.

When Oil Tool Corp. was 30 years old, Freeman Fairfield (c), president; R. J. Osburn (r), vice president, gave check to R. M. Pyles (l) for boys camp.

2-Way Crime Stopper

Citizen stops, phones the sheriff's office, telling about suspicious autoist.

Picture and Story

By Jack B. Kemmerer

LAW ENFORCEMENT groups, for many years, have made widespread use of mobile communications, but not everybody knows how they operate. Here's a glimpse, and a case in example, behind the scenes, with Sgt. W. V. Hotra of the Norwalk detective bureau of the Los Angeles County sheriff's office playing the part of an armed stickup man. In this case, as in many that are called to police attention, private citizens report unusual incidents—all of which are thoroughly checked out although many are false and misleading. As it is in this enactment of a crime, a private citizen driving out of a gas station notices a man getting out of a car with a gun in his belt. The man's actions further arouse the citizen's suspicions. He looks for an opportunity to tip off the police. A block from the gas station, he finds a public telephone.

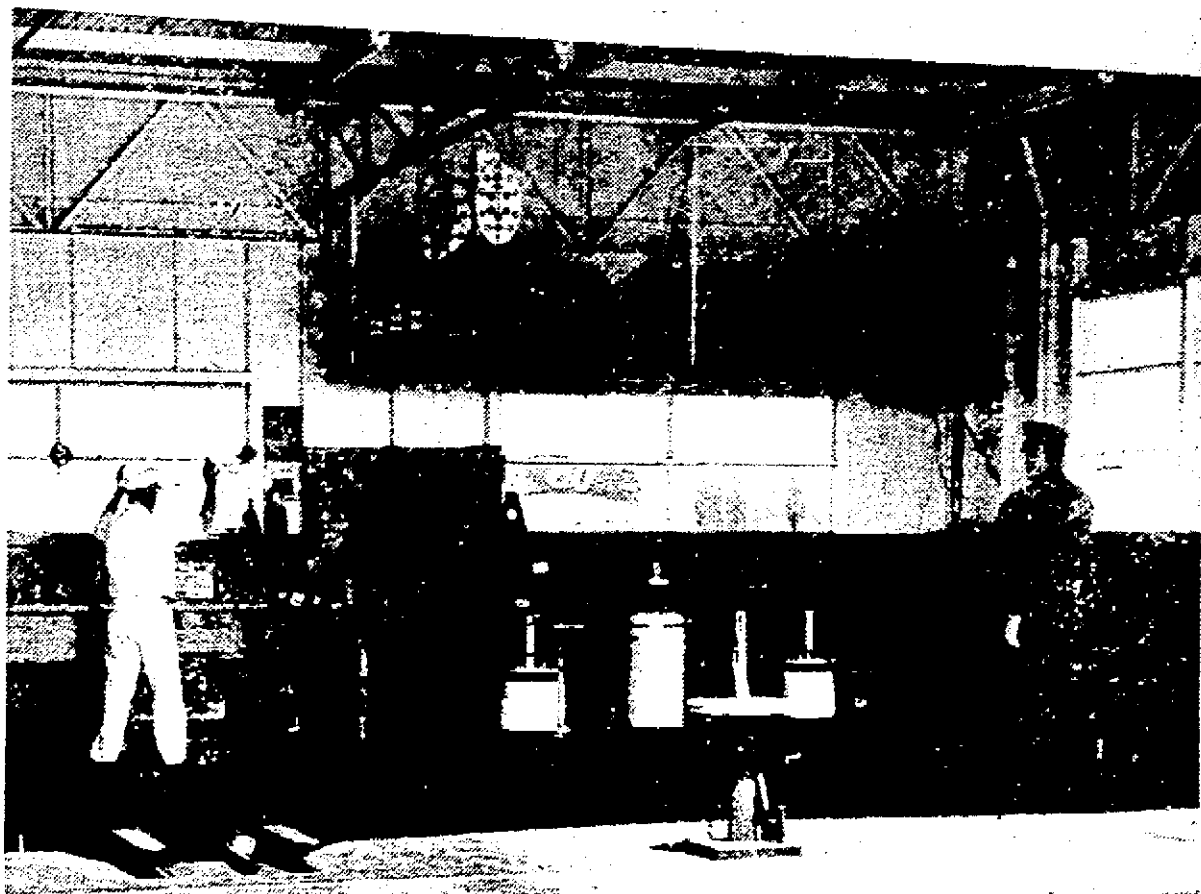

Sheriff's Radio Central controls units throughout 3325 square miles of county. Seconds after citizen's call, deputy broadcasts: "Attention all units, special attention Norwalk Car 454, a 211 in progress. Investigate."

Deputy C. F. Buck in Car 454, patrolling Norwalk area, acknowledges call, proceeds to the scene of the possible armed robbery — a 211.

Meanwhile, the citizen's suspicions were 100 percent correct, robbery is in progress. Bandit rifles cash box, seeks more loot inside.

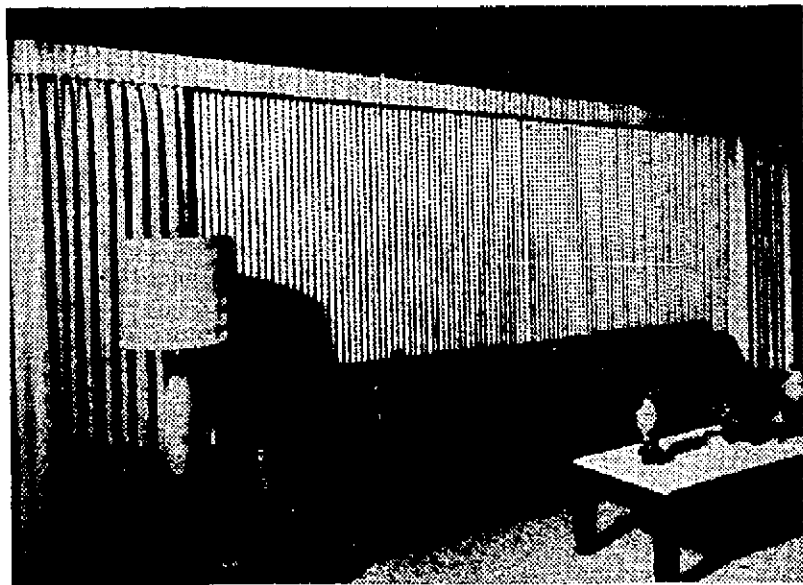

In less than five minutes from time of robbery report, Buck makes an approach; slipping up on unsuspecting gunman, he is able to disarm the man.

Using mobile radiophone in his patrol car, Buck calls for assistance to haul the suspect off to county jail.

Invitation to a 13-ager Party

Teen-agers like plenty of refreshments at their parties, substantial food but attractively prepared, easy to pick up and eat, as posed photo shows.

EVERY thirteen-ager should be allowed to have a party at least two or three times a year. Parents who have not yet permitted their youngsters to have this privilege might be surprised to learn that the preparations for such affairs are quite simple, and the cost is relatively small.

First of all, invitations to the party should be given about three weeks in advance. It is a good idea to telephone the guests in order that mothers can talk with one another, confirm the time, and be reassured that the party will be well chaperoned.

The number of guests should be limited to six or seven couples. If a rumpus room is not available, the living room (and perhaps the dining room, if there is one) will be used.

A party is more festive if some kinds of decorations are evident. Perhaps the most inexpensive and effective ornamentations are balloons. These cost as little as a cent each, and if they are blown up, rubbed against a coarse material, then put against the wall or ceiling, they will stay in place without hurting the paint or woodwork in any way.

REFRESHMENTS for a teen-age party should be substantial yet attractive. An excellent menu might include punch made with grape juice, orange juice and ginger ale; two or three kinds of sandwiches, such as pea-

Danger rides with the pilots of these 266-cubic-inch hydroplanes, capable of 120-plus miles per hour, but these outfits lure the true Spraymaniacs.

SPEEDBOAT RACERS HAVE NEW NAME

They Call Them 'Spraymaniacs'

By Bob Ruskauff

THEY'VE DEVELOPED a new name for these "disciples" of high speed over water.

They are calling them "Spraymaniacs." The disease which obsesses them is called "Spraymania."

There are other names for it, but none any better.

It strikes in moderate and heavy form, but attacks are rarely light. If moderate, those stricken eventually outgrow it, though they never forget it. If heavy, it never quite leaves. Those it has struck hard never bother to fight it. Further, they can sometimes even explain why.

THOSE FOR WHOM the disease is incurable are generally the greatest in their speed clan. The faster they go, the rougher their class, the greater the risk. They know this. Knowing it, the fast-and-rough is exactly what they go for.

Nor have they been "just lucky so far." With rare exceptions, the top ones among these prop-riders have experienced nasty, injury-producing spills. Some of the injuries have been serious.

On Wednesday some prime examples among the high priests of Spraymania will be at Long Beach Marine Stadium, racing hell-for-leather (as usual) in the 11th edition of the All-Western Sweepstakes regatta, for inboard racing hydroplanes and runabouts. The event is one of three top-flight inboard meets on the upcoming national holidays, all part of a record program of race-boat action on the famous "lanky lagoon" during 1956.

All of the true Spraymaniacs

will be there. They always come back. They must. Not for money; none gets back what it costs. So, at first thought, it might seem strange.

Take Kenny Ingram, as an example. Two years ago this 40-year-old machine shop superintendent was run over in an accident on Marine Stadium. He lost an arm. Last year he was back, racing in a successful season. This year though, instead of his 48-cubic-inch hydroplane, Ingram is due out with a new, faster job, in the 225-cubic-inch class. He has a special steering arrangement to drive with his "store-made" hand.

Or take Bob Willis of the Willis Oil Tool Co. on Signal Hill. Three years ago he drove a boat called Roughneck to win the National E-Racing Runabout title, at Buffalo. Later, Willis was in a nasty spill on Salton Sea. So, last year, he went into the faster 225 class. Now he's into the souped-up dynamite fleet of 266-cubic-inch hydroplanes.

"I like speed," explains handsome Bob.

Three years ago Sid Street, Kansas City automobile dealer, was hospitalized for months, following a spill with his 266-cubic-inch hydroplane, Z-Z-Zip, also on Salton Sea.

TWO MONTHS AGO Street was out on Marine Stadium testing a new Z-Z-Zip, built up by the famed Southland "brain-trust" of Joe Guess and Bob Sykes. The chance hasn't come yet, but the boat has displayed an ability to turn 135 miles an hour, far over present record. Said Street: "If she'll hold together I know we'll do it."

He won't be racing here May 30, but Kenny St. Oegger, a veteran of Marine Stadium action, will be gingerly trying out the strengthening leg he broke when Hawaii Kai flipped March 4 in Honolulu. A new Hawaii Kai unlimited hydro is being built at St. Oegger's place, General Fixture Co., in Los Angeles, for Henry J. Kaiser. St. Oegger will drive it.

Said Kenny: "We are duplicating the hull. It went beautifully. Barring accident, we'll get the unlimited piston-boat record."

THREE DAYS BEFORE he made his record jet hydroplane run of 216.2 m.p.h. on Lake Mead, Nev. I asked England's Donald Campbell "Why this stuff?" He smiled and asked: "Why does a man climb a mountain?"

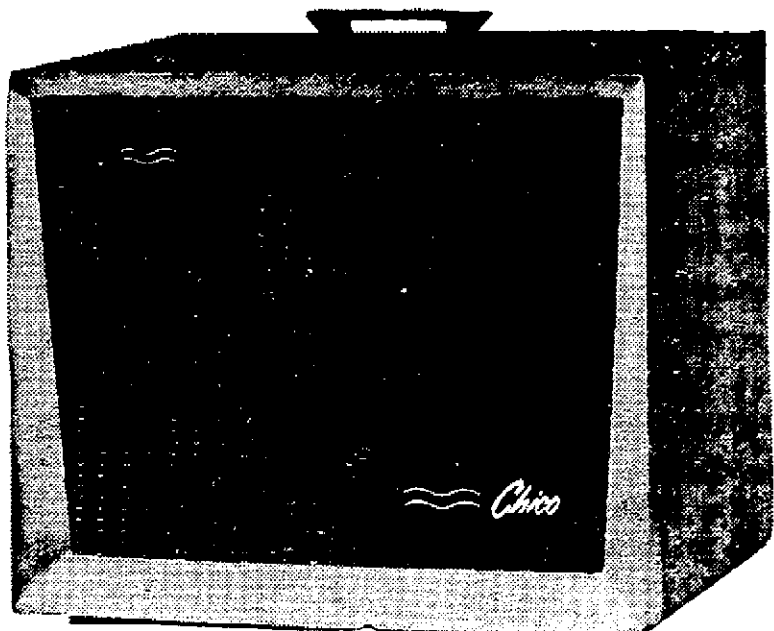

Why, indeed. Spraymania? Well, you just have it, though some will give a deeper reason.

It's only by extracting the utmost, and then a little more, from these swift, souped-up mechanical demons, that those who race discover things. Those things are instructive to engineers and builders. As Campbell commented:

"Whatever you put on a blueprint and build isn't enough. Somebody has to go out and prove whether it works or not."

Those who go out are thoroughly aware how serious this Spraymania can be. But what they discover may eventuate into something better—and safer—for you and I to drive in more leisurely fashion, a few years hence.

She Soloed in Ballet

SHE MOVES easily, lightly, carrying trayloads of dishes as if she were a ballet dancer.

And slim Elizabeth Haire, 54, waitress and bus girl at Manning's Coffee Cafe, 125 W. Broadway, IS a ballet dancer.

She danced in the Orient for 17 years, much of the time as first soloist with the Russian Ballet Dancers. She has danced in most of the large theaters, night clubs, and smart restaurants in China, Japan, Java, Hong Kong and Manila.

BORN IN THE UKRAINE, as Elizabeth Karasseff, the daughter of a doctor, she received her general education and her ballet training in Moscow. Her dancing name was Lila Veresshaguina, or more often merely "Miss Veresshaguina."

By way of the Russian-Asiatic Railway, since surrendered to the Chinese, she traveled with the Russian Ballet dancers to Harbin in 1928, where her dancing career began in the Harbin Opera House. In those days Harbin was half Russian and half Chinese.

After two years there, the

By Vera Williams

Russian Ballet Dancers began traveling. "Most of the time," she says, "we had a prima ballerina, a premier, a ballet master, four first soloists, eight second soloists."

"The group played in the big places, but one, two, three or four of us would play the smaller places. We did three, four or five ballets a year. Always there was practice, rehearsals."

"We had to have many beautiful costumes, and they cost much money."

"We made more money playing, like in the movie theaters, between shows. Sometimes we played three or four movie theaters at one time. Without time to change, we would go in our costumes in a car from theater to theater, three performances a day in each theater, and maybe restaurants also at night."

"SHANGHAI," she says, "was our main town. We would go from Shanghai to other places, but always we would come back."

Her last appearance was in 1945 in the Lyceum Theater in Shanghai. She came to Long Beach in 1948 and has been at Manning's for four years. She has become an American citizen.

Her first husband, whose last name was Veresshaguina, died in Russia before the war. Her second husband, an American named Haire, now is in Japan.

Her mother, son and two grandchildren live in Russia. At least they did the last she knew. "We cannot get letters back and forth, but we hear from each other roundabout."

DOES SHE DANCE any more?

She shakes her head. "Sometimes I give a ballet lesson. A school calls me to help with a pupil. They like the way I teach."

Does she want to dance any more?

"That is past. . . Oh, sometimes when there is pretty music on the radio and I am alone, I dance. But no one sees me."

Just a little bit out of real life character in her daily work, Elizabeth Haire strikes a pose reminiscent of days when she was first soloist in ballet.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH

"Would it be possible for us to take our dog—a small dog—with us on a trip to Europe this summer?"

THE airlines will fly a dog. And some of the shipping lines have de luxe kennels. But you run into terrible complications in England particularly. A six months quarantine right to start. I think France is easy.

The French take their dogs into restaurants and feed them from the table quite often. It is a doggy country. If you want to find out about quarantine charges in England, write Spratt's Patent Ltd., 41/7 Bow Road, London E. 3.

"We have a choice of stop-overs (due to time schedules). Which is better, Hong Kong or Manila?"

MY CHOICE would be Hong Kong. Manila is certainly foreign and exotic and interesting. But Hong Kong is more of a city. If you want a little wild life, take the boat over to Macao. Gambling, opium layouts, smuggling and quite a pretty town too. I'd keep clear of the Chinese border though. Once in a while they have a little trouble and you could come back with your brain laundered. A good town if you mind your own business.

"How about road connections between Mexico and Guatemala?"

AS always, still in the planning stage. Below Tehuantepec about 100 miles turn off to Arriaga on the coast. You load your automobile on a flat car and ride it down to the Guatemala border. Requires a certain amount of patience and persuasion sometimes to get an empty flat car. A 50-peso note is a handy persuader.

"Should we take travelers checks or is there a better way?"

After trying travelers checks, personal checks, letters of credit and transferred funds, I've decided on the travel checks. Even though at this moment I have been waiting three months for a return on one stolen $50 check.

Personal checks are too hard to cash. Letters of credit put you through too much paper work in banks where the language is a problem. Same goes for transferred funds. The travel checks cash anywhere. And I suppose I'll get the $50 sometime.

THE Spanish roads are not super highways. But they are what we would call good secondary roads. Hotels and restaurants may be a problem. Especially during the heavy tourist season. There are very good State-operated posadas. But they are small and often full. However, I've done it 'couple of times. Without reservations, just wandering from place to place. And I always managed well enough.

"Do we get visas on our passports here or when we get to Europe?"

NO visas necessary any more in any country this side of the Iron Curtain. Just an up-to-date passport. And a vaccination within the last three years to get back into the United States.

Your mailed questions will be answered (no phone calls). Send stamped and addressed envelope to: Stan Delaplane, Southland Magazine, Independent, Press-Telegram, Sixth and Pine, Long Beach 12, Calif.

Berlin Fair

Steeped in History

Visitors touring southeast Washington generally make their headquarters at Walla Walla, the gracious and historic old city founded along the Oregon Trail. One attraction near the city is the Marcus Whitman National Monument and grave—the site at which this famous missionary was massacred by renegade Cayuse Indians in 1847.

State Parks Pack 'Em In

THIS SUMMER even more than last, America's state parks systems will be bursting at the seams. Reports from all states to the National Association of Travel Organizations indicate that camping sites especially are going to be scarce. In states, vacationers already are too late to reserve sites on which to pitch tents.

The increased popularity of camping is one of the vacation phenomena of the mid-20th Century, says the association, which speaks for the whole U. S. travel industry. Tent and trailer camping in state parks grew 60 per cent in popularity from 1952 to 1954. Preliminary reports to the National Park Service indicate an additional 15 per cent camping in the state parks during 1955.

To help meet the tremendous upswing in parks popularity, California has made many additions and improvements. Among these is the transfer of 1,834 acres of Shasta National Forest land to Castle Crags Park, which will have 50 new camp sites, a comfort station and other facilities with summer. McArthur-Burney Falls Memorial Park has a new concession building. Pfeiffer-Big Sur Park officials have a "Litterbug" program in which children receive prizes for the most litter collected in the park. Prizes are Smokey Bear fire prevention pins and horseback rides.

The U. S. has more than 2,000 state parks, ranging from small picnic areas to tremendous acreages with million-dollar lodges and complete resort facilities. Arizona now is the only state of the 48 without some sort of state parks system.

Attendance at the park system has jumped more than 40 per cent since 1952, and should be more than 180,000,000 in 1956.

in California's Antelope Valley little did he realize that less than 25 years later the public would be beating a path to his isolated and rockbound door.

At their homestead ranch Edwards and his family decided in 1928 to build a weekend summer home in the desolate but beautiful spot high above the desert floor of Antelope Valley. Their first construction was a huge rock fireplace built against the massive rock formations and which today greets visitors to the Antelope Valley Indian Museum in the main room of the buildings.

Due to his interest in minerals, shells and Indian archeology, Edwards hit upon the idea of establishing a small museum to hold his growing collection. Throughout the Antelope Valley interested persons added to the growing collection and made loans or gifts of valued stone implements, baskets and other Indian material.

THE SMALL MUSEUM was bulging at the seams by 1938 and needed more room. Grace and Joe Oliver, Antelope Valley ranchers, decided to buy the property and expand the buildings for the benefit of the area's school children. Grace Oliver has been an ardent archeological fan for years and had made many trips to Central and South America, Canada, and East and Southwest collecting Indian materials.

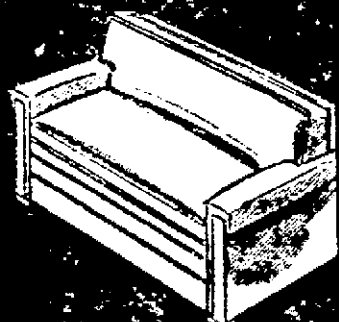

The Olivers made extensive additions to the museum, adding both rooms and more Indian material including complete displays of the work of modern Indian tribes. Today, the rambling chalet-type buildings house as fine a collection of Indian art as any museum in the country and the Olivers take great pride in showing the unique museum carved in the rocks of Piute Butte.

LAGUNA BEACH MAN RECALLS HIS PART IN

The Golden Age of the Theater

Famed on the inland waterways of the U. S. were showboats like this. The Cotton Blossom, on which Oswald Jackson trod the boards, resembled this.

By Caroline Coleman

"IT WAS the golden age of the theater—and I was part of it!"

High in his snug hillside house at Laguna Beach, with the ocean glittering far below, Oswald Jackson — "Ozzie" to his artist friends, "Jack" to his actor friends — looks over his press books, clippings, photographs.

In his career and his memories he comes close to encompassing the golden age of the American theater—an age that many theater-goers think is far past.

Jackson greatly regrets that he did not see Edwin Booth, but he saw the other greats of his youth and he appeared with some of them.

"I SUPED WITH Bernhardt in 'Camille' and 'The Scorchers,'" he says, "and I suped with Duse in 'Francesca da Rimini.'"

"A super—supernumerary — is an extra, one who appears in a mob scene, perhaps he carries a spear, but he has no lines to speak. Supe is the verb."

Jackson then was a young Chicago theatrical student, and the students received 50 cents a night for "suping" in the great shows that came along.

"Sarah" Bernhardt was the greatest of them all," he says, "well, of course there was Eleonora Duse — but they were so different. Duse was suppressed. Bernhardt let go and did the terrific climaxes.

"Duse was aloof. She wore no makeup. She did not come to the rehearsals with us. We never saw her until we went on the stage with her.

"BERNHARDT loved to be with people. Bernhardt never came in the stage door. She came in the front door, heading a procession. Following her came her manager, her secretary, her leading man. And do you know who her leading man was in those days? Lou Tellegen. He was 19 years old and very handsome." (Tellegen later committed suicide by stabbing himself 78 times with a knife.)

"Bernhardt spoke French—no English," recalls Jackson, "but I always thought she could speak English if she wanted to."

He recalls that one time a student, Marie Schweisthadt, who spoke a little French, was chosen by Bernhardt to play the part of her maid in "The Scorchers."

"Bernhardt told her in French she wanted her hair down and loose, fluffed out for the play.

"THE PLAY WAS about the Spanish inquisition, with a terrific climax with only Bernhardt and the maid on the stage.

"The curtain rung down. The crowd began cheering and yelling 'Bravo! Bravo! Bravo!'

"Marie started to run off the stage, but Bernhardt pulled her back, and with her arm around

... And Then He Met DeMille

Cecil B. DeMille, John Jensen, Long Beach artist, talk on set of "The Ten Commandments." Sir Cedric Hardwicke, head shaved for Pharaoh role, sits in.

By Vera Williams

JOHN JENSEN, Long Beach artist and former student at Chouinard Art Institute, Los Angeles, is mighty glad he entered a picture in a student exhibition there a few years ago.

"There was this sketch of mine on the walls," Jensen tells the story. "Along came Henry Wilcoxon, Cecil B. DeMille's associate producer.

"Wilcoxon liked the sketch and asked to meet me. He invited me to the studio. I thought he was ribbing me.

"But I went, and met DeMille—and DeMille hired me."

JENSEN WAS a production designer on the circus story, "The Greatest Show on Earth." Now he is hard at work on DeMille's VistaVision story of "The Ten Commandments," his imagination channeled through paints, brush, pen and pencil, scale ruler and sketches and drawings of all kinds.

In association with Arnold Friberg, the celebrated Mormon artist and illustrator, Jensen has created Biblical impressions of major scenes, together with action, wardrobe and character interpretations for "The Ten Commandments."

These visualizations, detailed on canvas or pad paper, serve every department—costumes, properties, camera and construction.

IN MANY INSTANCES a look at the artists' sketches has given Producer-Director DeMille a new idea in playing a scene or a new interpretation or piece of business, character-wise, for Charlton Heston, Anne Baxter, Yul Brynner, Edward G. Robinson, Yvonne De Carlo, Debra Paget, John Derek or others in the picture.

Pictorial high points of "The Ten Commandments" include Moses on Sinai receiving the law for all mankind; Hebrew slaves toiling in brick pits to build a great city for their Egyptian captors; pomp and ceremony of the court of Pharaoh; Biblical plagues; the Exodus; the splitting of the Red Sea.

Jensen concentrated on costumes worn by John Derek as Joshua and Edward G. Robinson as Nathan, the traitor.

The Golden Key of D & E
Opens New Fairyland of Homes
"Prince Charming"
 SERIES

FAIRVIEW RANCHES

"And they lived happily ever after" is the way that all good fairy stories end, and to make this happy conclusion come true for modern Prince Charmings and their ladies fair, D and E proudly presents the most enchanting community of homes ever designed—Fairview Ranches Prince Charming Series. Straight from the pages of "Sleeping Beauty," "Snow White," and all of the happiest books of childhood . . . come these charming homes with their low sweeping roofs, wide overhangs, their quaint windows, shutters, and brick trim, and their nostalgic remembrance of long ago and far away. Here is the happiest living of all . . . in D and E's incomparable Prince Charming homes.

For all their quaintness and charm, these Prince Charming homes are no stage set of canvas and paint . . . for here is sound, conventional quality construction—as only D and E Builders, with a proud record of thousands upon thousands of homes built in Southern California, can bring you. You'll find solid hardwood oak floors laid over diagonal sub-flooring raised 18 inches above the ground. The walls and ceilings are genuine lath and plaster, so durable and adding so much to the resale value. A whole world of luxury features ranging from the massive fireplace to the lavish built-in kitchen appliances promise a lifetime of living "happily ever after!"

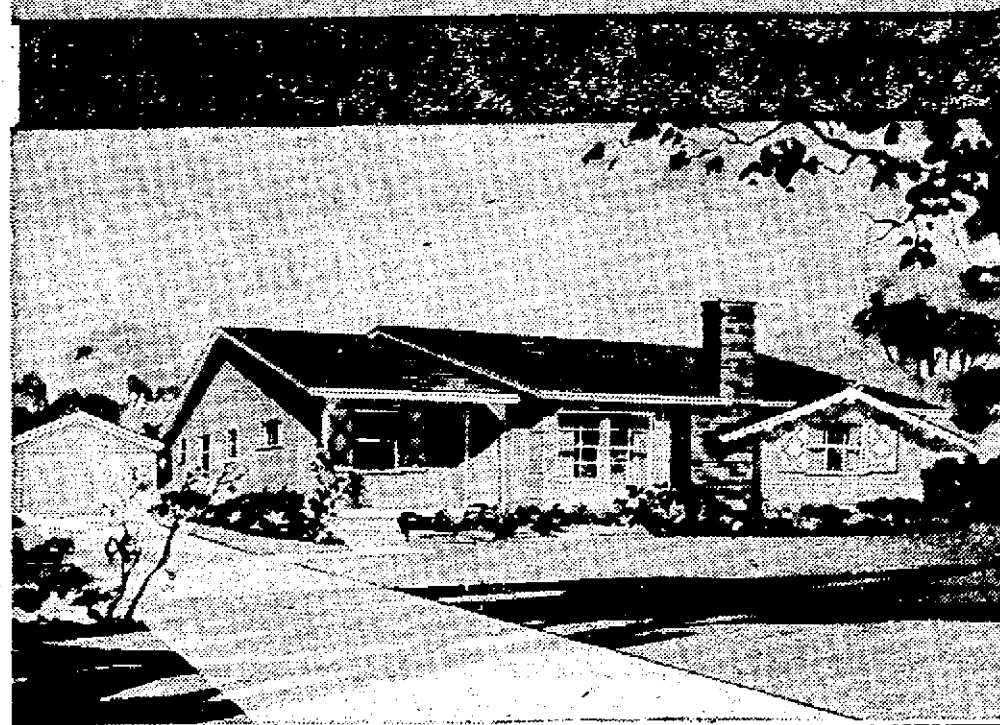

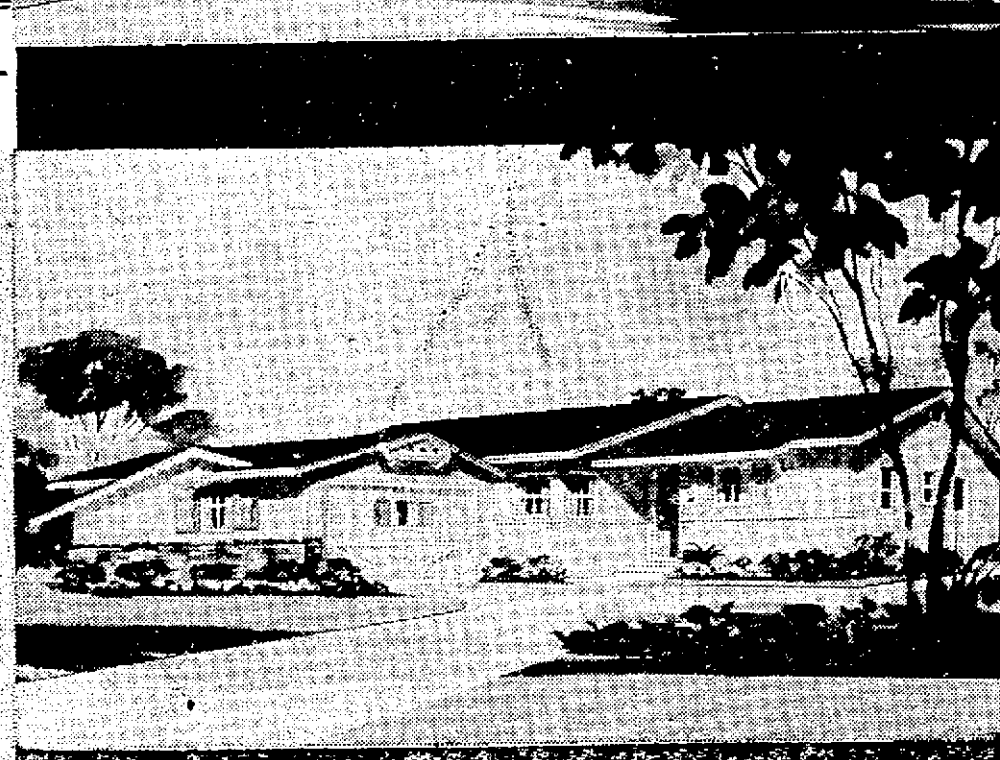

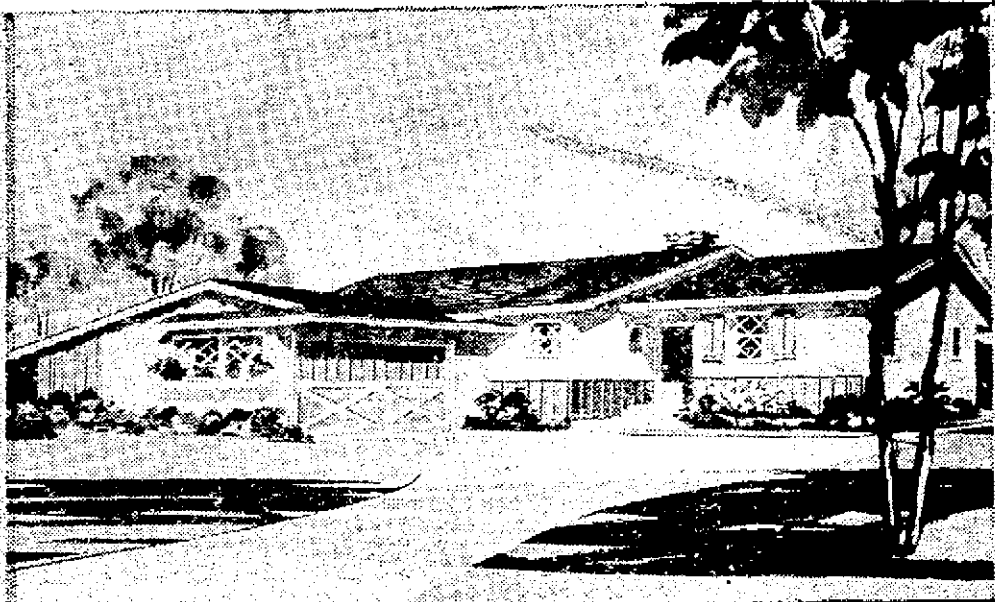

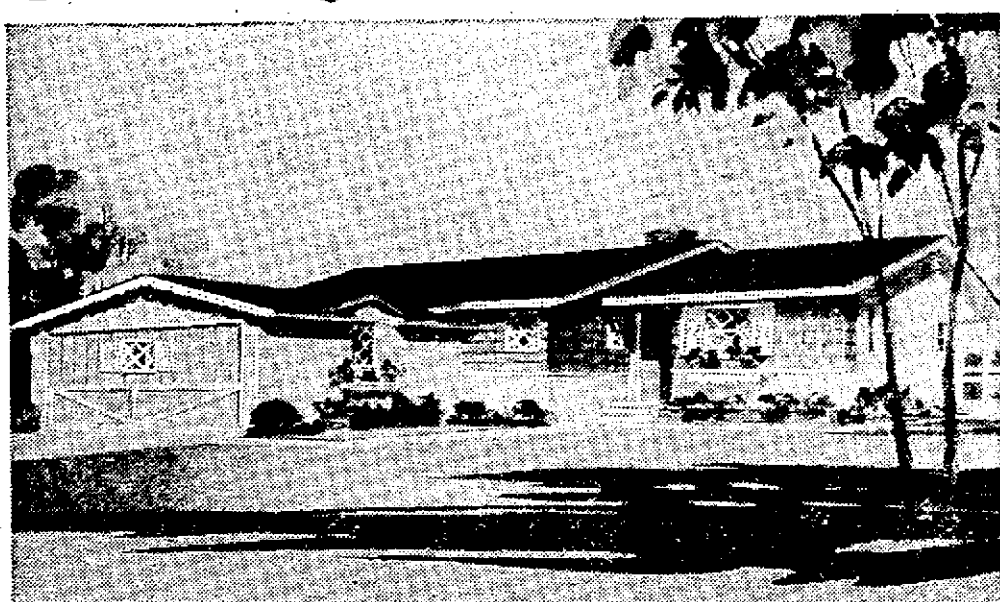

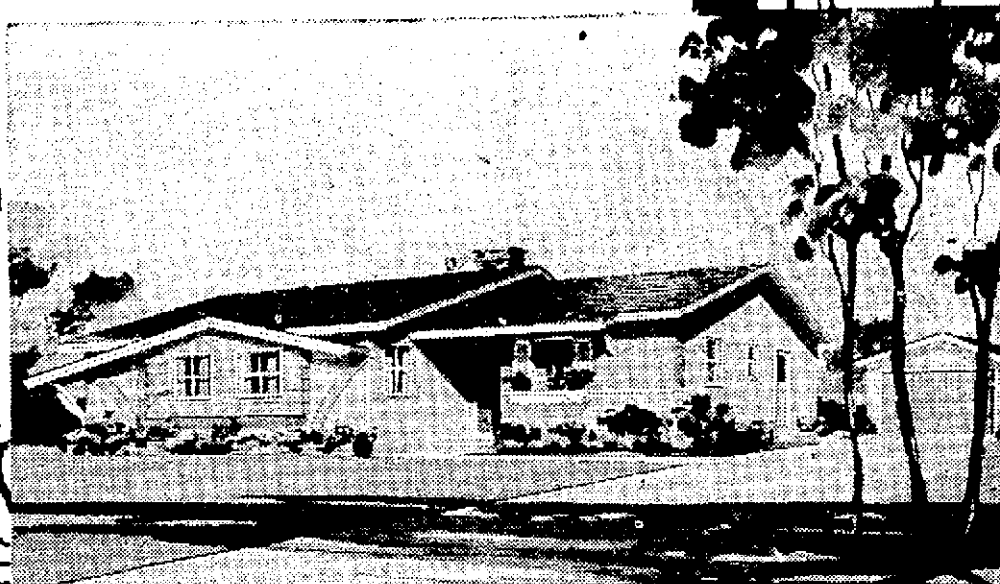

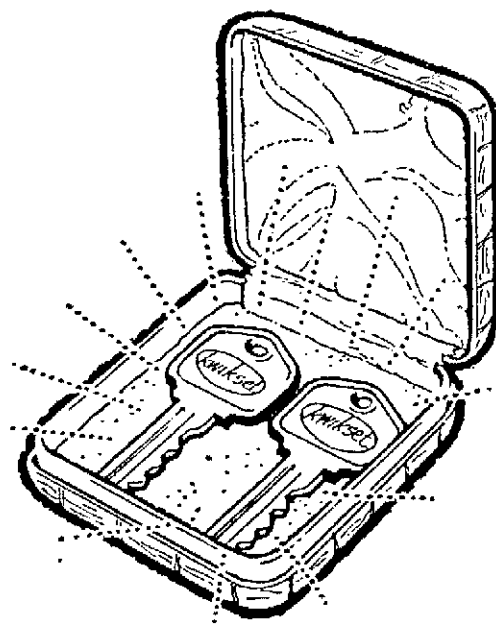

The Prince Charming Model 1-C

The Golden Key of D & E is Your Passkey to Happiness!

The day when you first turn the key and open the door to your own Prince Charming home will be the happiest of your life! And so that you may always cherish this memorable occasion, the builders of your home will present to you this miniature jewel box containing two gold keys... your passkeys to a lifetime of happiness!

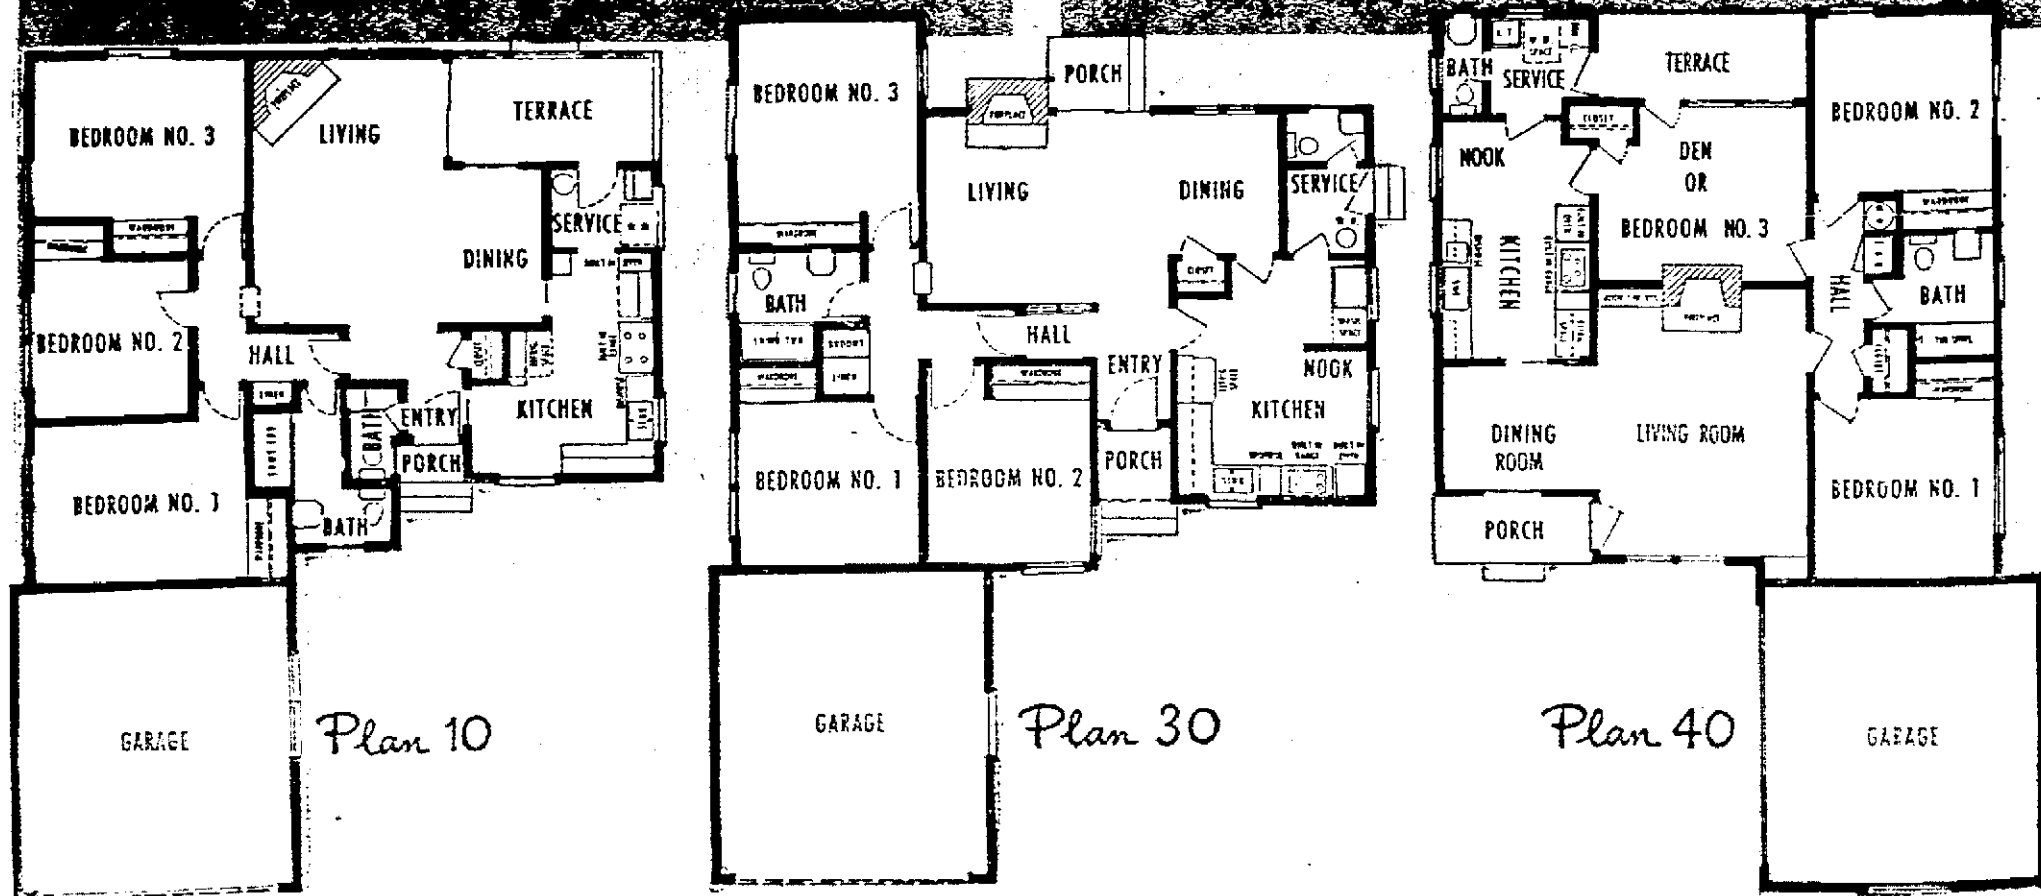

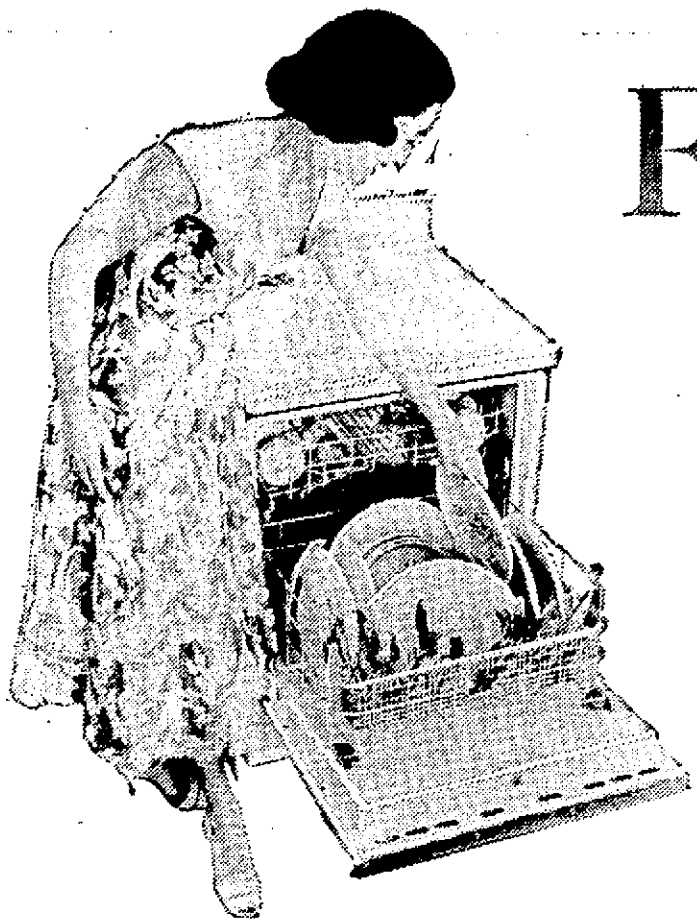

In addition to sound, quality features such as the solid oak floors and genuine plaster walls and ceilings... and the elegant Waste King gas kitchen built-ins (see next page)... the Prince Charming homes offer a multitude of down-to-earth features that guarantee highest resale value should you ever decide to sell: 100-ampere electrical wiring to handle all modern appliances • circuit breaker supplanting the old-fashioned fuse box • Viking 40-gallon water heater • separate service porch to keep the kitchen clutter-free • Armstrong spatter linoleum in kitchen • colored ceramic tile worktops and splash in kitchen • Sawyer Bel-Air ash hardwood cabinets • Coralite around tubs • custom light fixtures in dining areas • slab doors • weatherstripping on exterior doors • Kwikset brass interior hardware • concrete walks and asphalt drives • sewers, curbs, sidewalks, street lights, all utilities in • and many, many more!

Dr. P. Victor Peterson and Dr. Betty Kazan of Madison, Wis., recall points of interview which resulted in Dr. Kazan coming to Long Beach State College.

LONG BEACH STATE ADOPTS

The Forward Look

By Jess Glawson

LONG BEACH State College, through the efforts of its energetic president, Dr. P. Victor Peterson, has developed a unique system of faculty and staff recruitment which seems likely to place the local school among the most "forward-looking" collegiate institutions in the nation.

Traditionally, colleges and universities have relied almost solely upon local institutions to provide the necessary personnel for filling staff vacancies. As a result, recruiting areas have remained small and local ideas, local opinions, and local prejudices have been reinforced—creating, in many cases, a narrow and illiberal provincialism which thwarts the broad aims of education.

Believing that a primary function of education is to provide students with "the broader view," Long Beach State has sought to give deserved recognition—and representation—to as many as possible of the divergent ideas, philosophies, and opinions which compose American thought.

EACH YEAR Dr. Peterson makes a tour of carefully selected American colleges seeking trained educators to fill faculty vacancies at Long Beach State. His primary purpose is to procure high-caliber personnel who will keep the local college "abreast of the times," and who will reflect credit upon the community it represents. Approximately 50 per cent of the instructors at State have been recruited in this manner.

Dr. Peterson made his sixth annual tour this year. In 30 days he interviewed more than 200 applicants, visiting five universities in four states during one week alone, and hired 70 new instructors for Long Beach State College. Traveling by train, plane, and bus, he often found it necessary to remain active 24 hours a day in order to meet all his scheduled interviews.

RECRUITING IS not confined to these "scheduled interviews," however. Dr. Peterson tells "the Long Beach Story" everywhere, and follows up every lead which may result in the hiring of another top-flight instructor for the college.

One such lead resulted in his meeting and hiring Dr. Irving Ahlquist who has become one of the area's best-known educators, and who is much in demand as a speaker and lecturer. During his first tour (1949), Dr. Peterson was introduced to Dr. Ahlquist by a bookstore operator in Cedar Falls, Iowa. A brief conversation whetted the president's interest in the young historian and a subsequent interview confirmed his opinion that "here was the type of educator we needed." Less than a week later, Dr. Ahlquist became the newest member of the Long Beach State College faculty.

DR. PETERSON'S 1956 tour took him to the Universities of Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Chicago, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska, Colorado, Denver and Utah, and to Washington University, Northwestern University and Iowa State College.

Dr. Peterson said recently, "The progress Long Beach State has made in gaining recognition among the higher institutions of learning is surprising and gratifying. On my first trip of this type, Long Beach State was an unknown, and now it has become a well known college and a credit to Long Beach."

Desserts Like Mother Makes

ACTRESS, speaker, humorist, book reviewer—but mostly mother — that backgrounds our hostess today: Mrs. T. H. (Fanny) McEnroe. That she is "mostly Mom" is conveyed clearly in this quote:

"Raising a family of three lively boys, with their many friends making our house 'open house' day and night, there are bound to be favorite recipes down through the years. Here are a few that were, and still are, often called for. Most of them are man-fare (none of this frothy stuff, Mom) so skip these desserts if you want to reduce!

"There is one pet recipe to celebrate all great events: when THE girls came along (to show parental approval); when THE grandchildren arrived (to show grand-parental delight); when the boys came home from school, from service, or just to show our special love, this ice box pudding is our universal choice."

Fanny's next recipe is for nut cake. She says, "Use the same recipe as for the cake pudding, omitting the chocolate and adding one-half cup chopped nuts instead. Top with your favorite frosting."

Of her pineapple upside down cake she says, "Our erudite professor son gives this an extremely high grade."

Pineapple Upside Down Cake

- 1/2 cup shortening
- 2/3 cups sugar
- 2 eggs
- 2/3 cups water
- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 3 tsp. baking powder
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. vanilla

While mixing cake batter, put 4 tablespoons butter or margarine, and one cup brown sugar in heavy iron skillet. Cook slowly until smooth. Turn off heat and arrange slices of pineapple (cherry in center) in syrup. Put batter over fruit and syrup and bake in same skillet. When done turn upside down on your fanciest plate, leaving fruit on top.

Apple torte is a McEnroe favorite, too, and of it she says: "I won my husband with this. Easy to make and faster to disappear. (the dessert, I mean)."

Apple Torte

- 2 cups apples (chopped small)
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup walnuts
- 2 beaten eggs
- 1 1/2 tsp. baking powder
- 1/2 tsp. salt (Mother always said "a pinch" but some people pinch harder than others)
- 3/4 cups flour

Mix all together, adding eggs last. Pour into large pie plate and bake one-half hour, over

Mrs. T. H. (Fanny) McEnroe is one who knows value of a good dessert in a family where male appetites prevail.

Fanny McEnroe's Ice Box Pudding:

- 1 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons butter (cream together)
- 1 egg broken into cup. (Beat, and fill cup with milk. Pour into butter-sugar mixture. Beat hard.)

Sift together into first mixture:

- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 1/2 teaspoon soda
- 1 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Bake at 350° for 40 minutes. While still warm, break cake apart into bowl and drop the following sauce over the layers of cake.

- 1/2 cake cooking chocolate melted with
- 1/4 pound butter
- 1 cup sugar

Stir into chocolate mixture, but do not cook:

Three raw eggs (drop separately into above, beating hard after each). Alternate cake and sauce in bowl. Refrigerate 24 hours (unless discovered) and top with whipped cream.

Echoing a Pattern of Living

Fireplace, reduced to simple form, and a continuous wall of wood extending beyond glass exterior wall add interest to the James Nakanishi home.

INDICATIVE of a trend in contemporary architecture being promoted by architects across the nation is the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Nakanishi, 690 Havana Ave., designed by Kazumi Adachi.

The house is constructed on the age-old post-and-beam principle; but, paradoxically, its design is the result of an attempt to echo the pattern of life as it is lived today.

Considerations weighed by the architect, Adachi, in planning the house included a limited budget and a necessity for accommodating two small children as well as two adults, all of whom like company and privacy in about equal measure.

By Eileen Ball

ACHIEVING A QUALITY of privacy was especially necessary because of the site, located at the corner of Havana and heavily-traveled 7th St. The length of the lot, 130 feet, runs parallel to 7th, where the noise and sight of busy traffic were unwanted factors. The house, therefore, was oriented to the south away from the intersection. No privacy-robbing windows face toward either of the streets, yet the exterior elevations from both sides are extremely interesting.

The west exposure (facing Havana) has caused considerable comment with its unusual fireplace. Set into an otherwise uninterrupted wall of narrow vertical wood siding bleached to a driftwood finish is an exterior brick firebox that accommodates the living room flush fireplace. From this simple masonry cubicle extends a round clay chimney.

From 7th St. a pleasing combination of textures contributes much to the good appearance of the house.

lush tropical plants that are effectively backed by walls of light yellow stucco. The trim and front door are stark white as are the heavy cantilevered beams that extend out beyond the ceiling to provide an overhang. Set up high between the beams at ceiling level are fixed panels of glass that admit gentle north sunlight to the living area. A stationary panel of fluted glass, the same width and height as the doorway, is located to the right of the front door.

Either exterior view of the house—the west with its unconventional fireplace or the north with its extended beams—is an example of a growing trend to leave structural members of a building exposed for the sake of the decorative elements they provide.

ALTHOUGH THERE are virtually no windows along three sides of the house, almost all the entire south exposure is glass. (The technical possibilities inherent in the post-and-beam type construction makes unnecessary the need for interior walls to support roof weight and also permits widespread use of glass for exterior walls.)

The front door opens to a hallway that leads to the living area on the right and serves to connect the three bedrooms and bath toward the left. This part of the hallway serves admirably as an entry, thus saving the living room from a lack of privacy every time the door opens.

Directly opposite the front door are louvered doors that conceal washing facilities. As unusual as this arrangement may seem, there were sound reasons for its placement. For one thing, the economy factor dictated that all plumbing be centralized in one area. (The laundry is back-to-back with the kitchen and the bath.)

ALSO, THE SMALL enclosed patio-courtyard on the 7th St. side of the house is Mrs. Nakanishi's service yard, and a door located but a few steps to the left of the front door and across from the laundry enclosure opens to this yard. Consequently, the south garden is reserved for outdoor living without the necessity to serve as a drying yard, as well.

The north wall is plaster. North light filters into the room high above eye-level through the stationary glass panels set between the beams.

At the far end of the room is a fireplace reduced to a simple form. A low raised hearth of concrete and a simple frame of a single course of red brick are modest embellishments for the flush opening. The fireplace is set in a wall of vertical wood furring bleached to a driftwood finish. The manner in which the wall extends to and on through the glass to provide a baffle for the patio on the outside is one of the ways the architect has created a merger of interior and exterior that is so typical of this house.

defined barrier than are the glass panels that impose little feeling of division.

Furnishings for the living room are simple, handsomely-styled and very mobile since this sort of area accommodates ever-changing demands.

Near the kitchen is the area designated for dining. A counter panel in the wall between the living room and kitchen may be pulled down for buffet service. Its serving surface is topped with plastic in the same grey-blue color used throughout the kitchen.

A second unique feature of the kitchen is the way its glass window-wall slides open for refreshment service to the patio.

pressed wood shavings).

Both the children have rooms with floor-to-ceiling glass panels that overlook the patio. There is adequate built-in wardrobe space for the accommodation of clothing and toys.

The master bedroom has a built-in wardrobe and chest that features 8 tray-drawers colorfully painted white, lemon yellow and orange. An adjoining storage room is roughed-in for the ultimate installation of plumbing fixtures.

By Horseless Carriage to a Ball

Autoists turned cowboys and cowgirls recently when members of Newport Beach Regional Group, Horseless Carriage Club, drove their cars of ancient vintage to Glenn Ranch in the San Bernardino Mountains and had a ball for themselves. They swam, ate, wore their old-time costumes dancing, rode horseback or just plain loafed and enjoyed themselves. A cameraman who was along took pictures to prove it.

And when their stay was over, Horseless Carriers headed downhill, waved a farewell by Henry and Elora Hertz, Glenn Ranch owners, operators.

Martha, Tom, John and Ernie Boyer, Long Beach folk, enjoyed excellent ranch food.

There was dancing for the guests, part of regular ranch entertainment schedule.

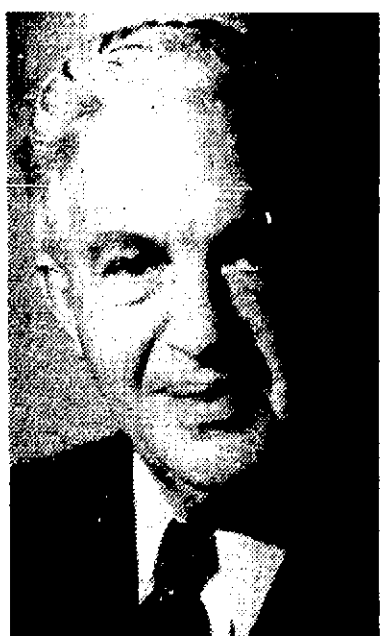

Photos by Chuck Sundquist

Glenn Ranch boasts of a typically western lounge and there the guests are invited to make themselves informally at home. Entertainment is provided.

GOLDEN AGE OF THE AMERICAN THEATER

Oswell Jackson was handsome leading man in the theater's golden period.

At 72, Jackson, now long retired from the theater, resides in Laguna Beach.

her, had Marie take all the curtain calls with her.

"Then Bernhardt ran her fingers through Marie's hair and said in French to the audience,
'Doesn't she have beautiful hair?'

"It was nothing for a great actor or actress to have 12, 14, 16 curtain calls," recalls Jackson.
"You never hear anything now like the way they clapped and yelled 'Bravo!' in those days."

Jackson turns his press book to a "Sorceress" picture of Bernhardt, as a woman suspected of being a witch, facing her inquisition accusers. Then he says slowly, "But Duse — now Duse had something, a quality that no other woman ever had, even Sarah Bernhardt."

JACKSON SAW Leslie Carter in "DuBarry," Henry Irving and Ellen Terry in "Merchant of Venice," E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe in "Romeo and Juliet" and "Merchant of Venice," Robert Mantell in "Macbeth" and "Richard III," Richard Mansfield in "Ivan the Terrible" and "Richard II" and Julia Marlowe in "Ingomar."

He saw "The Two Orphans" done by an all-star cast—Sarah Truax, Grace George, Mrs. Sarah Cromwell Lemoyne, Elita Proctor
Otis, Bijou Fernandez, Henry
Dixey, Wilton Lackaye, Louis
James, W. E. Dodson, James O'Neil, Clara Morris.

"Clara Morris, who had been retired for 10 years, came back in a small part. As she walked on the stage, the whole audience as if by signal rose and cheered."

Jackson started his own career in 1905 in the "melodrama circuit," to New York, Canada and the Pacific Coast, either one-week or one-night stands. His first play he recalls was Bertha

M. Clay's "Dora Thorne" and he played in "Lena Rivers" and "Thorns and Orange Blossoms" and "The Lost Trail."

HE HAS A PICTURE of himself in a cowboy costume in
"The Lost Trail."

"I was the Hopalong Cassidy of my day," he said.

"I knew Mary Pickford on that melodrama circuit," he says.
"She was Gladys Smith in those days; she was 10 years old, playing the little mother in 'The Fatal Wedding.' She had the prettiest gold curls you ever saw. Her brother Jack was a baby then;
Lottie was 2 or 3 years old."

In 1911 and 1912, Jackson was on the showboat Cotton Blossom on the Ohio, Mississippi and Illinois Rivers.

Built on a barge and pushed by a small steamer, the Cotton Blossom seated 800 persons. It had a stage at one end, staterooms over the stage for the actors to dress.

Beginning at Fort Pleasant, the Cotton Blossom moved down the Ohio to Cairo, and the Mississippi to New Orleans and then back again. If the river was high enough, it went up the Illinois to Peru, Ill.

PLAYS WERE GIVEN on the Cotton Blossom — "The Lonesome Pine," "Tempest and Sunshine," "The Old Homestead" and the perennial "Thorns and Orange Blossoms."

Jackson, the leading man, believes that he got the highest salary ever paid to a showboat entertainer on the Mississippi — $25 a week and board.

"The board was wonderful," he says. "Farmers traded potatoes, corn, chickens, etc., for showboat tickets."

He was in stock for years, playing in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," "The Devil," "Getting Gertie's Garter," "Cappy Ricks," "Three Wise Fools," "Smilin' Through." For years he was with the Poli Stock Co., playing New England towns. In 1923 and 1924 his salary was $200 a week — "a mighty lot of money in those days because there was no income tax and what a man made was his."

HE PLAYED on Broadway in "White Cargo," he played with Charles Coburn in "The Right Age to Marry," he read the prologue in a Ruth St. Denis dance pantomime.

"I did 'Abie's Irish Rose' for 50,000 miles," he says: "New York, Texas, Florida, Canada,
the Middle West."

He still has a letter addressed to "Oswell Jackson, America's Handsomest Leading Man." It reached him at the Majestic Theater in Topeka, Kan.

He retired from the stage in 1935 after appearing in "Romance" with Eugenie Leontovich.
He first came to Laguna in 1927, was away 10 years and then returned in 1941. He is now 72, is six feet tall, straight, has green eyes and a mane of snowy hair. His wife, Fanny, died five years ago. His home is at 552
Cypress St.

He has always been interested in art and has five lectures on art and the theater which he gives.

Hay Fever Climate

Tourists have various reasons for picking their vacation spots.
They may like the fishing, the swimming, or the scenery. An increasing number of them, says Northwest Orient Airlines, go each summer to resorts along Minnesota's North Shore to get relief from hay fever. The wind and waters of Lake Superior—largest body of fresh water in the world—create an "air-conditioned" climate in which the fugitives from pollen find relief.

Journey Without a Passport

By Fred Taylor Kraft

Independent, Press-Telegram Book Editor

IT ONCE TOOK time and money to travel, but not any more. Today we can sit in our living room and go round the world in just a few evenings. No tickets to buy, no passports or visas to worry about, no hotel reservations to bother with, no foreign language problems to cause embarrassment.

Clad in pajamas, robe and house slippers, and under the glow of our favorite lamp, we can travel not only to far-off countries, but into some of the most interesting or astounding places in those countries—with the finest guides—in "Ten Years of Holiday" (Simon and Schuster, $5.95).

The guides, of course, are no fewer than 40 writers who, if they were suddenly to quit writing, would leave disappointment when we buy our magazines; for it is their work which sparks the best of the best periodicals.

Only the best work of these writers appear in Holiday Magazine over the last decade appears in "Ten Years of Holiday" and this, as expected, makes for a pretty solid book—one that can be read now and a year or 10 years from now with genuine pleasure.

V. S. Pritchett takes us to Spain, Sean O'Faolain to Italy, Neil M. Gunn to Scotland, Richard Llewellyn to Wales, Alan Moorehead to Rome, to name a few guides and their foreign routes; and here in the United States, William Faulkner goes with us to his native Mississippi, Jean Stafford to New England, Budd Schulberg to Florida, Phil Strong to Iowa, E. B. White to New York. Among others are Bernard DeVoto, James Thurber, James Street, Laurens Van der Post, C. S. Forester and John Steinbeck. The introduction is by Clifton Fadiman.

The articles and essays which comprise the bulky volume were selected by the editors of Holiday. They are the travel treat of the year.

AND SPEAKING of travel, one of the zaniest treasures of humorous writings and cartoons ever assembled on the subject is edited by no other than Lawrence Laier and is titled "Happy Holiday" (Dodd, Mead, $3.50). All bordering on the ridiculous, there are nonsensical chapters on "French for Americans," "How to Tip Correctly," "Gondolas Are So Romantic" and "On a Set of French Dishes," to name a few, interspersed by giggle-getting cartoons. Laier himself wrote several of the chapters, and helping out are such comics as Robert Benchley, James Thurber, Earl Wilson, S. J. Perelman, Cornelia Otis Skinner, Norman R. Jaffray, Ogden Nash and Stephen Leacock.

It's all fun, every word of it!

VINA DELMAR, the author of "Bad Girl," has written another sure-fire best seller in her new novel, "Beloved" (Harcourt, Brace, $3.95).

With great historical accuracy, Miss Delmar traces the story of Judah Benjamin from his birth on a West Indian island to his supreme position as one of the great legal minds in the era of the Civil War.

The title "Beloved" comes from Benjamin's faithless wife's nick-name for him. His great, forgiving love for his wife inspires him to become one of the finest legal minds America has ever known, respected, yet pitied by all.

Under the relentless strain of

A GOOD MANY LONG BEACH PEOPLE shook hands with Sen. Estes Kefauver during his recent campaign-for-President visit here. They liked him and wished they knew more about him. They can learn all about this newsworthy figure now in "The Kefauver Story," an informal biography (Dial, $3). The book, written by Jack Anderson and Fred Blumenthal, Washington correspondents for Parade magazine, devotes considerable space to the campaign issues close to Kefauver and his campaign methods, and it also covers his life at home with his family, with which he is shown here.

a gnawing love for a woman he knew he could never hold, Benjamin became attorney general under Jefferson Davis. Benjamin's ceaseless devotion to his beautiful wife and his underlying loyalty to the principles in which he believed are touchingly blended into a fine novel.

Vina Delmar lives in nearby Beverly Hills. Her hobby for many years has been collecting material on the Civil War, which together with her natural gift for story writing has produced an exciting and colorful novel.—F.T.H.

CHILD DEVELOPMENT books are either useless or priceless, but "Youth, the Years From Ten to Sixteen" by Arnold Gesell, M.D., Frances L. Ilg, M.D. and Louise B. Ames, Ph.D. (Harper, $5.95) is the followup of two previous volumes which left nothing to be desired as to the understanding of children. The present and welcome volume takes up the problems of the developing child. Those parents who have read the earlier volumes will know at once what this one will be. And it is impossible in a short review to give all the priceless qualities which make this volume a must for thinking parents. If you have a child approaching puberty, this book will become tattered from reading.

POGO, the beloved comic-strip possum of the Independent and Sunday Independent, Press-Telegram, is back in the book stalls with some wonderful new adventures. You'll find them in "The Pogo Sunday Book" (Simon and Schuster, $1), and they're better than anything cartoonist Walt Kelly has done yet, if that is possible.

J. B. PHILLIPS, a retired English vicar and author of numerous religious books, discusses the hunger for faith-giving power in today's busy world, and how to achieve that power through Christian ideals in "New Testament Christianity" (Macmillan, $2.25), a reverent, understandable and inspiring work.

NEW PAPERBACK originals (first time published in book form). "The Year's Greatest Science-Fiction and Fantasy," 18 tales chosen from more than 1,000 pieces (Dell, First Edition, 35c); "The Bright Phoenix," science-fiction novel by Harold Mead (Ballantine, 35c); "The Secret of Mary Magdalene," the story of a tantalizing woman who became a humble follower of Christ, by Paul Iton (Signet, 25c); "The Last Chance," a fast-paced western by Frank O'Rourke (Dell, first edition, 25c); "Presidential Year," a novel of American politics by Frederick Pohl and Cyril M. Kornbluth (Ballantine, 35c); "Washington Lowdown," behind the scenes in the American capital, by Larston D. Farrar (Ballantine, 35c).

HOME BUILDERS or those wishing to remodel who are interested in cooling and warming a home will find the subject quite thoroughly covered in "Home Air Conditioning" (Van Nostrand, $5.95). Author G. J. Stout is an instructor at the University of Florida and knows what he is talking about.

EDUCATIONAL SUPPLIES

Leave entertainment at a teen-ager party to the guests themselves. They likely won't care for a prepared set of games to which they must conform.

nut butter, tuna fish and hard-boiled egg; assorted cookies, mixed candies, and nuts. Paper cups and paper napkins are all that is needed in the way of accessories, since teen-agers don't want to be bothered with plates. They like to pick up a cookie or a sandwich and eat it, and they don't want to balance plates or trays on their laps. The sandwiches can be made on the morning of the party, wrapped in waxed paper, then wrapped again in aluminum foil.
Most teen-agers do not like to have planned games for a party. As one thirteen-ager expressed it:

"You play games when you're very young, and maybe when you're old, like 30 or 40, but we like to do other things!"

THE POINT IS that most teen-agers like to play post office (or a variation thereof) or dance to the latest hit tunes. Parenthetically, it might be mentioned that post office is not a game for parents to view with alarm. If mom and dad will remember back a few years, they will recollect that they, too, liked to play the game when and if opportunity offered itself. It is important, however, that the father and/or the mother of the host or hostess be on hand during the party. They can remain in the kitchen or another nearby room, and diplomatically check on the activities every 15 minutes or so. This can be done tactfully and effectively if they bring in refreshments periodically or ask a question or two, such as, "Is there anything you need?" or "Is everyone having fun?" or even, "Isn't it too cold (or warm) in here?" They may not receive a coherent answer from the busy group, but at least they will be reassured that the party is running smoothly.

GUESTS INVITED to a teen-age party usually arrive on time or ahead of schedule, and the party should end promptly at the time designated. If by chance any parents are unable to pick up their youngsters, the parents of the host or hostess should see that each guest gets home safely.

From a teen-ager's standpoint, his social prestige is extremely important, and his success or failure socially can affect his whole attitude towards life. Giving parties will greatly help him gain poise and self-confidence. It's a wise parent who realizes that by encouraging a thirteen-ager to have good parties at home, he may discourage the youngster from wanting to attend the wrong type of party elsewhere.

PET PARADE

He's a Golden Pal

By Eleanor Avery Price

IF IT IS CORRECT as the late Gertrude Stein is reputed to have said that "a rose is a rose is a rose," then possibly it should be said that "a dog is a dog is a dog." True, all dogs have characteristics in common, but there are many breeds of dogs just as there are dozens of rose varieties, and each has its devoted admirers for its own characteristics.

Many people become so fascinated or attached to one or two breeds of dogs that they fail to consider the merits of others. Some of our finest breeds are still therefore a long time in coming to the front.

In the field of sporting dogs, the Golden Retriever is high on the list of those deserving attention. Among all the large dogs, the Golden cannot be beaten for his placid, affable behavior even as a puppy, for his sweetness and tolerance toward mauling children, his aptness in learning, his bright beauty, and for his great love of being a retriever or setter. He makes an ideal home pet, the unbeatable pal for children, the perfect companion for the sportsman, with a nose far better than average. And he is at home in the water or on the land.

SHOULD YOU NOT be interested in answering the call of open country and yet still want a Golden for his other fine qualities, you can keep this dog perfectly content with ten minutes backyard retrieving daily. Never throw rocks for him (or any dog) to fetch, for not only is there the hazard of his accidentally swallowing them, but there is the danger of the wear on the enamel of his teeth. He'll enjoy retrieving a ball.

Insist that the dog bring back the article you send him to retrieve. He'll soon catch on and enjoy this game to the utmost even when he is still a youngster. And, since, he loves water, let him romp in the sprinkler or "tease" water coming out of the hose.

IF YOU WANT to make a real field and stream dog out of your Golden, obtain a good book on this subject.

The Golden's fine qualities originated back in Asiatic Russia where he was used as a guardian of sheep and was able to watch them alone through the long, hard winters.

His intelligence came to the attention of the British when some of these dogs were seen in a traveling circus act, and before long the Golden was a favorite hunting dog in Scotland and England.

AS WITH ALL floppy eared dogs, be on the lookout for any excessive digging at the ears. Ear canker, if neglected, can become a real problem. If the itching does not cease after three or four applications daily of a few drops of camphorated oil for a week, or with powdered boric blown into the ear canal with a paper funnel, consult a good veterinarian. Cauterizing the ear canker should stop the trouble if it does not yield to medication.

Picture That Has to Be Snapped Today!

Give baby a background he dominates, as he does the household . . . and shoot today; he'll grow up tomorrow!

By the Shutterbug

ONE OF THE better known copybook maxims says something about never putting off until tomorrow what you can do today.

Well, when it comes to picturing your baby as he is today—that's one thing that just can't be done tomorrow.

Babies grow so fast that planned and regular picture taking is a must if you want a picture record that doesn't have a lot of empty places in it.

SINCE BABIES mostly live indoors, you'll need a source of artificial light. Flash on camera is the simplest way to do it—enabling you to shoot any time, any place, and on the spur of the moment when he's being especially appealing.

Flash has never been known to injure a baby's eyes, so you need have no fears on that score. However, once in a long time, a bulb will shatter when it flashes. Always put a flash guard over your reflector, just to be sure.

WINNERS IN THE recent Long Beach Camera Guild competitions: Black and white prints—Murray Shaner, first; Evelyn Richmond, second; Virginia Callender, third; and Virginia Callender and R. Selvester, honorable mention; color slides—Elva Hayward, first; Murray Shaner, second; Gerald Church, third;

Virginia Murray Shaner and Floyd Williamson, honorable mention. Judge was George French, past exhibition chairman of El Camino, and PSA member.

Murray Shaner won first place in black and white in Southern California Council of Camera Clubs and Neil Shipley, honorable mention in color; Carl Van Steenbergen had a color slide accepted for exhibit in the 25th annual salon of the Boston Camera Club with the slide "Reflections" which was awarded a silver medal for color harmony by the Photographic Society of America.

HOW TO Build Two Sturdy Gates That Will Add Dignity to Any Fence or Wall

A GATE SMART ENOUGH in design to dignify any fence, is built of 1x12 stock. Mitred edges are beveled to get V-groove effect. Back is braced with 1x4 battens. Lag screws hold hinges, and gate is hung on a stout 4x4 post.

SIMPLE GATE OF STURDY construction makes it all the more handsome. Heavy lumber, prominent nailheads add to the massive effect. Faces of gate are almost identical, but joints are staggered for strength. Weight of gate makes sturdy hinges a must.

You CAN Beat That Alkali!

Black locust is hardy tree, tolerates alkaline soil. In spring it bears masses of fragrant white flowers.

By Karen Smith

IF YOUR SOIL contains salt-soaked sand or is considered alkaline, it would be wise for you to grow plants whose roots will not be harmed by these accumulations. The list of plants is limited but the selection is good.

Some form of corrective measures to the soil should, of course, be considered. Gypsum or sulphur added to water and flushed into the ground will reduce the alkalinity. Consult your nurseryman as to the quantities, for he understands the nature of the soil.

Several loved annuals and perennials are not soil fussy. They include blazing star, calendula, day lily, iris, marguerite, mesembryanthemum, portulaca, statice latifolia, Shasta daisy, sweet alyssum, verbena, baillardia and zinnia.

Among shrubs which, with a little care, will thrive in this type soil are crape myrtle, strawberry madrone, Geraldton waxflower, California juniper, the bottle

WHICH "LAWN TYPE" ARE YOU?

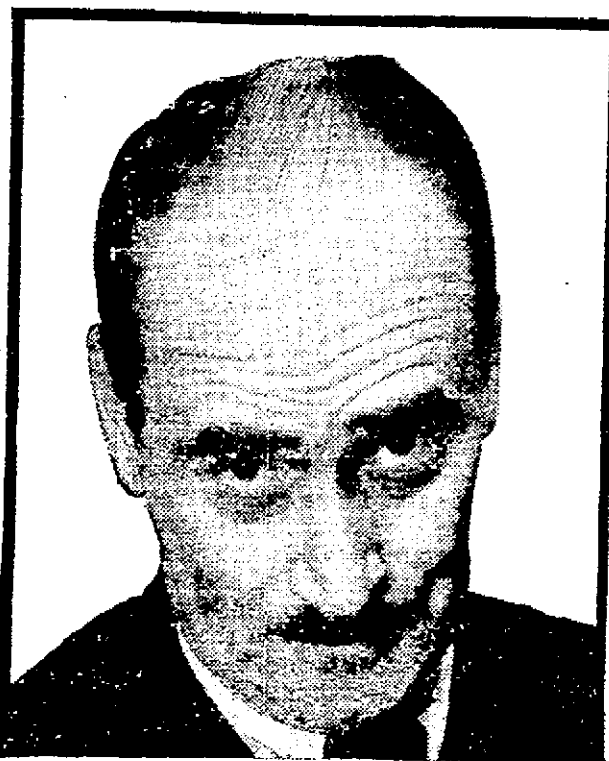

...and which Northrup King Lawn Seed is best for you?

"LAWN PROUD"

You want a showplace. You dream of thick velvety turf, lush and resilient . . . a lawn total strangers will stop to admire, that will be the envy of the neighborhood. So plant Northrup King GOLF Brand Lawn Seed. It's a blend of finest perennial grasses, including well known Kentucky bluegrass . . . along with new improved fescues. Given the regular care a fine lawn deserves, it will grow more luxurious and beautiful every year!

For a truly superior lawn plant NORTHRUP KING GOLF Brand Lawn Seed.

"LET'S BE REASONABLE"

You care enough to want a lawn definitely superior, but it doesn't have to be a "show" lawn. Your goal is an attractive, permanent lawn. It must stand plenty of day-to-day living, and need only reasonable attention and care. So, plant Northrup King FORE Lawn Seed. It's a blend of good perennial grasses, including quality bluegrass. And because it contains hardy fast-sprouting fescues, your FORE lawn will become quickly established!

For a sturdy attractive lawn plant NORTHRUP KING FORE Lawn Seed.

"I JUST WANT GRASS"

And you want it in a hurry, right? What's more, you need the kind of grass that can survive rough treatment . . . from pounding feet, dragging clothesbaskets, kids, dogs, more kids, wagons, trikes. So, plant Northrup King PAR Lawn Seed. It's a blend of hardy fast-sprouting grasses. These are grasses that quickly produce a thick sturdy turf, with a minimum of care. Count on PAR to grow a rugged lawn for work and play.

NORTHRUP KING LAWNFOOD . . . feeds your lawn 2 important ways. It contains fast-acting chemical nitrogen for immediate growth and color, plus slower-working organic nitrogen for season-long growth and root development. 50 lbs. covers 5000 sq. ft. Goes further, so it costs less!

NORTHRUP KING WEED KILLERS. Spray away lawn weeds, using your garden hose! No complicated mixing or measuring. 2, 4-D WEED KILLER kills most broadleaved weeds. Pint covers 2000 sq. ft. CRABGRASS KILLER kills crabgrass, also controls many common lawn diseases. Pint covers 1200 sq. ft.

An Oddity from Australia

S AID TO BE one of the oddest of flowers, the unusual "Kangaroo Paw" from Southwestern Australia is now in bloom at the Los Angeles State and County Arboretum in Arcadia. Because of its unique appearance, this showy herbaceous perennial plant, Anigozanthos Manglesii, is exciting attention from Arboretum visitors, according to Horticulturalist Don Woolley.

The "Red-stemmed Green Kangaroo Paw" is a member of the Amaryllis plant family. The flower stalk shoots up from narrow, black-tipped iris-like leaves. It consist of a woody, brilliant red stem about 20 inches tall, topped with metallic green fingers, or "kangaroo paws," about five inches long.

"Kangaroo Paws" has promise as a novelty plant for Southern California gardens, Arboretum officials believe. It was grown from seed and the base leaves now form a cluster about a foot high. Older plants may become two to three feet in size.

These plants may be seen in bloom at the Arboretum on Sundays when it is open to the public free of charge from 10:30 to 4 p.m. During the week, parties of 10 or more may have escorted jeep-train tours by appointment. The Arboretum is located at 301 N. Baldwin Ave. The telephone is DOuglas 7-3444.

bushes, especially Sallistemon viminalis, golden wonder (Cassia splendida), lavender, Mexican mallow, oleander, pampas grass, blue plumbago, myoporum. California evergreen cherry, dwarf pomegranate, Spanish broom and tamarisk.

MOST OF THESE plants are evergreen and frost resistant to at least 22 degrees. Grape myrtle and tamarisk are delicious.

From the evergreen trees, you can choose carob, Acacia pycnantha (golden wattle), camphor, California fan palm, Parkinsonia aculeata.

Best deciduous trees for alkaline conditions are sweet gum (liquid-ambar), Modesto ash, Chinese elm, Chinese flame trees, Chinese pistachio, California sycamore, big-leaved maple, black locust, Fremont poplar, and mulberry, especially the fruitless variety. Chinese elm and the mulberry grow with amazing speed, and black locust is not lagging far behind.

Should none of these suggested plants fill the bill, consult a reliable nurseryman for advice.

Hand-carved feeding station, kept stocked with food, will attract birds and bring their song into garden.

Snack Bar for Birds

By Bertha Blanchard

AN ATTRACTIVE feeding station adds beauty and enjoyment to the house and garden of any bird lover. Such a garden piece can easily be made by any amateur woodworker.

The six-foot, carved post gives protection as well as privacy to feeding birds. A metal tray set on top of the wooden shelf makes an easily cleaned, sanitary feeding place.

Of course, the most interesting detail of all is the hand-carved bird, painted in life-like colors—a picturesque background for the shelf. The quaint shingled roof, that partially shades the tray, gives a touch of charm and individuality to this feeding station.

TONY GUILLEN
Work. Work. Work...

SO YOU THINK you might like to be a restaurant owner?

You might change your mind
after you read about the terrifically long hours put in daily by
Tony Guillen, owner of El Patio
No. 1 Cafe, 337 Pacific Ave., and
El Patio No. 2 Cafe, 3503 Atlantic Ave. The superb quality of Tony's cuisine has made him one of the Long Beach area's most successful Mexican restaurant owners.

But Tony has to pay for that success with work, work, work.
For example, look at the hours
he put in last Monday: He got up around 7:30 a.m., had breakfast and drove his oldest boy to school. About 9 o'clock he arrived at El Patio No. 1. Because
Alice Galaz, his chief aide at No.
1, has been ill recently, it was necessary for Tony to do most of the cooking there all day.
About 5 p.m. he drove across town to El Patio No. 2. He supervised the busy activities of the larger cafe until 9 p.m. when he dashed back to No. 1 and closed it for the day. Then he drove all the way back to No. 2, where he worked until long after
it closed at midnight.

He tumbled into bed, fairly exhausted, at 1:30 a.m., having worked approximately 16 hours.

Despite all that rugged labor,
Tony remains one of the most cheerful men in town, always smiling, with a good word for everybody.

THE PRICES at Tony's cafes
are always extremely reasonable.
One of his most popular items is the Combination Special, a dinner that this column has raved about previously. For only $1.25, it includes all of the following carefully prepared, fresh foods: A delicious tostada, which is an avocado salad on a crisp tortilla; an enchilada with cheese; a taco with lettuce and beef; a plump tamale, and side dishes of wonderful frijoles (refried beans) and Spanish rice.

Among his a la carte specialties are such palate delighters as chicken enchiladas, chile relle-nos and chorizos (Mexican sausage.)

El Patio No. 2 is open daily from 11:30 a.m. to midnight and closes Tuesdays. El Patio No. 1
is open daily from 11:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. and closed Sundays.

Simpson Says Wade Attack Due to Grudge

'Groundless,' Demo Candidate Asserts, Raps Hosmer Record

By MALCOLM EPLEY

Congressional Candidate Raymond C. Simpson Saturday fired an answering blast at Harry Wade, charging a "personal and groundless grudge" led to Wade's bitter attack on Simpson that shook Democratic circles here last week.

The quiet of a hitherto lethargic primary campaign was broken by the hot exchange between Wade and the Simpson camp, and more fireworks were anticipated in the final week before the June 5 balloting.

Simpson and his campaign boss, Thomas F. Crocker, took turns Saturday lambasting Wade, who resigned two important party positions and came out with a resounding endorsement of Republican Congressman Craig Hosmer. They ascribed "political senility" to the fiery Wade, and claimed he is frustrated because he has had ambitions, himself, to run for Congress, but hasn't found support.

DON ROSE, the county Democratic chairman, said Wade had joined the ranks of "election-eve turncoats who will have little success in fooling the voters."

But one local Democrat predicted the rift in party ranks will widen and others will follow Wade in support of Hosmer, who has crossed in his campaign for election to a third term.

Simpson and Crocker viewed Wade's action as a one-man defection.

"I regret," Simpson said, "that a man who has possessed such potential for good has permitted a personal and groundless grudge he has nursed against me for several years to cause him to lose his perspective."

HIS ANNOUNCEMENT that he will support the incumbent Congressman indicates Wade does not realize the significance of the Congressman's voting record, which organized labor has declared to be 82.97-per-cent unfavorable to the people during his period of service in the House.

10,000 See Explosion of Jet Plane

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—An estimated 10,000 people saw a jet fighter plane make a firework demonstration at nearby Ft. Bliss, which ended in a ground explosion and burst into flames in the desert.

An official at Clovis Air Force Base, Clovis, N.M., where the demonstration was held, said the 386th Fighter-Bomber Wing, based at the base, was practicing the victim as 2nd Lt. Warren M. Kimball of Phoenix, who was killed in action, was the target of the demonstration.

Two planes pulled up but the third roared into the ground. The rest of the demonstration was cancelled.

Bill Russell, reporter for the El Paso Herald-Post, described the crash.

He said the plane "came in long range airpower than we much lower than the other two. The pilot seemed to be in trouble. He managed to lower his tail a little as if he were getting control but continued roaring downward."

"Then, about a quarter mile from the grandstand down the range he seemed to be pulling up. But by then it was too late, and he ploughed in with a burst of orange flame."

L.A.C. Says:

Blind Partisanship

Political patronage has long been one of the politicians' methods for paying workers who help elect them. "To the victors belong the spoils" is an old, but well-practiced system of politics. It was practiced by both of our great political parties. It is still practiced. But there is evidence that its potency is being greatly reduced. Political jobs just do not offer the inducements they did in the past. Business and industry offer better pay with greater security. It is becoming increasingly difficult to get people to go to work for government.

There are, however, politicians who still believe patronage is the way to win votes. An example is a Republican candidate for governor of Illinois. In his political

PRIEST SHOWS "BO" TREE

Buddhist Priest Leslie Lowe of 934 Appleton St. admires sapling believed descended from original "Bo" tree. He will present it to Koyasan Buddhist Temple, Los Angeles, where it will be planted.—(Staff Photo)

Russ Air Might Told U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Curtis LeMay estimates that by 1959 Russia will have enough long range bombers and nuclear weapons to destroy the United States—if Soviet airman should get every conceivable break in the defense picture.

This reluctant "guess" by the commander of the Strategic Air Command was made public Saturday by the special Senate subcommittee investigating relative U.S.-Soviet airpower.

The estimate was made against the background of a situation in which all the armed forces are bidding for funds, and competing with each other for what they consider their rightful place in the defense picture.

It was included in nearly 200 pages of closed-door testimony from which 111 deletions were made by Defense Department censors prior to release.

LEMay's OPINION, based on jet bomber programs of this base, Clovis, N.M., where the country and intelligence estimates of the Soviet, was probed in a series of questions by identified the victim as 2nd Lt. Warren M. Kimball of Phoenix, who was killed in action, was the target of the demonstration.

His plane and two others, all F86H Sabrejets, came in low at a rocket target in an Army-Air Force firework demonstration.

TWO PLANES pulled up but the third roared into the ground. The rest of the demonstration was cancelled.

Bill Russell, reporter for the El Paso Herald-Post, described the crash.

He said the plane "came in long range airpower than we much lower than the other two. The pilot seemed to be in trouble. He managed to lower his tail a little as if he were getting control but continued roaring downward."

ORDAINED PRIEST

L.B. Buddhist Leader to Plant Historic Tree

By SPENCER CRUMP

A Long Beach man who leads Buddhists on the Pacific Coast tonight will present area worshippers a sapling believed descended from the original "tree of enlightenment" under which the religion was conceived 25 centuries ago.

He is Leslie Lowe of 934 Appleton St., president of the Universal Buddhist Fellowship of California.

The ceremony will be at 5 p.m. at Koyasan Buddhist Temple, 342 E. 1st St., Los Angeles, where the sapling will be planted. Oriental priests will celebrate by joining in the traditional sutra (teaching) chant.

An ordained Buddhist priest, Lowe looks exactly as a Caucasian Buddhist might be described in a story book. He is bearded and has knowing blue eyes. He wears sandals with his business suit and sagely quotes the wisdom of Siddhartha Gautama, the Buddha.

"I asked questions of Christianity and prayed to an Unknown God," says Lowe, a retired sanitation engineer. "Now I have found the answers through the teachings of Buddha and pray to a God that I know."

LOWE BEGAN studying Buddhism 40 years ago and "I grew into the religion." Ordained a priest four years ago in Japan, he says Buddhism has much to offer the Western world.

Chairman for tonight's program will be the Rev. Jack Kent, minister of the Long Beach Unitarian Church and a member of the Buddha fellowship "because I want to recognize the world's other great religions."

Tonight's Wesak ceremony, which will include chanting Japanese priests, is part of a world-wide celebration noting the 2,500th anniversary of the birth, enlightenment and passing of the religion's prophet. Siddhartha Gautama was a young prince in India who failed to find enlightenment through suffering and privation. He sat under a tree to meditate until he achieved this goal.

THE YOUNG MAN found the rules of life, largely embracing kindness to others, and was proclaimed Buddha—The Enlightened One. The religion spread around the world from India.

His aid to enlightenment, technically a ficus religiosa of the botanical family to which the fig belongs, was labeled the "Bo" Tree—the Tree of Knowledge.

A spectacular temple stands near Gaya on the site of the original tree. A cutting from the first tree was sent in 300 B.C. by devout King Asoka via his missionary daughter to Ceylon, where what is believed to be the original tree is now enshrined.

It was from this tree, after six months of negotiations, that Lowe obtained the sapling to be given for planting at the Los Angeles temple. Receiving it while attending a Buddhist convocation two years ago in Rangoon, he brought it here carefully in a bamboo cylinder and nursed it from little more than a twig.

Harry's Trouble Is Wherever He Goes It Shakes

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—Four sharp earthquakes Saturday night struck the area around Florence, thronged by tourists including Harry S. Truman.

None of the shocks damaged Florence itself, where Mr. and Mrs. Truman arrived earlier today. But the Florence Observatory said damage probably was caused farther north, where instruments were knocked out.

Residents in mountain villages 35 miles east of Florence said a rolling quake was felt there for several seconds beginning at 6:35 p.m.

Earlier in the day, Truman drove through Tuscan villages and towns plastered with election posters and commented it was "just like back home."

Congressman's Link with Nazis Revealed

GOP in Wisconsin Rejects Sen. Wiley

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Rep. Glenn Davis, a last-minute candidate, stormed the Wisconsin Republican convention Saturday to defeat Sen. Alexander Wiley for the party's endorsement for U. S. senator.

Loss of the endorsement was a major political setback on his 72nd birthday for the Chippewa Falls, Wis., Senate veteran, who is finishing his third six-year term.

However, Wiley told reporters as he left the convention hall he will run in the Republican primary election in September despite the endorsement loss. He said he already has received more than 20,000 signatures on nomination papers and is getting more in the mail at the rate of thousands a day.

THE ENDORSEMENT gives Davis the advantage of organization support, including campaign financing. But endorsed candidates have been unhorsed in Wisconsin's turbulent politics before, and Wiley will be anything but a darkhorse in his attempt to win the nomination.

Davis, who had previously said he would not run for senator, said he changed his mind only Saturday on the urging of Republicans from all over the state. He told the cheering convention "I have a firm conviction that what we have done here has been right for the Republican Party."

THE 41-YEAR-OLD Davis has represented Wisconsin's second district since he was elected in a special election in 1947. Wiley was first elected to the Senate in 1938 and has been chairman of both the foreign relations and judiciary committees.

First rumblings against him came shortly after he was elected in 1932. A number of Wisconsin Republicans claimed he had gone overboard for internationalism and the bad feeling broke out into the open in 1953 when the state convention censured him for refusing to change his stand against the Bricker Amendment.

U.S. Builds 2,000 MPH Rocket Plane

BUFFALO (AP)—An experimental rocket plane has been flown at a speed of nearly 2,000 miles an hour, the Buffalo Evening News said Saturday.

The newspaper said an announcement that the Bell Aircraft Company's X-2 had broken the previous record of 1,650 miles an hour could come at any time. Another Bell ship—the X-1A—had set the earlier mark.

Bob Watson, the News' business and financial reporter, wrote in a page one story that the plane had come close to its anticipated top speed of 2,000 miles an hour in tests at Edwards Air Force Base in California.

The paper said Lt. Col. Frank K. (Pete) Everest was the test pilot.

Lawmakers Trail on Race Issue

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—Two congressmen who refused to sign the "Southern Manifesto" denouncing the Supreme Court fell behind their opponents in early Democratic primary returns Saturday night but a third, House Agriculture Chairman Harold Cooley, forged ahead.

Cooley, who said he refused to become a "rubber stamp" supporter of various pro-segregation maneuvers in the South, led W. E. Debnam, a barb-tongued radio commentator.

But Rep. C. B. Deane, a 20-year veteran of Congress, was trailing attorney Paul Kitchin, member of a well-known North Carolina political family. Rep. Thurmond Chatham, a stormy figure in Washington and at home, was running behind County Solicitor Ralph J. Scott.

RETURNS from 24 of 187 precincts in the Fourth District gave Cooley 4,389 votes and Debnam 2,747; seven of 154 precincts in the Fifth District gave Scott 898 and Chatham 707; eight of 209 precincts in the Eighth District gave Kitchin 324 votes and Deane 185.

Gov. Luther Hodges, first North Carolina governor in more than 60 years to run to succeed himself, was easily outdistancing three little-known opponents from the start. So was Sen. Sam Ervin (D-NC) overwhelming Marshall Kurfess in the Senate contest. Democratic nomination virtually assured election in all the races on the ballot Saturday.

ACROSS THE STATE an estimated half-million Democrats voted in the 12 hours ending at 6:30 p.m. The weather was sunny with the temperature working up to 80.

Reps. Cooley, Chatham and Deane were the only ones among 15 North Carolina members of Congress who refused to sign the manifesto in which 100 southern senators and representatives pledged to resist the school segregation.

CHECK PASSER VICTIMIZES BIBLE SHOP

TORRANCE — Police Saturday began seeking a "tall, slender, studious-looking" man who passed a $25 bad check at the Bible Book and Gift Shop, 1619 Cravens Ave.

Officers said clerks told them the man cashed the check while purchasing a book entitled: "How to Live 365 Days a Year."

WALKS INTO TRAP

Socialite Slaying Suspect Seized at Home of Wife

MIDDLEBURY, Vt. (AP)—A him to drive east and see his wife. Personal belongings, papers and letters of the victim were found in the car.

STATE POLICE dispatcher Spencer Morse at Burlington said Boswell was seized on his wife's front steps, less than 10 minutes after she telephoned police to tell them he had arrived.

Boswell had telephoned shortly after midnight that he was coming at 7 a.m., but he was nine hours late. Police had about given up hope he would fall into his own trap but they maintained an alert.

Finally, Morse said, a deputy sheriff saw Boswell driving toward Middlebury and notified the state police at Rutland. Two police cars were sent from Rutland and two from Middlebury but before they got very far, Mrs. Boswell had telephoned to

He also refused to discuss the slaying, authorities said. However, he admitted the car he was driving belonged to Mrs. Van Ryne. He said she had lent it to

German Papers Tell Plan to Keep 'U.S. Out of War'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Long-secret documents made public Saturday recounted that Nazi propagandists with thousands of dollars in hand collaborated with "a well known Republican congressman" in trying to get the 1940 Republican national convention to adopt an "isolationist" platform.

No name was given for the congressman in captured German documents held secret for 16 years by British, French and American officials.

They were made public without comment by the State Department, but a footnote cited a keep-out-of-war newspaper advertisement published at the time over the signature of Hamilton Fish Jr., then a Republican representative from New York.

FISH, ASKED for comment, said he remembers the ad very well and he added that, in raising the money to pay for it, "not one cent came from German sources."

Many of the documents made public Saturday were cables to Berlin from Hans Thomsen, counselor and man-in-charge at the German embassy in Washington in 1940, America's last full year of peace before World War II.

It was a year of struggle between so-called isolationists and interventionists in American politics. The struggle was heightened by the fall of France, Italy's entry into the war against the allies and the American presidential election.

REPORTING on this in a "most urgent top secret" cable of June 12, 1940, Thomsen told Berlin the isolationists apparently were losing out.

Looking to the 1940 Republican convention, opening within two weeks at Philadelphia, he proposed a two-part "well-camouflaged lightning propaganda campaign."

1. "A well-known Republican congressman who works in close collaboration with the special official for press affairs will invite some 50 isolationist Republican congressmen on a 3-day visit to the party convention." Their aim would be to "work on the delegates of the Republican party in favor of an isolationist foreign policy... $3,000 are required."

2. "The Republican in question is prepared to form a small ad hoc Republican committee" to

Dr. Olmsted Dies; Helped Find Insulin

BERKELEY (AP)—Dr. James M. D. Olmsted, 70, professor emeritus of physiology at the University of California and a research participant in the discovery of insulin, died Saturday.

Dr. Olmsted came to California in 1927 from the University of Toronto, where he had worked on insulin studies. He retired as chairman of the University of California's physiology department in 1952.

The French Academy of Sciences in 1949 awarded Dr. Olmsted its Binoux prize in history and philosophy of science.

Born at Lake City, Iowa, Olmsted studied at Middlebury College, Harvard, Oxford and the University of Toronto before starting his career in medical education.

advertisement in the Centralia Sentinel he tells voters that he has criticized the present governor for keeping too many Democrats in jobs. He says that if he is elected governor he will do away with Civil Service if it keeps him from ousting Democrats so good Republicans can be seated in their jobs. He says that if we are to have the two-party system the party in power must have patronage to reward its workers.

This is the program of Judge Sid M. Ward, now seeking nomination for the governorship of Illinois. But it is also the attitude of a very large percentage of officeholders and seekers. It is a cynical attitude accepted by many citizens who blindly follow party candidates. An example is the job given John Maragon, former Kansas City bootblack and buddy of Harry Truman. He was convicted of using his influence with the President to greatly profit himself while Truman was in the White House. On being released from jail he was given a job in the House mail room.

Drew Pearson now admits he was largely responsible for helping Maragon get this job. He says Maragon was just an ignorant individual and he has paid his debt to society. But one must ask is that any reason why the Democrats who control this patronage should give such an individual a government job to be paid for by taxpayers whom that individual betrayed?

Officeholders do not have the pressure on them for small jobs as they did years ago. During the depression it was terrific. But now the greatest job pressure comes from men and women seeking appointment to important commissions or to the courts.

This change in patronage demands has greatly changed the political picture in some states. It has caused voters to be less partisan-minded. They vote for the man rather than the party. It is only in the large eastern cities that boss rule still holds control of wards. That is based entirely on patronage. It is practiced by both parties. But only in the southern states does blind partisanship continue to rule as a one-party system.—L.A.C.

publish full-page newspaper ads during the convention "with the impressive appeal 'Keep America out of War.'" The cost was estimated at $60,000 to $80,000.

Thomson cabled he had accepted proposal No. 1 as a "unique opportunity." As to the ads he said the Republican congressman's "Republican friends" would probably pay half the cost. He asked Berlin's approval to pay the rest. Other documents indicated approval was given.

A FOOTNOTE by State Department historians said "such an advertisement appeared in the New York Times for June 25, 1940."

A check of this issue of the Times turned up a full page ad of "The National Committee to Keep America out of Foreign Wars." Fish, who was a House member from 1921 to 1945, signed the ad as chairman of the committee.

Sen. Karl Mundt (R-SD) recalled Saturday that, as a member of the House from South Dakota in 1940, he led a group of "young turk" Republicans to the Philadelphia convention. "We were mostly against Wendell Willkie because he was an interventionist," Mundt said. "I remember there were about 20 of us, all in our first year in Congress, and we went to Philadelphia together."

Mundt said he couldn't remember whose idea it was. He said it grew out of meetings of what he called "The Wednesday Night Club." He said this club was composed of first-term Republican congressmen who opposed any involvement in the European war.

He said the group paid its own way to Philadelphia, stayed overnight to press its views on the Republican convention's resolutions-platform committee, got out a letter opposing Willkie and returned to Washington.

THE NEW YORK TIMES of June 20, 1940, reported the Mundt group's appearance before the platform-resolutions committee in these words:

"The evening session (of June 19) was further enlivened by the appearance of a flying squadron of 20 Republican members of Congress, who came from Washington under the leadership of Rep. Mundt of South Dakota to urge the committee for the strongest possible stand against intervention in the European war."

"A few minutes before the members of Congress put in their appearance, Christopher T. Emmet Jr. of New York laid before the platform writers a plea for all possible aid to the allies. Mr. Emmet was speaking for William Allen White of Kansas, head of the committee to defend America by aiding the Allies."

The resolutions-platform committee was headed by Alf Landon of Kansas, who had been the unsuccessful Republican presidential candidate in 1936. Landon was described in accounts of the

of Representatives. During the last session of Congress, according to Labor's published report, Hosmer voted 14 times against the people's welfare out of 17 votes on key issues. The fact that Wade does not understand this, is concrete evidence of his political senility. I can only say he has my deepest sympathy."

Crocker, who is chairman of the 70th Assembly District Democratic Council, and Simpson's campaign co-chairman, asserted that Wade told him in February that he would support Hosmer if Simpson were a candidate for Congress.

"In the light of Wade's previous attacks on Hosmer," said Crocker, "it appears he is really not so much for Hosmer as he is against Simpson, against whom he harbors a personal animosity."

Crocker also claimed he had heard rumors that Wade had been promised the postmaster-generalship in Lakewood if Hosmer is re-elected.

Crocker said he sees no evidence that the Los Angeles County Democratic Central Committee, which has endorsed Simpson, is subservient to the California Council of Democratic Clubs as Wade charged. He said that the clubs, for the most part, are working harmoniously, but that some members are unhappy about the "inaction and passive resistance to party progress" by a few members of the county central committee. He said this has resulted in support for a new slate of candidates for election to the committee on June 5.

IN HIS ANTI-SIMPSON statement Friday, Wade announced he is resigning as a member of the county central committee and chairman of the 70th Assembly district county committee. Crocker claimed Wade's resignation had not yet been received by the committee, and remarked he should have resigned before attacking the Democratic candidate. He noted Wade is not a candidate for re-election at the coming primary.

Answering Wade's charges that Simpson has destroyed party unity, Crocker said it is Wade who has fomented intraparty strife. "It is well known," said Crocker, "that Wade has nursed a desire to run for Congress for several years and has grown steadily more bitter because no one else seemed to think he was qualified for the office or could be elected." Wade asserted that Simpson has been "twice repudiated" as a candidate by the people of Long Beach. Crocker said that if defeat in election is repudiation, many other Americans have suffered similarly only to be acclaimed later. The greatest and most famous of those, he said, was Abraham Lincoln.

CROCKER COMMENTED on Wade's statement that the county committee in the 70th Assembly District had endorsed Paul Strader for Assemblyman. "The 70th District Democratic Council convention was held previous to the committee meeting," Crocker said. "Wade, Strader and a few others walked out of that convention without presenting Strader's name and held a 'rump' meeting at which they contrived to secure the endorsement of the committee and oppose the candidacy of Daniel T. Brice who was endorsed by the convention."

A few weeks later, Simpson was endorsed for Congress by the 18th District Democratic Council convention. "I do not recall seeing Wade at that convention," Crocker said, "although he could have attended and presented his own name or that of any other Democrat for endorsement if he had wished to. Later, Simpson was endorsed by the Los Angeles Democratic Central Committee, of which Wade is a member. I do not know if Wade attended that meeting or if he walked out there also. In any event, Simpson was endorsed unanimously."

ROSE, THE CHAIRMAN of the county committee, said he regretted that a man who had pledged himself to support the party platform and candidates should "spurn his commitments." He added:

"The election-eve turncoats, with whom Simpson has now joined company, will have little success in fooling the voters. One loud blast in the press and they are forgotten." He said the committee will take proper action in reference to Wade at an early meeting.

Mrs. Van Ryne's body was found stuffed in a closet in Boswell's apartment. Police said the heiress, four or five months pregnant, had been strangled about May 21, apparently with the belt found under her body.

Mrs. Van Ryne's husband, Thomas Van Ryne, 39, is serving a one-year prison term in California for passing bad checks. Police said she had been living in a motel here while waiting for her husband to get out of prison. The wealthy blonde visited her husband in prison at Saugus, Calif., last Sunday, police said.

LeMay testified that past and present superiority of his world-wide bomber force had prevented start of an atomic war and should prevent one as long as superiority continues.

He repeated several times that if an atomic war starts, the United States and its allies must fight it with equipment they then have. He said all aircraft factories, industrial centers and other necessary aid would be bombed out.

"Whoever wins the air power battle will then go on and win the war," LeMay said.

$5,200 AUTO GOOD ENOUGH, BANDIT SAYS

NEW YORK (UP)—Laurent Tenele, 55, was sitting in his $5,200 Cadillac at a railroad station waiting for a friend Saturday, when a man wearing dark glasses and a trench coat jammed a gun into his ribs.

Tenele handed over $140 and a $200 wristwatch and thought that would be the end of the holdup. The gunman had other ideas, however.

"Man, this is some load," he told Tenele. "Bet it cost about 8,000 bucks."

"No, Tenele replied. 'Only $5,200.'"

"That's good enough for me," the gunman said. "Hop out, cat, I'm ridin' in style today."

Tenele got out. The gunman got in and sped away.

Former GI Sworn In as Japan Citizen

TOKYO (UP)—A 33-year-old former American soldier who fought against the Japanese in World War II has become a naturalized Japanese citizen, it was learned here Saturday.

Robert Slager, 33, of Bradley, Mich., now a teacher of English conversation at Tokyo's Waseda University, took the oath May 7 and adopted the name of his Japanese wife, becoming Upton Murakami. He is the first non-Nisei American to be granted Japanese citizenship since the war.

Slager first came to Japan as a member of the occupation force. He returned in 1952 and in 1954 was married. He now has a year-old son, Tami. Slager attended Western Michigan College at Kalamazoo.

Progress Slams the Stage Door

Sir! How Dare You? 'Dancing' Girls Mean It

By BEN ZINSER

Dad-dee, forget about those diamond rings, bracelets... everything.

Today's chorine is having no part of such tokens of appreciation from stage-door daddies.

Most likely, her heart belongs to Junior, the lad down the street who spends his money on car-buretors—not champagne.

The stage door definitely is shut, a bevy of local chorines—the Marion Rankin Dancers—told a reporter Saturday.

In other words, don't believe what you see in the cinema.

And let's get something else straight. They're "dancing girls"—not chorus girls.

The term "chorus girls" often has a derogatory connotation," says 20-year-old line captain Catherine Hawley, 1055 Olive Ave., who has been a Rankin girl for five years now.

CATHERINE SAYS there's an exception to stage-door romances. She's the exception. She met her husband of four weeks, Charles, during a show in Phoenix, Ariz.

"However," she hastens to explain, "I met him through one of the girls in the line—Phyllis Hamm. He's her cousin."

Catherine, whose stage name is Schurz, says Charles dated her after each evening's show and "We finally got married on my first night off in weeks."

One thing, though, hasn't changed in Glitterland. The stage-door Johnnies still are trying.

"There's always a bunch of guys hanging around the stage door," discloses 18-year-old Joanne Hoffman, 3070 Karen Ave., a Long Beach City College student who has been dancing professionally for a year.

"But I never go out with any of them," the blonde, blue-eyed chorine says.

"WE DON'T MAKE a habit of seeing them," echoes 20-year-old Daryl Evans, 710 Hamilton Pl., San Pedro, a brown-eyed girl who is a bookkeeper when she's not dancing.

"They're taboo," says Loretta W. Inpolito, 19, of 3270 Delta Ave., a dent at Mary Star of the Sea City College brunette.

"Never date 'em," comments Carole Mitchell, 16, of 2158 Hamm, a Poly High School student. Carole, the baby of the line, spends her extra time appearing as an extra in television shows.

"Absolutely not," says Gayle

Culp, 17, of 5852 Gardena Ave., a Jordan High School pupil.

"Never," adds Patti Rodgers, 19, of 11150 Harris St., Lynwood, who attends Compton Junior College.

"Ditto," says 17-year-old Diane Brown, 2123 Monitor Ave., who goes to Poly High School.

"Not me," puts in Sandra West, 17, of 4161 Fleet Haven Rd., of Wilson High School.

"I never go out with them," says O'Reta Smith, 17, of 1519 W. 15th St., San Pedro, a student at Mary Star of the Sea City College.

"Me neither," asserts Phyllis Carole Mitchell, 16, of 2158 Hamm, a Poly High School student. Carole, the baby of the line, spends her extra time appearing as an extra in television shows.

two children. She's the only dancer of the current 12 who can remember when the Rankin Dancers performed with the Ina Ray Hutton orchestra on television week after week.

Her husband, Dean, is a former schoolmate. They have two sons, Duane, 5, and Kim, 2.

"As for my dancing in a line, my husband is all for it," she says.

Docked out in blue sequin leotards speckled with fluorescent stars, the chorines rehearsed Saturday afternoon for a "black light" novelty act. They have a show coming up in a few days in Los Angeles' Shrine Auditorium.

The Shrine Aud. is familiar ground to the girls. They average one show a month there.

In the past the line has danced for the Arizona State Fair, the Del Mar Fair and similar events.

Dance director Marion Rankin says her biggest problem is replacements.

"The girls are always getting married," she explains. "The boy usually is someone the girl went to school with."

"Yes, there's always a crowd around the stage door after shows, but as the girls said, these men don't create a problem these days."

So, get lost, Daddy-O. The Broadway melody of old no longer lingers on.

Two Dead, 12 Hurt in Accidents

Two persons were killed and 12 injured in a series of traffic accidents in the Long Beach area Saturday and late Friday.

One mishap was a spectacular crash in which an automobile went out of control, sheared off a fire hydrant and overturned twice, killing the driver and injuring a woman passenger.

Rita E. O'Connell, 19, of 1033 W. 160th St., Gardena. Smith was killed almost instantly Saturday when his car flipped over twice at Figueroa St. and Pacific Coast Hwy.

His passenger, Barbara Matthews, 21, Los Angeles, suffered a fractured skull and possible internal injuries. She was taken to Harbor General Hospital.

THE GARDENA victim was killed in a two-car crash at Pier Ave. and Gould Lane, Redondo Beach, early Saturday. She was a passenger in a car driven by Edward L. Hust, 27, of 1350 W. 164th St., Gardena, who was taken to Harbor General Hospital with a punctured lung.

Driver of the other car, Leopoldo S. Montanez, 40, of 1746 Spreckels Lane, Redondo Beach, was arrested after the accident.

Robert F. Williams, 19, Los Angeles, another passenger in Hust's car, received two leg fractures.

A crash at Lomita Blvd. and Hawthorne Ave., Torrance, late Friday seriously injured Victor Low, 75, and Madge Low, 67, of 1816 Henderson Ave., Long Beach. They were taken to Harbor General Hospital.

A pedestrian, Frank Hernandez, 56, of 3385 W. 17th St., Torrance, was injured seriously when he was struck by a car while crossing Crenshaw Blvd. at 170th St.

Two cars crashed and plunged into a ditch near Artesia St. and Atlantic Ave. early Saturday, injuring four persons, two seriously.

Douglas R. MacMillan, 22, of 6337 Gaviota Ave., one of the drivers, was booked by police on suspicion of felony drunk driving and was charged with speeding.

He sustained minor injuries. Seriously hurt were Mrs. Shirley Sleeper, 48, of 5524 Bellflower Blvd., and Mrs. Verna M. Northrop, 49, of 292 Temple Ave.

They were passengers in a car driven by Mrs. Helen J. Carter, 46, of 14311 Mar Les Dr., Santa Ana, who received a fractured right arm.

SEVEN-YEAR-OLD Lonnie R. Joseph, 1171 Walnut Ave., suffered a chipped elbow Saturday when, police said, he rode his bicycle into a moving van at Peterson Ave. and E. Anaheim St. The van driver, George T. Jacobson, 30, of 445 E. Pleasant St., was not cited.

Motorcyclist Dennis Hanson, 24, 1106 E. Emory St., Whittier, was injured critically Friday afternoon when his vehicle struck an auto driven by Alex Walker, 77, of 1436 N. Spadra Rd., Fullerton, as Walker was making a U-turn on Fullerton Rd. near Sunnycrest St., Fullerton, police reported.

Two Survivors of Plane Crash at Sea Describe Rescue by Boat

Two veterans of World War II came home from another brush with death Saturday and recounted the tragic drowning of their companion 200 miles west of Long Beach.

William Newton, 26, of 5609 N. Carfax Ave., was swallowed up by a huge wave—with rescue just out of his grasp.

Jay Tracer, 36, of 520 Fernleaf Ave., Corona del Mar, and William Drake, 39, of 117½ Bay Shore Dr., returned to port aboard the Union Oil Co. tanker Avila, Saturday.

THE TWO MEN and Newton had to ditch their plane when it ran out of fuel. They thought they were over dry land, but found themselves over the ocean.

Tracer is a survivor of the infamous Bataan death march. He spent most of World War II in Japanese prison camps.

And Drake, who now is his partner in an aerial photography firm at 3730 Atlantic Ave., was the pilot of a B-29 who dropped bombs on Japan—and he unwittingly dumped a load of bombs near Osaka Prison camp where Tracer was a POW.

Tracer and Drake rented the four-place Cessna 182 to fly to Fresno to have a camera repaired. Newton was en route to Fresno on business. He was employed by his father, Thomas Newton, 4444 Pepperwood Ave., who operates a private detective agency and bail bond business here.

"THE PLANE'S RADIO was out and we figure that the compass was defective," said Tracer, who has been flying since he was 17 years old. "We got over Bakersfield all right and then hit a heavy overcast between there and Fresno. We turned back for Bakersfield only to find that soaked in."

Low visibility kept them from spotting Long Beach. When their fuel was exhausted, they came down for a landing and were amazed to see they were over the ocean. They landed safely and the plane began to sink.

Nearby was the Norwegian vessel, Castleville.

Before running out of fuel they buzzed the ship to attract its attention. The ship continued for a quarter of a mile before it could slow and return to the men.

"WE WERE AFRAID that the ship's crew hadn't seen us," Drake related. "The waves were so high that we couldn't catch sight of the ship. I never saw the lifeboat until it was right up by me."

Drake said he last saw New-

Four Slain by Bride in Quarrel

HAMMOND, Ind. (UP) — A young bride, in a rage over what police said was a family quarrel over crowded living conditions, Saturday shot her invalid husband, her mother-in-law, and her two sisters-in-law.

Mrs. Opal Juanita Collins, 25, was arrested immediately after the wild shooting spree and readily admitted the slayings to police.

The dead were her husband, Ben C. Collins Jr., 28, a paraplegic Army veteran, her mother-in-law, Mrs. Julia Collins, 48, and her husband's two sisters, Mary Sue, 11, and Martha Ann, Collins, 14.

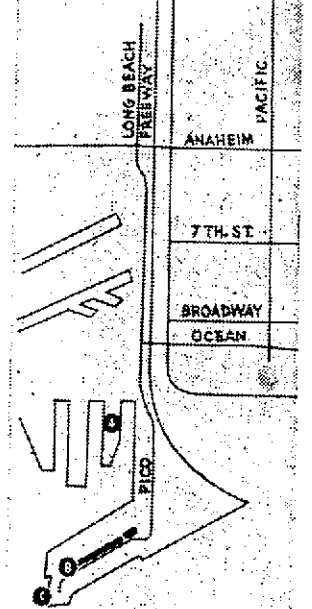

Police said the family moved to Hammond from Louisville, Ky., a short while ago. They said the couple was married in Indianapolis, Ind., early this month.

When police arrived they found the four victims sprawled on the floor of the small home. Mrs. Collins said she shot them all with a .22 caliber rifle equipped with a telescopic sight.

Police said the shootings followed a heated argument centering around living arrangements in the house which was owned by Mrs. Collins' husband.

Harbor Day Fete to End Trade Week

World Trade Week will be brought to a climax today at Long Beach and Los Angeles harbors with the observance of Harbor Day.

POINTS OF INTEREST in today's Long Beach Harbor display are pinpointed on map: A. Carrier USS Boxer. B. Fashion show and cargo exhibits. C. Free harbor tours leave from Pierpoint Landing.

Junior chambers of commerce from Long Beach, Los Angeles, Wilmington and San Pedro are co-operating in staging the day's events.

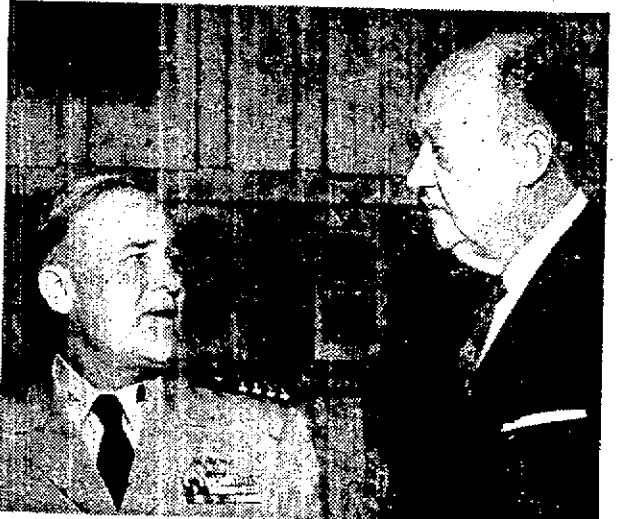

Local junior chamber representatives announced Saturday that entries in the children's model tugboat contest will be accepted today as late as 11 a. m., after which judging will begin.

In addition to tours aboard the tugboat Long Beach, moored at Pierpoint Landing, winners will receive $25, $15 and $10 merchandise certificates.

OTHER EVENTS besides the model contest which will be held in a new warehouse on Pier A near Pierpoint Landing include: a fashion show, military displays, exhibits of world cargoes and a showing of imported autos.

The aircraft carrier USS Boxer will receive visitors at Berths 17 and 18, Pier B. The cruiser USS Toledo will welcome the public at Berths 178 and 179 in Wilmington. The Lurline will also be open to visitors at the Matson Terminal.

Long Beach Motor Bus Co. will furnish bus service to the local port every half hour, beginning southwest corner of First St.

HARBOR DAY is discussed by Capt. Frank Miller (left), commanding officer of the carrier USS Boxer, and Charles Campbell, vice chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Armed Services Committee, at a luncheon Saturday in the Apple Valley Steak House. The Boxer is in port for the Harbor Day celebration.

$25 Million Slated for Fun Areas

WASHINGTON—The National Park Service plans to spend more than $25 million to build new roads and spruce up nine recreation areas in California.

The Department of Interior said the money will be spent over the next 10 years under the service's Mission 66 program, a comprehensive long-range plan.

REQUIREMENTS for Yosemite National Park, largest in the state, have not been determined, and will be added to the total.

The California program includes about $15.5 million for roads and trails and $9.5 million to develop and improve hotel facilities, campground and picnic areas, and other facilities.

Expenditures will be directed toward modernizing and improving existing roads, National Park Director Conrad L. Wirth said. Very little new mileage is planned.

SEQUOIA, KINGS Canyon, Death Valley and Lassen National Parks are scheduled to receive the bulk of the improvements.

An estimated $8.6 million is proposed for roads and trails at Sequoia and Kings Canyon. All of Death Valley's roads, now gravel, are scheduled for surfacing, at a cost of $4.6 million. Lassen is scheduled to receive $588,000 for roads and trails and $1,119,000 for buildings and campgrounds.

STATE'S MODEST COED

Gertrude Gelien, Long Beach State College student, modestly lists her film star son as "T. Hunter" in college records.—(Staff Photos)

T. Hunter's Mother Lives Quietly Here

By BOB HOUSER

Gertrude Gelien's personal data file at Long Beach State College lists for reference one "T. Hunter."

Gertrude is a 47-year-old student. The reference she gives is really her son, Arthur Gelien, who now uses a pseudonym. He is Tab Hunter, freshly-minted movie star and—in the eyes of this nation's young dolls—one of the top 10 dreamboats extant.

It's quite reasonable that Mrs. Gelien should expect good reference from T. Hunter because Tab is picking up the tab for his mother's schooling.

Starting a six-year educational program is not easy for a three-decade truant. And it is not a whim borne of the sudden financial emancipation provided by the success of her famous son. It's simply that she always wanted to go to school.

SHE HAD LITTLE chance as a child. She was born in Hamburg, Germany, in 1909. Home-making was the prescribed career for daughters in European families. So she cried from her window and watched other young people passing on their way to school.

Her father, John Gelien, a chef on United States Steamship Lines, brought his family to America in 1927. Gertrude and her two sons, Walter, 3, and Arthur, 2, came to California in 1933. Then, in later years she worked. Sometimes she held two jobs so she could keep her sons in school.

Now, Mrs. Gelien's boy-raising formula, equal parts of love and understanding, seems to have wrought success. About Tab she says, "Someday I think he will be very good. He's a humble boy with a good outlook. He is a very real and very natural boy."

Son Walter is in Alaska with the Navy, has completed three years of college credit in service, is married and a father and hopes to become a doctor. Walter paid his mother tribute more precious than gold. After years of taking the childhood lessons for granted and growing into manhood, he said one day, "Thanks, Mom, for what you've done."

TAB IS MORE LIKELY to call his scholar "Honey." He compliments her on how her letter writing has improved after only one year of formal English instruction. The two meet perhaps once a week either here at her Long Beach apartment or in Hollywood. They talk by telephone a couple of times a week. She may say, "Thank you for calling."

Leag Names Hill as New Field Deputy

NORWALK—Appointment of Robert E. Hill, 14508 E. Horst Ave., as a field deputy to serve in the southern section of First Supervisorial District was announced by Supervisor Herbert C. Legg. He will assume his duties Monday.

Since 1952, Hill has been associated with the Los Angeles Bureau of Southern California Associated Newspapers. Prior to that time he worked as reporter and city editor on the Alhambra Post-Advocate. He served two years in the U. S. Infantry during World War II with the 24th Division in the Philippines.

The new field deputy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hill, the Marine Corps is to be ready to fight and, by God, you are going to be ready."

TAB HUNTER... Mother Favors Latin

"Thank you for being there," Tab answers. On this conviction her voice heightens to earnest surety: "It must be!"

A vehicle toward this enlightenment, she believes, is Latin. So she studies Latin privately. She thinks Latin should be available to any who wish it, even if it is not a popular course and the classes are small.

"Latin helps create an interest in science. Even if only one great scientist emerges, the program will have been justified."

Tab Hunter's mother leans forward with each excited verbal volley, her hands posturing punctuation. She is a tall, trim, tanned blonde woman who has another great ambition besides schooling and social service career. She wants to attend the Metropolitan Opera.

She hears the music often by radio and is transported as would anyone "who has the ears to hear and the heart to listen." It might seem strange that the handsome mother of a handsome young bachelor movie star isn't plagued with attention and questions by young people. It's quite simple, however. She hasn't told anyone.

Goal of her own education—a planned two years at Long Beach State and three more at UCLA—is to equip herself for a career of social work. She would like most to work in a hospital and, if possible, with handicapped children. She has an uncommon interest too in brain and heart surgery.

GERTRUDE GELIEN believes man's realization of his brain's capacity will bring with it cures for the palsied or mentally retarded.

Drought's Menace Unabated

(From the I. P. T. Capital Bureau) WASHINGTON — Southern California's 12-year drought shows no signs of a let-up, Undersecretary of Interior Clarence A. Davis announced today.

He cited a recent review of water-supply conditions completed by the U. S. Geological Survey. The report showed:

1. Runoff during 1955 was only half the runoff of the preceding year, and only slightly more than one-fourth the average for the 30-year period 1920-50.

2. Most reservoirs in Southern California are practically dry; at present their content is only 8.7 per cent of total capacity.

3. Ground-water levels are the lowest on record, because of decreased runoff and rapidly increasing demands by water users.

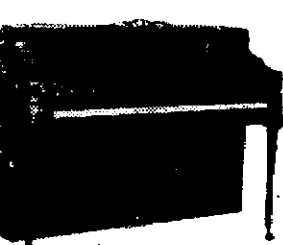

"A critical situation exists in most of the area," the undersecretary said.

The water table has fallen despite increased import of water from Owens Valley and the Colorado River, the survey said. Importation from these sources has been stepped up from 310,000 acre-feet in 1944 to an all-time high of 732,000 acre-feet in 1955.

About 125,000 acre-feet of this water was placed in ground-water storage in 1955 in an attempt to retard the water table's decline and to reduce the threat of sea water intrusion.

GLOOM AT THE 'SLOP CHUTE'

Marines Scowl at New Rules

By BEM PRICE

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP)—For 40 years raw boys have been manufactured into proud U. S. Marines here. The manufacturing methods hardly would have found favor with Boy Scouts and the language of instruction would have been out of place at Sunday School picnics.

The end result, however, has been a fighting force as close to real professionals as anything the United States has produced. In 179 years it has never been licked.

Now the Marines' highly controversial training methods are undergoing drastic change and from the officers' club to the enlisted men's "slop chute"—as the beer parlor is called—there is a measure of gloom.

After his fourth beer one night an unhappy staff sergeant said, "We've had the old corps, the new corps and now this foudled up thing."

Another sergeant said, "We get more like the Army every day." The word from the commandant, Gen. Randolph Pate, is that henceforth all Marines will be trained "by the book"; that is, the Landing Force Manual. In the past, "The Book" has served primarily as a guide for the noncommissioned officer drill instructors (DIs) at this Marine Corps recruit depot.

Over the years the DIs have developed their own methods of discipline and training, methods not condoned anywhere in "the book" but which the Marines have felt to be effective.

NOW ALL THIS IS changed and Staff Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon did it.

On April 8, a moonless Sunday night, McKeon marched a platoon of recruits past the rifle range and into tidewater Ribbon Creek. Six were drowned.

McKeon said he did it "to teach them discipline." The Marine Corps said he had been drinking vodka. He is now in the brig awaiting trial by court martial July 14 on charges of manslaughter.

In the hearing Pate said, "Some practices have crept into the handling of recruits which are not only unnecessary but do not comport with the dignity of the individual or his self respect."

Pate sat up a special recruit training command here and at the West Coast recruit depot at San Diego, directly responsible to him.

THE RESULT has been a sharp curtailment in the independence and autonomy of the drill instructors.

No more will DIs be permitted to take recruits on night hikes.

From now on the DIs will use no profanity. Recruits will no longer be known as "stupid idiots," among other things.

The ancient practice of making the talkative recruit stick his head in a bucket and shout "I am an idiot" 500 times is out.

No longer will a "boot," as recruits are known, be given a toothbrush and told to scrub an entire barracks.

U.S. Seeks to Widen Russ Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, it was learned Saturday, probably will suggest to Russia next week that its invitation for a few Air Force officers to visit Moscow be broadened to include top leaders of other services.

President Eisenhower will make the final decision, probably on a recommendation from the Joint Chiefs of Staff that the Soviet invitation be accepted subject to certain conditions which in effect would change its nature substantially.

Eisenhower's own attitude toward an exchange of officials between this country and the Soviet Union was described by informed officials as positive. The administration appears at the moment to be prepared for an open ended series of official visits which could lead eventually to an invitation to Soviet Communist Party Boss Nikita Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai Bulganin to come to this country. That is not a specific purpose of American diplomacy now but some officials concede it could work out that way.

EISENHOWER has given his personal attention to the Soviet invitation to the Air Force ever since Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and his associates decided early this week that it could lead to an important visit or series of visits in the interest of the United States. Some administration officials see the whole operation as one which could also contribute to what the President described in his speech at Baylor University Friday as "our efforts to establish a climate in which universal disarmament can go forward."

The Soviet invitation was formally presented to the Air Force last Monday by Col. Philip Bachinsky, air attache at the Soviet Embassy acting at the direction of Marshal Vasily D. Sokolovsky, Soviet armed forces chief.

Sokolovsky invited Gen. Nathan F. Twining, air chief of staff, to send two or three "high level officers of the United States Air Force" to the celebration of aviation day in the Soviet Union on June 24.

No Radiation Involvement in Girl Death

NEW YORK (AP)—An autopsy report said so far there were no signs of atomic radiation damage to organs of a Hiroshima maiden who died here while undergoing her third plastic operation.

Tomoko Nakabayashi, 26, was one of 25 Japanese girls brought here last year for treatment of burns they received in the atomic bombing of their city. They became known as the Hiroshima maidens.

She died of what Medical Examiner Dr. Milton Halpern called a heart arrest while undergoing the surgical treatment Thursday night.

Dr. Halpern and Dr. Sadao Otani, a Japanese pathologist, performed the autopsy. Dr. Halpern said in a statement:

"There was no evidence of any structural damage to the heart, brain or other organs attributable to a radiation effect of the atomic bomb explosion in 1945 which resulted in the thermal burns, the complications of which necessitated reconstructive surgery."

She had suffered a deep arm injury. A scar ran from her elbow to her fingers and was so deep it had pulled her right wrist into a useless position. The operations were designed to correct this injury.

Japan Jobless Total Up Million

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's unemployment hit a postwar high in March, although employment was up a million over last year. The government reports 1,060,000 were unemployed in March. The previous postwar high was 840,000 in March 1953. Employment rose to 40,850,000 from 39,840,000 in March a year ago. The government said the unemployment rise resulted mainly from large numbers of high school and college graduates entering the labor market.

Pregnancy No Path to Altar?

BERLIN (AP)—East German Justice Minister "Red" Hilda Benjamin told a group of Soviet Zone girls that pregnancy does not free them from the law which prohibits marriage before age 18.

"A 16-year-old girl has not enough experience to decide if she wants to travel through life with the man who is the father of her child," the minister was quoted in the newspaper Junge Welt. "An illegitimate child is no scandal any more."

Bulgaria Rebuffed by U.S. Diplomats

WASHINGTON (UP) — The United States has rebuffed Communist Bulgaria's bid to reestablish diplomatic relations angrily broken off in 1950, it was disclosed Saturday.

Administration officials said American diplomats in Paris recently informed Bulgarian diplomats that this nation does not even want to talk about resuming relations. The Bulgarians were told, it was added, that this government is not prepared to continue even informal talks on the matter.

The rebuff followed "several Bulgarian approaches" in Paris, at United Nations headquarters in New York, and at other places. The first approaches were made last February.

THE UNITED STATES recalled its diplomatic staff from Sofia and ousted Bulgarian diplomats here on Feb. 20, 1950. This was after the Communist regime ousted U.S. Minister Donald Heath for alleged "spy-traitor" contacts inside Bulgaria.

The United States vigorously rejected the Red charges against Heath as "wholly unfounded." It accused the Communists of "a series of indignities and restrictions" and of murdering Bulgarian employees of the U.S. Legation.

The State Department remembers the treatment dished out to this country in 1949 and 1950 following establishment of diplomatic relations in 1947. There also is some feeling that restoration of relations would have a discouraging effect on hopes for freedom of persons living behind the Iron Curtain.

UNWANTED HAIR REMOVED FOR LIFE

FOR WOMEN—The "St. Pierre Dual Action Method" upsets all concepts of treatment. This method destroys more hair for the dollar than anything developed in 50 years. No woman need suffer the indignity of excess hair. Results rapid, fees modest. Hairlines, eyebrows, face, necklines, lips, arms, limbs left free of hair forever. Positively no harm to health. Consultations private and free. Mail this ad for brochure.

FOR MEN—The "St. Pierre Dual Action Method" makes practicable the removal of heavy body growth in shortest time. Eyebrows, ears, cheeks, hairy throats, collar line, back, chest, cleared forever! The gym, outdoor sports need no longer be avoided because of excess hair. Body odor due to excess hair need not be tolerated. Highly trained and seasoned men and women operators.

BONES BROKEN BEFORE BIRTH

Five-day-old Kevin, held by his mother, Mrs. Richard Slunder, 23, of Bedford, Ind., suffered 30 to 40 broken bones before his birth, according to physicians. Both cause and cure are unknown. All ribs, both legs and arms breaks have healed, but a cast still covers the right arm.—(AP)

Keef Warns Dems Adlai Can't Win

MIAMI (UP)—Sen. Estes Keef said bluntly Saturday that the Democrats can not win with Adlai Stevenson in 1956 but Stevenson concentrated his fire on President Eisenhower in his bid for Florida's convention votes.

Stevenson asserted the President is standing "grandly aloof" in the midst of "bureaucratic civil war" in Washington. His only rejoinder to his Democratic rival's personal attack was that "it is up to the Democratic voters and not Sen. Keef to decide who is the strongest candidate in 1956."

Keef said in a central Florida speech that "what was not good enough to win in 1952

Ike Plays 27 Holes of Golf

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP)—President Eisenhower played 27 holes of golf Saturday—the most since the day before his heart attack last Sept. 24.

He teed off on the Gettysburg Country Club course in brisk, 52-degree weather at 9:30 a.m., and played around the nine-hole course three times before returning to his nearby farmhouse at 1 p.m.

It was his most vigorous day of golf since shooting 27 holes at Denver last fall. He walked the course at the start "to warm up a bit" but later rode the links in an electric cart.

George E. Allen, a Gettysburg neighbor and personal friend, played the 27 holes with the President. Club pro Dick Schlechter shot the first nine and Dr. Howard Mcc. Snyder, Mr. Eisenhower's personal physician, accompanied the presidential party on the last 18 holes.

The President flew to his farm here from Washington late Friday after a flying trip to Waco, Tex., for an address at Baylor University. He will return to the White House some time Monday.

Lloyd's Pool Won't Bet on Life of Ike

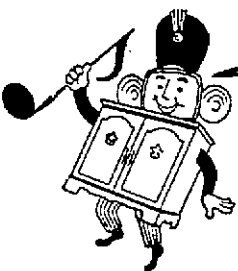

LONDON (UP)—Lloyd's of London has refused for "political" reasons to write insurance policies on the life expectancy of President Eisenhower, the London Evening Standard said Saturday.

The newspaper said the insurance firm, which writes policies in virtually any field, has received inquiries "about the price of insurance that President Eisenhower will live through his second term of office if he is re-elected in November."

It said Lloyd's has refused to "underwrite this risk."

The firm "has given an indication that the risk is not to the Navy and the Air Force is being accepted for political reasons," the Standard said.

Big Steel Pay Talk Monday

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The nation's biggest labor negotiations of 1956 start Monday when the United Steelworkers Union presents the steel industry with one of the most expansive, and perhaps most costly, set of demands in USW history.

Negotiators for the AFL-CIO union and the industry have roughly a month to hammer out a settlement on 23 contract proposals for expiring two-year contracts covering some 650,000 steelworkers employed by 172 basic steel and iron ore producers. The strike deadline is midnight June 30.

But the main goals of the 1,200,000-member union are only four. The USW already has made clear its key demands are: 52 weeks of supplemental unemployment benefits; premium pay for weekend work; a "substantial" pay increase; and a greatly improved hospitalization insurance program for which companies must foot the entire bill.

USW PRESIDENT David J. McDonald has declined to set a price on the contract "package." The union contends only that its aims are "reasonable" and amount to only a "fair share" of the industry's profits, now soaring to record heights in what is almost certain to be a record production year.

As usual, giant U. S. Steel Corp.—which produces about 1/3 of the nation's basic steel supply—will be the first to face McDonald and his team of negotiators. The union will start presentation of its case at 10 a.m. Monday.

McDonald will deal with Bethlehem Steel and Republic Steel Corporations—the number 2 and 3 ranking firms—Monday afternoon. Tuesday will see the remaining members of the industry's "big six"—Jones & Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, and Inland Steel—start their contract sessions here. Great Lakes Steel, a Detroit subsidiary of National Steel Corp., also is on the second day schedule.

Presbyterians Set Budget at $32 Million

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The 168th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. Saturday accepted the largest financial program in its history—a basic 1957 budget of $15,040,775 with added goals that would run the figure to $32,243,661.

Of the overall program fund, the churches will be asked to provide $25,183,661. The remainder of the hoped-for $32,243,661 would be made up by special gifts, bequests and from other sources.

The total program amount compares with the 1956 figure of $25,769,649. This year, the basic budget was $14,650,000.

SUNDAY'S PORTION of the assembly will be purely religious in nature with many of the out-of-town pastors assigned as guest preachers at Philadelphia area churches.

On Monday, the assembly will turn back to such business and the proposed merger with the United Presbyterian Church and the admitting of women to the ministry.

The merger plan was presented to the assembly Friday but final action was put off until next week on the grounds the merger report was too lengthy for a vote the same day it was handed down by committee.

Four Quints Shun Festive Anniversary

MONTREAL (AP) — The four living Dionne quintuplets aren't planning any party for their 22nd birthday Monday.

Marie, proprietor of a newly opened flower shop, says, "The party we had after opening the shop last Saturday was our birthday party, too."

The shop is named "Salon Emille" after the sister who died in 1954.

Annette is studying music in Montreal. Cecile and Yvonne are nurses in a suburban St. Laurent hospital. Marie had been in a convent studying to be a nun, but she left last year because of poor health.

Marie says she will work as usual on Monday. But she and her sisters have planned surprise gifts for each other.

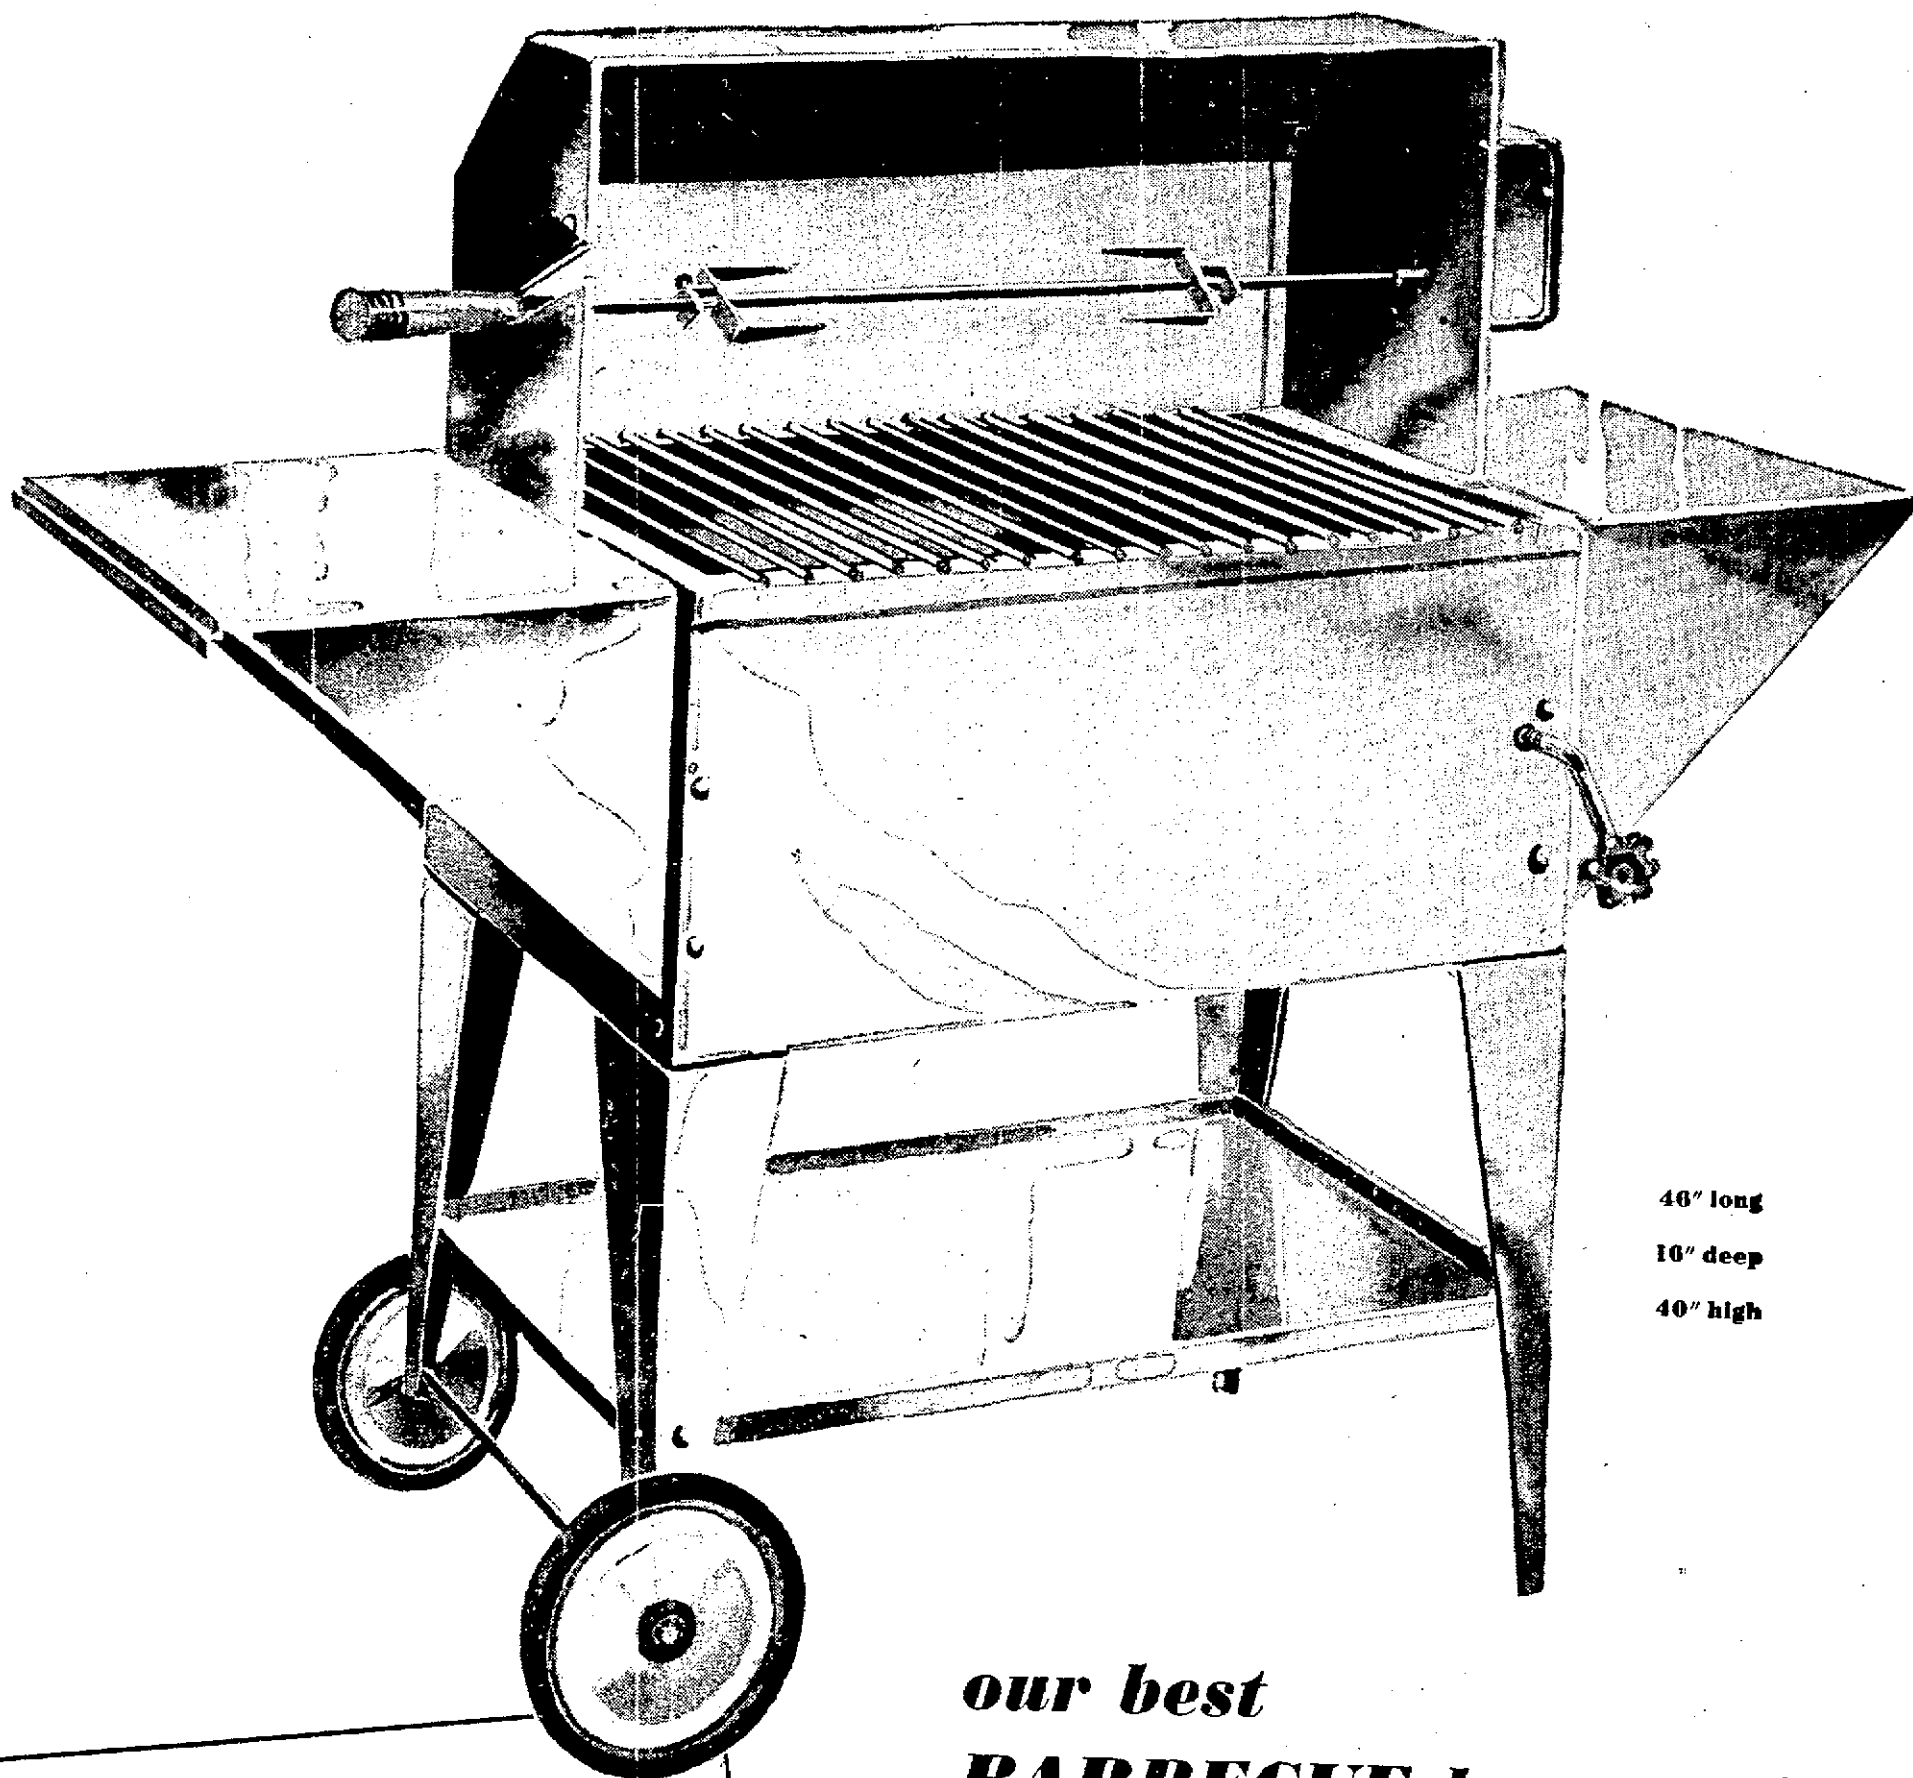

On their 21st birthday, the quintuplets came into a fortune of approximately a million dollars. They celebrated quietly then at a family reunion at their home in Callander, Ont.

President Will Get 2 More Tests in 1956

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Saturday President Eisenhower will undergo one or two further physical examinations during 1956.

Dear Mr. Petree:

Kamkap is happy to offer this barbecue to Barkers exclusively, and we know it is a value that can never be duplicated!

For this Bonus Buy we used steel purchased in 1955. Since that time the cost of this material has risen sharply making it impossible to produce, today, a barbecue of this quality at so low a price.

With the summer approaching, we know this stainless steel buy will be the hit of the season at your store. Best of luck.

Sincerely yours,

Russ Set Pace at Air Show

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP)—Russia's new TU-104 twin-jet civilian airliner stole the thunder from the latest American and British jet fighters Saturday at the International Air Show at Kloten Airport.

Russians at the show were high in their praise for Britain's gleaming Hawker Hunter jet fighter. And they peered closely at the new U. S. Air Force F-100 Supersabre, descendant of the planes that downed Russian-made MIGs in the Korean war.

But the crowds went for the Russian airliner which was first revealed to the West at London last month.

The onlookers even ignored a display of American guided missiles to gaze at the gleaming silver plane which made a brief flight over the field. The Russians were kept busy passing out leaflets giving details of the plane and its capacity.

RUSSIA KILLED off chances of an aerial match between their latest MIG-17 jets and the Supersabre, much to the disgust of the American pilots present. A Soviet official said MIGs definitely will not take part in the flying display which will be featured at the show today.

The Russians themselves seemed most interested in the Hawker Hunter Mark VI, never shown publicly before and reported to be one of the fastest jets in the world. The British kept it in an isolated hangar under guard.

An estimated 100,000 spectators are expected at the two-day show in which a total of seven nations will demonstrate their aerial progress.

This is the first time the Russians have attended the Zurich show.

Soviet Marshal Sergey I. Rudenko, deputy commander-in-chief of the Soviet Air Force, flew in from Berlin to head the Russian delegation.

U. S. Air Chief in Europe, Gen. Lauris Norstad, was invited to head the American group. He declined because of a busy schedule.

Norstad succeeds Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther this fall as overall NATO military commander.

Many Auto Dealers Said to Be in Red

WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP)—Thousands of auto dealers are in the red and the car-buying public is immersed in indebtedness because of the policies of automobile manufacturers, an auto dealer said here.

Frederick M. Sutter, first vice president of the American Auto Dealers, spoke before the Washington State Auto Dealers Assn. Sutter, a Columbus, Ind., auto dealer, said between 1½ and 2 million too many cars were built last year. He said dealers were forced to accept the surplus.

The dealers had to get rid of the cars "in all kinds of wild deals," Sutter said. Public indebtedness on autos alone zoomed to nearly 4 billion dollars, he said.

Dock Pact Is Extended for 2 Years

The Pacific Maritime Assn. and the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union have signed a two-year contract extension.

It provides a two-cent hourly wage increase, with three cents for overtime. Further negotiations on wages will take place in September. If agreement is not reached, the matter will go to arbitration and any increase will be effective Oct. 1.

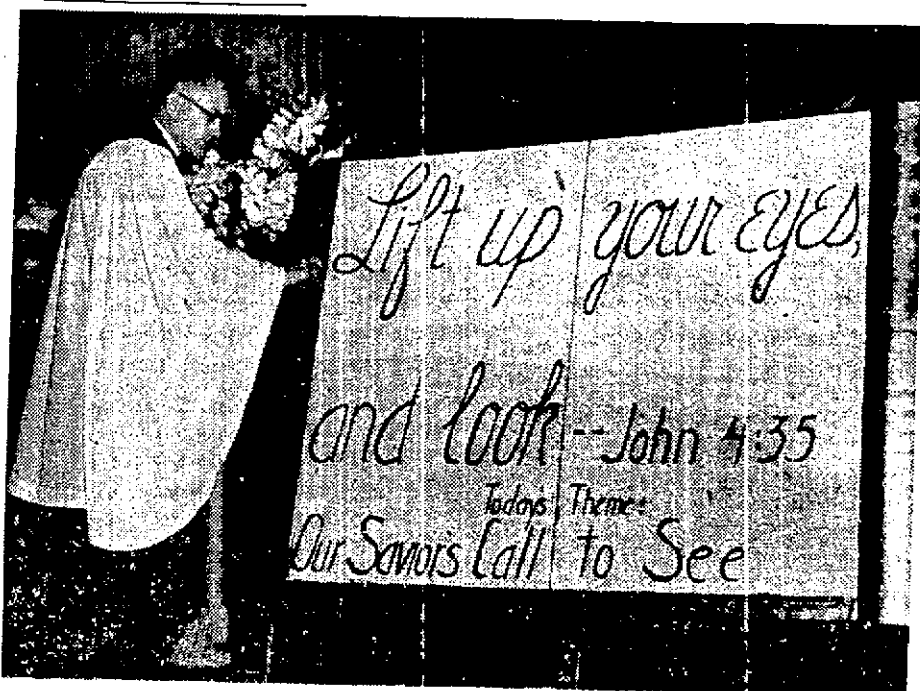

Either party may request another review Aug. 1, 1957, on wages and overtime, welfare contributions and two other items to be selected by the union. The ILWU's welfare plan, with modifications agreed upon earlier, will continue in effect subject to the 1957 review.

'East of Eden' Wins

Negro Woman Will Be First of Race to Finish Alabama White College

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—A Baptist minister's wife, one of 20 Negroes quietly attending classes at integrated Spring Hill College in this deep south town, on Tuesday will become the first Negro graduate in the college's 126-year history and the first to finish a white school in Alabama.

Mrs. Fannie Ernestine Motley entered the Catholic college after attending Jesuit College here, Selma University and Alabama State College for Negroes at Montgomery.

NEGROES were first admitted to Spring Hill three years ago. There was no publicity about their admission and there have been no incidents since. They eat with white students (numbering about 2,000) in the college cafeteria but must sit by themselves and are not allowed to participate in sporting or social activities. They also are forbidden to live on the campus.

Father Andrew Smith, president of Spring Hill, feels Negroes are being treated well at Spring Hill.

He said the college tried to treat them "like any other students so they won't feel any different."

Registration records don't carry the race.

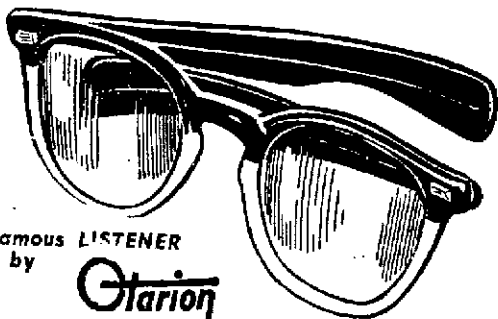

MRS. MOTLEY is a native of Monroeville, Ala., and received her grammar school education

there. Publicity-shy, she avoids newsmen.

Wishing her and the other 86 graduates well, Tuesday, will be Alabama's junior U. S. Sen. John Sparkman, a signer of the southern manifesto against integration. Some 200 miles to the north, another Negro, Atherine Lucy Foster, created campus riots when she tried to enter the all-white University of Alabama. She said she will be back next September to try to overrule her expulsion by the university.

U.S. Losing Leadership, House Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Foreign Affairs Committee said Saturday Russian "smiles" and the growing strength of U.S. allies are causing America to lose prestige and leadership in the free world.

The increasing economic and military vigor of this country's allies is making them less dependent on the United States, the committee said. This, coupled with a defrosting of the Russian attitude, it added, has made the free world more reluctant to follow American leadership.

"The bargaining power of the United States has diminished in important respects during recent years," the committee said in a report on the administration's foreign aid program for the coming year.

However, the committee made a strong plea for continued American assistance with special emphasis on technical aid to the free world as long as the Soviet threat continues.

The committee slashed $1.1 billion from the administration's $4.9 billion foreign aid request. Much of the cut was in military aid funds.

Jackie Gleason Uninvited as His TV 'Wife' Weds Rich Real Estate Man

NEW YORK (AP)—Audrey Meadows, the red-haired beauty who is comedian Jackie Gleason's much-tormented "wife" in television, got married in real life Saturday to a wealthy Washington real estate man, Randolph Rouse. Gleason wasn't invited.

Miss Meadows and close relatives smilingly declined to answer queries as to Gleason's absence. However, a Gleason aide said the comedian received a telegram at 7 Saturday morning saying: "Dear Ralph—so sorry but I'm becoming a bigamist today, marrying Randy Rouse. Love, Alice." Miss Meadows and Gleason in their "Honeymooners" sketches on TV use the names Alice and Ralph Kramden. They will continue to appear together in shows this fall.

ABOUT 50 PERSONS saw Miss Meadows, who is 27, wed to Rouse, 38, in the chapel of the Church of the Heavenly Rest on Fifth Ave. at 90th St. It was the first marriage for both.

The groom went through the nuptials with his left arm in a cast. He suffered a fracture recently in a fall from a horse. Best man was the bridegroom's brother, Parke Rouse Jr., of Williamsburg, Va.

Allen and another brother of the bridegroom, William D. Rouse, fell from her head into the Rouse, Falls Church, Va., were also. It was retrieved later.

Among others present were members of the immediate family, including Mrs. Parke Rouse of the Carlton House.

The ceremony went off smoothly except for one minor hitch. As Miss Meadows strode toward the altar, her jeweled bride's mother, the bridegroom, William D. Rouse, fell from her head into the Rouse, Falls Church, Va., were also. It was retrieved later.

MR. AND MRS. RANDOLPH ROUSE
Jackie Wasn't There

Following the ceremony there was a wedding luncheon for the bride and groom. The newlyweds declined to give the bride price.

WHAT CONGRESS DID

More than 20,000 arrows will flash from bow to target today as 80 Southern California men and women archers compete at Heartwell Park in the Long Beach Archers annual championship tournament.

It will, in fact, be a tournament of champions since the entry list includes Artie Palkowski, Women's State Champion and third in the National Championship in 1955; Rube Powell, Men's National Field Champion; Jean Richards Burri, present Long Beach Archers Women's Champion and the 1953 International Women's Champion; Joe Fries, Men's National Target Champion and California State Champion; and Bob Kest, National Double American Champion and secretary of the National Archery Assn.

VISITORS AND MEMBERS will vie for 54 trophies which will be presented at a 7:30 p.m. banquet at Hody's.

The shooting starts at 9:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. The public is invited.

False Spinach, Brief Case and Thief Walks Out

LEGHORN, Italy (AP)—Police Saturday arrested Carlo Boschi, an ingenious prison barber who escaped from Milan's "escape proof" jail.

Disguised with a false beard, a smuggled-in suit and a brief case, Boschi joined a group of visiting lawyers May 5 and walked out of San Vittore prison, who builder once challenged any prisoner to escape.

The convicted car thief was up to old tricks when police found him. He was trying to sell a stolen car.

Calcutta Cholera Death Toll 500

CALCUTTA (AP)—The death toll rose to nearly 500 Saturday in a cholera epidemic scouring the crowded city.

Victims were dying at the rate of 10 a day. Health experts and city officials redoubled their efforts to check the spread of the disease now in its fifth month of epidemic proportions. The municipal corporation planned a "health week" campaign to inoculate as many persons as possible with anti-cholera serum.

OFFICIAL FIGURES released

Saturday showed 73 new cases of cholera Thursday and 119 on Wednesday. Since May 21, 10 persons a day have died of the infection.

Hundreds of victims have jammed hospitals and taxed medical facilities in the city of three million population.

But the epidemic is no startling visitation that causes panic. Cholera is an old story to Calcutta.

Since records were started in 1841, Calcutta has never had a year without an outbreak of the dread affliction which is carried

Plans Homes for Unwed in Public Units

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Westland (R-Wash.) said Saturday he's optimistic over chances for his proposal to permit elderly single persons to live in public housing units.

If not included in the new housing bill by the House Banking Committee, he said, he will offer it as an amendment when the measure is considered on the floor.

Westland said a survey of Housing Authority units in Seattle, Everett and Bremerton shows there are vacancies which could be occupied by elderly persons if the law permitted. He said he was told by the committee that similar situations exist elsewhere in the nation.

"The government has its money invested in these units," he said. "It is only common sense to utilize what we already have by providing shelter and a decent place to live for these people who have difficulty competing in today's housing market."

'NUGGET' ENTICED, BUT BALKY

REGIONAL POLITICS

Water Top Issue in District

By The Lookout

Water development is viewed as the top issue before California and this district by most of the candidates running for the two legislative assembly posts to be filled here at the June 5 primary election.

That is shown in answers to a questionnaire sent to the six candidates by the League of Women Voters. Copies of questionnaires with answers to numerous questions by the Congressional as well as legislative candidates are on file at the main city library and all branch libraries where they may be inspected by voters.

Five of the six legislative candidates listed water development as a major issue. These were Assemblyman Herbert R. Kloksiem and Candidates Richard Nussell and Coy Sanders in the 44th District, and Assemblyman W. S. Grant and Candidate Dan T. Brice in the 70th District. Candidate Paul D. Strader (70th) views transportation as the state's major problem, and this was also mentioned by a number of others.

Smog control, school expansion, finishing of the tidelands issue with respect to subsidence and political redistricting were other matters listed.

Congressional candidates Craig Hosmer (incumbent) and Raymond C. Simpson likewise mentioned water as a domestic issue in which they are strongly interested. Others:

Hosmer—Tighter anti-narcotic laws, housing programs for minority groups and aged; partner-ship development of natural resources, opposition to irresponsible fiscal proposals.

Simpson—Federal aid to education, expanded social security, amendment of Taft-Hartley and Walter-McCarran acts, development of public power, adequate farm program, opposition to favoritism for big business, opposition to postage subsidies to small-taxpayers, opposition to public utility grants.

Mrs. George C. Hall is chairman of the group of the League which interviewed candidates and prepared the questionnaires.

DEMO EVENT

North Long Beach Democratic Study Club will honor Congressional Candidate Raymond Simpson and Assembly Candidates Coy Sanders and Dan Brice at a reception at the home of Mayor and Mrs. George Vermillion, 101

Where're All Those Prizes?

DURBAN, South Africa (AP)—Hundreds of radio fans are pestering the South African Broadcasting Corp. for prizes they have not won. Officials said smooth-talking men posing as announcers have been telephoning housewives, asking quiz questions and awarding all sorts of non-existent cash prizes.

Roosevelt Rd., 10 to 12 Monday. Women in charge include club president Mrs. Bertha Thorpe, Mrs. Clayton Watson, Mrs. Lynn Hutchins, Mrs. Russell Davidson, Mrs. Wilbur Workman, Mrs. Darlene Snow and Mrs. Edward Lynn.

ENDORSED

Democratic Candidate Richard Nussell of the 44th Assembly District said Saturday he has all the endorsements of organized labor in the area, as well as those of the California Institute of Social Welfare, United Democrats of California and the Southern California Business Men's Association, and many others.

'OH MEN! OH WOMEN!'

Lakewood Play Well Received

By EARL GRISWOLD

The love-life problems of a fictional psychoanalyst nearly drive him crazy in "Oh Men! Oh Women!", current production of Lakewood Players.

The humorous satire on Dr. Alan Coles is lively entertainment for amateur theatergoers.

But with less-accomplished direction, the problems faced in staging Edward Chodorov's delightful comedy could well lead a director directly to a psychiatrist's couch.

with an excellent cast for his professional directing of the play. The script is loaded with fast-paced but interminable dialogue. Rashkow has trained his cast to put subtle action and movements into the play which keep the dialogue alive.

The starring roles of Dr. Coles and his fiancée, Myra Hagerman, are well-played by John Greenwood and Barbara Hollingworth, both familiar to Lakewood Players' audiences for their performances in "For Love or Money."

AL RASHKOW rates plaudits for the roles of Arthur

Turner, played by D. Burnap, who made his dramatic debut with the players in "The Curious Savage."

Others of the eight-member cast are all welcome newcomers to the Players. The supporting role of Grant Cobble, a rival to Dr. Coles for Myra's love, demands overplaying. Gary Thomas does a good job in the role with humorous touches of exaggeration.

ALSO CONTRIBUTING to an entertaining evening are Capt. Nelson P. Watkins, who is excellently cast as an elderly psychoanalyst; June Davis, who lends a professional style to a difficult role; Barbara Frodahl, who plays well her role as an efficient secretary; and Bruce Maxwell, in a minor role as the ship steward.

The stage work for "Oh Women!" also earns recognition. Different settings are required for each act. Scenic artist Dean Elmo and his assistant, Doreen Chapman, have done a good job.

The play will be presented to-night and again next Friday through Sunday at 8:30 p.m. in MacArthur School auditorium, 6011 Centralia St., east of Woodruff Ave.

MARCH OF SCIENCE

Old Mother Earth's Putting on Weight

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP)—The earth is getting fatter and heavier as it grows older—just like many humans.

Mother Earth, in fact, is gaining from 100 to 1,000 tons a day.

This added weight is a rain of dust from the millions of meteors, mostly tiny specks of dust, that zip into our atmosphere daily and fall or die. Some die as brilliant shooting stars.

It's almost all pure weight gain. For the earth loses only a negligible amount of its air out into space.

This means the earth is gaining as much as 365,000 tons a year, or about 730 million tons in the last 2,000 years, since about the time of Christ.

WILL THIS added weight get our earth into trouble? Weight or mass determines the attraction of gravity. Wouldn't a heavier earth exert a stronger pull on the moon, pulling it closer to us, making tides higher, maybe even finally bringing the moon crashing into the earth?

Or couldn't our added weight send us wheeling at a farther distance from the sun, making the earth too cold to keep us alive?

The weight of all the people on earth, or all the buildings or forests or mountains, doesn't enter into it. For all this weight came from the earth's substance. All that doesn't change the earth's mass.

BUT HOW ABOUT the earth's increasing obesity from a weight gain of 1,000 tons a day?

Relax, say the astronomers. The earth weighs 6,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 give or take a little.

So all the weight gain of 730 million tons in 2,000 years still is only a billionth of a fraction of one per cent of the earth's weight.

About like one new hair on a human head, or a gnat on an automobile windshield, says Dr. Donald H. Menzel of Harvard observatory.

Humans watching their own weight should be as lucky.

India Train Derailed, 12 Killed, 35 Injured

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—A train was derailed near Rajkot in the state of Saurashtra Saturday night killing 12 persons and injuring 35, reports reaching New Delhi said.

Readings Monday for 'Pal Joey'

Readings for its next production, the musical comedy "Pal Joey," have been scheduled by The Theater for 8 p.m. Monday.

"We need actors, dancers and singers of all ages," announced Director Pat Brown. The playhouse is at 2400 Magnolia Ave.

World War Shell Explosion Kills Two

MONTE SANTANGELO, Italy (AP)—Concettina Lauriola, 5, and Raffaele, her 7-year-old brother, were killed Saturday when a World War II shell they found in a ditch exploded. Another brother, Michele, 9, and two other children were gravely wounded.

Palace Seldom Lives Through Film
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Jack Palance is Hollywood's dearest actor—for the 15th time in his short but violent screen career he has died on camera.

In fact, he has only lived through three pictures.

In his current "The Lonely Man," Palance plays a gunfighter of the old West who has failing eyesight. You know how much chance he has of living under those conditions.

Jack has asked his agent to look for a script with a title like "Let's Live a Little."

THE COFFEE KLATCH

NEW YORK—"Como's Coffee who's been on the show 6 times, Klatch" is what we call it.

New York hasn't many French sidewalk cafes or Greek coffee houses—but then Paris and Athens don't have anything like this Saturday afternoon meeting place of Broadway characters.

Perry Como himself will wrap an arm around you—if he sees you—and thank you for coming to his rehearsal.

It's around 2 o'clock Saturday that the characters begin streaming in the stage door of the Century Theater at 58th and 7th.

From 6 to 20 young girls, many with cameras, salute you, as you swing from the sidewalk into an alley to the stage door.

JANE RUSSELL, Jeanne Crain, Rhonda Fleming, Patti Page, Peggy Lee, Julius La Rosa, Johnnie Ray and many other stars have hurried through here to rehearsal—so it's good hunting for the autograph fans.

"Hey, when you gonna write a whole column about Perry—and his fans?" they ask you, if you're a columnist.

Inside, you turn through a doorway toward the stage—and in the semi-darkness you see Perry Como sipping something from a mug.

It's bouillon.

"He's even got me drinking it," says Comedian Buddy Hackett.

Maybe she was in an accident or something and her features were changed by plastic surgery.

Many feminine viewers have nominated themselves for the role.

One in Houston said: "I'll cook, take dictation, sew and do any odd jobs you may desire in addition to acting in the show."

Brooklyn housewife with five children nominated herself but added this note of caution in her letter:

"Please don't tell my husband I'm trying for the part. I want him to see me first on your TV show and surprise him."

Many letters are written by the junior set.

The Williams' children represented by movie moppets Sherry Jackson and Rusty Hamer play Perry, the 11-year-old daughter, and Rusty, the 6-year-old son.

"Rusty is another Spencer Tracy," said Thomas. "All he needs to do is be himself. He'll be a star for a long time."

AMONG THE MANY children who have suggested a new wife for Danny is a sixth grade school boy in suburban Glenview, Ill.

Playing Dan Cupid, he shot a letter to Danny and nominated his teacher for the part. He wrote:

"Dear Danny:

"Mrs. Rieck Wood make a good wife for you. She is nice, too. Good size addition. Love.

Dick.

"P.S. She has a girl, 18. Good she come."

He included a newspaper picture of Mrs. Sigrid Rieck which appeared in a Glenview paper April 5.

Danny called in Mrs. Rieck for an interview.

"So you want to be a television actress?" he asked.

"I haven't the slightest idea what this is about," Mrs. Rieck replied. "I'm usually correcting papers, preparing dinner or washing dishes and don't have time to watch your program."

"I can see you'll have to get an automatic dishwasher," Danny said.

State College Cast in Good Production

By GEORGE D. STEPHENS

Will Shakespeare's gay comedy of fairy-crossed lovers, "Midsummer Night's Dream," was greeted Thursday by the appreciative and, at times, enthusiastic applause of the first-night audience.

Directed by Dr. David Sievers, who has assembled a competent array of talent, the production in the theater at Long Beach State College showed polish and verve not often seen in college theatricals of this type.

Shakespeare concocted a frothy mixture of fairy nectar, champagne and honest English ale which offers its takers everything but serious drama—which, while held suspended in the dream world of the dramatist-poet, they forget and do not desire.

The "enveloping action" of the play concerns the marriage of Duke Theseus of Athens to Hippolyta. But this event is merely a background or excuse for the story of two pairs of romantic lovers who are beguilingly entangled in a situation illustrating Shakespeare's statement "the path of true love never did run smooth."

This production has made good use of the rich material for spectacle inherent in the fantasy. Colorful costumes, suggestive scenery, excellent lighting effects, and the music of Mendelssohn all contribute much to its success.

AMONG THE PERFORMERS, Lee Gayer as Puck is outstanding—a most charming elf. Her miming is of professional caliber. She is supported by a competent group of dancers led by Charles Lawrence as Oberon. Of the "mortals"—and what fools they be, as Puck says—the rustics pleased the audience with their clownish rendition of the "play within a play." Ed Cohen played Bottom, he of the ass's head, with the proper brash buffoonery; Bob Firdich was skillful as the senile Peter Quince; their support were hilariously cloddish.

Bob Sorrells was regal and in for the story of two pairs of romantic lovers who are beguilingly entangled in a situation illustrating Shakespeare's state-ready done the show for a small but extremely critical audience.

Perry himself often leaves for a half hour.

"Where's he going?" I asked as he and a priest got into a car. "Don't you know?" somebody said. "To confession."

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . . "YOU CAN'T PRINT THAT!"

Carol Swartz, the gal who did the nude-in-the-bubble-bath pose at the Coliseum, claimed later she did not have something on "I had the faucet on!" she maintained . . . A star's husband who lived with her only a year wanted merely a $100,000 settlement, and she's hollering "Shakedown!"

Frank Sinatra's gal, Peggy Connelly, told on her return from Madrid that Arlie Shaw is also in Spain, cracked: "That's all that Ava Gardner needs" . . . A famous singing star's younger-looking husband and his younger-looking girl friend were digging the live in a hideaway spot and, naturally wanted no publicity . . . Billy Daniels made $50,000 in Australia and even his best friends don't know what he did with it . . . Tony Farrell had $30,000 in the Folies.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "A boss is a man who's early when you're late and late when you're early"—Florian Zablach.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Taffy Tuttle told Claire Mann she won't visit the ball park on Ladies' Day: she'd rather see men play.

Earl's Pearls . . . Nowadays many young married couples start housekeeping with just the bare essentials—a TV set.

Nicky Blair is acquainted with a Texan who doesn't know what to do with all the money he's making . . . That's earl, Perry's relaxation, for he's all-brother.

NEW U. S. FILM FACE

American filmgoers will get their first peek at Maria Schell, Europe's top actress, in Warner Bros.' "As Long as You're Near Me," a tender story set against the background of motion picture making. Picture also introduces O. W. Fischer, the Continent's popular actor.

Danny Thomas May Be Widower When His Video Series Renews

By EDWARD S. KITCH

CHICAGO (AP)—Comedian Danny Thomas is television's man with a serious family problem:

Should Danny Williams be a widower when the "Make Room for Daddy" TV show on ABC begins its 4th season next fall, or should he be married?

His departing TV wife, Jean Hagen, leaves a gap in the script as well as in the hearts of many small fry who view the Tuesday evening show on 145 stations.

"Whether I'm a man with a new wife or a widower, I'm leaving it up to the fans," said Thomas during a Chicago appearance.

"Some 17,000 fans have written to suggest a solution.

"Three to one are in favor of a widower."

The others have suggested more than 40 actresses to replace Miss Hagen, who seeks a new theatrical career.

Grandmother Sees Film 22 1/2 Times

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A Louisville, Ky., grandmother wrote to Samuel Goldwyn:

"This is the first time I have ever written to a studio. In fact, the first time in my life I have ever seen a picture the second time. Four weeks ago I saw 'Guys and Dolls.' I hesitate to put in writing how many times I have sat through the picture—22 1/2 times. It must be a record."

She also asked Sam to send her a kitten if Marlon Brando's cat ever has any.

"It's one of the nicest letters I've ever received," says Sam, "but one thing really puzzles me. What happened that one time to make her walk out on the picture when it was only half finished?"

Satchmo Clicks With Folk Music

By EDDIE GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — An earnest, deadly serious European student pulled out his pencil and looked Louis Daniel Satchmo Armstrong straight in his saucer-like eyes.

"Mr. Armstrong," said the young man who was gathering material for a ponderous treatise on new art forms, "What do you think of folk music?"

Satchmo's enormous, rubbery mouth stretched into a big smile. "Folk music," said Armstrong with characteristic gentleness. "Why, Daddy, I don't know no other kind of music but folk music—I ain't never heard a hoss sing a song."

The reply was typical of the 55-year-old American Negro whose lyrical trumpet has carried him from a reform school in New Orleans to a familiar friendship with European royalty. Born in a back alley in New Orleans on a sultry Fourth of July night in 1900, Louis Armstrong has become a legend in his lifetime and in Europe and other parts of the world, a happy ambassador of the United States.

What does the State Department—which has spent millions of dollars in an effort to sell the American way of life to foreigners—think of Armstrong as an unofficial envoy?

"He's very, very useful," said a spokesman of the U. S. Embassy in London, "and he's most helpful."

For a diplomat that's tantamount to saying in jazz language—"the cat's terrific."

His fee for his current British tour is $5,000 a night and he's playing 17 nights in England and the colonies.

WHY DO people of various colors, creeds and nationalities pay to listen to the relatively simple music as played by Satchmo?

"Well," said Louis, "it's happy music and as long as you hit the note right on the nose they understand you."

How good is Armstrong? The late Constant Lambert, distinguished British composer, conductor and critic said of him: "He is the greatest virtuoso of the age."

Satchmo is an enormous character, part clown and part musician, who sincerely believes in the saying: "When you play jazz, you don't lie. You play from your heart."

BABY CHECKING

Moms Shop in Peace; Merchants Paying Bill

RUTHERFORD, N. J. (AP)—A baby checking service for parents who want to get the family shopping done in peace has been operating here for almost a year under the title of "Lollipop House."

Despite its name, though, the kids ranging from 2 to 7 are not given any food.

They just get a comfortable place to play under the supervision of a registered nurse and two assistants.

The whole idea was worked out by retail merchants and the Chamber of Commerce in this Bergen County community of some 17,411 people.

It is believed to be the first baby checking station in the country. Hundreds of communities have queried Rutherford on how it's working.

A THREE-STORY house at 67 Kip Ave., a block from the shopping district, is the headquarters of Lollipop House. Here, mothers may leave the youngsters and be sure they're well cared for while they shop. There is no charge at all—the entire operation is underwritten by business and professional men's subscription. Indoor and outdoor games and toys are provided.

To get the children back, the parents must present the signature of the merchant or professional man where they have been doing business.

LOLLIPOP HOUSE is open from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. and the Chamber of Commerce says the whole operation, including telephone service and rental of the house, costs $125 a week.

The first five months after it opened in July, 1955, a total of 815 parents had taken advantage of the plan, the Chamber of Commerce reported.

The merchants seem to find the enterprise profitable. Parents are happy. The comments of the children usually aren't solicited.

SATCHMO PLAYS the genuine thing, no be-bop for him. He may make the melody hit the ceiling with a scorching variation in High C, but he always blows the tune. You can recognize it. He's that very rare thing among musicians—a conservative who's also fashionable.

When he played "Mahogany Hall Stomp," "Didn't He Ramble" and other New Orleans vintage pieces at London's Empress Hall he had the British public, including Princess Margaret and the Duke of Kent, sitting on the edges of their chairs.

Like another Louisianan, the late Huey Long, Armstrong often uses bad grammar when he knows better. He feels it's more quotable and picturesque than English as the queen is supposed to speak it.

Satchmo had only about four years of formal education, but as he says: "I been readin', and I listened to my mama."

He is called on several times daily to explain the nickname Satchmo, which he insists is now part of his name.

"And please don't put it in quotes," he adds.

But how did he get the name? "They used to call me Dipper-mouth when I was a boy, and then that got changed to Satchel-mouth and then shortened up to Satch."

Old friends call him "Pops." Armstrongs got our name.

Says India to Get Atom Power Soon

MADRAS, India (AP) — India will be using atomic energy for power purposes very soon, M. S. Thacker, director of scientific and industrial research, reports. He says India is far ahead of other Asian countries and even of some highly industrialized European nations in experiments with the peaceful use of atomic energy.

Tell of New Drug for Alcoholism

TORONTO (AP) — A new drug to combat alcoholism has been developed and tested by Canadian institutions, the Canadian Medical Assn. Journal reports. The Journal says the drug, called CCC (citrate calcium carbimide) appears in preliminary tests to be as effective as antabuse, most commonly used anti-alcoholism drug, while eliminating disagreeable side-reactions of antabuse.

Military SERVICE

LT. JOHN W. MILLER
In Japan Since 1954

First Lt. John W. Miller, stationed at Ashiya, Japan, since September 1954 as a light bomber pilot on a C-119, plans to be home next September.

The officer, who resides at 3834 Stevely Ave. with his sister, Mrs. K. W. Anderson, was born in Honolulu, and was graduated from Long Beach Poly High in 1950. He played football there. On graduation he became employed by Maccos Corp.

He enlisted in the Air Force in 1953 and took basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex. Afterward he was graduated from the Army Corps of Engineers at Ft. Belvoir, Va., and received his commission as 2nd Lieutenant in the Air Force at Bartow Air Force Base, Fla. In December 1955 he was promoted to his present rank.

LUNCHEON AND SERVICE CLUBS

Bakersfield Leader Visits Local Admen

Vern Mack, president of Greater Bakersfield Ad Club, will address Long Beach Ad Club Thursday noon in the Lafayette Hotel.

Mack, who operates his own advertising agency, was born in Sacramento. He became a professional entertainer when he was 17 years old and played Orpheum and Pantages vaudeville.

He entered the radio business in 1926 at San Francisco and became the first manager of KOH, Reno, Nev., in 1928. He subsequently served as production manager, station manager, national sales manager and regional network manager in a 30-year career in radio and television.

Jack Frost will be chairman of the day and President Hal Wertz will preside.

On his international tours Armstrong insists on carrying a mixed band of Negro and white musicians.

"Ain't nobody gonna call me intolerant," he says.

During Armstrong's invasion of Scotland he discovered the name Armstrong is of Scottish origin, but let him tell it:

"Yes, sub, back in one of them border battles a long time ago one of them Scottish kings got knocked off his boss. One of my clan picked him up with one hand and sat that cat right back in his saddle. So, that how us Armstrongs got our name."

New Records AT CITY LIBRARY

Lighter favorites for warm-weather listening are suggested by the Record Section of the downtown public library.

Such titles as "Beautiful Dreamer," "College Classics," "Ella Sings Gershwin," "Grand Canyon Suite," "Piaf of Paris" and "Straus Waltzes" suggest the variety of this approach.

Some musicians also guarantee easy listening. On this week's record list we find such names as Les Brown, Ken Griffin, Andre Kostelanetz, and Richard Ellasser. Their recordings may be borrowed on your library card.

RICHARD B. MEADE, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Meade, 3820 Country Club Dr., has been promoted to corporal at Ft. Bliss, Tex., where he is a radar operator with the 168th Antiaircraft Battalion. Cpl. Meade was graduated from Poly High in 1953 and entered the Army in November 1954.

THE HOFFMAN TWINS, Paul and David, confused merchants while shopping recently in Hokena, Japan, during a stop there of the attack aircraft carrier USS Shangri-La. The identical twins, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hoffman, 2310 Lemon Ave., are commissarymen 2c aboard the Shangri-La. They are natives of New Zealand and became citizens in August 1954.

PVT. RICHARD H. COLLIER, 17, son of Howell H. Collier, 1930 Knoxville Ave., has completed the radio teletype operation course at the Army's Southeastern Signal School, Ft. Gordon, Ga. Collier, a former Poly High student, entered the service last September and completed basic training at Ft. Ord.

PFC. TAYLOR R. WHEELER, son of Louis A. Wheeler II, 721 E. 36th St., recently took part in battalion tests with the 9th Infantry Division in southern Germany. Wheeler is assigned to 3rd Battalion Headquarters Company of the division's 47th Regiment. The 23-year-old soldier is a graduate of Long Beach City College and is a member of Alpha Chi Gamma fraternity. His wife, Phyllis, is with him in Germany.

DROTT WINS SIXTH

Angel Home Runs Clip Rainiers, 9-6

With Casey Wise, Gale Wade, Gene Mauch and Steve Bilko hitting homers, Dick Drott pitched Los Angeles to a 9-6 win over Seattle Saturday before 3,101 fans at Wrigley Field. The victory boosted Los Angeles PCL lead to two games. It was Drott's sixth win against one loss. The losing pitcher was Howie Judson (2-3). Left and both scored on infield hits. Mauch hit the flagpole on the leftfield foul line in the first inning for his seventh homer and Los Angeles picked up two unearned runs off Judson in the third on the hurler's wild throw on a "cinch" double play. Drott gave up two tallies in the second. A walk to Bob Balena, singles by Artie Wilson, Leo Righetti and Sherry Dixon, and a balk by Drott did the damage. Wise and Wade ganged up on Judson for two runs in the fourth to give the Angels a 5-2 advantage. Wise's third straight hit, a double, was followed by Wade's homer into the bleachers. Seattle pressed again with two runs in the top of the fifth. Vic Lombardi, batting for Judson, drew a walk. Dixon doubled to left and both scored on infield hits. Wise homered in the sixth, the Angels added another run in the seventh on a single, walk and an error and clinched it with two more in the eighth when Bilko homered behind Wade, who was aboard via a fielder's choice. Seattle had narrowed the deficit again in the seventh when Dixon got aboard on an error, stole second and scored on Carmen Mauro's single. Bill Glynn socked a pinch-hit homer in the ninth.

Won't Sell Ram Stock — Reeves

Dan Reeves, managing director of the Los Angeles Rams, said Saturday his co-owners of the professional football club had offered to buy him out for $1 million or sell out to him for $2 million. "It is not my intention to sell and never has been," he said. "And as far as buying goes, I don't have $2 million in cash." But he added he is "investigating the possibility of forming a syndicate to buy them out." The offer is good until June 18. The statement brought into the open again the battle among the partners in the Rams. Reeves' partners are oilman Ed Pauley, Hal Soley and Fred Levy. Actor Bob Hope also has an interest but it is voted by Levy. Reeves' partners issued a statement saying they made the offer "only because ... Reeves through his attorneys threatened to go to court and dissolve the partnership." "We as majority owners have no desire either to buy out Reeves or sell our interests. We own two-thirds of the club and would like to be consulted in the management and so notified Reeves." "Reeves has steadfastly refused to do this, insisting that he solely makes all major as well as minor decisions even though he has only one-third ownership and our partnership contract calls for majority decisions." Tex Schramm has been temporary manager of the club since last season pending a settlement of the dispute.

Exclusive! Santee Side of AAU Ban

Marine Lt. Wes Santee, who was recently declared a professional by the AAU and barred from the Olympic Games, gives his side of one of the biggest controversies in sports history beginning Monday, in The Independent. Banned because he accepted $1,500 above normal expenses during a period of 22 months, Santee speaks out with typical frankness under his by-line, tearing apart the AAU decision. The series was written exclusively for NEA News Service, a regular independent feature.

Wants to Take Over

MOMENTS LATER, it was Lee Eaton, Montebello club champion, whose three under par play resulted in a 2 and 1 setback at the hands of Steelsmith, who was four under. And on it continued. Par wasn't worth a chipped tee. Followed by a good-sized gallery, the Steelsmith-White match, pairing two of the field's most talented players, was a thriller all the way. Steelsmith, the 20-year-old Southern California Amateur champion, overcame a two hole deficit with birdies on four of the last six holes for a 3 and 1 victory. IT DIDN'T TAKE long for the contest to warm up. After driving against the fence on the first hole, White left-handed his second on to the fairway and then holed out a 70-yard chip for a birdie. White led one up after nine and canned a 10-foot birdie putt on the 11th to go two up. Steelsmith's ensuing birdie-putt came on the 12th, 14th, 15th and 17th holes on putts of 10 and 15 feet.

RICHARDSON'S and Tatt's overtime heroics, the former defeating Keith Lopp on the 19th, the latter besting Bill DeWitt on the 20th, ended a pair of hair-breadth matches. Never more than a hole ever separated the opponents in both. Richardson's winning bird on Lee Eaton, Montebello club champion, whose three under par play resulted in a 2 and 1 setback at the hands of Steelsmith, who was four under. And on it continued. LONG BEACH City College's Dick Carmody was seven under par for the day in scoring two impressive victories. His first victim was Steve Shaw, 3 and 2; the second, former SC-Public champion Dick Clover, 4-3. Clover had gone birdie-birdie-hole on the 15th, 16th and 17th holes of his first match which he won over John West on the 21st hole. Other Long Beach school-boys to post double victories were Bob Terry of City College, Pinky Stevenson of Wilson High and Bob Meade of Poly High. Stevenson sewed up a 2-up victory over Arol Thomas by chipping in from below the green and 75 yards out on the home green. He whipped Gene Combs, 5-4, in his opener.

A NOTED PREP to bow out was Bob Boughner of Downey. He was five under in the morning in beating Bill Dickinson, 7 and 5, but his three under afternoon play wasn't enough against Ed Korylak. After ripping off four birdies (Continued on Page B-12, Col. 4)

'HAVE EVIDENCE' PCC Schools 'All Guilty'

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The chairman of a UCLA booster organization, whose group was one of the chief targets of the Pacific Coast Conference in its penalties against UCLA for alleged illegal aid payments to athletes, said Saturday "all conference schools are guilty and we have the stuff on them." Ray Carlisle, of the Bruin Bench, said the PCC would be given evidence of alleged "undercover" aid payments next week. Carlisle indicated charges would be made against California and possibly Stanford.

Porterhouse Beats Swaps

HOLLYWOOD PARK—Porterhouse ran down the favored Swaps in the stretch Saturday to score a nose victory in a major upset in the $109,800 California at Hollywood Park before 58,500 dumfounded racing fans. A rear of surprise went on from the huge crowd as Swaps blew a two length lead in the stretch to a horse that was considered only a sprinter and had been expected to help force the pace for his stablemate, Mister Gus, who finished third. Bobby Brocato, who had been expected to fight it out with Swaps for the winner's share, was fourth and Honey Alibi was fifth, while Poona II was last in the field of six. THE WINNING time was 1:40 4/5, just two-fifths of a second off the world's record set by Swaps in capturing the 1933 running of the mile and a sixteenth race. Swaps pulled away from the field at the turn into the stretch and was about two lengths in front when he appeared to slow up slightly as jockey Willie Shoemaker looked around and saw Porterhouse coming at him in long strides. Shoemaker went to work on Swaps but Porterhouse was not to be denied as jockey Ismael Valenzuela applied his whip and the son of Endeavor II responded in ground-eating strides. For a moment it appeared that Swaps might last it out but in the last two jumps Porterhouse reached him and got his head out in front at the wire. It was a photo finish and the crowd continued its roars of astonishment while awaiting the official result. When it was posted and revealed that the 1-4 shot had been defeated the cries grew louder. The Langloren Farm entry of Porterhouse and Mister Gus returned $28.70 to win, $5.80 for place and $3.90 for show. Swaps paid $2.70 to place and $2.90 for show. It was Swaps' first defeat since last August when he was beaten by Nashua in their match race at Chicago and it was the biggest win of Porterhouse's career. For Bobby Brocato it was his first defeat since he went down before Swaps at Santa Anita in an over-night race. BOBBY BROCATO, with Johnny Longden up, set all the pace, getting out of the gate fast and opening up a good lead around the turn. Swaps laid in second position and Porterhouse was third in the early running. Swaps nailed the speeding Bobby Brocato at the far turn and by the time he had rounded into the stretch he was in the lead and appeared to be pulling away. But as Bobby Brocato faded, Porterhouse moved up into second position. Even then it did not appear that the five-year-old had a chance until Swaps seemed to loaf at the eighth pole. SHOEMAKER took the blame for the defeat of Swaps by declaring that he thought he had the race won in the stretch and eased up on his horse, permitting Porterhouse to catch him. "It wasn't his fault that he didn't win," Shoemaker said. (Continued on Page B-14, Col. 3)

Braves, Hitless 9 2/3 Innings, Nod Reds in 11th, 2-1

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves, held hitless by three Cincinnati hurlers for 9 2/3 innings, finally pulled out a 2-1 decision in the 11th inning Saturday to cling to the National League lead. Frank Torre singled Hank Aaron, who had tripled, home with the winning tally after the Redlegs had tied the score in the ninth. The Braves held a 1-0 lead going into the ninth by virtue of a second inning run scored without a hit. Torre batted in both Milwaukee runs and both were scored by Aaron before 22,936 at County Stadium. Joe Black was the losing pitcher, and Ray Crone, who shut out the Redlegs for 8 1/2 innings, the winner. UNTIL THE NINTH, Milwaukee seemed to be on the way to a decision in the regulation distance, after taking full advantage of Johnny Klippstein's wildness to score one run in the second without a hit. Aaron was hit by a pitched ball. Klippstein then walked Bobby Thomson and Billy Bruton to fill the bases, and Torre hit a sacrifice fly, that Frank Robinson caught only after a spectacular run, to score Aaron. In the 11th, Aaron tripled, and after the bases were loaded on walks, Torre singled him home. belted a double with two out, but he died on base a moment later. Klippstein, who had a leg up on the dubious distinction of becoming the first pitcher in major league baseball to pitch and lose a no-hit game over the regulation nine innings, was lifted for a pinch-hitter by Manager Bepko Tetterts in the top of the eighth after mauling the Braves for seven innings. He walked seven, struck out three, and hit one batsman. Six other pitchers have set down their opponents without a hit for nine innings, then lost in extra frames. The last to do this was Bobo Newsom with the St. Louis Browns, who held the Red Sox hitless for nine innings in 1934, then gave up a single in the 10th to lose, 2-1.

Simmons, A's Great, Dies at 53

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Al Simmons, whose batting feats with an odd "foot-in-the-bucket" stance earned him a niche in baseball's Hall of Fame, died here early Saturday, four days after his 53rd birthday. One of the game's greatest right-handed hitting outfielders, he collapsed on a sidewalk outside the Milwaukee Athletic Club where he lived in retirement and was dead on arrival at a hospital. Death was attributed to a heart attack. He had a lifetime major league batting average of .334 for 21 years, most of them with the late Connie Mack's great Philadelphia Athletics teams, of the 1920s and '30s; won consecutive American League batting championships with marks of .381 in 1930 and .390 in 1931 and played in four World Series, batting .329. Simmons was elected to baseball's Hall of Fame in 1933. His plaque at the Cooperstown, N.Y., shrine contains this brief rundown on his great career: "Played with seven major league clubs 1924-1944. Star with Philadelphia, A.L. Batted .308 to .392 from 1924 to 1934. Most hits by A.L. right-handed batter with 2,831. Led league runs batted in, runs scored, hits and total bases several seasons. Hit three home runs, July 15, 1932."

Fact... or fiction... IN REVERSE. One of baseball's axioms is working in the wrong direction for the Portland Beavers.

It's accepted thinking in the best diamond circles that home run haven for any ball club is its own park. The boys always hit better in their "native surroundings" than they do when they're on the road.

Not so at Multnomah Stadium, new home of the Beavers of the Pacific Coast League, where there is general alarm.

In the first 17 home games played by the Beavers, they were out in home runs by the visiting teams, 28-10. The short left field fence is the reason—330 feet.

Tommy Holmes is looking for left-field power from his Beavers, but so far they haven't obliged. The power to left is missing. Only Jim Baxes has come through. He has hit exactly half—five—of the Beavers' home four-ply total.

If the axiom prevails for the rest of the year—in reverse—the Beavers will be buried beneath a deluge of enemy out-of-the-park smashes to the approximate tune of 140 to 50. And the Beavers may regret they ever moved from the old Vaughn Street enclosure to the fancier surroundings.

H. L. Gregory, dean of the sporting scribblers in the Pacific Northwest, is concerned no end. He has facetiously ordered his lawyers to draw up a petition to the Secretary of the Interior of U.S. seeking withdrawal of the bleachers in left field, or, as an alternative, changing the name of Multnomah Stadium to Multnomah Home Run National Park.

Furthermore, he fears a complex in the making. He's afraid his Beavers may reach the point where they will prefer to play on the road instead of before their own kith and kin. He envisions an inferiority complex taking root.

Now comes the wise old owl of the New York Yankees, Charles Dillon Stengel, to nominate another thief worthy of major league ranking.

He is Cleveland Indian Tony Cuccinello, one of Al Lopez's hirelings. "Tony got me switching signs every third inning last time they played the Indians," he remarked. "He's as bad as Baker and Dressen. Talk about high class thieves. He belongs on the select list."

★ ★ ★ ALARM. There is as much concern evident along the minor league front as there is in the Pacific Coast Conference following the last "100 day days."

Only 27 minor leagues are operating this season—compared to 33 leagues and 255 teams a year ago. The trend is downward, and baseball's high moneys are apprehensive beyond words. They are seeking means to halt the skid.

This is not the lowest ebb, by any manner of thinking. In 1943, in the midst of WW II, only 10 leagues and 66 teams operated. But then came the postwar boom, and the ceiling was reached in 1949 when 59 leagues having a membership of 444 clubs functioned.

The decline began in 1950, dropping to 58 leagues, then down to 50 in 1951, 43 in '52, 38 in 1953 and 36 in 1954.

At their peak, the 59 leagues attracted 41,572,762 fans in 1949. Last year attendance was 19,042,825.

Minor league executives are rapidly reaching the conclusion that their ball isn't satisfying the entertainment appetites of the nation. And they're looking to more help from their big brothers, the majors. It better come pretty quick, they say, or it will be too late.

★ ★ ★ IN CLOVER. Frank Sullivan, Burbank's gift to the Boston Red Sox, talks sense on the science of pitching, to wit:

"The best thing that can happen to a starting pitcher is a four or five-run rally in the first, second or third innings—in his favor, naturally."

"When your club gives you that early lead, it makes all the difference in the world. You pitch differently. You can simply toss the ball down the pipe with nobody on base and let the old percentage go to work for you. Remember, you've got eight guys with you who can catch the ball, but the batter is up there all by himself."

"It's great when the gang gives you those early runs. Pitching isn't work then. It's a lot of fun."

★ ★ ★ NEW NAME. As one who suggests, the Pacific Coast Conference should change its name to "Corruption, Inc." If so, how about the Big Ten, Southwest Conference, Southeastern and on and on and on into the night?

'LOADED' FLEET IN ALL-WESTERN MEMORIAL DAY REGATTA

Here are 135-cubic inch hydroplanes, 14 of which will be in the nearly 100-boat armada to tangle before some 15,000 fans at Marine Stadium in all-Western Memorial Day Regatta Wednesday. In foreground is Avenger, with Bud Meyer at the wheel. Meyer, however, is hospitalized recovering from serious injuries suffered when run over by a boat last Sunday. His place will be taken by cousin Lou Meyer Jr. of Downey.—(Bob Ruskau Photo.)

RECORD 1,934 ENTRIES IN NATIONAL OPEN

NEW YORK (UPI)—The 1956 National Open golf tournament has drawn a record number of 1,934 players, including defending champion Jack Fleck, Ben Hogan and five other former winners. The U. S. Golf Association announced Saturday.

In addition to Fleck and Hogan, who is seeking an unprecedented fifth Open championship, the former titleholders are Ed Furgol (1954), Cary Middlecott (1949), Gene Sarazen (1932 and 1935) and Tony Manero (1936). Hogan won in 1953, 1951, 1950 and 1948.

Sixteen of the entries are exempt from sectional qualifying. The other 1,918 will compete at 26 different sites for 146 places in the tourney proper to be held at Rochester, N. Y., June 14-16. L. A. has three qualifying spots.

COMPTON INVITATIONAL

Moens, Nielsen Top Classy Meet

Two world record imports that's where top interest is focused. Moens, who last year started the track world with a 1:45.7 clocking for a new world standard in the 800 meters, takes on Tom Courtney, Mal Whitfield, Lang Stanley and Lon Spurrier over the two-lap route. It's perhaps the greatest 880 field ever assembled.

Nielsen, who three times defeated Wes Santee during the 1955 indoor season, and set a world indoor mark of 4:03.6 in the process, battles UCLA's brilliant Bob Seaman and Irishman Ron Delany for Villanova in the mile.

The flying Dane is co-holder of the world 1,500-meter mark of 3:40.8 (equal to a 3:58 mile) and ranked as one of the ones to beat in the Olympic 1,500. Seaman ran his fastest mile ever—4:01.4—at Compton last year as he nearly upset Santee, and he should scare Nielsen plenty.

Moens and Nielsen both come here in top shape. Only a few days ago Moens crushed Lajos Szentgaili of Hungary, a 1:46.6 runner, and Brian Hewson, Britain's 4m. miler, in a race in London. Nielsen has had an extensive schedule in South Africa this Spring.

COURTNEY HAS the fastest 800 meter time by an American—1:46.8. Whitfield is the two-time Olympic champion at the distance, while Spurrier holds the world 880-yard record of 1:47.5. Another event which has the spike fans excited is the 440, matching J. W. Mashburn of the Oklahoma A.M.C. Charlie Jenkins of Villanova, Jim Lea of Los Angeles, Olympic champion George Rhoden of Jamaica, Russ Ellis of UCLA and Mike Larrabee of SC.

Mashburn is the defending invitational and NCAA champion, while Jenkins is the National AAU king. Mashburn has already run 400 meters in 46.4 this season.

THE HIGH HURDLE field brings together America's best timber toppers—Jack Davis, whose 13.6 is the world's best mark this year, Milton Campbell and Lee Calhoun, both of whom have clocked 13.8.

Three 15-foot toppers will vie in the pole vault. They are the consistent Bob Richards of Long Beach, Don Bragg of Villanova and Bob Gutowski of Occidental.

Bill Russell, the fabulous athlete from USP who missed narrowly at 7 feet recently, will enter the high jump against Charles Dumas of Compton College, who tied with Russell in the Fresno relays for first at 6-9 1/2, and Ernie Shelton, Los Angeles, who has cleared 6-10 this year.

Other standouts in the meet are world record holders Parry O'Brien in the shotput, Fortune Gordien in the discus, Bob Held in the javelin, and Olympic champion Horace Ashenfelter in the 3,000-meter steeplechase.

The halo was tilted decades ago. This is an old story merely being retold.

Fabius Wins by 2 Lengths

Calumet Farm's Fabius, winner of the Preakness Stakes a week ago, swept to the front in the stretch at Garden State Park in Camden, N. J., Saturday to win the $62,800 Jersey Stakes by two lengths.

Carrying his weight of 126 pounds, Fabius came from behind to beat Happy Hill Farm's Kingmaker. C. V. Whitney's Career Boy was a fast-closing third.

Fabius, second in the Kentucky Derby to Needles but winner over that colt in the Preakness, zipped over the course in 1:48 4/5, second fastest running of this stake. Dedicate set the record of 1:48 1/5 a year ago.

Fabius, who lay in fourth place until Willie Hartack turned him loose, was an odds-on favorite. He paid $3.60, $2.80 and $2.20 across the board while winning his sixth race in a dozen starts this year.

UNDEFEATED Pro Brandy from the Carolyn K. stable made it four straight by winning the $12,000 Nursery Stakes at Pimlico before a crowd of 15,309 in Baltimore.

The son of Double Brandy, meeting the stiffest competition of his career, made up nearly five lengths in the stretch to gain the decision by a half length. Hillside Farm's Blue Ray was second, two and one half lengths ahead of Kevin Boy.

FINE ECHO, overlooked by the crowd of 23,328, sped to a front-running three and one-half length triumph in the $10,000 Faneuil Hall handicap at Suffolk Downs in Boston. Navarette, the 29-1 choice, was second, and Junior C. was third.

MRS. ETHEL D. JACOBS Searching streaked through the stretch to beat Foxcatcher Farms' Parlo by a half length in the $28,450 Top Flight handicap at Belmont Park. Rico Reto was third.

Searching, ridden by Conn McCreary and rigged at 121 pounds, crossed the finish line in 1:42 3/5, four-fifth off the mile and a sixteenth track record set last year by Parlo in the same race. Searching paid $6.50, $4.50 and $3.40.

ENFORCE FREQUENT DEFENSES

Okay 3-Bout Elimination to Fill Heavyweight Title

BOSTON (AP)—The executive committee of the National Boxing Assn. Saturday approved an elimination series for the heavyweight title starting with the Hurricane Jackson-Floyd Patterson bout next month.

The winner of the Jackson-Patterson bout June 8 will meet light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore. The winner of that second bout then would meet the fighter listed as No. 1 contender by the NBA for the title within 90 days.

The committee also gave notice that rules requiring champions to defend their titles within a specified period will be rigidly enforced. The heavyweight champion is given a year, all others six months.

Wallace (Bud) Smith of Cincinnati was given 60 days to defend his lightweight title, while bantamweight king Raton Macias of Mexico and flyweight champ Pascual Perez of Argentina were given until Aug. 1 to defend their crowns.

The committee voted to recommend that the national convention adopt the five-point must system in scoring fights.

Record Regatta Field Set

By BOB RUSKAUFF

Whether or not Long Beach area drivers keep the silverware of Wednesday's huge inboard regatta in the home, they'll be trying in most of the hot fleets to battle in the Marine Stadium classic.

None goes in as favorites. The field is too huge. Three fleets have 14 boats already listed and the unique hope of the Southern California Speedboat Club is they'll be chopped somehow to a "legal 12." "We can't start any more without eliminations," according to Chairman Jack Smith.

Belmont Shore Lions Club has things pretty well set and expects even last year's record attendance to be smashed.

As for the Long Beach hopes in the blue-ribbon battles, here's a summer-book estimate:

135-cubic inch—14 entries and 311 boats. A good threat, though few can begin to match record-holding Ernie Ross of Long Beach.

48-cubic inch—14 strong, the "dyna-mite" class may steal the show and in fact, a number of boats are expected to race with 48-cubic inch engines.

135-cubic inch—Another roughie and only hope is Stan Brooks with Kennebec. Kennebec is a real contender, a national champ Johnny Corea in Kennebec.

Craker Box runs with 14 out including a number of boats from Sacramento. It will be rough going for ex-national champs from Sacramento, including Ed Brown's Bouncy Barb.

288-cubic inch hydroplanes—This, possibly the most exciting, finds two potent Long Beach contenders, each with a new boat. In the other—Bob Willis' new beauty, Roundhead, and Tom Morrison's new beauty, Harold Coshi's Cherokee of Merced, 1955 national high point champion.

SKLAR WINS

Bittick Sets Swim Mark

Chuck Bittick and Russ Poe of the Downtown YMCA turned in sharp performances Saturday in the fifth annual Sherman Oaks Invitational swim meet.

Bittick, competing in the 15-16-year-old bracket, set a new SPAU record of 1:02.1 in the 100-yard backstroke, snapping the standard of 1:04. He also came through with a second in the 200-yard individual medley.

Poe was third in the 13-14 year-old 100-yard breaststroke. He was timed in 1:13.

Leslie Sklar won first place in the 16-and-under division for girls in the 200-yard breaststroke. Her time was 2:53.4.

Craig Blanks Giants on Three Singles, 6-0

NEW YORK (AP)—Righthander Roger Craig settled down after a wild start to blank the Giants with three singles Saturday while the Brooklyn Dodgers whacked and went sprawling to the three homers for five runs in the 6-0 rout of the New Yorkers.

Sandy Amoros and Carl Furillo each clouted two-run homers and Randy Jackson hit his first of the year with the bases empty. The other Dodger run came in the fifth inning on Duke Snider's single scoring Furillo from second.

The one-bagger stretched the Duke's hitting streak to 16 games, longest in the National League this season.

Snider twisted his left knee running out a grounder in the seventh inning and was replaced by Gino Cimoli. Jackie Robinson also hurt his left knee in the second inning when he overran first the Brooklyn Dodgers whacked and went sprawling to the three homers for five runs in the 6-0 rout of the New Yorkers.

Craig, in racking up his fourth victory against two defeats, had only one bad moment. That came in the second when he loaded the bases on walks with only one out. He got out of the jam by nailing Jim Hearn on a foul to first base.

Lockman played centerfield in place of Willie Mays who was struck in the right eye by a thrown ball in practice. Al Dark and Daryl Spencer were warming up in front of the Giants' dugout and Willie strolled into the path of Spencer's throw. Mays remained in uniform and watched the game from the dugout.

Fishin' Around

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

Whenever the polish is removed from our own ocean fishing—it's rather tarnished at this writing—one can always find good angling south of the border, either in Baja California, or in Sonora, on the other side of the Gulf of California.

Mr. and Mrs. George Jandreau, 5602 Long Beach Blvd., looking around for a good fishing spot, drove to Santa Tomas, below Ensenada, then took a dirt road to the ocean. There they rented a skiff, rowed out just offshore and loaded up with kelp bass and various other species of fish.

Jandreau said that for a couple of hours he and his wife found the hottest fishing they had ever experienced. Some of their bass weighed as much as 5 and 6 pounds.

The place where they fished is near Santo Tomas Pt., 19 miles from the city of the same name. Jandreau says that it takes from one to two hours to negotiate the short distance, but that any car can go there, provided the driver is careful.

All of that makes a strong point, namely, that you have to undergo certain hardships to reach good fishing spots. Santo Tomas is 230 miles from Long Beach. The highway is good and accommodations at the city are excellent. But at the ocean point, life is rather primitive. There are no electric lights and few conveniences.

Jandreau advises anyone going there to take his own bait. Salted anchovies are excellent. Other baits are very good for surf and rock fishing.

MORE ABOUT MEXICO—Claude Kreider, outdoor writer, and Jake Hunter were very enthusiastic in telling me about a recent trip they had to Loreto, also in Baja, California. They were guests at the Flying Sportsmen's Lodge. They drove to Tijuana, then took a 4½-hour plane trip to Loreto, which lies just 100 miles north of La Paz. Loreto is practically hidden by dense jungle growth.

The Long Beach men didn't connect with any billfish, preferring to fish for sierra, spotted cabrilla, pinto, grouper, yellowtail and bonito. They used light tackle and caught fish ranging up to 25 pounds.

Claude said that the lodge specializes in fine food and has six modern cruisers with good Mexican crews who really know the fishing banks. Most of the angling is done across the channel at Carmen Island.

Both anglers were impressed by the quaintness of the small town. They spent some time exploring and photographing the first mission of the Californias. It was built in 1697. Twenty-one miles across a range of mountains is another old mission, now mostly in ruins, but still forming the nucleus of a small Mexican settlement. They went there, hiring a native driver to negotiate the mountain road.

Ed Tabor runs the Flying Sportsmen's Lodge and the rates are extremely reasonable.

Rocket '9', Eagles Meet

Strengthened by the addition of several local high school and City College players, the Long Beach Rockets go after their third straight win today when they meet the L. A. American Eagles in a semipro game at Recreation Park. Game time is 2:15 p.m.

The Rockets whipped Chandler Rock and Gravel, 9-2, last week to run their season won-lost record to 8-4. Don Mello, star St. Anthony's pitcher, joined the Rockets last week and pitched the final four innings to preserve the win for Pete Cassidy, another ex-Saint. Mello, whose high school ERA was a sensational 0.50, struck out three in his semipro debut.

Rejoining the Rockets from LBCC is first baseman Emmett Ryan, who had two hits in four trips last week.

Chuck Winslow and Bob Carter will renew their red-hot battle for Rocket hitting honors. Winslow was held hitless in five at-bats last week and "slipped" to .411, while Carter had 4-for-5 and soared to .392. Winslow has 21 hits in 51 trips, while Carter has 20-for-51.

Today's Semipro Baseball Schedule

CITY LEAGUE
At Wilson—Locals, UAW-CIO vs. L. B. Merchants, 12 noon; San Pedro Cats vs. Zulu St. Stars, 2:45 p.m.
At City College—Outlaws vs. Aguilas, 4 p.m.

NEARBY GAMES
Long Beach Rockets vs. L. A. American Eagles, Recreation Park, 2:15 p.m.
Hollywood All-Stars vs. Arcadia Redbirds at Santa Anita County Park in Arcadia.

Long Beach Stars vs. Wilmington All-Stars at Sanford and 101 in Wilmington.
Twentieth Century Red Sox vs. Monrovia Merchants at Monrovia.

BIG HOLIDAY PROGRAM NEXT WEDNESDAY AT CALIENTE

change much last week, although old-time anglers at San Diego got a ripple of excitement out of the fact that jellyfish are starting to drift into the harbor there. They say it means an early albacore season for the Southern California coast. We hope so, but don't hold your breath until the longfins reach here!

Boats from Long Beach and San Pedro carried all of the anglers taking recent Schenley Sportsmen's Club awards. James A. Griffin, Compton, won his second prize of the season, getting a 12-2 barracuda while fishing on the Fisherman II. R. S. Grim, San Pedro, got the prize yellowtail, a 32-pounder, aboard the Sportfisher, out of Joe Martin's Landing in San Pedro.

Other Schenley awards: Delbert Salas, South Gate, 12-pound barracuda; Buddy Diamond, Long Beach, 10-9 barracuda, and Ray Beadie, Torrance, 10-2. All white sea bass awards were taken by anglers fishing on boats out of Balboa, Oceanside and San Clemente.

OUTDOOR PERSONALS—The Long Beach Casting Club and its feminine counterpart, the LBWCC, take part in a skish tournament at Sportsman's Park, Los Angeles, today. It is a registered event and the local casters expect to bring home some of the loot. Better watch out for those women casters; they are going like lightning this year. Such names as Norman Collins, Marks Sparks, Mildred Wolfe and Jennie Bishop are not to be treated lightly, even in mixed tournaments with the men.

The LBCC has a stag scheduled for Thursday night of this week, at which the members expect to reveal some plans for future fishing trips.

Most likely spots for trout fishing this week are Cachuma Reservoir, north of Santa Barbara; Santa Felicia Reservoir, near Ventura; Little Rock Reservoir, which has suddenly come to life, and the lakes of San Bernardino County which were restocked last week with catchable-size trout.

HERE'S A RUNDOWN on other freshwater fishing spots: Barstow Lake (San Diego County), open Saturdays and Sundays only, is producing some big crappie and a few bass. El Estero Reservoir (San Diego County), which is overstocked with bluegill, will be chemically treated this week. DFCC men hope to kill off a lot of those tiny bluegill that are feasting on bass eggs. Jenish Lake, on the Kern River east of Bakersfield, is yielding some nice weight limits of 1-pound rainbows, mostly in the catch. Other fishermen are getting catfish and trout below the dam. Some well-stocked streams in the Inland Empire are Pico, Cedar, Thule, Jerry Meadows, Eschme, Knobe Young, Bear, Brush and Caliente. ... Hunter Lake, on the Caliente Imperial watershed management area between Brawley and Calipatria, is producing hundreds of small bass weekly, mostly in the half-pound class. Wardens in that same area say that there will be one of the biggest crops of dove in Imperial, Coachella and Palo Verde Valleys next fall. South the Rock Hopper, that looks like a sure killer for trout and bass, it's a deep-running bait that looks like a minnow, and its depth can be controlled easily by changing the line on the nose stop. ... Mickey Turner, 6, of Knoxville, Tenn., went fishing in a foot-long stick for a rod, some rusty bait, and he caught 10 bass and a 5-pound carp. That's the sinker for today, friends!

Channel Outboard Race Slated June 10

Preparations for the fourth annual Avalon to Magnolia Pier cross channel outboard classic Sunday, June 10th, are nearing completion by the sponsoring Outboard Boating Club of Long Beach.

Registration of boats, pilots and co-pilots for the event is underway at 30 registration stations in Long Beach, and from the advance registrations received by the committee, George Austin, general chairman in charge of the race, predicts this year's entries will exceed the 193 of 1955.

Fifteen classes have been set up. The slowest class, E, will be composed of 250 pound boats/miles per hour.

with 15 horsepower outboard motors, while the fastest class will be D with boats from 300 to 450 pounds powered with twin 40 horsepower motors.

Course for the race starts at Avalon Harbor with the first heat beginning at 8 a.m., over the open water to the Seal Beach end of the breakwater, then inside the breakwater to the finish line at Magnolia Pier. Distance for the course is 29 miles. The fastest time in last year's classic set a new course record when Roy Rogers' yellow jacket negotiated the run in 54 minutes. The average speed of 36 composed of 250 pound boats/miles per hour.

Buffums' Rewards Poly Girl

Jacqueline Arbios, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Arbios of 3752 Orange Ave., Saturday had won two scholarships totalling $800.

She was named top Young Careerist of the year by Buffums' Department Store. The pretty, brown-haired Poly High senior received a $500 scholarship in an award announced by Harry Buffum, store president.

Jackie, who plans to attend University of California and make a career of merchandising, also received a $300 scholarship announced by the California Alumni Scholarships Committee.

THE POLY HIGH MISS and 19 other young careerists, representing all city high schools, have been working part-time at Buffums' since the start of the school year. Purpose of the program, Buffum said, is to attract young people to the retailing business.

The Buffums' program was started three years ago.

Other winners of scholarships announced by California Alumni Scholarships Committee are Larry Burris of Compton Union High School, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Burris, 1118 N. Pearl Ave., Compton, and Charlene Conrad of Jordan High, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Berlin, 2823 Montair Ave.

Funds for the scholarships were donated by UC alumni of this area.

300 Groups OK School Bond Bid

Organization support for Proposition C, the school measure on the June 5 ballot, passed the 300 mark on Saturday, according to Everett Houser, chairman of the sponsoring Good Schools Committee.

"The number of organization endorsements should exceed 350 and may go as high as 400 before election time," Mouser said. "This overwhelming support is evidence that the people of Long Beach, Lakewood, Signal Hill and Avalon believe that good schools are important."

The 301st endorsement received by the Good Schools Committee was from the Long Beach Realty Board.

HOUSER EXPLAINED that endorsements are being received from every section of the school district and from every major grouping of the population.

He said that 18 Catholic churches and organizations to date have joined with 64 Protestant groups and 8 Jewish organizations in support of Proposition "C." Organized labor has sent in 43 endorsements and business associations have accounted for another 13. Thirty-seven patriotic groups are also included among the first 300 endorsements.

THE HIGH POINT in the educational campaign in behalf of Proposition C was reached last week when 9300 volunteer workers made calls at the 142,000 local homes to leave a pamphlet describing the need for additional school funds, House added. Another phase of the campaign which was gaining momentum by the end of the week is the "10-Club" idea. Any adult can become a member of the "10-Club" by agreeing to get ten persons to the polls on June 5 to vote for Proposition C.

Ancient Relics Found on Isle

AIACCIO, Corsican (AP)—A 14-year-old shepherd boy has found Roman remains dating from the time of the notoriously cruel Emperor Commodus (180 A.D.).

Andre Perinetti's original discovery about a half mile from Bustinico village was an ancient vase.

This led to fragments of pottery and glass vases, two rings, a coin and bronze buckles. They were the first Roman relics found on this Napoleonic isle.

FORD TRUCKS COST LESS!

Ford is America's lowest-priced line of trucks. A comparison of factory-suggested list prices shows that Ford has more models priced under competition than any other line.

But low initial cost is only one of the reasons why Fords cost less. Take resale value for instance. Any used-truck dealer will tell you there's always a good market for a Ford Truck. That means a higher trade-in allowance for you.

BEACH COMBING

AN OLD cook book, its cover and fly-leaves gone so neither the date nor the publisher is known, has been offered to this dept. by an L. B. housewife for use in the cause of domestic tranquility as well as gastronomic pleasure.

Mrs. Erik Flamer got the book from her Pennsylvania Dutch forbears, and thinks it was published around 1900, over the years she has tried many of the recipes and found most of them good. However, here and there someone has penciled "no good" beside recipes that fizzled.

The ancient book, however, is not confined to food ideas. It contains some recipes for domestic bliss, and a whole raft of cures for everything from rump in chickens to alcoholism in humans.

FOR EXAMPLE, there's a recipe for quarreling that any modern housewife might try if she can get a root of sasafra.

Here it is:

"RECIPE FOR QUARRELING"—Take a root of sasafra and steep in a pint of water and put in a bottle and when your husband comes in to quarrel, fill your mouth with it and hold until he goes away. A sure cure.

Indubitably.

THE INGENIOUS author of this comprehensive tome tells how to preserve cherries, strawberries, pineapples, tomatoes and husbands.

The latter:

"Be careful in your selection; do not choose too young, and take only such as have been reared in good moral atmosphere. Some insist on keeping them in a pickle, while others keep them in hot water. This only makes them sour, hard and sometimes bitter. Even poor varieties may be made sweet, tender and good by garnishing them with patience, well sweetened with smiles and flavored with kisses to taste; then wrap them in a mantle of charity, keep warm with a steady fire of domestic devotion and serve with peaches and cream. When thus prepared they will keep for years."

Maybe so. Has anybody tried this since 1900?

I WON'T try to give you the entire text of a lengthy recipe for marriage cake, which again shows the idealism of another era.

But here's a bit of it:

"Take five pounds of fervent devotion, three pounds extract of faithfulness, four quarts of heartfelt satisfaction, one pound each of prudence and good nature, six scruples each of confidence and mature deliberation, eight ounces each of gentleness and modesty, twelve scruples of matrimonial fidelity, two pounds of conjugal fidelity, three quarts of ecstatic enjoyment, one pound each of patience, industry and economy, four ounces of neatness, half pound seeds of virtue, seven pints sweetness of disposition."

These ingredients and others are to be mixed with cheerfulness, lubricated with gladness, etc., etc., baked in the "oven of blessedness" and "heated with the fire of true love." While warm, spread with a "frosting of gracefulness."

From there, the cook book goes right on to layer cakes, one of which, alas, is marked with the tell-tale "no good." No such note, fortunately, is applied to the marriage cake.

THE HOUSEHOLD hints dept. at the back of Mrs. Flamer's wonderful old book runs with a note of authority. After many of the hints is a positive declaration of their efficacy.

"RHEUMATISM—Five cents worth nitre potassium, twenty cents worth of iodine potassium, in one pint of water. Take one tablespoonful three times a day before each meal. If followed as directed WILL CURE WITH-OUT FAIL."

"CURE FOR ALCOHOLISM"—In the morning before breakfast, an orange should be eaten, one about 9 o'clock, one before dinner, one before supper and one before retiring; continue for one week. The second week four oranges a day will be sufficient, the third week three and the fourth week the tippler won't be able to bear the smell of alcohol."

Or the thought of an orange.

Beauty Pageant Surrounded by Many Problems

By VERA WILLIAMS

Buddhists and an earthquake are keeping a couple of girls from the Miss Universe Beauty Pageant July 12-22.

So far they have provided the biggest headaches this year, but there will be more, prophesies Oscar Meinhardt, executive producer who this year will be executive producing for the fifth time.

Buddhists have taken over Ceylon, and Buddhists take a dim view of contests—any kind of contests, according to the information received by Meinhardt.

So there will be no contestant this year from Ceylon. Last year Ceylon's beautiful Maureen Hingert placed second in the Miss Universe contest and she still is under contract to 20th Century-Fox of Hollywood.

Lebanon, torn by a recent earthquake, is under government edict to curtail social activities this year. So that means there will be no Miss Lebanon.

TO DATE, 80 girls—45 from the states, 35 from foreign countries—have entered. There will be more, Meinhardt predicts.

What are the "normal" headaches of putting together a beauty pageant?

"Well," says Meinhardt, "getting the girls, getting the sponsors, getting the girls here, running the pageant, getting the girls home again."

In their casual way, many foreign sponsors don't answer letters, says Meinhardt, and they do not let him know that girls are coming until two or three weeks before the pageant.

And then the photographers—Not American photographers, Meinhardt explains hastily. He means foreign photographers.

"We have to have advance photographs of these foreign girls for press releases," says Meinhardt. "Can we get them? No! I don't know whether they don't take them, or whether we just don't get 'em. Anyway, we could use a lot more than we get."

THEN THERE is the matter of synchronizing flights of these girls so they land simultaneously, or thereabouts, in Long Beach. That takes quite a bit of doing when there are upward of 80 girls.

This year all the girls will stay in the Lafayette Hotel, which will make it simpler for pageant arrangers, hostesses, chauffeurs, etc., etc. There will be 50 hostesses—one for each two girls plus the executive committee. Hostesses will take turns staying all night at the hotel.

As an innovation, this year all meals will be served buffet style at the Lafayette.

"That will speed up service," says Meinhardt, "and it will give the girls a chance to select what they want to eat. Before this, a printed menu was put before them and they had to select from it, and many of the girls didn't know what the hell the menu said."

Pay Raises Slated for Ford Workers

All Ford Motor Co. hourly workers and most salaried employees will receive pay increases Friday, the company announced Saturday.

Approximately 127,000 hourly employees represented by the United Auto Workers will receive "improvement factor" increases of 2½ per cent or 6 cents an hour, whichever is greater.

Most of the company's 52,800 salaried employees will get increases ranging from $10.50 to $18 a month, depending on base pay.

Contracts signed with the UAW and other unions last year provide for annual improvement factor increases through June 1, 1957.

The company pointed out that this year's improvement factor will be the seventh paid by Ford.

Lakewood Parks Contract Signed

The Lakewood Park District board of directors Saturday approved a long-disputed contract with the Lakewood City Council for park development.

The Council approved the agreement earlier in the week and indicated that if the district did not agree to the plan it would seek other means to get the parks developed.

BEAUTY AND TALENT are blended in Elaine Bishenden of Toronto, Miss Canada in the Miss Universe Beauty Pageant here July 12-22. She is a concert pianist with a 34-24-34 beat.

Beach Girls Eligible for 'U' Pageant

The glory trail to the Miss Universe title is open to girls of the Long Beach area, but they'll have to go by way of Lakewood.

Deadline for the entries in the second annual competition to select Miss Lakewood is June 19. She will be selected June 16 and thereby earn the right to compete in the Miss California preliminary to the Miss USA and Miss Universe contests.

THE GREATER LAKEWOOD Chamber of Commerce has invited girls of Long Beach and other neighboring communities to enter the Miss Lakewood competition, according to W. G. Nichols, executive secretary of the C. of C.

Long Beach offers no city representative in the Miss Universe competition since it is the host city.

Nichols said girls between 18 and 28, either married or single, may obtain entry blanks at the Chamber office, 4166 Normandie, and may telephone for any contest information at GA 5-0713.

PETER C. NITRINI, chairman of the contest, said preliminary judging would be conducted at 7 p.m. June 14 and 15, with five finalists selected each evening. The 10 finalists will compete at 3 p.m. Saturday, June 16, for the crown and scepter of Miss Lakewood.

The winner will have her expenses paid for the Miss California preliminary at the Moulin Rouge, will win a trophy and a year's opportunity to preside at many community affairs for both fun and profit.

Both preliminaries and finals in the Miss Lakewood contest will be held in the May Co. auditorium, Lakewood.

AMONG LONG BEACH LOVELIES seeking entry to the Miss Universe Pageant by way of the Miss Lakewood competition is Myrna Lois Bucher, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Bucher, 3029 Pacific Ave. Auburn-haired Myrna weighs 108, measures 33-23-34. California's 1948 VFW majorette champion, she was a Miss Welcome to Long Beach runner-up.—(Staff Photo by Don Webster)

City Making Progress on Bond Plans

By GEORGE WEEKS
City Hall Reporter

Less than four months after the voters approved the $29,219,000 municipal bond issue, the city has made substantial progress toward spending a major portion of that sum, even though none of the bonds has actually been sold.

A summary just released by City Mgr. Sam E. Vickers' office shows nine architectural and engineering contracts have been authorized for design work to cost a maximum of $942,852. Construction cost is estimated at $17,045,100.

Even before any of these projects materialize, however, construction will be started on two small improvements. Groundbreaking ceremonies are tentatively scheduled for June 25 at Somerset Park, site of a proposed $10,000 activities building, and California Ave. Playground, where $6,500 will be expended for game courts, walks and other improvements.

Similar ceremonies will be scheduled progressively during succeeding months, Vickers said.

BIDS WON'T BE OPENED on the first unit of bonds—$5,900,000—until June 19. Meanwhile the city is advancing funds from other accounts to meet preliminary expenses, all of which will be reimbursed later from the bond receipts.

According to Finance Director S. M. Roberts, another fair-sized bond sale will probably be recommended late this year, primarily for the project deemed most urgent on the list—the construction of tunnels under Lakewood Blvd. and Spring St. for the Municipal Airport runway extension.

ARCHITECTURAL and engineering contracts already approved, with the amounts involved for design and also for construction, are:

Business Up to All-Time High Record in L.A.

An all-time new high in local business activity during April has been announced by the Research department of Security First National Bank, Los Angeles.

The bank reported the business index was up 5 per cent compared to April of last year. They said unemployment in the Los Angeles area had declined but that the drop was less than the usual seasonal amount.

200 TO GET OUTINGS

Camp Donations Total Half of Required Goal

The Long Beach campership committee's greatest need right now is for money contributions, leaders said Saturday.

Cash contributions to date will assure at least 200 of the needy boys and girls in the Long Beach Lakewood area of a week at summer camp. That means that less than 50 per cent of the deserving youngsters listed in the files of the summer and camping committee of the Community Welfare Council have been offered assistance.

Donations in any amount may be sent to the Campership Fund, Welfare Council, 1213 Cedar Ave. For information telephone HE 2-0991. Peggy Finley is general chairman for the drive.

THE AVERAGE campership fee is $25 per child per week. The camps are operated and supervised by the Salvation Army, Catholic Youth Organization, YMCA, YWCA, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Boys Club and Boy Scouts.

Lifeguard Tests Given 100 Youths

More than 100 youths took swimming tests Saturday afternoon on the beach near the main lifeguard station to qualify for positions as summer lifeguards. The tests were given by the city civil service commission, with Lifeguard Capt. Roy (Dutch) Miller assisting.

Seventy-five seasonal lifeguards will be employed from June 16 to Sept. 15, bringing the lifeguard force to a summer total of 100 for the swimming areas at the ocean, bay and lagoon.

The lifeguards to be employed will be selected from the civil service eligibility lists already established. Those qualifying on the basis of Saturday's swimming tests and other examinations will be added to the eligibility list.

who are receiving aid from the Bureau of Public Assistance. They have only enough money to provide the bare necessities of life.

Many of the boys and girls are from broken homes. Some are orphans, others fatherless. Many have special problems which might be helped greatly through association with others in the healthy atmosphere of a summer mountain camp. Two weeks remain in which to make contributions to the Campership Fund.

Strikers Wreck Train in India; 58 Injured

CALCUTTA (AP)—A train from which a violent mob of railway strikers had dragged the engine crew crashed and injured 58 passengers Saturday at Khargpur, 75 miles from Calcutta.

The engine and first car of the train, in which non-strikers were going to work, left the rails at Khargpur railway station and mounted the station platform.

The injured included four on the platform. Five of the victims are in serious condition.

The Southeastern Railway said the strikers surrounded the train when it halted, assaulted and dragged off the engine driver and crew of two, then set the train in motion.

35 Cities, 69 C.s of C. Back Proposition W (Water Bonds)

More than 35 city councils, and 69 chambers of commerce in the Long Beach-Los Angeles metropolitan area have endorsed Proposition W, the water proposal on the June 5 ballot, according to Bill Barbee, Long Beach chairman of the Southland Water Committee.

"We are deeply encouraged by the immediate and widespread support Proposition W is receiving from both governmental and civic organizations. By their enthusiastic endorsements, they are doing their part to insure an adequate water supply for Southern California for years to come," Barbee said.

Proposition W would enable the Metropolitan Water District, through short term financing, to complete its aqueduct facilities from the Colorado River to their planned capacity within six years.

THE DISTRICT plans to borrow 50 million dollars on short term notes to be repaid from pledges of 170 million dollars which will be paid over the next 30 years by areas recently annexed to the district, according to Barbee. He emphasized that no tax increase is involved.

Among the city councils endorsing Proposition W are those of Long Beach, Signal Hill, Los Angeles, Pasadena, Pomona, Beverly Hills, Burbank, Glendale, Santa Monica, Torrance, Hawthorne, Inglewood, Redondo Beach, Hermosa Beach, Compton and Lynwood. Chambers of commerce in these cities and many others have also approved Proposition W, Barbee said.

Barbee pointed out that the Metropolitan Water District extends over a five-county area and that similar support is being obtained in San Bernardino, Orange, Riverside and San Diego Counties.

THE TWO LONG BEACH

members of the Metropolitan Water District board of directors, Gus A. Walker and Lloyd C. Leedom, joined with Barbee in urging all voters in the Long Beach area to vote yes on Proposition W.

"Long Beach already depends on the Colorado River for 45 per cent of the city's water supply. Proposition W will assure Long Beach an adequate water supply for the future and thus safeguard our continued growth and prosperity," Walker said.

Leedom stated, "Nothing is

Sailor Falls Off Motorcycle During Speedy Police Chase

Two sailors aboard a motorcycle, after he fell off the motorcycle, were pursued by police on the west side of Long Beach Saturday until one of the riders was hurled off the vehicle.

The driver, Warren L. Holbrook, 19, of the USS Kermit Roosevelt, was arrested at a locker club soon after he abandoned the motorcycle at Pacific Ave. and Pacific Coast Hwy. He was booked in city jail for investigation of reckless driving and was cited for five traffic violations.

His passenger, Thomas G. Body, 18, of the same ship, was picked up by police at W. Seaside Blvd. and San Diego Ave.

Drive for Hope City

Giving up a day at the wheel, approximately 600 members of Hot Rod clubs in Long Beach, San Pedro and Wilmington will help to canvass door-to-door in behalf of the City of Hope fund campaign Sunday, June 3.

The car club members will wear their uniforms—jackets bearing the insignia of their affiliations—and carry the official City of Hope canisters for donations.

Calling the day "Hope Sunday," sponsors will attempt to raise $50,000 in Long Beach and $1,000,000 throughout the state during the four-hour drive from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The appeal is the annual campaign for funds for research and treatment of leukemia, cancer, heart disease and tuberculosis at the non-sectarian facilities of the City of Hope in Duarte.

Chairman of the harbor area drive is Jack Hoffman. Milt Silverberg is president of the local Sponsors Club, an auxiliary of the City of Hope.

Officer Bob Cabot of the Long Beach Police Department is assisting in co-ordinating the efforts of the car club members toward the campaign.

Kuchel Gives Small Boat Aid Advice

WASHINGTON—Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.) Saturday advised California to form a single agency to push for federal funds for small boat harbors.

"It seems to me we should have an organized effort," he wrote Gov. Goodwin J. Knight. Although progress has been made in getting federal grants, Kuchel said a single agency could help get more by conducting studies, preparing plans and setting up priorities.

Because California has few natural bays, inlets or harbors, man-made facilities must be constructed, Kuchel said. If they are provided, thousands of Californians would use them, he predicted.

A state agency to weigh and co-ordinate proposals for harbor developments could operate like the state water resources board which has developed balanced programs for flood control activities, Kuchel suggested.

Its primary effect would be to "minimize controversy" which often prevents the state from obtaining federal funds, he added.

Hosmer Serves All of People, Deserves Bi-Partisan Backing

IN 1952 THE VOTERS of the 18th Congressional District cast their ballot for a Congressional candidate who pledged that he would back the Eisenhower administration and conscientiously represent the people and interests of this district without thought of party.

Those promises were kept, and the people returned that candidate—Congressman Craig Hosmer—to Washington in 1954 with a solid vote of confidence.

There is every reason why the local voters again this year, on June 5, should support Mr. Hosmer. He is the same man and is doing the same good job.

HE IS A CONGRESSMAN who works actively to get the district a fair, square deal in Congress and from government officials.

During his terms of service the program at the Long Beach Naval Shipyard, a major economic factor in this community, has been stabilized and the threat of closure turned back.

He played an important part in securing an appropriation for sorely-needed improvement and expansion of buildings at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

He led a valiant fight in Congress to protect the rights of Southern Californians to vital water supplies from the Colorado River.

He secured for this community the distinction—which has a practical, economic importance to the people here—of being named along with Los Angeles as a "metropolitan area."

There is, of course, nothing partisan about such representation. These are the affairs of all the people of the district. And they have been dealt with from that standpoint. Partisanship simply plays no part in the Congressman's work with regard to the numerous federal decisions that affect Long Beach, Lakewood and Signal Hill.

The results speak for themselves. They have been for the benefit of all.

CONGRESSMAN CRAIG HOSMER deserves re-election in his own right, for his record stands by itself. But the fact that he has supported the Eisenhower administration's policy of moderate, calm, forward-looking government speaks further in his favor.

This fact should be an attraction, we believe, to "Eisenhower Democrats." Though these backers of Eisenhower will not be able to vote for Mr. Eisenhower in the presidential primary, they do have a course of action which will express their support of Ike.

That course is to vote in the Congressional races (where candidates may crossfile) for men who can be depended on to back up Ike in Congress—such men as Congressman Hosmer and U. S. Sen. Kuchel.

We feel our past support for these men has been well justified. They have served well. We are proud to recommend their election once again on June 5.

JOHN S. KNIGHT

Adlai-Estes Debate Shows How Lucky People Are to Have Ike as President

POLITICAL PRIMER: Politics is a funny business indeed.

1. A President is to be elected this year. President Eisenhower is running for re-election. He has no opposition, within his own party.

2. The two major Democratic candidates are Adlai Stevenson, the 1952 standard bearer, and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, runner-up to Stevenson at the last Democratic convention.

3. The Gallup poll shows that 64 per cent of the voters prefer Ike to Stevenson and an even higher percentage will take Eisenhower over Sen. Kefauver.

4. In Florida, on May 29, Democratic voters will say whether Stevenson or Kefauver delegates will be sent to Chicago next August.

5. Both candidates are campaigning in the folksy, handshaking style that is natural for Estes, unnatural for Adlai. But Florida voters have been yawning.

6. The ABC radio and television network contributed an hour of precious time for a debate between the two Presidential hopefuls. It was well advertised in the press. The audience was large. This could be quite a show.

7. So, what happened? For nearly 60 minutes, Adlai and Estes exchanged echoes in one of the dreariest performances ever staged by two politicians in contention for the Presidency. As the Washington Post said: "The two opponents looked and sounded like members of the garden club discussing the weather."

CONCLUSION: Adlai and Estes are personal friends of this columnist. Both had sought support from the Miami Herald, a Knight newspaper, in next Tuesday's primary.

But if this was the best they could offer—an obviously tired Adlai caught off balance by Kefauver's gentle gibes, mangling his usual precise phrases, and Estes promising the moon without regard for the nation's solvency—how can the conscientious editor make a choice?

Florida voters expect their candidates to come out fighting. But contrary to expectations, the much heralded Stevenson-Kefauver "debate" was a drab, uninspired affair which proved nothing except that a good many people were heard to say how lucky they are to have Ike as President.

CUTS IN FOREIGN AID: The House Foreign Affairs Committee has, by a 24 to 4 vote, approved a billion dollar cut in the administration's nearly $5 billion foreign aid bill.

This slash is long overdue and should be supported by both houses of Congress. Our foreign economic and military aid programs beg to be reappraised and revised downward.

It was originally intended that military aid would help get our Allies started on rearmament, just as Marshall plan economic help was supposed to be of temporary duration until Europe was rehabilitated.

Both now appear, under one form or another, to have become a permanent part of our foreign policy, with the time-worn rationalization that these programs "bolster the free world against communism."

If Europe cannot now, with its present prosperity, support a military defense establishment, what kind of Allies do we have? Only the soft-headed Americans still believe you can cure anything with a buck.

Mere gifts of money are misunderstood. The new approach to foreign aid should contemplate a business partnership or relationship in which the underdeveloped nations can attain a measure of economic independence while preserving their self-respect.

LET'S MOVE UP ANOTHER STEP

DAVID LAWRENCE

U. S. Must Resist Blackmail by Nations That Are Playing Both Sides of Street

WASHINGTON—"Let them go Communist." This epitomizes a growing sentiment in Congress about the so-called "neutrals." It means that the United States must not allow itself to be blackmailed into foreign-aid programs by governments which under the guise of neutrality are really "playing both ends against the middle."

The case of Egypt is much discussed hereabouts. Nasser, an ambitious leader, is trying to play the Soviet Union against the United States. He wants the Aswan Dam built. It's a very important project—it will take 18 years to build. It means needed irrigation for millions of acres of land.

The Soviet Union has made a transparently weak offer to help finance the project, but Nasser implies he must take it unless Great Britain and the United States kick in with the desired funds.

THE ASWAN DAM and the canal distribution of the water, together with the hydroelectric work that goes with it, will cost at least $1,000,000,000. Irrespective of whether Nasser is a statesman or a Communist stooge, the dam means a lot to the future of the people of Egypt. Hence the American government wants to help, but can't be in the position of placing itself in the clutches of an ambitious dictator who claims he is undecided whether to line up with the west or with the Communists.

There are some Americans here in responsible posts who feel that maybe the time has come to call the Soviet bluff—to let Egypt try to get along with Soviet funds alone—in other words, to take hands off and permit nature to take its course.

THUS FAR, Moscow seems willing to grant a 35-year loan of $200,000,000 to build the dam. But the huge reservoir itself would be useless without the projects to distribute the water throughout Egypt and the Sudan. These will cost $800,000,000 more. There are many knotty problems still to be solved and meanwhile Nasser doesn't seem to be doing much in diplomacy to forward the cause of the people of his own country. He manages to insult the United States about every other week. His latest pact with Communist China flies directly in the face of America's friendship.

The willingness of Nasser, moreover, to accept the Communist scheme which seeks to establish a military foothold in the Middle East has aroused suspicion in the West. Thus, because of his arms deal with Czechoslovakia, and now with Communist China, the whole strategic problem will have to be reviewed by NATO.

Also by 1960 the Suez Canal is scheduled to come under complete control of Egypt.

Air Force, Army Hurled Secret Publicity Memos

WASHINGTON—Backstage reason for the Army-Air Force feud that has suddenly hit the headlines is a publicity campaign that both services decided to launch to win public and congressional support.

Without consulting their alleged boss, Secretary Wilson, the Army brass gave their campaign a central theme: "A Decade of Insecurity." The Air Force then came back with a reverse theme entitled: "A Decade of Security Through Global Airpower."

While Charlie Wilson was looking the other way, the Army loaded its publicity guns with ideas for speeches, magazine articles, and press leaks. These were carefully calculated to sell the Army's views to the public.

The Air Force promptly organized a more ambitious, long-range publicity program. In a private memo to its publicity boys, the Air Force urged:

"We must take the public past the point of uncertainty. We must convince them that investment in the Air Force will net a superlative payoff in continued freedom and safety. Convincing the public will take a long-range public relations blueprint... commanders at all levels will review their individual programs and initiate aggressive action to support this program."

AFL-CIO CLERICAL staff workers, deciding to practice what they preach, held a labor meeting the other day to dis-

Will the western nations accept such a transfer if it means handing to the Soviets control of one of the most important waterways in the world?

Can Egypt afford to place herself within the Soviet military orbit—in an area which the West will have to consider hostile if war should break out? This is something Nasser will have to consider.

It's something also that Sukarno of Indonesia will have to take into account. Sukarno has accepted Communists into his government. He was careful in his speeches here to refrain from saying anything that would indicate he is disturbed by Russian colonialism. He criticized western "colonialism" and made just the kind of speech that pleases the Kremlin. He knows, of course, that this country wants Indonesia's friendship. But at what price? How much money does Sukarno really want from America?

MOST EXPERTS here think the Soviet "competition" is a gigantic bluff and that if America refuses to be taken in, other governments will some day discover that there are no strings attached to being friendly to America such as the Communists in Moscow or Peking would impose.

MALCOLM EPLEY

Adlai, Estes Find Campaigning in Sprawling California Big Job

IT COSTS $240,000 to mail a postal card to every registered voter in California.

That startling fact gives some idea of the immensity of the task of putting on an intensive political campaign in this sprawling state—a problem that Estes Kefauver or Adlai Stevenson could probably describe in graphic terms at this stage of the game.

A postal card mailing is obviously a minor feature of a campaign, but let's take a look at the cost of even that "small" effort. We have 5,487,822 registered voters in the state. Just the postage for that many cards would be about $110,000. Cost of the cards and having them printed would run the total up to about $240,000, according to an agency that has engaged in statewide campaigning over many years.

From this, it is apparent that a campaign aimed at reaching most or all California voters runs into many hundreds of thousands of dollars in money expense, not to speak of the physical strain on a candidate who might try to cover every hamlet in person.

STEVENSON and Kefauver, now winding up their drive for California's Democratic presidential preference, haven't tried to get everywhere in the state. But considering that they've had to campaign simultaneously in the primaries of a number of other states, they've both done fair jobs in getting around in huge California.

Both have tried to do as much personal campaigning as possible, apparently on the theory that a handshake means a vote. This has taken a lot out of them, and on their visits here, both have appeared extremely weary.

Here recently, Stevenson displayed the soles of his shoes (see cut) and no holes were visible. But in the picture the leather appears a little worn and the heels slightly run down. Many Stevenson supporters here are wearing little silver shoes, with a hole in the sole, recalling a famed picture of the 1952 campaign when Stevenson displayed a worn shoe to photographers.

Kefauver and Stevenson have been campaigning for Democratic votes only, of course, but there are 3,059,873 Democrats in California registered for the June 5 primary. If half of them vote on presidential preference, it means that the winner will need at least 750,000 votes.

Recently Congressional Quarterly reported that it was costing the Democratic candidates about $500 a day each to campaign in California and elsewhere. Minimum cost factors include rent, $20; personal salaries, $285; transportation, $75; living expenses, $30; telephones, $40, and miscellaneous, $50. These averages do not include advertisements and radio and TV broadcasts.

Adding to the problems of Stevenson and Kefauver is the fact that they are still on their own as individuals and do not have the party organizations and treasury to draw on. Once a candidate is nominated for the presidency, the party money rolls into the vote battle and of course the costs become astronomical. They are just about that as it is.

On the Republican side of the primary, there is no contest this time for California's presidential preference, and President Dwight Eisenhower, the lone candidate, has not had to campaign. Republicans are waging a drive to get out a big vote of confidence for the President, but this has not compared with the effort required of the contesting Democrats.

The only other statewide campaigning required before this election is in the U. S. Senatorial race. State Sen. Richard Richards has possibly done more traveling than the other major candidates. U. S. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, the Republican who is trying for both party nominations, is an old statewide campaigner and has had to spend much of the pre-primary period in Washington. Former Congressman Sam Yorty, also seeking both nominations, has been moving about, but apparently not as extensively as Richards, the only one of the three who has not previously been in a statewide campaign.

By far the most ambitious effort to woo California votes on a statewide basis has been made by two non-Californians, Stevenson and Kefauver. They are probably happy that it's about over.

TOWN MEETING

Filling of Council Vacancy Discussed

TO THE EDITOR:

Your recent editorial on filling council vacancies by appointment was current, interesting and, as you say, "worthy of consideration."

The appointment method would be much more economical. And who is there to say that appointment to the vacancy would not be just as representative as is the present method of election held only in the one district where the vacancy occurs which, of course, is inconsistent with the normal citywide method of electing Councilmen.

YOUR EDITORIAL overlooked one point which I am inclined to think holds the key to the present charter provided for filling Council vacancies by appointment and also there was, at the time, a well-defined cleavage among Council members—say, a 4 to 4 or a 5 to 3 division such as in the days of the "Solid Five".

Is the present method practical in preventing clique control of the Council? How much would it be worth in dollars at some time under a given set of conditions?

The present plan cannot be said to be ideal. It is not as economical as the appointment method. If the reader rules out the appointment method, for reasons given, we have left what we now have, which provides a Councilman just for an interim period at an interim cost.

PAUL B. WILCOX.

Says Alien Act Discriminatory

TO THE EDITOR:

It is a great honor to be a citizen of this country, but how much greater an honor and privilege it is to choose to become a citizen of this great country.

I was born in Germany, persecuted under Nazism, separated from the U. S. Air Force after three years and four months of service with an Honorable Discharge, and thus probably feel a stronger pride in this country than the average immigrant.

In 1964 I was refused the right to take the examination for U. S. Diplomatic Service because I had not been a citizen for five years, and according to latest report the requirements have been raised to 10 years to qualify. This is a discriminatory law, in my opinion.

WHEN I AFFIXED my signature to the oath of allegiance, I knew that if required by law, I would bear arms on behalf of the United States or perform noncombatant service in the armed forces of the United States, and that I took this obligation freely without any mental reservation of purpose of evasion. By accepting the duties as a citizen of the United States, I was then granted equal rights by law immediately and not after 10 years.

As a citizen of this wonderful country I sincerely recommend the protection of the original Constitution of the United States from amendments such as the McCarran-Walter immigration act, which overthrows the First Amendment.

Amateur Sports, Dollar Signs Don't Go Together

Oakland Tribune

REGARDLESS of how far the Pacific Coast Conference investigation into the subsidization of football players goes, the public will approve an air and full inquiry.

The purpose of the faculty representatives is to enforce the rules equally for all member universities and adhere to an honest system of recruiting athletes. Whenever a university steps out of bounds, it should expect immediate punishment. Those that abide by the regulations have the right to expect that the derelictions receive summary treatment.

One of the characteristics of amateur athletics is the purity of its motives and methods. Once confidence is destroyed, the character-building aspects of honest competition are impaired. It is the purpose of the conference heads to restore such confidence and make it dangerous for violators of the accepted rules to continue unfair practices. That purpose will be generally lauded by those who enjoy one of the best American sports.

Recruitment within the bounds of decency, and based on the merits of the college, is not in itself inimical to college athletics. But some of today's highly organized and well-financed modes of operation have passed the bounds of reason and public acceptance.

A THOROUGH cleanup was certainly due, and we trust it will be carried to a successful conclusion. Whether it is Pacific Coast colleges or West Santee in his dispute with the Amateur Athletic Association, it is not compatible with sportsmanship and college loyalty for amateur athletes to be plastered with the dollar sign. The system deserves radical remedies and that apparently is what we are getting.

ROADSIDE INN

I like the quiet roadside inn... When shadows shroud the day... And it is time for dinner, as... I journey on my way... The cottage quaint that somehow seems... To be inviting me... To linger there and gaily share... Its hospitality... The kitchen smells are heavenly... The food is so delicious... And in that friendly atmosphere... No movement is suspicious... I eat my fill, and I enjoy... The conversation small... About the little pleasantries... Acquaintances recall... And peacefully I slumber in... A soft and cozy bed... With dreamy roadside memories... To keep me comforted.

IN MAJOR PALOS VERDES DEAL

Purchase by a group of Southland companies, headed by Edward K. Zuckerman and Barney R. Morris, of approximately 1,000 acres adjoining Palos Verdes Estates, foreshadows construction ultimately of $75,000,000 worth of estate-class homes in area. It was sold by Palos Verdes Properties, composed of the Capital Co. and Rancho Palos Verdes Corp. Shown above, left to right, are Ivar O. Hanson, general manager, Palos Verdes Properties; Morris; Zuckerman, and Paul W. Anderson, vice president, Capital Co.

Builders Buy 1,000 Acres for Palos Verdes Homes

Acceleration of the ultimate transformation of Palos Verdes Peninsula into a world-famous luxury-estate community was underscored yesterday by announcement of purchase and plans for improvement of approximately 1,000 choice acres adjoining Palos Verdes Estates by a group of Southland companies.

Eventually $75,000,000 worth of homes will be built in the newly-acquired area, according to spokesmen for the buying group, headed by Edward K. Zuckerman, Barney R. Norris and the Grandview Building Co. The area will be known as Grandview Palos Verdes.

The land, described as a natural extension of such exclusive communities as Palos Verdes Estates, Rolling Hills and Portuense Bend, was acquired for a reported consideration of $6,000,000, in one of the biggest land transactions in recent California history, from Palos Verdes Properties, a partnership composed of Rancho Palos Verdes Corp. and the Capital Co., a subsidiary of Transamerica Corp.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT, pointing out that a large portion of the historic Rancho Palos Verdes already has been fashioned into luxury communities of beautiful homes and spacious estates, including the City of Palos Verdes Estates, said that the 1,000 acres just purchased will be developed along similar lines. The majority of the area overlooks the Palos Verdes Golf Course and the ocean.

At the same time it was disclosed that the remaining portion of the colorful old rancho will be developed by the Capital Co. and Rancho Palos Verdes Corp. into a complete town site and smaller commercial areas, with schools, churches and community recreational facilities, as well as residential estate areas. Plans will assure preservation of the natural scenic beauties and bridle trails in those mountainous areas not adaptable for development, it was stated.

SEVERAL YEARS have been spent in research and preparation of recommendations for community planning of the entire region by such nationally known specialists in the field as Victor Gruen Associates and Pereira & Luckman.

An initial construction program, already launched by the

Easy Terms on Resales

Spokesmen for Del Amo Park, new residential community at 20th St. and Pioneer Blvd., Artesia, announced yesterday that a limited number of 3-bedroom homes are available for resale because some families have been forced to move to other locations.

Officials said that terms may be arranged "to suit" either veterans or nonvets, who may move in for only $199.

"Only because conditions of employment required some families to give up these homes are they now available on highly desirable terms," a spokesman explained. "An excellent buy for

Story Book Homes Loaded With Extras

A collection of the most desired features in a moderately priced home is what today's homeseeker finds when visiting Chapman Woods "Story Book" homes in Garden Grove reports a spokesman for Walker & Lee, sales agents for the Cliff E. Robertson development of 3 and 4-bedroom, 2-bath dwellings. Added to these advantages is another: Veterans may still buy on no down payment financing.

The handyman, they may be made as good as new with a minimum of fixing and cleaning. The area may be reached by way of Hwy. 35, it was stated.

Priced from $13,850 to $14,050, Chapman Woods homes were designed to incorporate many plan, construction and feature qualities usually seen in more expensive dwellings, such as central hall plan to eliminate unnecessary traffic through bedrooms, insulation, weatherstripping, oak flooring and built-in automatic kitchens.

A free-standing fireplace, backed by an indoor barbecue in some models, master bedroom suite, Pullman-type baths with tiled stall shower and colored bath fixtures, Royal Jet forced air heat with summer ventilation, sliding "Horizon" window walls in the dining area, cathedral ceilings and cove lighting are more of the features of the homes.

Kitchens are equipped with built-in General Electric washer-dryer combination, food pulverizer, birch cabinetry, breakfast bar and, in some models, built-in Western Holly range and oven in decorator colors. Washable interior walls, Timm aluminum casement windows, Armstrong linoleum, back-yard incinerators and Telejack-TV outlets are more of the features.

Visitors drive out Garden Grove Blvd. to Highway 39, turn north to Chapman and east on

Chapman to Ninth St. From Los Angeles, take Santa Ana Freeway to Highway 39, turn south on Highway 39 to Chapman and east to the models.

'HALL OF FAME' HOME

Above is one of the homes adjudged so extraordinarily "California-authentic," it was selected for permanent display in the 1956 National "Hall of Fame" exhibit in Washington, D. C. It is a fine example of Larwin Co.'s "Town and Country Square" residences, cornered at Crescent and Miller in Buena Park.

Larwin Homes Are Built for Indoor-Outdoor Life

One of the most authentic examples of real California indoor-outdoor suburban living, is Larwin Co.'s Town and Country Square, cornered at Crescent and Miller in Buena Park.

These contemporary open-plan homes offer 3 unusually family-flexible floor plans, and about everything in the way of adaptability and convertibility in room arrangement.

One plan has 3 bedrooms and a den that can be converted into a full dining room, or its privacy all with an easy-to-operate modern folding door!

In another plan there are 3 generous-size bedrooms and a "Jack and Jill" room, with a sliding door that can convert these rooms into a huge playroom, bedroom-playroom combination, or two entirely separate rooms.

With its adjacent bath, it makes a self-contained apartment.

Another plan is just as tailor-

Ample Room in Huntington Crest Homes

The builders of Huntington Crest Homes in Huntington Beach have discovered that what the average home buyer wants most in a house is space, and lots of it.

Frank McFarland, sales agent, says that many people would rather waive a lot of built-ins and gadgets in favor of more room, both inside and out. This, according to McFarland, is a big factor in the success of the spacious 4-bedroom, 2-bath Huntington Crest Homes, which feature 1,300 square feet of living area on extra large lots.

With 16 different exteriors to choose from, Huntington Crest offers a low move-in price to stered pieces, and matchstick non-veterans of only $385, with draperies unite, in complete harmony, with period maple and pine.

The Freedom gas kitchen with built-in oven and range are in delightful colors.

The complete laundry center has built-in combination GE washer-dryer, hamper, sorting shelf and large linen closet.

Former GI's can still buy these 1956 "Hall of Fame" homes for 1956 and imprints. Prices are from $14,315.

You can see them from the Long Beach area by driving east on Carson St. (which becomes Highway 39 (Huntington Beach Lincoln Ave.), and then turning north on Miller St.

Brookhurst Plaza Asking No Down From Veterans

Veterans may still purchase in Brookhurst Plaza for no down payment, only costs and imprints, according to Reno H. Sirrine, sales agent for the Anaheim development. Furthermore, Sirrine noted, non-veterans may buy by paying only $1,400 down. Monthly payments are as low as $78.00 which includes principal, interest, taxes, and insurance. Both the VA and FHA loans are of 30 years duration.

Brookhurst Plaza is a development of the R. W. Construction Co., one of the better known southland building firms. In Brookhurst Plaza are offered 3 and 4 bedrooms, 2-bath homes in a wide variety of floor plans and exteriors.

Among the many features are efficiently designed and appointed kitchens which include built-in Western Holly ovens and ranges, easy to care for natural birch cabinet, electric exhaust fans, GE garbage disposals, con-sinks and breakfast areas.

THE LARGE master bedrooms have big double sliding ward-robres and hardwood floors with 2-inch tongue and groove sub-flooring. Insulated ceilings and weatherstripping are used hold policies.

With Title Firm for 35 Years

Frank A. Larsen of 2405 Earl Ave., Long Beach, this month is celebrating his 35th anniversary with Title Insurance and Trust Co., Los Angeles, President Ernest J. Loebbecke announced. Larsen joined the title firm on May 31, 1921 and has served his company as searcher, title officer and senior title officer. Currently he is an advisory title officer specializing in oil leasehold policies.

Homes Soon Ready for Buyers

IN KATELLA PARK

Katella Park homes in Garden Grove are finding wide favor with buyers who have children. The homes in the current series are being rushed to completion for many of the new buyers are planning to move in the end of June, as soon as school is out.

Most of the new buyers in Katella Park in Garden Grove are planning to move in as soon as school is out, builders and developers H. Cedric Roberts & Sons said in pointing out that now is the time to buy a new home so a family can make the move as soon as the school bells ring for the last time this year.

The 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes have attracted buyers' attention particularly as good family homes, the builders continued, which is why sales have been building up these past few months.

While there are a few homes ready for immediate occupancy, the remainder of the current series will be completed shortly for the end of June moving days to Katella Park.

FAVORED FEATURES of Katella Park are the 6 built-in, color-matched range, oven, refrigerator, dishwasher, washer-dryer and waste disposer, all included in the sales price of $16,450.

The separate laundry room, the sliding wall between bedrooms, the all brick fireplace and the carefully planned storage space also have been popular features.

The landscaping is completed in the front yards, so that the streets have an attractive look as soon as people move in. Orange trees are on most of the custom-styled lots, and the eucalyptus trees bordering the tract also were saved.

Two furnished models are located on Brookhurst St., at the corner of Katella Ave., in Garden Grove, just 20 minutes from Long Beach.

OPENING TODAY

Shake roofs sweep low and wide on the new Enchanted Park homes having their grand opening today in Buena Park. Illustrated is one of the three-bedroom, two-bath and powder room models located at Knott and Crescent Aves. Enchanted Park homes are available to veterans at $15,300 to $15,500 on low VA terms.

Enchanted Park Grand Opening Set for Today in Buena Park

"Enchanted Park," new God-bey homes development in Buena Park, will have its grand opening this weekend, the builders announced.

Big brother to the original widely-acclaimed "Enchanted Homes" creation, the new development is reportedly even more highly individualized with a wide variety of unusual exteriors and increased use of custom-building techniques indoors.

The new "Enchanted Park" homes are presently available to veterans at $15,300 to $15,500 on low VA terms, according to Pioneer Land Co., sales agents.

The striking exteriors of the new homes are highlighted by heavy shake roofs, wide overhanging eaves, great sweeping used brick fireplace exteriors and sparkling diamond-lite windows.

INSIDE, the new homes have dropped ceilings to emphasize the intimate atmosphere. Fine wallpaper and handrubbed wood panels blend with delicate turned wood posts, occasional window seats, and wide-spreading used brick hearth.

Special facilities include the completely separate powder room with its own shower, makeup table and wall-to-wall mirror. There are also 2 full baths and 3 spacious bedrooms, many with right to models.

THIS VETERAN IS SORRY!

He qualified for a $14,025 house, so he bought it. Now he realizes an Award Home at $12,025 would have given him just as much. He had to move into his new home with his dingy old furniture. That $2,000 meant "No furniture!" His monthly payments are so high that his budget is straining at the seams. No fun for his family!

THIS VETERAN IS HAPPY!

He could have qualified for a $14,025 home, but he chose an Award Home for only $12,025. Now he finds that the size, construction, and luxury are at least equal to costlier houses. With the $2,000 he saved, he bought new furniture. His monthly payments are less than rent for his new Award Home—only $61.93. Plenty of money left over to enjoy life!

Color and convenience are key-ship plan to be owned and controlled by its residents, the Royal Palms will contain 164 de luxe 1 and 2-bedroom apartments in a 12-story tower to be built at First and Atlantic, one block from the ocean. Main floor facilities will feature a heated swimming pool, patio sun deck and spacious social lounge.

Numerous teachers and other professional men and women are included among those who have already reserved apartments, according to Moore. For those who are away from the city for long vacations, the Royal Palms management will offer a sub-letting service whereby apartments can be rented to selected visitors to produce a substantial income for the owners.

Royal Palms apartments can be purchased on an FHA payment plan, or for all cash. Sponsors of the Royal Palms are Dr. H. L. Buffum and family; P. I. Wilsey and affiliated companies are the general contractors.

Merryville Estates Provide Buyers Wide Choice of Homes

Last week's new Merryville Estates preview showing in Buena Park presented a "buyers' paradise" because of their vast selections. Prospective buyers saw 8 furnished models . . . 19 different exteriors. Even the most discriminating of "lookers" found a home exceeding their expectations, salesmen say. These new 3 and 4-bedroom homes with 2 baths are as practical as they are beautiful, the builder says.

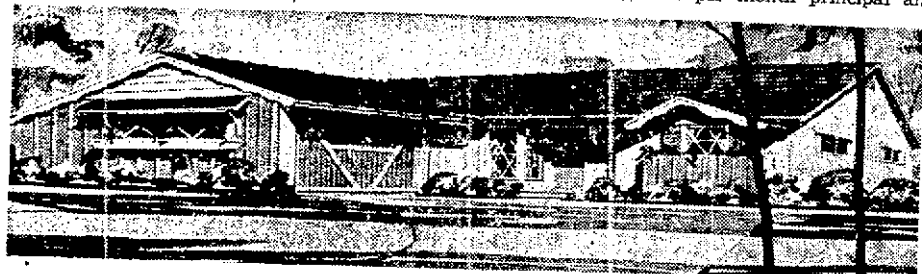

J. Paul Langford, advertising director of Merryville Estates, points out: "These new homes in Buena Park are the latest concept in home planning. They present royalty in design, construction and planning. They are priced with the average home owner in mind."

Terms for vets are no money down and low monthly payments/priced from $15,195 to $16,600. of $77.61 principal and interest. Non-vet terms are $2,500 down. Merryville Estates homes are $94.22 per month principal and interest. Offering great value to buyers, the homes are in the Southland's fastest growing area. Their oversized lots consist of better than 7,200 square feet of livable outdoors.

A FEW of the many features of Merryville Estates homes are high-pitched shake roof design, genuine lath and plaster, clear oak floors, excellent storage facilities offering "a place for everything."

Herbert Tobin of the Tobin Companies has stated "prior to the building of Merryville Estates, surveys were made to determine the features most wanted by home owners in Southern California. We have complied with these wishes in the 3 basic steps of home building, planning, construction, design."

From Los Angeles take the Santa Ana Freeway to Grand (Highway 39), right to Lincoln—right to models. From the Long Beach area it is suggested you follow Lincoln or Carson east to Buena Park . . . then look for the signs of the Beautiful Queen—she points the way to Merryville.

'Prince Charming' Series of Homes Is Previewing

Dan and Edgar Cohn, principals of D. & E. Corp., builder-developers of the "Prince Charming" series of Fairview Ranches homes, on Fairview Ave. and Bristol St., in Santa Ana, have announced the preview reception of their first community of "fairytale homes" that will feature, as a highlight of today's pre-opening inspection, America's first official showing of the completely built-in gas kitchen by Waste King.

"Straight from the pages of 'Sleeping Beauty,' 'Snow White' and all the happiest books of childhood, these homes, with their quaint shutters, wide sheltering overhangs, sweeping shake roofs and graceful brick trim, promise a lifetime of living 'happily ever after,'" explained Frank Chandler of Key Land Co., sales agents, when commenting on the open invitation issued Helipot employees to visit these three bedroom and two-and-a-half-bath, two-car garage Rustic Provincial residences during their pre-opening inspection today.

HOWEVER, despite the rustic charm of models in this series, all homemaking facilities are strictly modern as tomorrow's Chandler emphasized.

"An example," he said, "is the completely built-in color-coordinated gas kitchen by Waste King, that is really a super-luxury feature. It includes gas range, with automatic pilot, gas wall oven with window and automatic timer, built-in dishwasher with new rinsing-drying action, and sink-installed disposal."

For all their old world attractions and quaintness and modern functionalism and efficiency, these "Prince Charming" homes are no stage set of canvas and paint.

Although floor plans vary widely, and are unusually family-flexible, each has solid oak floors laid over diagonal sub-flooring raised 18 inches above the ground. Walls and ceilings are genuine lath and plaster, and great ornamental log-burning fireplaces help create an atmosphere of cozy family intimacy.

TO COMMEMORATE the opening of this "proudest achievement" series of D. & E. luxury residences, building officials will present each buyer a miniature jewel box containing two gold "Mr. and Mrs." keys that unlock the front door of the home of their choice.

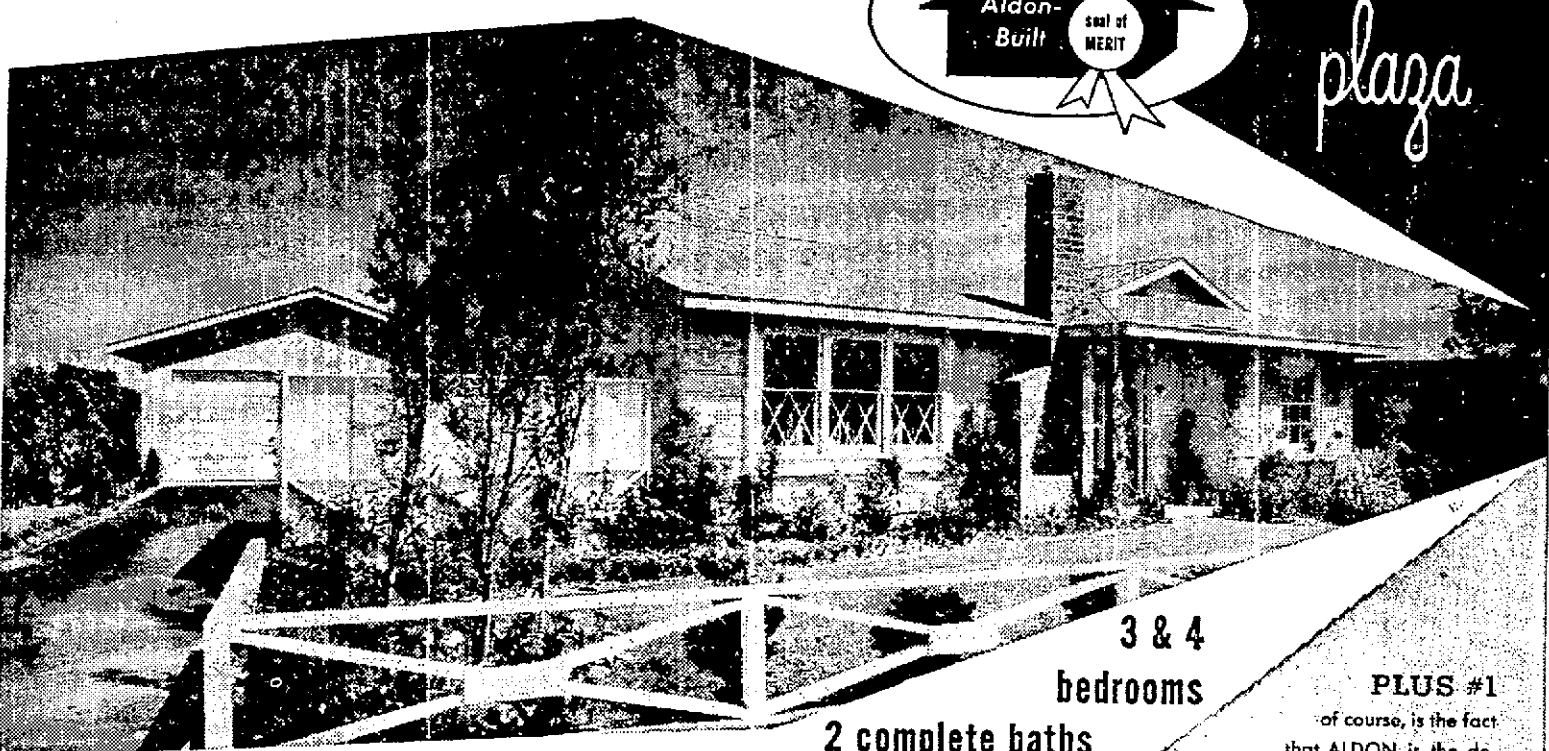

In addition to a host of quality luxury features, "Prince Charming" homes offer a multitude of down-to-earth items that virtually guarantee highest resale potential for the foreseeable future, Chandler pointed out.

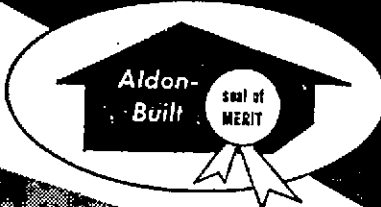

'PRINCE CHARMING' SERIES

This weekend the curtain rises for the first time on these Rustic Provincial "fairytale homes" at Fairview Ave. and Bristol St. in suburban Santa Ana. Proudest achievement of D. & E. Corp., builder-developers, Dan and Edgar Cohn, company principals, are giving buyers two gold "Mr. and Mrs." keys in a miniature jewel box to commemorate today's preview reception.

Top Nutrilite Agents Here

Co-founders Lee S. Mytinger and Dr. William S. Casselberry of Mytinger & Casselberry, Inc. 1700 Santa Fe Ave., were hosts last week to 85 of their top sales agents from 19 states across the nation.

The corporation, with more than 50,000 distributors, is international distributors of Nutrilite Food Supplement. The visiting agents, who spent the day touring Mytinger & Casselberry headquarters and other facilities in Long Beach, were dinner guests in the evening at the homes of Mytinger and Dr. Casselberry.

They spent two days in Southern California, also touring the Nutrilite plant and laboratory in Buena Park and the Nutrilite farms at Hemet.

The top sales leaders then went to the Awhahnee Hotel in Yosemite National Park for a 3-day sales conference.

Air of Hominess Prevails in Lincoln Park's Houses

All the modern features of expert planning and latest conveniences have been masterfully combined with a gracious air of hominess in the homes now offered by Centex Construction Co., the nation's largest residential builder, in their latest development located in the city limits of Anaheim.

Typically expressive of the quality of workmanship and value available in Lincoln Park is the Grant, one of 5 furnished models now open daily from 10 till 9.

The ceiling is dropped over the natural ash cabinets and built-in china closet, eliminating the dust catcher space over cabinets. Antique copper hardware adds an additional note of warmth to the natural wood finish, and lends a cozy early-American air. Just off the kitchen is a huge, separate utility room, 12 feet by 7, and providing plenty of space for washer, dryer, built-in laundry tray, and broom closet; outlets are installed for all appliances.

SLIDING GLASS walls in the rear living room open onto a large patio and back yard completely enclosed by a diamond-topped redwood fence, which are included in the purchase price, as are the complete front, side, and rear lawns, trees, and shrubs.

Inside the 21-foot living room, outstanding appointments include the floor-to-ceiling fireplace of used brick, and the wall of built-in cabinets and bookcases, all done in natural ash.

On the other side of the house, which can be completely separated from the kitchen-dining-living area, are the bedrooms, den, and two baths. The large master bedroom suite boasts its own bath with glass-enclosed stall shower, colored bath fixtures, and double medicine cabinet with mirrored sliding doors. Spacious closets with sliding doors of ash provide a luxury note in all the bedrooms.

In the other bath, a tiled wall provides a shower space over the tub, and a wall of tiled pullman cabinets houses the colored basin, topped by twin medicine chests flanking a large center mirror.

OAK HARDWOOD floors over 2x6 tongue and grooved subflooring add both beauty and well-built quality to the rest of the house. Lath and plaster walls throughout, plus ceiling insulation, provide truer heat control and sound-proofing. The forced-air furnace is thermostatically controlled, and has a summer switch for cooling.

Other models, ranging in price to $16,250, and in area to 1437 square feet, are also available for occupancy from now through August. To see these homes offered on both veteran and non-veteran terms take Carson, which becomes Lincoln, to the corner of Lincoln and Brook-

ON BUDGET TERMS

Terms to fit family budgets for both vets and non-vets are reported boosting sales at Homestead Gardens, residential community of three-bedroom, two-bath homes, typified above, which are rising in Garden Grove on Verano St., just north of Westminster Ave.

Homestead Gardens Terms Are Favored

Vets' terms of no cash down but costs and imposts and non-vets' terms under FHA, with less than 10 per cent needed for the down payment, are expected to bring an early sellout of remaining 3- and 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes at Homestead Gardens, on Verano St., just north of Westminster Ave., in Garden Grove.

This forecast was given yesterday by Walker & Lee, Inc., sales agents for the community, whose model homes display has furnishings by Aaron Schultz of Long Beach and Anaheim. Large crowds were reported at the exhibit, which is open daily from 10 a. m. Immediate occupancy after escrow is available.

"Buyers are enthusiastic," a spokesman said, "about the large 7,200-square-foot lots, thermostat-controlled heating, big wardrobe closets, steel casement windows, fibre glass insulation, the acoustic ceilings, lath and plaster walls, stall showers with large

Vets Urged to Act on No-Down Terms

G.I.'s are advised to be wise and buy their home at once, according to Sales Agent Don Coleman.

Coleman emphasized that G.I. loans must be completed by expiration date July 25, 1957.

"The lengthy processing time required for VA loans makes December the latest practical date for application, unless the law is extended," says Coleman.

"At Excelsior Village you can still make it on the no cash down offer to veterans.

Go straight out Garden Grove Blvd. from Long Beach where you will find yourself at the centrally located pool-size lots and attractive 4-bedroom homes. Excelsior Village is across the street from the grammar school, homes glass doors and big garages with abundant storage space.

"IN ADDITION, features high on the favored list with visitors include Waste-King garbage pulverizers, wide driveways, weather-stripped doors, 40 and 50-gallon automatic gas water heaters, modern exteriors with redwood accents, rock roofs in many colors, gutters and downspouts, wide overhangs, and in some models, Modernfold doors."

Spokesmen declared also that buyers have expressed widespread approval of the convenient Garden Grove location, just off the Santa Ana freeway from downtown Los Angeles, yet possessing a wealth of suburban advantages and proximity to the beaches and other recreational spots.

"Investment-wise, these Homestead Gardens homes are outstanding," an official said, "because they are rising in the midst of the greatest growth in the Southland."

Non-Vets Need No Down on Big Home in Fullerton

Pardee-Phillips Construction Co. reports excellent success of their new non-down-payment plan for non-vets, which brings their luxury Fullerton Groves homes in the $19,000 category within reach of many non-veterans.

The plan makes it possible for the non-vets who can meet credit qualifications, and who are earning $6,500 per year, or more, to take immediate possession of a 3 or 4-bedroom luxury home ranging in price from $19,200 to $19,700, with no down payment except for normal closing costs and impounds.

Non-veterans availing themselves of the plan will make monthly payments as low as $126 including principal and interest, which can be reduced to $81.00 per month on FHA terms as soon as ownership in their homes amounts to $4,500.

ANOTHER BUYING PLAN simplifying sales is the company's unique home trade-in plan, which enables a new-home buyer to trade-in his present home in the same way he trades in his car.

Elaborating on his company's home trade-in plan, Douglas Pardee, general sales manager for Pardee-Phillips, said, "present homes of buyers are taken in trade by Pardee-Phillips at present market value, and the buyer can move into a new 'Forever House' in Fullerton Groves regardless of when his home is sold. He is thus relieved of all responsibility of disposing of his present home."

One of the features of the famous "Forever House" is the "Dream Kitchen of Tomorrow," with 14 built-ins, including counter-top range and oven, Servel refrigerator, and the "food preparation center," a motor-powered unit built flush into the counter to replace the space-consuming electric mixer.

OTHER FEATURES include electronic weather control, floor-to-ceiling fireplace and glass walls, forced-air heating, color-

Walnut Manor Is Providing New Financing Arrangement

Builders of Walnut Manor off the Santa Ana Freeway and Homes in Anaheim announced just 4 blocks from the proposed Disneyland golf course. To reach Walnut Manor, drive out the Santa Ana Freeway to Walnut St. in Anaheim, then south one block to furnished models.

Fund Raising MOREHEAD, Ky. (AP)—The menfolk weren't content with just growing beards for the centennial celebration—they banned cosmetics and jewelry for women without permits. Cameo pins are on sale as permits, the proceeds going for centennial expenses. Violators will be taken before Ye Awful Judges of Ye Kangaroo Court by Ye Female Keystone Kops.

These 3 and 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes could never be duplicated at the low price of $13,000 to $14,500, as costs have risen more than 10 per cent since the VA's appraisal one year ago, say the builders.

EASILY REACHED by driving east on 7th St. to Studebaker Rd. and then north to Anaheim Rd., the homes are being offered for the first time to veterans on low down terms and low monthly payments. In all, 103 of the former rental homes are being placed on the market.

Prospective home owners may select from a variety of exterior elevations and interior floor plans. In addition, buyers have the opportunity to choose from a varied number of lot locations.

The different plans may be seen at the model home which is located on the corner of Anaheim and Studebaker Rd. It is open daily between 10 a.m. and 8 p.m.

As part of the developed community of Los Altos, the 18th Unit homes are within the city of Long Beach and enjoy the many benefits of municipal service. The development has paved streets, concrete sidewalks, street lights, sewers and other improvements.

Among the "plus features" of the dwellings are step-saver kitchen with In-Sink-Erator disposal, central hall plans, ceramic tile showers and extra wide roof overhang.

The residences are landscaped with front and rear yards planted and most of the spacious lots are fenced.

New Liberal Terms in Havenwood Home

Havenwood Homes announced 500 with only 8 models in the that 35 new homes just completed will be made available this weekend to non veterans and vets who have used their G.I. rights. With such liberal terms as $495 down to move in and monthly payments of $87.50 with principle and interest included, it is expected that the tract will be a sellout within a few days, according to Art Wall, general manager of Walco Homes Inc., the developer. Wall also stated that buyers will be permitted to move in within 5 days in most cases.

Constructed along conventional lines with hardwood floors over raised and vented concrete foundation and the use of 18 different plans, the builder has managed to eliminate the "tract-look". Styles range from modern to provincials. Bob Hauge, sales manager, states that "prices are located on Trask Ave. just start at $12,250 and end at $12, east of Verano."

ONLY FIVE PONTY-ANAHEIM HOMES REMAIN TO BE SOLD

Special terms to vets at Ponty-Anaheim, new community of 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes in Anaheim, which permit buyers to move in immediately for only $29, has resulted in a virtual sell-out, it was reported yesterday by builder George Ponty.

"We have only 5 homes left at Ponty-Anaheim, but our special offer still stands," Ponty said.

The new homes, which are located on Ball Rd., between Agate and Nutwood Aves., are also available to non-vets on special terms "while they last," Ponty stated.

Designed by AIA Architect Gilbert L. Leong, the big 4-bedroom homes contain 1,304 square feet of living space and have such added features as custom-designed brick fireplaces, built-in Western Holly gas ranges and ovens with hoods and fans, Whirlpool automatic clothes dryers, superamic tile worktops, natural ash cabinets, 75,000 BTU thermostat-controlled forced-air heating, wall-of-glass picture windows, double French doors, paved patios, fenced backyards and complete landscaping.

Low Terms Offered on Remaining Homes

Both veterans and non-vets may still purchase a striking Enchanted Home in Garden Grove, Pioneer Land Company, sales agents, said.

The remaining homes in unit 2, consisting of a few in each model and elevation, are available from $15,200 to $15,400 with low down payments on both VA and FHA terms, the agents added.

Built in a unique "south-of-France" style, the Enchanted Homes have warmly individual exteriors. Outstanding are the heavy shake roofs, wood paneling and brick planters which blend the artfully-designed homes with the California countryside. Exceptionally cool in summer, they have wide sun-sheltering eaves

INSIDE EACH Enchanted

Homes are such welcome features as 3 unusually large bedrooms, 2 big bathrooms, and a completely separate powder room with its own shower, wide, wide mirror and charming make-up table.

In the Enchanted Kitchen are fine built-in range and oven, lifetime formica-topped work surfaces, efficient garbage disposer and many natural birch cabinets. Antique brick forms a high and wide fireplace with commodious hearth; and an attractive, and work and play center for the entire household at all hours.

Vets Need No Down on Big Award Home

Excellent selection of large, wide lots, preferred location, home exteriors and floor plans is still available at Award Homes, Golden West St. and Garden Grove Blvd., it was announced by the builders, a Volk-McLain Co.

"Our terms of no down payment to veterans, in the face of generally tight home credit, have created a buying rush, with Award Homes sales exceeding $5 million dollars," stated Kenneth Q. Volk and Robert McLain. "Veterans can still easily find the Award Home that best suits their family's needs. Prompt action is advised, however, as we expect to sell out shortly, and these are the last of the final unit of Award Homes available to veterans with no down payment."

These Award Homes de luxe series, for veterans are sold on GI financing terms of no-down payment and monthly payments of sixty-one dollars and ninety-three cents. Full price of $12,025 is set for the new 3-bedroom and den Award Homes. All have 2 baths and 2-car garages.

SEVEN FURNISHED MODEL homes are open daily till 9 p. m. Patios, exteriors, and back yards of model homes are flood-lighted for after-dark viewing.

Veterans from Long Beach should take 7th St., which becomes Garden Grove Blvd., east to Golden West St., then south to Award Homes. This is half-way between Long Beach and Santa Ana, is located near beaches, parks, schools, and churches, and is convenient to super-markets and shopping centers in adjoining Garden Grove. Buses go to downtown Los Angeles and nearby Lakewood Village. It is on the route of the proposed Santa Ana-Long Beach Freeway.

Architect Edward H. Fickett has created fourteen new exterior designs in a variety of California ranch-modern designs. He has also done the site planning, placing Award Homes to produce interesting streets. Seven different floor plans are offered. Fickett and Volk-McLain are joint winners of the National Award of Merit of the National Association of Home Builders for "outstanding residential planning and design."

A built-in combination radio and inter-communication system is a feature of Award Homes. From a master panel in the kitchen, the homemaker can carry on a 2-way conversation with people in four different areas, indoors and outdoors.

Award Homes are set on extra-large, wide lots, with a minimum size of 7,200 square feet. Colorful Bermuda roofs have wide eaves and overhang, and are topped with white, red, green, or pink crushed rock. Curved drives provide generous off-street parking. Garages feature rustic redwood overhead doors and storage space.

State Error

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UP)—When Hilda Bjork of Sweden arrived by plane from New York she spent $5 in cab fare trying to locate her brother, John. She couldn't understand what the trouble was until she consulted airline officials, who learned John lived in South Bend, Wash.

4-Bedrooms Only $10,750

Warning veterans that the time is running out for them to use their GI home purchase rights, Marriion Thomas, sales manager for Hazelwood Freedom Homes Saturday stressed the low price on a large home offered in the tract.

Located just east of the Long Beach city limits on 7th St., the homes have 4 bedrooms and 2 baths and the full price is $10,750.

Veterans who have a gross income of $310 a month may move into a Hazelwood Home without down payment, Miss Thomas added. Monthly payments are $54.94, principal and interest.

The master bedroom is really a master in the homes, each 15½ by 12 feet. Of lath and plaster construction, the homes have Rockwool insulation.

Located near schools and shopping centers, the homes may be reached by driving out 7th St. 3 miles beyond the San Gabriel River. Model homes have been furnished by Aaron Schultz.

Doe Kidnaps Calf, Drives Dog Away

MONEY CREEK, Minn. (UP)—Kermit Hanson, searching his pasture for a newborn calf which had failed to come to the farmyard with its mother, found the calf had been kidnapped—or adopted—by a doe.

The deer refused to leave the calf, and drove off Hanson's dog. The farmer chased the deer by his coat from the bumper away and took the calf to the barn for safe keeping.

BUFFUMS' ADDITION GROWS

IN CANDY STICK

Candy Stick Lane Estates, development of three-bedroom, two-bath homes, typified above, is rising in an attractive location at 11791 Medina Dr., Garden Grove, just off the fast Santa Ana Freeway.

Non-Vets Buying on $195 Down

Introduction of the "lowest non-vet terms in Garden Grove" has greatly stimulated sales at Candy Stick Lane Estates, new home community at 11791 Medina Dr., it was reported yesterday by the builders.

"Non-vets can now move into a 3-bedroom, 2-bath home at Candy Stick Lane Estates for only $195 down," a spokesman explained, "while vets are still offered terms of nothing down, except costs and impounds with low monthly payments."

Located in the center of a built-up luxury area where many homes are valued at $30,000 and more, he pointed out, the Candy Stick residences are being sold for only $12,875 and have such features as planter-view fireplaces, hardwood floors, 68-foot lots, covered patios, huge sliding glass doors, formica-topped kitchen work areas, separate service porches, copperized range hoods with fans, garbage disposers, steel wardrobe doors, large lighted closets and spacious breakfast nooks.

ALSO STIMULATING sales, it was reported, is ease of qualification for both vets and non-vets and the offer of immediate occupancy on some homes.

"In figuring non-vets eligibility for home ownership, at Candy Stick Lane, we are also taking into consideration the incomes earned by wives," it was explained.

VETS NOTHING DOWN

IN CENTURY PARK

Grand opening of Century Park at Lampson and Magnolia, Garden Grove, was highlighted by the exhibit of three and four-bedroom, two-bath models featuring lath and plaster, hardwood strip floors, traditional stylings and a host of ultra-modern conveniences. Both VA and FHA terms are available. This is one of the models shown at the opening last weekend.

Century Park Opens Home Sales Today

Enthusiastic interest already has been shown in the model homes at Century Park, prior to today's grand opening, and a quick sell-out of Aristocrat Homes' development of 3 and 4 bedroom, two bath homes at Lampson and Magnolia, in Garden Grove is expected.

Aristocrat Homes offer spacious, luxury-loaded houses to vets on terms of nothing down but costs and impounds. Non-vets, it was noted, may buy on FHA 30-year loans.

Compelling attraction with homebuyers who have made advance reservations at Century Park is the fact that these homes are of traditional design, and conventional construction. Hardwood strip floors and genuine lath and plaster are used throughout. Exterior trims include Dutch and Colonial shutters, pot shelves, sliding details, architectural glass panels to lend charm to outside appearance and extra illumination to front entry halls.

The Aristocrat Homes spokesman explained:

"Since we consider a home the most important investment the average man will make in his entire lifetime, we have avoided the ultra-modern exterior designs so widely associated with contemporary styling and construction. Nothing could be more completely modern, however, than the easy housekeeping floor plans and luxury appointments which characterize these homes."

KEY FEATURES include Roper-built-in gas ranges and ovens with ventilating hoods in airy, light-hearted kitchens equipped with double sinks. Waste King garbage pulverizers, natural-finish mahogany cabinets. There's a custom-designed fireplace in every home, as well as sliding walls of glass integrating indoor-outdoor living.

Priced at $13,250 to $13,625, Century Park homes were described by the builders as "real family homes of dignity, utmost charm and complete livability."

From Long Beach drive out 7th St. (which becomes Garden Grove Blvd.), continue to Magnolia, turn north to Lampson Ave., then west one-half block to Century Park sales office and models.

Continue Special Offer for Orangewood Estates

Special preview showing during the past week, with vets' terms of nothing down but costs and impounds, will be continued for another 7 days at W. E. Robertson Co.'s Orangewood Estates in Fullerton, where the new second unit with built-in brick barbecue in kitchens or patios has attracted thousands of visitors.

Some of the new models have this feature in their kitchens, side by side to modern features as built-in gas ranges and ovens, deep double-deck sink with dish sprays and covered one-piece textile counter tops. Others have the built-in barbecues outside the living rooms in the paved and flood-lighted patio areas.

The new homes, all designed by architect Max Maltzman, are currently displayed at Orangewood Estates' Fireside Series in Fullerton. Boosting sales are attractive terms for both vets and non-vets. Non-vets pay only $995 down on conventional terms. FHA terms are available, also.

AMONG THE MANY features shown in a display of eight model homes at the new community are the combination breakfast buffet-bars between dining-living areas and kitchens in many of the models. On two levels, they are useful for formal dining service or breakfast and snack purposes.

The model home display is on

Aldon Has Virtual City in Buena Plaza

Opportunity of viewing 9 model homes in one location, including both 3 and 4-bedroom stylings, all with 3 baths, has greatly increased crowds at Aldon's Buena Plaza in Buena Park, it was reported yesterday by company officials.

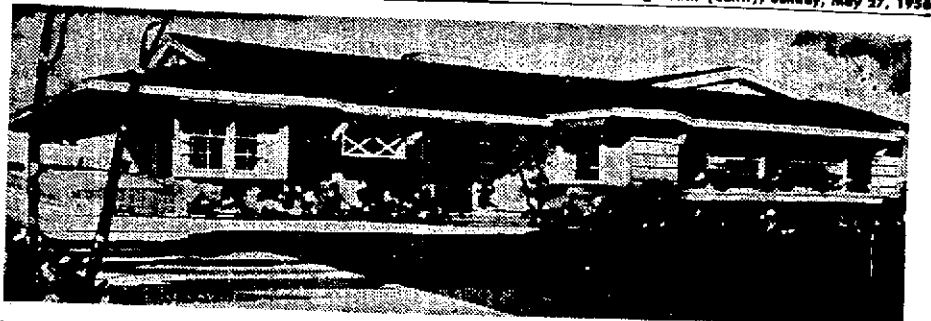

Total sales are now nearing the 2,000-home mark and families are moving in daily as the focus of attention is concentrated on Buena Plaza's final unit and completion of the $50 million, 2,100-home community, a spokesman reported.

"We are now in the final stage of building a city at Buena Plaza and home seekers are being given their final chance to choose from Aldon's wide selection of individualized home stylings Buena Plaza," he said.

THE MODELS, with furnishings by Aaron Schultz, are located just off the Santa Ana Freeway on La Palma Ave., just east of Miller St. and constitute a mammoth showcase of the many diversified home stylings now offered at Buena Plaza. While the emphasis is now on the traditional modern architectural designs to suit all tastes.

Also planned to accommodate all buyers are attractive terms which permit vets still to own an Aldon home for nothing down, except costs and impounds, and monthly payments from $66.67, principal and in-

ALDON'S 1956 SERIES

Interest. Non-vets may move into the home of their choice for only $990, plus costs and impounds.

Three factors are responsible for continued heavy sales at Buena Plaza, according to E. "Billy" Hamburg, general sales agent.

"First, today's buyers want the built-in integrity they associate with the Aldon name," he said. "Next, they want the indoor-outdoor living, the freedom of movement, the countless luxury conveniences and the easy homemaking floor plans built into the homes at Buena Plaza."

"Finally, they want such Aldon features as the built-in Western Holly gas ranges and ovens in attractive colors, the range hoods, the custom-designed floor-to-ceiling fireplaces." All of the homes at Buena Plaza, it was noted, have big two-car garages, large service areas.

Families who tired of bucking crowded streets, contending with smog and whose families outgrew their homes, have finally found the answer—in Katella Park! They've found, that Katella Park homes are designed for a lifetime of living, in a well planned community of fine homes...on custom sized lots and gracefully curving, tree-lined streets...quiet and secluded...yet conveniently close to schools and shopping.

Homes where kitchens are a delight—spacious and bright, with built-in color-matched appliances...with hoods over a built-in range...with the refrigerator, oven and dishwasher out of the way and saving floor space for such popular "extras" as a breakfast bar.

Indeed the entire surrounding vicinity, with its wide streets, through highways and adjacent freeways, is the most well planned section of greater Los Angeles—confirmed by Disney's million dollar survey to determine the most easily accessible locality to and from all areas.

Bring the family to Katella Park this weekend. If you are not too familiar with construction, bring a friend who is. Folks who know good construction and design are our biggest boosters!

Yachting, Music Give Diversity to Social Scene

BARELY does the Benjamin L. Rolfe family cluster about the grand piano in their Long Beach home. Use of the instrument is left mostly to Mrs. Rolfe, known professionally as Yaltah Menuhin. The

Rolfes moved from West Los Angeles to Long Beach in January. Their sons are Robbie, 8, and Lionel, 13.—(Staff photo by John Neagie.)

Career, Home Happily Join Hands in Life of Yaltah Menuhin Rolfe

By JEAN B. MOORE

This afternoon a slender woman with frank eyes and a quick smile will seat herself at the grand piano in Municipal Art Center. Her diminutive height belies the power in her fingers. Her animated face may grow thoughtful as the Menuhin Ensemble closes the current concert season at the Center.

The gifted pianist is Yaltah Menuhin, known on three continents as a concert artist and chamber music player. She now adds new resident in Long Beach to her list of titles.

Distinguished musicians assembling with her at 4 o'clock for the program will be Dorothy Wade, violin; William Van Den Burg, cello, and Richard Pickar, clarinet. They will introduce several works new to Long Beach, including Sonata by Castelnovo-Tedesco, given its world premier recently by Mr. Pickar; Bartok's Contrasts for violin, clarinet and piano, and a Ravel Trio for violin, cello and piano. There is no admission charge to the concert.

In private life the vivacious sister of famed violinist Yehudi Menuhin is Mrs. Benjamin L. Rolfe and a devoted mother to two sons, Lionel, 13, and Robbie, 8.

A commuting problem brought the Rolfes to Long Beach from West Los Angeles.

As a referee or judicial officer with the Industrial Accident Commission of California, Benjamin Rolfe had offices in the Jergins Trust Bldg. A year of back-and-forth convinced him a lot of time was being wasted fighting traffic, time that could be more profitably and pleasantly spent learning to play the lute, oil painting or writing verses.

So in January the Rolfes moved into a pleasant Spanish home at 4441 E. Broadway. Impressively framed in the immense front picture window is Yaltah's piano which willingly yields to her touch every morning. Every morning but Tuesday, that is. "That's the day I go to Santa Ana to watch my husband perform," she says. "A musician's life is really a lonely one," she explains further. "It's fascinating to see the outside world. That is why I enjoy listening to the hearings."

Constant companion to the artist since she was three has been the piano. From San Francisco her parents took her, her brother and sister to Europe.

Between music lessons in France, Italy and Switzerland the three youngsters were privately tutored by their parents and instructors.

Yaltah has limited her concertizing now to California. Three months in Europe, without her family and with mumps in Scandinavia, convinced her on her last tour in 1952 that home and hearth scored first place in her heart.

Already the entrenching has begun. Although not interested in becoming a "joiner," she became an associate member last week of the Long Beach State College chapter of Phi Beta, national professional fraternity of music and speech.

The Rolfes cherish home life. Hours once spent commuting give slow talking Ben added time with his sons. Lionel is in the eighth grade at Rogers Junior High School, while Robbie is a third-grader at Lowell and a piano student.

Some time ago Benjamin decided to try playing the lute. It looked easy. He found out it wasn't, but has kept plugging away, teaching himself to play 15th to 17th Century music. In their home hang oils of Yaltah and the boys, painted by Ben, as well as excellently composed photographs of musical still life. His color photography has won him ribbons in lawyer's avocation contests.

Yaltah is first to praise his prowess in the kitchen. "He cooks divinely," she enthuses. "Why, do you know what happened last Christmas? His mother, who is a simply supreme cook herself, actually asked him for his recipe for turkey stuffing!"

LONG BEACH 12, CALIF., SUNDAY, MAY 27, 1956 SECTION W

Regatta Will Open Yacht Club Season

Opening its official racing season, Alamitos Bay Yacht Club's annual Memorial Day Regatta will be divided into two parts this year with two races on Memorial Day, Wednesday, May 30; two on Saturday, June 2, and one on Sunday, June 3, with time out for a gala buffet dinner Saturday evening.

Commodore Gordon M. Dougherty and Mrs. Dougherty and Vice Commodore Sidney T. Exley Jr. and Mrs. Exley will be on deck prior to the dinner to greet members and their guests.

Reservations and dinner arrangements will be handled by Harry G. Wood, entertainment chairman, while Mrs. Wood, decoration chairman, and Mrs. Grace Hurt will use red and blue candles and streamers on tables covered in white for a patriotic decor. Assisting in serving the dinner will be Mrs. James P. Nieuwkirk and Sherman Pruitt.

Mrs. Lyman H. Alguire and Mrs. Lewis F. Seapy, co-chairmen, will have a score of distaff members of the various fleets to man the galley with them during the Regatta.

Robert B. Hoffman, chairman, and Miss Frances Dixon, vice chairman of the race committee, will be on duty with their crew of able assistants, Mrs. Hoffman, Hurt, Frank Preissler and Mr. Lyman H. Alguire.

Among the Regatta participants will be the "Crewing Commodores," so dubbed during the recent Ensenada yacht races, when Llewellyn Bixby Jr., Sidney T. Exley Jr., George A. Hart Jr. and Richard Russell Jr. crewed on

Commodore Dougherty's sloop, Rampant. All have served two or more tours of duty as commodores.

Officers and standing committee chairmen who are working for a successful Regatta are Commodore Gordon M. Dougherty; Vice Commodore Sidney T. Exley Jr.; Senior Rear Commodore Harry G. Wood; Junior Rear Commodore Charles Weber; secretary, Loyd Landes; treasurer, John A. Gray; port captain, Llewellyn Bixby Jr.; fleet surgeon, Dr. Fred Kellogg; house, William A. Siegrist; galley, Mrs. Lyman H. Alguire and Mrs. Lewis F. Seapy; building, Arthur F. Glasier; moorings and grounds, Ted C. Matson; race, Robert B. Hoffman; protest, Richard Russell; legal-financial, George A. Hart Jr.; entertainment, Harry G. Wood; publicity, Mrs. Gilbert Wagner; roster, Duncan McIntosh; Sou'wester, Willis Weber; trophy, Vaile G. Young; club historian, Mrs. Sidney T. Exley, and membership, Jack Reid.

Fraternity Tea Today

Members of the recently organized Long Beach Alumni Association of Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity and their wives will be entertained at a tea today at the home of Dr. and Mrs. David L. Bryant in Park Estates. Special guests will be members of Beta Psi campus chapter, which was installed at Long Beach State College on March 17, the fraternity's 50th anniversary.

Presiding at the tea tables will be Mrs. Beach Vasey and Mrs. Charles W. McCandless. Assisting the hostess will be the Misses Francis J. Flynn, Clarence R. Bergland, David N. Vazquez, John W. Cleveland, Wayne W. Young, and Vito N. Romans.

Officers of the local alumni association are Dr. Bryant, president, and Clarence R. Bergland, secretary. Board of governors for the campus chapter includes fraternity alumni Judge Beach Vasey, chairman; Dr. Bryant, and Rev. Ainsley M. Carlton; with James Dutch, president of Beta Psi chapter. Dr. Gordon H. Warner serves as faculty adviser to the campus chapter.

Realtors Wives

Board members of Realtors Wives Club met Tuesday for luncheon at the home of Mrs. Arthur Maspero, 700 Cartagena. Guest speaker Mrs. Don Davis reported on the various philanthropic needs in Long Beach. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. J. L. Bohan.

YACHTING ENTHUSIASTS

Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Wood, one of Alamitos Bay Yacht Club's well-known husband and wife sailing teams, are busy with plans for a buffet dinner Saturday evening—a highlight of the annual Memorial Day Regatta which opens on Wednesday. Wood, entertainment chairman, is handling dinner arrangements and reservations, while Mrs. Wood will be in charge of decorations.

It's Later Than You Think

By ILKA CHASE

The dead should be more tidy. I don't expect much in this vale of tears—after banging about in it a few years who does—but I can't think it capacious to ask the majority please to consider the plight of those who survive.

The mess that many people departing this life leave behind them for others to neat up reminds one of a pampered debutante stepping out of her shoes and ball gown and leaving them in a heap on the floor.

Granted, as one advances in years or falls in health, it is prudent to give thought to the world beyond. Concern with matters spiritual can bring comfort both to the living and the moribund, but it's nice if those outward bound can also develop a sense of responsibility. A little realism doesn't hurt either.

Recently finding myself in the position of a survivor touches off these somber reflections. The position I discover is not unique. Several friends have thrown up their hands, rolled their eyes heavenwards and muttered "My dear, don't talk about it. What we went through when..." It then develops that they were sorely tried by the wills. Jack of same or condition of property with which they found themselves confronted upon the demise of Gertrude or Uncle Charlie or old Cousin Lucy.

A common experience seems to be the inverse ratio that prevails; the smaller the property the more involved the bequests. A fifth of the residue of the estate after payment of just debts, administration and funeral expenses and inheritance taxes to go to a second cousin once removed. The residue comes to a paltry $473. And those funeral expenses! It isn't everybody who can afford to die these days, yet the more straightened the circumstances of the ex-person the more distant the relations he has remembered, after having got along without them just fine for 50 years. And, as must inevitably follow, the more desperate the struggle of the executors to locate them.

Suspicious Rise

This takes forever and when it is done what happens? The relations who have been living in happy ignorance suddenly become suspicious. They never knew that Cousin Ed had a penny or thought about them if he had, but now they have been got in touch with by a lawyer. This is impressive.

They remember an old lacquer tray that belonged to great-grandmother Cummings. Through undue influence Cousin Ed's wife got it. Now that Ida and Ed are both gone it should come back to the logical branch of the family and where is it? If the deceased has been of artistic bent matters get really chaotic. The relations who wouldn't give his pictures wall space now begin to consider them "original oils" and are the appraisers dependable? And what about clothes? The women of the family are all pretty much the same build, aren't there any valuable clothes or furs lying about?

It develops there are some

TO THE VICTOR

In anticipation of Alamitos Bay Yacht Club's annual Memorial Day Regatta Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday, Commodore Gordon M. Dougherty and Mrs. Dougherty display a club trophy. The Doughertys plan to be on deck to meet members as they arrive for buffet dinner Saturday evening. Hundreds of sailors and sailorettes will participate in the three-day event.

REGATTA HIGHLIGHT

Highlight of Alamitos Bay Yacht Club's annual Memorial Day Regatta, May 30, June 2 and 3, will be a buffet dinner Saturday evening. George A. Hart Jr., left, who doubles as legal and finance chairman in addition to his duties as a director, and Mrs. Hart, and Mr. William A. Siegrist, chairman of the house committee and captain of the National One Design Fleet, and Mrs. Siegrist are making plans for the first party of the racing season.—(Photos by Harry Merrick.)

Wild Waves Gay

By IOLA MASTERSON

We'll have to dip into that old storage chest marked "Best Adjectives" reserved for days like this. Even being selective about the best of the "Best," it will be difficult to do justice to four large, lavish and lovely parties which scattered stardust on the local social scene during the past few days.

Infinitely gracious were the bountiful buffet dinner parties (there were two) given by Loraine and Earl Burns Miller last week. But then, can you imagine Loraine doing anything, anything at all, less than graciously? Both evenings guests were served from the dining room as well as in the patio gardens where hidden lights illuminated the shrubbery, flowers and, most effectively of all, the lovely St. Francis shrine nestled in the greenery. Indoors Loraine used unusual arrangements of deep toned wood roses combined with other flowers.

Assisting the host and hostess on the first party night were Haldis and Fritz Hertzog, Della and Les Lawson, Betsy and George Taubman, Marian and Burns Chaffee, Laura and George Stilson and Verna and Larry Collins.

Perhaps it was the joy of being with so many old and close friends, combined with the mellow satisfaction that follows a good dinner, but do you know what the guests did during the evening? They gathered around the piano and had a regular old fashioned sing with the songs on that night's "hit parade" a far cry from rock and roll. Ringleaders of the singfest were Cassiata Walker, Helene and Way Middough, Tess Heusel, Milton Van Dyke, Dorothy Deatherage, Betsy Taubman and Kay and Carter Boswell.

The second night's festivities were just as festive and assisting on that occasion were Vivian and John Davis, Frances and Harry Buffum, Wayne and Al Osborne, Marianne and John Prahil and Mildred and Carl Shank. Did they sing? Spontaneously as larks! Saturday's around-the-piano enthusiasts included Bob Avery, Clare Hamman, Harry Buffum, Emily Cottrell, Wayne Osborn and John Prahil. And when it was discovered it was also Lella Walker's birthday you should have heard the local Pinzas and Traubels take off on "Happy Birthday to You!"

There aren't too many women about whom that word "gracious" can honestly be applied but Elizabeth (Mrs. Emmet) Sullivan is certainly one of them! Her friends were doubly aware of this quality Wednesday when she entertained for more than 150 women at a brunch at Assistance League Clubhouse in honor of her very good friend, Louise (Mrs. Edwin) Prugh. Louise, a talented sculptress and artist, and her husband, an aircraft engineer, became residents of Long Beach last month.

Assisting Elizabeth were Fredrica (Mrs. Robert) White, Frances (Mrs. Henry) Clock, Hattie (Mrs. Hal) Lewis, Pat (Mrs. Walter) Gilkey, Mildred (Mrs. Carl) Shank and Ruth Craig Merrell.

A single, breathtaking "bouquet" was the room's focal point, decor-wise—a tremendous and dramatic arrangement of pink peonies.

We're far from through groping for new and flattering adjectives and that's because among this week's hostesses were Dorothy Dunlap and Dollie Ward, who rate exceedingly high on the "Most Popular Party Makers" scale. Friday they added to their sparkling reputations with two affairs on the same day—a brunch in the morning and an afternoon tea, both at the Assistance League Clubhouse.

Both morning and afternoon Dorothy's fabulous collection of antiques and art treasures were used as supplement and complement for the florists' artistry. For the brunch the buffet was centered with an antique red, grocery scales, its gold bin filled with fruits, vegetables, daisies and ivy surrounded with pieces from Dorothy's prized collection of white stoneware.

Assisting from 10 a. m. until noon were "Ag" Kuffel, Doris Swenson, Alma Decker, Clara Hossom, Dorothy Wall and Carlene Burrell.

Not unlike the magic that is worked behind the closed curtains during a Broadway production, the scene was completely changed for the tea when pink and orchid became the color scheme and shining silver the table accoutrements. An antique silver sleigh holding a gossamer cargo of carnations and roses was driven across the tea table with plump, silver cherubs at the reins guiding the arrangement through a gateway of tall silver candelabra. Assisting from 2:30 until 4:30 p. m. were Jo Paap, Ola Murphy, Ann Settle, Mildred Wing, Sally Lemon, and Doris Brinkman.

Beautifully planned and carried off with an enviable flourish of superior "hostmanship" was the cocktail buffet which Marge and Roy McCullough gave in a post-trip salute to Ellie Person and Lois Osborne, recently back from Europe. The McCullough's spacious Hawaiian-modern home at No. 1 Palermno Wk. was perfect background for the suave party mood. And although the guests were many and handsomely attired, hostess Marge was like a flick of blue flame amongst them in an orientally inspired sheath gown of electric turquoise.

Home from the sea and done with ships for a three-month vacation is Phil (Capt. F. A.) Fillipow, who spends his working months skipping for Grace Lince, Renee drove up to San Francisco to meet Phil after his last pre-vacation cruise to South America and then drove him home Monday to pamper him like no crew ever could!

Rendezvous in London. Sound exciting? It was—for Ann and Capt. Larry Ruff, USN, and Gladys and Dr. Walter Furie, who met by pre-arrangement there last weekend. The Furies are Europe-hopping but the Ruffs are now residents of Heidelberg, Germany. Ann and Larry left the States May 2 to be gone two or three years while Larry is on duty in that old, romantic city.

For Ann and Larry life is proving wonderful in Heidelberg where they inherited a full time maid and chauffeur from the former commanding officer. Nance Winston took her three little ones, and flew back to Alexandria, Va., for a month's farewell visit with her mother and Larry. Missing her grandchildren (and Nance, too) is probably the only melancholia in Ann's life right now!

Nervous as a cat in a Doberman's jaws (and that's not a nervous, man!) are New York dress designers this week. Back to watch them go through their annual fashion fidgets, as buyers from all over the country pass judgment on their styles, are Mary Lou Zehms, women's editor here, and Wilma Hastings. They're busy getting ideas to pass along to us, first-hand. Flew to Gotham aboard the Royal Coachman Thursday night and will be back next weekend.

Those students at the University of Redlands have just proved they are among the nation's most astute! They voted honey blond Barbara Powers and pretty brunette Molly Hubbell to be varsity song leaders for 1937. Quite an honor and much more so when you realize both girls are just ending their freshman year! Such campus "plums" are usually meted out to upper classmen!

Mrs. Leslie Esposito

Mrs. Esposito to Guide Auxiliary

Mrs. Leslie Esposito took office May 11 as chairman of the Long Beach Branch of The Woman's Auxiliary to The Los Angeles County Medical Association.

Mrs. Russell Fisher officiated at the installation which followed luncheon at Victor Hugo's.

Mrs. Esposito, who has served three previous years on the Medical Auxiliary Board, has devoted much of her time to community welfare efforts. She is an active member of St. Mary's Hospital Guild and The Holy Family Adoption.

Board members who will serve with her are Mmes. Eliston Farrell, chairman elect; Robert Helms, first vice chairman; William Zantiny, recording secretary; Leon Witte, corresponding secretary; and Richard Schug, treasurer.

Directors are Mmes. John Lungren, legislation; William Todd, public health; Maurice Rosenbaum, today's health; Charles Oliver, press; Freder-

Fleet Reserve Unit Ballots

Clara Condit will succeed Ina G. Alford as president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Fleet Reserve Association Unit 11, San Pedro.

Election was held at the Fleet Reserve Clubhouse, where Louise Bell, vice president; Margie Wilkins, secretary; and Mary Hill, treasurer, were chosen to serve with Mrs. Condit.

Installation will be held June 2 at Apalach Hall, San Pedro.

NEW LEADER

Mrs. T. Gorman Byrne, newly elected president of the Coast Guard Officers' Wives' Club, will begin official duties when the club resumes its meeting schedule in October. In the interim, plans include informal card parties and beach events.

Dine, Dance in Laguna

Members, alumnae and guests of Spinners gathered Saturday night in Seafarers Lodge, Laguna Beach, for the group's annual spring formal dinner-dance. Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Currey, sponsors; Beverly Scott, president of Bachelorettes, and Yvonne Cotte, Spinster member who had accumulated the highest number of charity hours donated during the past year.

Prior to the beachfront festivities, party-goers gathered at the Sunset Beach home of Nancy Garrison for cocktails. In keeping with the gay Oriental theme, guests were served Japanese fortune cookies against a background of bright lanterns and parasols.

Alpha Phi Host Mothers

Tiny green hats with bunches of flowers were the favors presented to special guests at the Gamma Kappa Chapter of Alpha Phi International Fraternity's Mother-Daughter tea in the patio garden at the 5560 E. Anaheim Rd., home of Mrs. Allan Scherer.

A spring theme was carried throughout by giant white stock and gardenia floral arrangements. Refreshments were served in the garden by Alpha Phi alumnae, Mmes. Melvin Rowe, Calbert Strong and Scott Gillespie. Mothers pouring were Mmes. Vera Upson, Carl Shank and Richard B. Whittington.

Entertainment was provided by the Alpha Phi daughters who serenaded their mothers. All wore matching red dresses which they had worn earlier at the Long Beach State College spring sing. Special guest for the day was Mrs. Barrie Hillard of Pasadena, director of extension for Alpha Phi International Fraternity.

Mrs. Woodward Named for First Ruth Bach Award

Mrs. Ted Woodward, 4843 Woodruff Ave., will receive the first annual Ruth Bach Award, given by Lakewood Women's Club to the woman judged most outstanding in her contribution to the betterment of the greater Lakewood area. Presentation of the award will be made Monday evening at the club's installation banquet.

Judging was based on the candidate's efforts in each of the following categories: P.T.A., youth groups, church work, charitable drives, civic activities and contributions to cultural activities.

Mrs. Woodward, mother of two small children, was sponsored by Mrs. Stephen Schlick. Active in MacArthur P.T.A. for four and a half years, Mrs. Woodward will serve on the P.T.A. Council next term and was chosen by her unit to receive its honorary life membership this spring. In 1932, she helped organize the Lakewood Play-ers and remains an active worker in that group. She has been a Brownie leader and a neighborhood chairman for Girl Scouts. She has donated countless hours to Community Chest, Red Cross and cancer drives.

Honorable mention in the judging was awarded to Mmes. Phillip S. Goldkind, Dewahn Ryerson, Doris McGill, Kermit D. Whitman, William Vorderkuntz, Eugene Hamilton.

End-of-Year Flurry for Clubs

As the current club year rolls into its last moments, women's groups are busy with a variety of activities, including installations of new officers, dinners and luncheons.

NLB Women's Club
Mrs. Virgil Koon was installed last week as president of North Long Beach Women's Club in a colorful ceremony at Houghton Park Clubhouse. Installing officer was Mrs. Icy High, president of Los Cerritos District, assisted by Mrs. Harry Cox. Each officer was presented with an orchid corsage centered with small musical instruments symbolic of her duties.

Installed with Mrs. Koon were the five vice presidents, Mmes. Ruel Hird, William Adams, Claton Watson, Rawlin Abrahamson, and Martin Bonnewitz; F. E. Williams, recording secretary; H. A. Robinson, corresponding secretary; R. A. Terrell, financial secretary; Cecil Auth, treasurer; William O'Hara, chairman of standing committees, and Earl Heise, curator of departments.

Group Eight, with Mrs. Seguin as chairman, served as hostess and was assisted by members of the Junior Women's Club: Mmes. Fred Harris, retiring president, and Mrs. John Garrells, incoming president.

Plaza Play Group

Chosen to lead the group during the next year were Mmes. George Underhill, chairman of mothers; Robert McCue, chairman of business; Carl Humke, secretary; Howard Tietor, corresponding secretary, and Jack Elipper, treasurer. Mrs. Don Hummel presided.

Long Beach Garden Club
As their last meeting of the year, members of Long Beach Garden Club gathered for a "jittery" potluck dinner recently in Linden Hall. After-dinner entertainment was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Boggs of Los Angeles. Mrs. Boggs, garden chairman of Los Angeles County Federation of Women's Club, gave a talk on roses, and her husband, formerly with Armstrong Nurseries, showed beautiful colored slides of roses, explaining in detail special characteristics of each rose pictured.

During the later business session, officers for the coming year were elected. They were: Mmes. R. J. Keating, president; Florence Hess, vice president; Florence Sunn, recording secretary; Lloyd Richards, corresponding secretary, and Oscar Jessing, treasurer.

Woman's Music Club
Closing events continue to dot the social calendar of Woman's Music Club, with a recent highlight being last week's meeting of the Choral Section at Chandelier Restaurant for the annual luncheon and installation of officers. Lavender and white orchids decorated the chairman's table and lavender sweetpens were used at intervals on the U-shaped table arrangement.

Seated with Chairman Mrs. Elnor O. Nelson were Mrs. Howard Leland Pfeiffer, club president; Mrs. Adolph Brodbeck, president-elect; Mrs. Don L. Gilson, curator; Mrs. Emmett Thompson, chairman-elect; Mr. and Mrs. Arne Zahl and Mrs. O. S. Lindenberg, club press representative.

The musical interlude after luncheon was presented by Mrs.

Irvin E. Meairs and included Mrs. Margaret Lewis, soprano; Mrs. Eunice McPherson, pianist, and a trio composed of Mmes. R. S. Wilkinson, Wallace B. Rodecker and Viola Peterson who sang selections from light operas.

Mrs. Pfeiffer conducted the installation, placing in office Mmes. Emmett Thompson, chairman; Opal Shattuck, vice chairman; Irvin E. Meairs, secretary, and John E. Davis, treasurer.

Story League
The May meeting of Long Beach Story League took place in the home of Mrs. Philip O'Toole, 306 La Verna. President Mrs. H. A. Zelsdorf announced that Mrs. Earl Heise had been appointed vice president of Western District of National Story League by the district president, Mrs. George Lagerquist of Tacoma.

COR. LOCUST AT FIRST

Following devotionals by Miss Abbie Davis, program chairman Ada L. Lyon spoke on the month's subject, "Western Folklore." In keeping with the topic, Mrs. E. B. Mincery related some incidents of the life of Paul Bunyon. Mrs. Heise told an impressive Mother's Day story, "Aunt Minnie's Twelve Daffodils."

Officers for the new year were installed by Mrs. Heise in a ceremony using the four leaf clover as a symbol of luck, love, faith and hope. Installed were Mmes. H. A. Zelsdorf, president; Clara Pears, treasurer.

Willo Jean Maylen

TO BE WINTER BRIDE

At a recent party for friends and relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Allan McTree, 5618 Sunfield Ave., announced the engagement of their daughter, Alice Jean, to Edward L. Shaw Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Shaw, 2548 Quincy Ave. Both young persons are graduates of Wilson High School and attended LBCC, where she was active in Ramayana and AWS. He is with the U. S. Air Force Reserve, 452 Bombardment Wing, Long Beach. They will wed Jan. 6, 1957.

Officials to Be Feted

Matrons and patrons birthday party Monday evening of Belmont Shore Chapter, O. E. S., will honor Esther Weiner, worthy matron and George Serviss, worthy patron. The 1956 worthy matrons and worthy patrons will preside during the evening at Searchlight Temple.

Other honored guests will include Jeanette Gerecht,

Grand Esther; past matrons who served Grand Chapter as deputy grand matrons since 1953 in the Long Beach area; the past matrons and past patrons of 1953 and their husbands and wives.

Evelyn Frank will be in charge of the evening with Camilla Mulford and her committee serving refreshments in the dining room.

VOICE RECITAL

Michael Cook, 14-year-old boy soprano, will be heard in a voice recital at 8 p.m. Monday at the penthouse studio of Dr. Robert W. Magin in the Villa Riviera. The public is welcome, and reservations may be made with Dr. Magin. The youthful singer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Cook, 3433 E. Fairman St., attends Bancroft Junior High School and is choir president of the First Congregational Church Boys' Choir. Of Michael's voice, Dr. Magin says, "only once in every 50 years does one hear a boy's voice with such flexibility." (Photo by Jasper Nutter.)

Whittier College Students Linked in Romantic News

Of interest to her many friends in the scholastic and music circles of Long Beach is news of the engagement of Willo Jean Maylen, daughter of Mrs. Vera Graham, 1415 Cedar Ave., to Robert H. Blechen, son of Mrs. Marguerite Blechen of Baldwin Park.

The betrothal first was told with the traditional offering of chocolates to Athenian sisters of the bride-elect at Whittier College, and the offering of cigars to Franklin brothers of the bridegroom-elect at the same school.

No wedding date has been set. Miss Maylen was graduated from Polytechnic High School where she was affiliated with Phi Gamma Chi, student government, and California Scholarship Federation. She is attending Whittier College on a scholarship, and has served as social chairman of the Athenians. A music major, she was selected Young Artist of California in 1953 by the California Music Teachers Assn., and is recipient of many other honors in the music field.

Blechen, also a scholarship student at the Whittier school, will be graduated in June with high honors in chemistry. Active in campus affairs, he has served as president of the Associated Men Students, president of the Franklin Society and was selected as athlete of the year for 1955. He will continue his schooling at USC, working toward a PhD in chemistry.

Exotic Orient Intrigues Guests at Club Festivity

Long Beach branch of the American Association of University Women recently entertained more than 200 members and guests at an Oriental tea in the lovely home of Mrs. William Casselbury, 832 E. Ocean Blvd. Mrs. Arthur S. Huey, social chairman, was in charge of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. Beach Vasey and Mrs. John Butler.

Mrs. Casselbury's home, with its Chinese gardens and wide, sweeping view of the Pacific from its spacious windows, was gaily decorated for the occasion, and on the beautifully appointed tea table, in an ancient inlaid hubachi, was a high flower arrangement of pink peonies and large red leaves. Coffee was served from elaborate silver services, and the Chinese motif predominated in the refreshments of Oriental cookies, shredded coconut, ginger strips, cashew nuts and fresh pineapples filled with assorted fruits.

Hostesses at the tea table with Mrs. Wayne Fitzgerald, chairman, were Mrs. Frances McCall, Vaughn Abrams, Richard Loyne, Sherman Mix, Arthur Plourde, E. L. Reynard and Miss Isabel Long.

Miss Hazel Collins, president of the club, had in her recep-ing line to welcome the guests Mrs. Parkinson Hayward, William Casselbury, Forrest E. Clark, Robert Pryor, Arthur Arnold, Ray W. Townsend, Arthur C. Leighton and the Misses Lucille Webb, Adda Middleton, Avis Middleton, N. Evelyn Davis, Elizabeth McNeal, Bernice Wilcox, Iona Petters, Evelyn Lofland, Marian Tripeny, Doris Rumsey and Adda Anderson.

Miss Charlene Vern Stephens

Shower for Bride-Elect

Miss Gwen Heffner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bayer, 1916 Diane Dr., Compton, was honored at a bridal shower last week given by Mrs. Wesley Pickens in her home, 1593 Ohio Ave. Miss Heffner will be married to the hostess' nephew, Eugene Pickens, June 15 at the Los Angeles Temple of the Church of Jesus Christ Latter-day Saints.

A ceramic bride and groom centered the refreshment table on which the colors white and yellow was used. Yellow and white gladioli and roses carried out the colors throughout the house. The honoree was presented with two electric appliances, a gift from the entire group, and each guest also brought individual "gadget" gifts.

Mrs. Larson to Entertain Board

Saying thank you for many an important job well done, Mrs. Albin Larson will entertain the Executive Committee of the Long Beach Council of Parents and Teachers on Tuesday, in the home of Mrs. John M. Rigby. The group will gather at 9:30 a.m. and the coffee hour will precede the regular monthly meeting, unique only in the fact that it will be the last, as a new slate of officers will take over the reins following the Council meeting on June 5.

Officers and chairmen of the Council honored their retiring president at a luncheon at Silverado Park on May 25. Mrs. B. W. Neumaier, Director of Hospitality was in charge of the affair and presented Mrs. Larson with a gift from the outgoing members of the executive board.

Parents Tell of Betrothal

Mr. and Mrs. Jacques La Coste of 1149 E. Carson St. have announced the engagement of their daughter, Charlene Vern Stephens, to Donald Driver Bettencourt, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Bettencourt, Whittier.

Miss Stephens was graduated from the Academy of Our Lady of Peace in San Diego and attended Long Beach City College where she was affiliated with Tammuz Sorority. Her fiancé also attended LBCC after serving with the Marine Corps. He was a member of Thor while at City College.

No wedding date has been set. A small reception for close friends and relatives of the couple is planned as soon as the bride-elect's parents return from vacationing in Nassau.

Frank Diettes Note Anniversary

Friends and relatives gathered recently for a buffet supper in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Diettes on the occasion of their 50th anniversary in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Robert Stout, 4842 Daisy Ave. Their eldest daughter, Mrs. Thomas E. McDonald of Sunnyvale, Calif., arrived in time for the festivities and remained for a short vacation.

The honored couple married in Lowell, Mass., on May 20, 1906, and have resided in Long Beach for the past 26 years.

Last Ebell Meet Slated

Blending their voices in rich music, two young artists, Sheila Gayle, lyric soprano, and Gerald Miller, baritone, will present the final program of the year for Ebell Club Monday afternoon in the clubhouse.

Both contest finalists, the musicians will be accompanied by Curtis Stearns.

Installation of the new incoming board will be a highlight of the afternoon. Mrs. Will H. Winston, president, will conduct the business meeting.

Tea, traditionally served at the last meeting before the summer holiday, will be served by members of the hospitality committee headed by Mrs. Robin L. Hadley.

Ebell Juniors Conduct Traditional Installation

In a beautiful and impressive installation ceremony Friday at Clock Country Club, Mrs. Robert Carter assumed the president's duties for Ebell Juniors, succeeding Mrs. William Guyser.

The installation service, written expressly for Ebell Juniors by the late Mrs. Bertha Una Jones, was used for their first installation 11 years ago and has become a tradition with the club. Mrs. Arthur Bonzer officiated.

Seated with Mrs. Carter were Mmes. Robert L. Ray, Kenneth McCulloch, Roland Coltrane and Howell Gester, first, second, third and fourth vice presidents respectively; T. B. Turner Jr., recording secretary; Paul Williamson, corresponding secretary; C. J. Weida, treasurer; and J. T. Campion, financial secretary.

Huge travel posters and bright brochures, model airplanes, confetti and delightful favors enhanced the colorful "Holiday" theme. Green, gold and white flower arrangements were echoed in corsages for officers and special guests. The program and decoration committees, headed by Mmes. Roland Coltrane and B. J. Quinn, were in charge of the luncheon. Musical numbers were presented by Mrs. Joseph C. Nolan, pianist and Richard Selby, baritone.

Mrs. Guyser was presented with a press book recording events of her club year and with a silver tea service, gift from the club.

Wed in Wayfarer's Chapel

Early twilight softly lighted picturesque Wayfarer's Chapel in Portuguese Bend when Patricia Arnold Huff, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Perry Huff of 3724 Lime Ave., became the bride of Sam Robert Quincey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Quincey of Ramona.

The ceremony, performed earlier this month by the Rev. Kenneth W. Knox, united two third generation Californians. Patricia is the granddaughter of Mrs. Guy L. Arnold and the late Mr. Arnold, longtime residents of Long Beach.

Layer upon layer of ice-blue nylon tulle lent a luminous sheen to the bride's Cahill gown of embroidered organza. The bouffant skirt, waltz length in front and sweeping to floor length in back, was gathered to a lowered waistline.

Embroidery outlined the sabrina neckline, dipping low in the back, and was repeated on the skirt. Her ice-blue pleated nylon tulle veil cascaded from a motif of pearls in leaf design. Contributing its note of quaint fragility was an old-fashioned bouquet of valley lilies and blue forget-me-nots, circled by a frill of French lace.

Yellow rosebuds with white lilies entwined with ivy in a white basket wore the graceful flowers carried by the maid of honor. Bridesmaids carried green baskets of white lilies.

white stock and ivy.

The bridegroom's brother, Frank Quincey, served as best man. Guests were seated by Phillip Curti and John Williams.

The bridal party greeted guests at a reception in the home of the bride's parents before the new Mr. and Mrs. Quincey left for a short honeymoon in San Diego.

The bride, who attended elementary and junior high school in Long Beach, was graduated from Palo Alto High School and will be graduated in June from UCLA.

The bridegroom is a graduate of San Diego State College, now doing graduate work in geography at UCLA where both young persons will return in the fall for graduate study. They will summer near Quincy where he is employed in the Forestry Service.

'Hairdo a Day Possible'

Every time you glance at those photographs of models wearing a series of attractive hair styles, you've probably said to yourself, "It would be fun to wear my hair in all those hairdos, but who has the time to put up her hair each night in pin curls and the morning struggle to comb them out?"

So, it may come as a pleasant surprise to you to know that there is a comparatively new hair-care kit on the market which enables you to have a completely new hair style for every day of the month from one pin-curl setting. Equally important is its economical price, and the fact that it can be used with equal effectiveness on natural or permanent-waved hair.

The secret of it all is the Robert Curley hair styling kit which contains a shampoo, conditioner and a cleverly designed hair styler that consists of a comb flanked by two spiral nylon or natural bristle brushes which enables the user to comb, brush and polish her hair simultaneously into waves and curls.

The heart of this exciting method of hair care is the Robert Curley Hair Conditioner, which contains more lanolin than any other hair conditioner on the market. It works wonders with the most difficult hair, restores its natural beauty, and brings out waves and curls you never dreamed you had. The treatment, of course, is done very simply at home.

Etheridge Tent

Anna Etheridge Tent No. 58, Daughters of Union Veterans, will meet at 12:30 p.m. Monday at Veterans Memorial Building with Mrs. Rose Capron presiding.

Mrs. Clarence E. Lundell

Chiropodist Auxiliary in Annual Conclave

Beginning today and continuing through Wednesday the Auxiliary to the California Association of Chiropodists will have its annual convention at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles. Delegates from all divisions throughout the state will convene to assist the state president, Mrs. Clarence E. Lundell, 321 Bayshore Ave., Long Beach, in the formulation of plans for the coming year.

Mrs. Buford Criswell of Culver City is convention chairman and will be assisted by Mrs. Rayfield Aranow, state secretary, together with various members of the Los Angeles and San Diego Divisions. Main issues before the group relative to chiropody are the improvement in the application of all phases of executive leadership in fields of philanthropy, public relations, finance and budget, membership and publicity.

Individual "buzz" groups covering all these subjects will be established so that detailed results can be more easily worked out and tabulated for a report to be made at the final meeting. Two films on chiropody will be shown and are also available to the public upon request to local chiropodists.

First luncheon and meeting entitled "Spring Fantasy" will be hosted by the San Diego group under the direction of Mrs. Wendell Maize. Decorations will be in keeping with the theme and the beautiful Terrace Garden Room will be the setting.

The Tuesday luncheon is being arranged by Mrs. Robert Brennan of Los Angeles and carries the title "Royalty's Recognition." At this luncheon, which will be attended by national officers headed by Mrs. Robert Shor of Los Angeles, national president, all past state presidents will be presented with a silver gift.

Dr. Robert Shor, state president of the California Assn. of Chiropodists, will bring the main address to the group entitled "The Importance of an Auxiliary in the Progress of Chiropody." Following this address the regal installation of new state officers will be conducted by Dr. Alfrene Matchett of Beverly Hills.

Local members accompanying Mrs. Lundell to the convention include, Mrs. William Beattie, Otto Boll, Floyd Brown, Jack Oliver, John Sulzbach and John Kinkella, local division president.

Luncheon to Honor Presidents

Retiring presidents of the Long Beach Council of Parents and Teachers will be hostesses to their incoming presidents at Lakewood Country Club on Thursday at 12:15 p.m. Incoming presidents are asked to gather promptly at eleven o'clock for the taking of pictures.

Presidents of the Northeast area, under the direction of Mrs. H. E. Bealeu and Mrs. R. E. Stillwell, are in charge of the luncheon arrangements and the decorations. The Southwest area presidents under the direction of Mrs. William E. Kummer, are planning the program.

Guests at the luncheon are to be Mrs. Albin Larson, Council president; Mrs. Charles Hackett, executive secretary; Mrs. Robert Hayden; and Mrs. J. W. Dean, press chairman.

World Worker on YWCA Program

Mrs. Margaret Hathaway, member of the World YWCA staff with special assignment in South Africa, will be in Long Beach Thursday as speaker at the 52nd annual meeting of the Long Beach YWCA, announced Mrs. R. L. Yankie, president of the board of directors.

Mrs. Hathaway currently is on furlough from her duties in South Africa, where for the last several years she has been actively working with local YWCA groups seeking affiliation with the World YWCA, which has its headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland. She travels through 40 communities conferring with leaders and assisting in leadership training and other phases of YWCA program.

Last summer, as a member of the World YWCA staff, Mrs. Hathaway was a participant in the Leadership Consultation held in Geneva prior to the YWCA Council meeting in England. She also attended the World Council meeting in company with representative leaders of the YWCA in South Africa.

Before her assignment to the World YWCA, Mrs. Hathaway was assistant director of the Defense Services division of the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association of the USA, and prior to that was for six years an associate executive in the Long Beach YWCA. Previously she spent many years in the Far East with the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions and as wife of the late Willis Hathaway, YWCA secretary well known in China because of his long period of assignment there.

When with the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, Mrs. Hathaway was a teacher of history and music at the Mary Farnham School in Shanghai, at the American School in Tungchow and at the Riverside Academy in Nippo. Before that she had been a teacher of history and music in the high school at Goldendale, Wash.

A native of Salem, Ore., Mrs. Hathaway is a graduate of Willamette University in Salem. Aside from her residence for 11 years in China, she has traveled widely in the Far East, the Near East, and Europe. Her special interests include music, national and international affairs.

Military Society Bustles With Variety of Parties, Installations and Showers

By VIRGINIA NEWTON

With the beginning of summertime and the wonderful weather which is so much a part of our southern scene, the Officers and Wives Club of Long Beach will begin a new club year June 5 at 12:30 when the group will gather at the Officers Club, Allen Center, for an installation luncheon party.

Hostesses at this time will be members of the retiring board and reservations should be called in to Mrs. R. M. Whepley or Mrs. J. L. McCann by Saturday noon of June 2.

The newly elected officers are: Mrs. Robert Campbell, president; Thomas Flynn, first vice president; Charles Neel, second vice president; G. W. Davis, recording secretary; Walter E. Greene, corresponding secretary; Lyman Vaughan, treasurer, and John Littig, assistant treasurer.

Col. and Mrs. John Price have as their house guest from San Antonio, Tex., Mrs. Price's mother, Mrs. Hazel Anderson.

Mentioning San Antonio, reminds us: a nice card just received from those former residents, Capt. and Mrs. John L. Schwager and Jonelle, says that they are now residing at 710 Babcock Rd. of that city.

This was truly one of the prettiest parties and most friendly events of the early summer season. We mean the welcome tea given recently by the Officers Wives Club of NAS, Los Alamitos, honoring new arrival, Mrs. Maurice S. Kaufmann, wife of the executive officer of NAS, Comdr. Kaufmann.

It took place in the beautiful new Oasis room of the Officers Club at the air base, and the entire room was abundant with lovely carnations and roses of every hue.

Mrs. J. B. Paschal, wife of the commanding officer, Capt. Paschal, welcomed the new members and the many guests. She was assisted at the tea table and arrangements by Mrs. F. D. McGuffigan, K. Miller, Al Wilson, M. D. Brix, C. L. Kennedy, G. D. Swisher, H. D. Sturm, N. Grayson, and invitations and preparations were in the capable hands of Mrs. R. E. Malmfedit, A. McDonald and Claude Ross.

Comdr. and Mrs. Maurice S. Kaufmann and four children are now residing at quarters aboard NAS, Los Alamitos, coming here from duty and residence at Sand Point, Seattle, Wash.

Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. C. A. Murray have as their houseguests from San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rosenthal. And while their friends were here the Murrys were genial hosts at a very delightful party for their many friends of this city at the cocktail hour recently.

More party doings going on out at NAS, Los Alamitos, include the monthly luncheon party of the Officers Wives Club of that base last Thursday when May flowers and showers of sunshine were used as the theme. The buffet luncheon was served on the patio and cards followed in the TV room. Hostesses for the day were Mrs. R. E. Malmfedit, N. Grayson and Walter Axcell.

A very pert and pretty party planned by the wives of officers attached to the USS Helena was held at the home of Mrs. Harry Smith, wife of the commanding officer of the ship.

You see it was a gala event honoring all the "expectant mothers-to-be" of their group. Amid all the beautiful pinks and blues of babyland was one little mama, who didn't wait, Mrs. M. E. Harley, who had her baby a few days before.

Speaking of the next generation, stork call over at Fort MacArthur included the announcement from 2nd Lt. and Mrs. Mario Tarabini of the arrival of Lisa Marie, who tipped the beginning scales at 6 pounds and 9 1/2 ounces.

Mrs. J. LaBarre recently entertained at the coffee hour the wives of the officers attached to the USS Roanoke.

Mrs. T. Gorman Byrne will be hostess at a luncheon and board meeting of the newly elected officers and newly appointed chairman of the Coast Guard Officers Wives Club at her home, 4115 Greenbrier Rd., on the afternoon of June 12. New reservation chairman of the group is Virginia Martinson.

Mrs. Lewis Salhanick has as her houseguest here from Boston, Mass., Virginia Panarese.

Newly elected president of the Officers Wives Club of Long Beach, Mrs. Robert Campbell, has just announced her board members, who are Mrs. Harold Larner, program chairman; E. W. Sweeney, publicity; J. C. Wocfel, membership, and R. K. James, hospitality.

Hoedown on Matron's Agenda

An old fashioned hoedown is being planned for Saturday night by Young Matrons of Temple Israel in the Temple at Third and Loma Sts.

Chuck wagon dinner will be served from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. In charge are Mrs. Eric David and Mrs. James Rosenberg.

Chairman of the event is Mrs. Hy Orenstein who will be assisted by Mrs. M. Karbelnig, M. Gyer, M. Berman, A. Fenster and B. Brown.

Joanne Koch to Exchange Vows With Robert Cohn

Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Koch, Wilmington, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Joanne Fredda Koch, to former Wilmington resident Robert Melvin Cohn, now of Long Beach.

A Banning High School and Harbor Junior College graduate, the bride-elect received her B.A. degree in elementary education from Mills College in Oakland. Well known in harbor area musical circles, she has done graduate work at Mills in music and languages, and has appeared with Oakland's Little Players.

Executive secretary for a

has been engaged in social welfare work for the past three years. He studied at the University of Arizona and UCLA, where he received his B.A. degree.

Graduate work at Washington University in St. Louis, Mo., was followed by enrollment at the University of California in Berkeley, from which he will receive his M. A. degree in June.

A June 10 wedding in San Francisco is planned, after which the couple will establish residence in San Mateo for the duration of Cohn's residency at San Mateo County Hospital.

Chapman-Grimes Names Linked

Immediate family members witnessed the recent ceremony uniting in marriage Rose Marie Grimes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Grimes, 296 Redondo, and Charles Robert Chapman of 243 W. 10th St. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Minton, Drayton Plains, Mich.

The new Mrs. Chapman is a senior at Wilson High School. Her husband received his early schooling in Michigan and attended the University of Michigan. The couple is now residing at 3321 E. 7th St., Apt. 4.

Laguna Pen Women to Exhibit in June

By VERA WILLIAMS

Independent Press-Telegram Art Editor

Artist members of the Laguna Beach branch of the National League of American Pen Women will have the June exhibit in Pacific Coast Club Galleria.

Exhibiting artists and their works are: Marjory Adams, Laguna Beach, pastels, oils, water colors; Katherine Conover, Three Arch Bay, oils, woodcuts, murals; Priscilla Frazer, Emerald Bay, water colors, oils, prints; Gertrude Gardner, Laguna Beach, water colors, oils; Fern Gary, Laguna Beach, oils, water colors; Louis Leyden, Capistrano Beach, oils, water colors, crafts; Diane Meredith, Laguna Beach, water colors, oils, murals, crafts; Dorothy Stephens, Laguna Beach, water colors, oils, pastels; Anne Von, Emerald Bay, oils, water colors, designs, crafts; Mildred Waters, Laguna Beach, water colors, oils, and Virginia Woolley, Laguna Beach, oils, water colors, etchings.

Marjory Adams, best known for her portraits has had one-man shows throughout the United States. Her portraits hang in many cities in the United States and in England, France and Australia.

Katherine Conover has been head of the art department of Central High School in Detroit and Wayne University. She recently had a one-man show in the Little Art Gallery, Boston.

Priscilla Frazer, who received her M.A. degree from Long Beach State College, attended Institute Allende in Mexico. She had a one-man show last March in Laguna Beach Art Gallery and received second prize for a print in the National Biennial Art Show in Washington, D. C. in April.

Gertrude Gardner has a diploma from Fontainebleau, France. She also studied in Portugal, Spain and England.

This will be the sixth exhibit this year for Fern Gary (Mrs. Cliff Warner). She previously has exhibited in the Ojai Art Gallery, Mount San Antonio College, Los Angeles Ebell Club, St. George Utah Festival of Arts and state biennial N.E.A.P., Laguna Beach.

Louise Leyden, noted for her paintings of eucalyptus trees, is an indefatigable outdoor painter. Neither weather nor rugged terrain deters her when she finds an interesting subject.

Diane Meredith is best known for her replicas of moths and butterflies. This work first was exhibited in the Toledo Museum of Art, Toledo, Ohio.

Dorothy Stevens studied in seven European countries. Her first exhibited painting, in the Los Angeles Biltmore Hotel, was bought by Atwater Kent. Anne Von, a graduate of Long Beach State College, also has attended Chouinard Art Institute, Los Angeles, and Instituto Allende, Mexico. Her first professional work was motion picture retoucher. She is a contributing member of California Artists, manufacturers of original Christmas cards, and designed the 1957 catalog cover.

Mildred Waters does water colors of Southern California, France, Belgium, Italy and Holland.

Virginia Woolley, who was born in Atlanta, is widely known for her flower paintings and street scenes of the South and Mexico. She studied at the Chicago Art Institute and in Paris for three years. While there she exhibited etchings in the Paris Spring Salon.

Paintings by Ben and Velma Messick will be shown the remainder of May in Pacific Coast Club Galleria.

Dates of the annual Festival of Arts and Pageant of the Masters are announced July 14 through Aug. 12 in Laguna Beach.

Twenty paintings by Watson K. Frederick, 5117 Lanai St., Army colonel turned painter, will be displayed this week in the windows of the Bixby Knolls Carpet Co., 4354 Atlantic Ave.

Frederick, who fought in two wars and served 27 years as a reserve officer, retired in 1945 and took up paintings as a hobby. He paints landscapes, seascapes, flowers, portraits. "In my pictures," he says, "I try to capture the spirit of the outdoors and the joy of life."

Worry Clinic

Husbands, Ask Wife's Advice

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case R-366: Lawrence L., aged 28, is a talented chemist who is married and has two children. "Dr. Crane, Larry is a wonderful husband as regards money matters," his wife admitted.

"And I think he loves me and the children. But he has one fault which is getting on my nerves. For me he is too close mouthed! By that, I mean he never tells me his plans or invites my comments. He doesn't even argue things out with me or let me make any suggestions."

"Maybe he thinks it is unmanly to consult one's wife. Or could it be that he feels it is belittling to the male ego to invite suggestions from others? Please tell husbands to consult their wives and let us have our say."

Many husbands are like Larry, for I receive this complaint frequently. Some husbands get that way because they have an inferiority complex and think they must make all the decisions without anybody's advice, or they will appear weaklings and henpecked.

But that isn't true! Women are smart creatures. They often have much better judgment on many things than do their husbands. And even if they don't offer any superior ideas, it is always good husbandly strategy to invite their help. For this inflates their ego and cements their devotion to their mates.

A husband may not always act upon the advice of his wife. Maybe he holds some extra evidence which proves superior to that offered by his spouse.

But every husband should learn to seek the advice of his wife and invite her suggestions on his contemplated action, whether it be the building of a garage or the buying of a necktie.

"But doesn't it prove a delightful surprise to have the husband plan things?" asked Larry when I interviewed him. Yes, to a certain degree it does. So surprise her with an unexpected movie date. But as a general rule, invite her suggestions on future plans.

Many high school and college youths make this same mistake of being too secretive about their plans. That's one reason why they often get into trouble, for their parents and friends may possess knowledge which they lack but which obviously show the folly of their proposed action.

So make it rule in life, if you wish to be popular and a good leader, to invite help. Don't think it indicates weakness or juvenility. Instead, it is a mark of a topnotch executive to throw your ideas on the table and then let your friends or family thresh out the issue.

Announcement made in Phoenix, Ariz., by Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Fulton of the engagement of their daughter, Suzanne, to John C. Bradley, has been received with interest by friends in Long Beach, former residence of the Fultons.

In this city Miss Fulton was affiliated with Omega Tau. She is currently a sophomore student at Arizona State University, where she was 1955 queen of the military ball, and is active in Gamma Phi Beta.

Her fiancé, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Russell Badley of Phoenix, is a junior at ASU. He is a member of Alpha Tau Omega, majoring in agriculture.

The couple will marry in August.

House Guest

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cross, 3030 E. 2nd St., have had as their house guest Mrs. Mae Stanford, Mrs. Cross' sister. The traveler is now returning to her home in Dallas, Texas, by way of Seattle, Wash., where she will visit with her son, Lt. Paul Stanford.

Zonta Club, Dentals Install

By ANNE GILCHRIST

Installation ceremonies for Zonta Club of Long Beach, conducted recently in the Panorama Room of the Lafayette Hotel, took on the colorful aspect of early America with its bright Indian theme cleverly utilizing Zonta colors of turquoise, gold and maroon.

In a setting of wigwags, camp fires and other Indian paraphernalia, Vivian Showalter was seated for a second term as president by J. Maria Pierce, lieutenant governor of District 9. Taking office with Mrs. Showalter for the ensuing year were Lucille Murdock, vice-president; Maxine Hill recording secretary; Daisiana Millison, corresponding secretary; Marion Freede, treasurer; and Florence Merriam, member-at-large.

Myranna Coon, chairman of the evening, introduced Sterling Smith, clarinetist. Mrs. Coon, by request, sang her special arrangement of "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Dorothy Rankin Bembridge.

Play Shows West Pitfall

One of the country's best players managed to muffle today's hand. The principle of play is, however, surprisingly simple.

Declarer won the first trick in dummy with the queen of diamonds. He next led a club to the ace—and the hand went up in smoke.

It was now possible for South to win only four club tricks. He could not make the contract with three diamonds and a spade in addition to the four clubs.

If South led a diamond, West would take the king of diamonds and shift to spades. He would be able to take three spades, a heart, and a diamond before South could get nine tricks.

South led a heart, but West stepped up with the ace of hearts and shifted to spades. He regained the lead with the king of diamonds in time to set the contract with the last spade.

The bidding made it clear that West was short in clubs, since a player doesn't make a takeout double with length in the suit that he is doubling. South could guard against any short holding by West by leading the king of clubs to begin that suit.

As the cards lay, West would have discarded on the first round of clubs. South would therefore be warned of the club distribution in time to take a finesse through East.

He would then knock out the king of diamonds and get to the dummy with a spade for a second club finesse. This line of play would produce five club tricks.

South would be equally safe if both opponents followed on the first round of clubs. He could continue with a club to the ace. If both followed the suit would break. If West showed out on the second round of clubs, South would eventually get to dummy with a spade to take the one finesse that he would need.

Offers New Hair Life,

"Even the most bouffant coiffure can be adapted into a shorter, more casual version," says David Connelle, brilliant young hairstylist now visiting the May Co., Lakewood.

Here with his latest collection of hair creations, Connelle applies scissor wizardry that shapes natural, fuller waves and curls with his new exclusive technique.

The new "Pink Cloud" permanent is featured with Connelle's new hairstyling technique—accomplished with exclusive "pillow" curlers that set in layers to give a soft, natural look and springy, resilient curls that are easy to keep. Perfect for spring and summer.

If your hair needs reconditioning from being dry and brittle, a marvelous new French discovery, Rege Tress Lotion, will be skillfully applied to bring tresses back to glorious natural radiance.

Connelle will be at the May Co., Lakewood May 28 through June 2.

Gay Reunion for Alumni Scheduled

Dating from 1946 up to the minute, former and current members of Junior Exchange, City College's men's social club, will stage their first annual Alumni Dance on Tuesday in Meadowlark Country Club, starting at 8:30 p. m.

Playing for the semi-formal affair will be the Jack Lynde orchestra and jazz quintet. In charge of the dance arrangements are current president Joe Valdez and JX alumni Jack Satariano, Bob Lichtenhan, Bill Layden and John Caldwell.

The May 29 dance will be the first alumni get-together since Junior Exchange was founded 10 years ago on the City College Lakewood campus by a group of World War II veterans, under the sponsorship of the Downtown Exchange Club.

Proceeds of the dance will go to the Athletic Scholarship Fund at City College.

Our Children

A Home Divides, and a Child Is Divided, Too

By ANGELO PATRI

Divorce, the bane of childhood, often results in what I term the divided child. One parent, usually the mother, is given the custody of the child, but at the same time the other parent is given some relationship to him—a visit once a week, or so, maybe half a year.

This means, no matter what the duration of the visit, a divided child. His allegiance to his parents must be divided. He will cling, secretly if he must, to one parent or the other. Each will try to strengthen that allegiance in his way. Maybe he will openly blame the absent parent. Maybe he will do this by implication, asking questions that bring out answers that can be slanted his way. This confuses a child and influences his behavior, and not always for the best.

The short visit, the one-day affair, is hardest on the child. The parent he visits, having him for the day, goes all out to make the day a happy holiday. He takes the child to a show, takes him to a toy shop and buys him toys in reckless quantity, buys him a fine meal and sends him home, loaded down with gifts, in a taxi.

This sort of thing gives the child an idea that if he lived with that parent, this would be the regular thing—treats, toys, and nothing to do to spoil the day. When he gets back to his home and the regular routine of duties, school, study, work and play and sleep, he is dissatisfied and is likely to blame the everyday parent for not giving him the same delightful time. This is certain to give the child distorted ideas of one kind and another, and to leave him insecure and miserable. And because the decision that divided the child was based on the law, nothing can be done about it. The basic fault was in the relationship of both parents, then the separation or the divorce.

I am not wise enough to say what should be done when two people decide they cannot live together another day. Sometimes they cannot and should not. If they would only agree on one point, the care of the children, think what is best for them, and not selfishly demand a share in their upbringing when they could not, or would not, continue to take their part as good parents—good father and a good mother!

It is a father's duty to support his children in all material ways and, equally important, in all spiritual ways as well. We expect that. Mothers are the natural guardians of their children from infancy to young manhood and womanhood. If possible, it does seem that the mother should have sole control of the children of the broken home. If she has been proven unworthy, then the father should take over and save the children this divided allegiance.

If you want your baby to have confidence in you, you must handle him with a sure hand. Dr. Patri's leaflet P-17, "The Sure Hand," includes the way to handle children. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. This feature appears daily in the Independent.

Days of Forty-Niners

LONG BEACH STATE COLLEGE EVENTS

by PLACER MINER

"Graduation time is almost here," and the tempo around Long Beach State College has picked up noticeably. Graduating seniors, either pale and drawn, or smiling confidently as the case may be, turned their work in to the instructors and took their final tests last Friday. Seniors graduating in June do not have to take the final examinations if their work is satisfactory, so to add to their joy they have the envy of all their classmates.

As a final fling, a busy commencement week has been set up for the future college graduates. Last Wednesday the Athletic Awards Banquet took place, and yesterday morning the Associated Women Students had their Awards Breakfast. This Friday night, awards will be made to the college journalists, and on Saturday the graduating students will have a chance to toast their alma mater with ham and eggs at the traditional breakfasts in the Meadowlark Country Club. Winding up the week will be the Baccalaureate Service next Sunday in the First Christian Church at 4 p. m. Then Thursday, June 7, the Senior Prom, and finally Friday, the commencement at Long Beach City College.

Miss Barbara Bassett, assistant professor of nursing at Long Beach State College, was honored last Friday night at the Sigma Chi Nu's fourth annual Officer's Installation Dinner at the Hawaiian Restaurant.

Granted a leave of absence from State College to act as Public Health Service Nursing Advisor to the Philippine government, Miss Bassett will be gone for two years, and will leave early in July.

New officers for the group are Louise Johnson, president; Margaret Drinnon, vice president; Roberta Strimble, recording secretary; Marie O'Koren, corresponding secretary; Hotona Roebuck, treasurer, and Gladys Korber, historian. Dorothy Walsh will replace Miss Bassett as faculty advisor, and on the Long Beach State College faculty.

A chance to study in the mountains is being offered to interested students by the Natural Science Division of Long Beach State College and the Idyllwild Arts Foundation.

The courses being offered are Conservation Workshop, Field Natural History, the Outdoor Workshop, and the Wilderness Workshop. Students can either board on the campus of the Idyllwild Arts Foundation, or camp out in one of the several State Parks in the area.

The climate is billed as, warm days, cool nights, and smog free. Students or those interested should contact the Summer School office or the Natural Science Division office.

The new and old student body presidents of Long Beach State College are recently returned from the 31st annual convention of the Pacific Students President Association.

This was the first year Long Beach State College has attended the convention, and Hucy Shepard, next year's president, put State on the map by a determined showing in an election for convention president by losing in finals by only 10 votes.

Bill Barnes, outgoing president, evaluated the trip with the comment, "I only wish I had been able to attend last year. The experience gained helps in conducting college affairs."

As further proof of the fact that Long Beach State College students are taking their share of honors and scholarships, four awards were made last week to State College students.

Three awards were made to State College students by the Chemical Rubber Company of Cleveland for outstanding students in lower division chemistry, physics and mathematics. Winning awards were Philip Anthony, chemistry; David Whitmoyer, physics, and Don Kelly, mathematics.

The National Wildlife Federation Graduate Fellowship for 1956 went to DeBoyd L. Smith, a student of Wilson and LBCC, before coming to State. In addition to going to school, he has been assistant manager of a market in Bellflower for the last six years.

Why Grow Old?

Emotionalism Is Cause Behind Her Overweight

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

If any of you have any doubt that there is such a thing as emotional obesity, listen to a quotation from a letter which came from a very intelligent reader: "Exactly a year ago I joined your Marathon and laboriously whittled off 23 pounds in a little more than two months. I have been on your Marathon ever since. It has been a long pull because I have never overcome fully the real source of my overweight."

"I have found that I must battle this as the alcoholic does by never forgetting that this is my weakness. I find that if I can just keep myself from taking the FIRST bite of gooey cake, or the FIRST mouthful of spaghetti, or the FIRST spoonful of ice cream. I have won over the awful compulsion to gobble and chew for comfort."

"This is the only way I can make progress. To date I have lost 45 pounds and feel 100 per cent better. I can wear a size 15 dress and am striving now to lose those last 15 pounds of overweight."

"Therefore I am sending for your Marathon again this year. I will not lose the most of all your entrants but we are all winners when we make a conscious effort to improve."

Isn't that a wonderful letter? She has lost 45 pounds and is now going for the last 15 pounds of overweight. It is a wise woman who can analyze herself and see herself objectively! Few of us can.

Many women turn to food for comfort without realizing that they are doing so. Be honest with yourself. If you find that you are a victim of emotional obesity try missing that first bite as this reader did.

If you missed my Nine-Day Reducing Diet, send 20 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of the Press-Telegram.

This feature appears daily in the Press-Telegram.

Lupo-Slaterry Vows Taken

In a wedding solemnized in the Little Wedding Chapel Around the Corner in Las Vegas May 20, double rings were exchanged by Patricia Slaterry and Joseph Lupo.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Slaterry of Downey, lived most of her life in Long Beach and is a graduate of Jordan High School, where she was a member of Phi Omicron Sorority. She continued her education at Compton Junior College. Her husband, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lupo of Endicott, N. Y., attended schools in the cast and just recently completed a four-year tour of duty with the U. S. Navy.

Charlene Slaterry, sister of the bride, was maid of honor while Chester Howard Clark was best man. For her marriage, the new Mrs. Lupo chose a sheath dress of turquoise and white silk and wore a white orchid corsage at her shoulder. The wedding party was accompanied to Las Vegas by the bride's parents.

The newlyweds, who plan a delayed honeymoon trip to New York, are now residing at 5328 Cedar Ave.

Entertain AAUW Officials

American Association of University Women met Tuesday evening in Mottell's Garden Room for a joint board meeting. The present executive board of the club, which has been serving this year under the president, Miss Hazel Collins, met with the new board which will carry on club activities under the president-elect, Mrs. Parkinson Hayward. About 60 members were present.

After a delightful potluck supper planned and served by Mrs. Cyril Evan Farrand and her committee, a board meeting was conducted by Miss Collins. Annual reports were given and funds voted for several scholarships.

Mrs. Hayward then presented her new board members. She urged them to appoint their committees at once in preparation for a work-shop meeting in the late summer. Basic plans have already been made for next year's programs.

Cadillac

Expected Much...and Got More!

He had heard it time and again from his friends who drive Cadillacs.

He had heard, for instance, of Cadillac's marvelous performance . . . and of Cadillac's great comfort and handling ease . . . and of the personal satisfaction that comes to the man at the wheel.

And so, when he accepted the keys to his first Cadillac car just a little while ago, he thought he knew what to expect from the "car of cars".

Well, here he is—only a few short miles out on his maiden journey—and he's learning a great truth about Cadillac: that nothing can adequately prepare a man for

Cadillac ownership, save the experience itself.

How, for instance, could anyone fully foresee the joys of owning a new Cadillac? It gives a man a sense of pride and a feeling of fulfillment that literally defy description.

Or how could anyone anticipate the thrill of driving a new Cadillac? Smooth and quiet . . . eager and responsive . . . restful and relaxing—it simply has no counterpart on the world's highways.

And how could anyone possibly foreknow the many other pleasures that await him at the wheel . . .

... the joy of finding that his Cadillac, with all its quality and character, is among the most practical of motor cars to own and operate . . .

... and the satisfaction we believe he will find in his relationship with us as his Cadillac dealer—and in our honest concern with his motoring well-being.

Yes, it's a wonderful thing, this education in the ways of Cadillac ownership—and we sincerely hope that you will stop in soon for a personal preview of the experience.

We think you will be delighted to learn how quickly you can get delivery and to find how much your current car is worth to us in trade.

If School Upsets Him, Discover Why

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Here is a boy of 6 who started kindergarten last year and everything was fine until the middle of the year. At that point he decided he did not want to use the school toilet. The mother figured this one out but now he doesn't want to go to school at all.

He gives a different reason each time he is asked. The mother writes, "We live only 2 1/2 blocks from school and he keeps coming home. I have been taking him back and he coaxes me to stay. I visited a little today but up to this time I have not given in to him.

"He is not pampered or spoiled (we have an older child) and I have tried talking to his teacher and she is trying to help me. But she doesn't know what the matter with him.

"I have deprived him of things he likes to do in the afternoon. I have talked to him and spanked him. Now I don't know what to do. He doesn't get clear to school before he turns around and comes back home. I do hope you have the answer."

One answer would be to know more about what goes on in school so that you may determine what it is he dislikes about the school situation. It might be very illuminating for you to visit each morning for a week and see what happens and how it affects your boy and then you would be in a much better position to help him than you are now.

Obviously, he doesn't like school. It may be the way he is treated by other children. It may be the teacher he dislikes. It may be the routine which is rigid and uninteresting. You can't tell what it may be unless you find out what bothers him and makes him prefer home to school.

When you discover what affects him, then you can do something about eliminating it. Meanwhile (and while you are visiting his school each day) you can tell him firmly the fact that all children have to go to school. They don't decide whether they will or not, their parents do not decide it. It is the law of the land. They must go to school.

Right now when you argue, or ask questions which he cannot answer, or punish (which has nothing to do with the question at all), the boy knows he has you on the run. Make it clear that when he comes home you'll take him back, if it be 10 times. Then find the reason for his behavior and you are on the track to a solution for it. But right now you are working in the dark.

Our 10-cent booklet "Ready for School?" will help with suggestions for aiding children to accommodate themselves to this new environment. If you would like to have it send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of the Press-Telegram.

This feature appears daily in the Press-Telegram.

Chef of the Week

Cook It, Then Call Him 'MISTER Chef---Sir!'

By MILDRED K. FLANARY

Today's candidate for Chef of the Week is of pioneer stock—and is pioneering a brand new position. He's the first director of public relations for the City of Long Beach. That Fielding C. Combs has the necessary qualifications is evidenced by many things, but especially his uncanny and unusual faculty for remembering names and people.

Visalia was Combs' home port. After receiving his early education there, he attended USC College of Business Administration. The real estate business in Visalia kept him occupied from '29 to '41, during which time he devoted eight years to that city's school board.

joys cooking. But he draws the line on the pots and pans, having no yen for clean-up chores. His recipe today is most unusual—it's for Chili Con Queso, Visalia. 2 cans roasted green chilis 1 lg. can tomatoes 1 lb. American cheese 1/2 cup half 'n' half 1 clove garlic Pinch cumin, salt to taste Cut chilis in one-half pieces. Do not remove seeds. Add to drained tomatoes. Add chopped garlic and seasoning. Simmer over low heat until liquid is reduced. Add cheese which has been cut into one-fourth inch cubes. Stir until cheese melts. Add cream and serve on tortillas, or toast. Also excellent as a side dish for meat or game. Serves 4.

Molly Mayfield

Bogged Down by Budget Blues

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD: I've got those old budget blues. All the time it's scrimp and save, just to keep up a skinny little bank account.

You probably know that a business girl doesn't earn vast sums of money and, by the time she pays her income tax and social security and rent, and insurance, and food and a few incidentals, there's not a whole lot left.

And there are so many things I'd like—a nice car, better clothes, swell vacations. Sometimes I'm tempted to accept some help.

I've had some offers—from men who could afford to keep me nicely. They all have wives, of course, but that needn't interfere. Do you think it sounds like such a bad idea, Mrs. Mayfield? It sure would make life easier.—TEMPTED.

DEAR TEMPTED:

I really don't think you're serious. You're just bogged down with those budget blues, and you're having a little fun toying with this idea.

But think it over, little kitten. Think it over. It really isn't what you'd like at all. Imagine being tied down to some older man you really don't love. How would you like having to ask him for every cent? And imagine how you'd feel knowing, since you would have no real claim on him, that he could walk out on you any time he chose.

Think how you'd have to dodge your friends to avoid explaining. And imagine how you'd feel if you finally met some young man you truly loved. How would you explain to him what you did for a living?

Nope? This is false security, and I'm glad you're really not serious about it.—M. M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

My grandmother passed away a few weeks ago, leaving my grandfather, who is 80. He has had a stroke and also suffers from palsy.

Would it be possible to have your kind readers send him a card or letter on Father's Day? Letters are the only contact he has with the outside world, as he is unable to get around. He is so lonesome and misses Grandmother so much. His address is W. O. Beard, 5644 E. 28th St., Kansas City, Mo.—Mrs. G. E. F.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

Four of us are very mixed up and unhappy. I have been married five years, but stopped really loving my wife two years ago. Now I have fallen in love with another woman. She is married, but separated from her husband. Her husband still loves her and hopes for a reconciliation. We don't know what to do. If this woman and I decide to think only of ourselves, we will make two other people very unhappy. Both know of our love, but hope we will return to them.

Should we think first of the others or of ourselves? Do you think we could make a go of our present marriages?—CONFUSED.

DEAR CONFUSED:

Since the respective wife and husband in this case appear to be fairly blameless, it seems only right to give them each a sporting chance, doesn't it? How about trying to "make a go" of your marriages for a year?

During that year, you and this woman you love should not write, phone or see each other. That's the only fair thing to do and the only way you could possibly hope to get your marriages back on firm ground.

At the end of the year, if the trial has failed, then you can discuss it with your respective mates and see about making other arrangements. Only I'm afraid you'll find it's not that simple.—M. M.

Drive with care . . . EVERYWHERE!

Holds the road like it loves it

It isn't just Chevrolet's record-breaking performance that makes it such a pleasure to drive. It's the solid, sure-going way Chevy covers the miles!

You don't have to drive a car for very long to tell if it was really built for the road. You can sense its balance in your hands on the wheel. You can feel whether or not it gets skittish in a cross wind or on a curve. You can see how true it holds to its course and how quickly it straightens itself out of a tight turn.

In all these ways, you'll find that the new Chevrolet is a car that's right for the road. And in other ways as well. In record-breaking performance with horsepower that ranges up to 225. In gunflash acceleration that gives you extra seconds of safety in passing.

Chevrolet, you know, won both the acceleration and flying mile events for its class in the NASCAR time trials at Daytona Beach—both in record time!

When you team up that kind of performance with Chevy's rock-steady way of going, you've got a car that loves the road! Why not stop in and see some sunny day, soon?

Three Acres of the Past

Sunday, May 27, 1970

HIDDEN AWAY among the derricks and oil pumps in the shadow of Signal Hill is a small plot of ground that time has passed by.

It looks much the same today as it did 80 years ago, and it apparently isn't going to change much in the next 80.

This gentle slope of sun-drenched land is the old Long Beach Municipal Cemetery, and its mysterious past is rivaled only by the oddity of its location.

SITUATED AT THE north-west corner of Orange Ave. and Willow St., deep in Signal Hill territory, the cemetery actually is Long Beach property. All around the industry of Signal Hill probes the earth for black, liquid treasure. But despite the fact that the little burial ground sits atop fabulously rich oil deposits, no wells mar its greens, for it is protected by the City of Long Beach and the oil derricks stop at its borders, like an army halted by a river.

Adjoining the old graveyard on the west is Sunnyside Cemetery, but a low hedge and a good many years separate the two. Sunnyside was started in 1906, making it a "Johnny come lately" when compared with the old municipal cemetery.

NO ONE IS SURE just how old the burial ground is—the oldest marked grave is that of one Milton F. Neece who was buried in 1878 at the age of 17 years.

But the graveyard goes back farther than that. Leonard Ryan, sexton, has been there since 1937. He tells about an old man who used to come around the cemetery back in the late 1930s. This elderly gentleman told Ryan that his father had been buried there "years ago—when I was a little boy." Ryan estimates that the man was in his 80s when he first met him!

Even official records don't shed much light on the early days of the cemetery. Mae D. Pierce, chief clerk in the Long Beach city engineer's office, can show you the old books.

THE CITY OF LONG BEACH was first incorporated in 1887, and took over operation of the graveyard on July 10, 1900, from the old Long Beach Cemetery Association or "L. B. Cemetery Co." as it was listed in many entries.

In those days the acreage was known as Signal Hill Cemetery, and the lots had all been sold off for private burial areas.

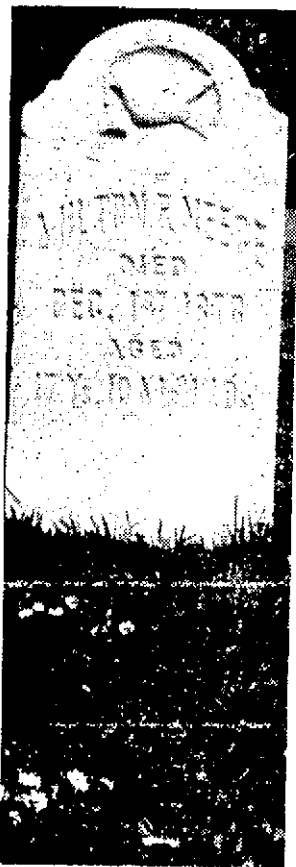

The record books were kept in such a vague manner that the city was unable to determine how much was paid for the lots—or how many persons were interred in the graveyard. The north end of the burial ground was a potter's field of unmarked and unidentified graves, and while the city has made a valiant effort to survey the headstones and spot them on a map, it never will be able to find out much about the potter's field graves.

ON THE EARLY PAPERS the 3½-acre burial ground is described as the "east one-quarter of farm lot 68, American Colony tract." And mention of the American Colony brings up the name of the cemetery's most famed occupant, William Erwin Willmore.

Willmore, city planner, visionary and philosopher, was an official of the American Colony Land and Water Association, organized in 1882. He signed an option contract to pay $100,000 for 4,000 acres of Rancho Los Cerritos, in order to build Willmore City.

His bubble burst and in 1901

By Ted Krec

he died a pauper, but his Willmore City grew into Long Beach. He lay in a forgotten grave until 1913 when the Signal Hill Civic League erected a modest monument over his final resting place.

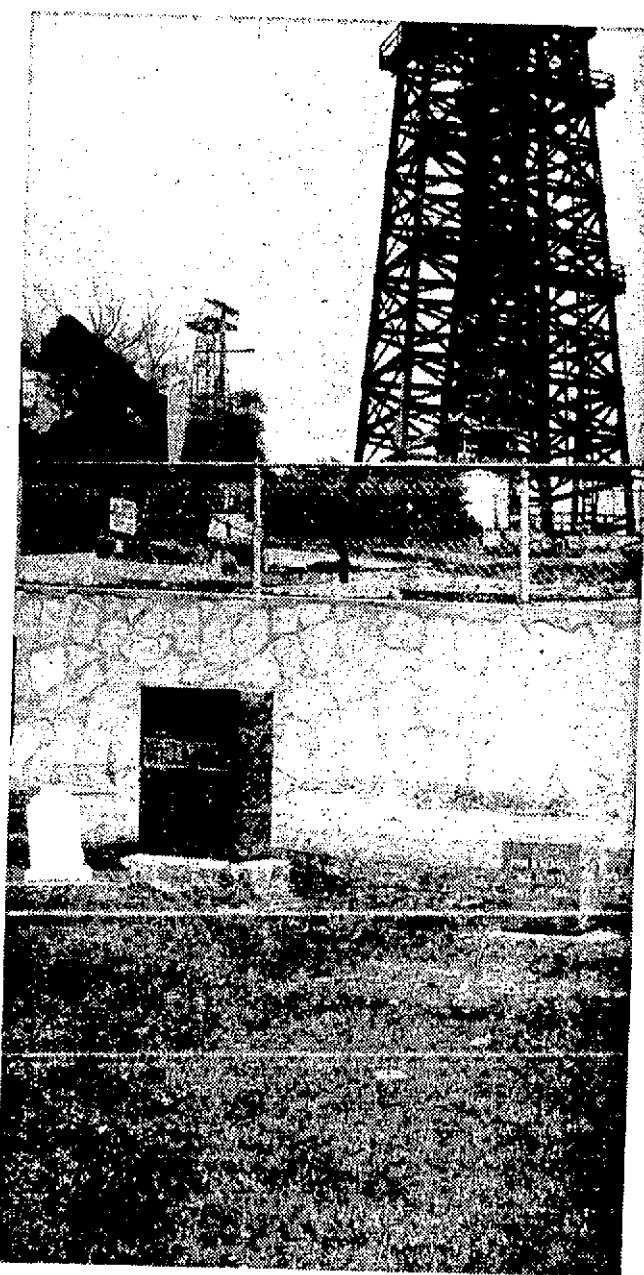

THE CITY AND Leonard Ryan have done much for the old burial ground. The city converted some old driveway area after it took over administration of the cemetery, and made some more lots available—but today there are only about 10 or 12 lots left for sale.

Ryan recalls how, 19 years ago when he came there, the graveyard was pretty well forgotten. Wild mustard was making inroads among the graves and there was no water line. Ryan knocked on doors in City Hall until he got a water line and instructions to "do the best you can." He did his best—and it was good enough. The little cemetery is beautiful.

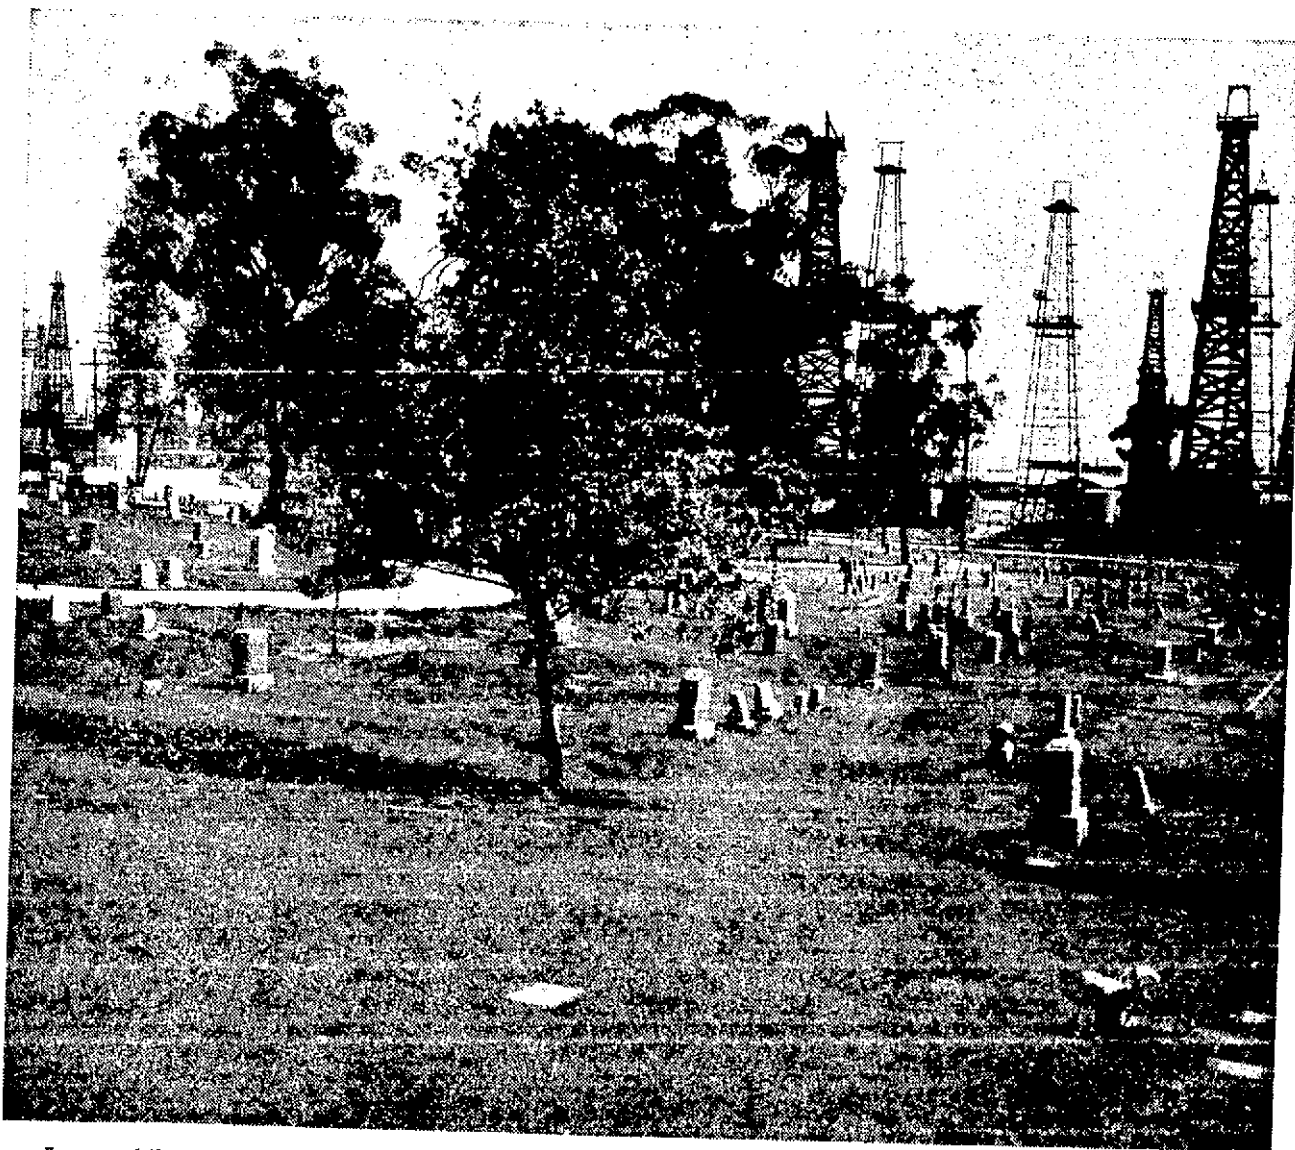

THE ADMINISTRATION of the burial ground has been handed back and forth for years. When the city first took over, it was put under the Board of Public Works, then it went to the Water Commission and later was put under Parks and Public Service. Even today there is no perpetual care assurance—the cemetery is kept up under a park maintenance appropriation!

Oil pumps creak and groan all around, and heavy traffic thunders by on streets just outside the fences, but inside the little burial ground everything is peaceful—just as it was when William Erwin Willmore gazed out across the plain to the sea and envisioned a city growing there.

Inside the fences are three acres of the past.

Wall separates the grave of William Erwin Willmore, city's "father," from busy Orange Ave., oil wells.

As crumbling old markers of L. B. Cemetery become irreparable, modern, ground-level stones replace them.

California Oil's Best Gusher

Good food and a real vacation deep in the Sierra does wonders with boys of 12 to 16 years of age in R. M. Pyles Boys Camp. Sports fare is varied.

By James Phelan

AWAY BACK in the administration of Calvin Coolidge, Freeman E. Fairfield founded Oil Tool Corporation, which now has its headquarters at 3075 Cherry Ave. in Long Beach. Over the years, Oil Tool Corp. has grown and prospered.

This month its 30th anniversary rolled around, and in keeping with the tribal customs of the business world, Fairfield decided to celebrate his company's 30th birthday.

Corporation birthdays, according to proper tribal rites, are observed with either a mass cocktail party or a Nero-type banquet where good fellowship flourishes amid high-calorie viands.

But Oil Tool Corp. decided to stage a different kind of celebration. Instead of feeding a throng of already well-fed businessmen, Fairfield sent out engraved announcements to the 2,500 friends and business associates on his guest list.

The announcements informed them that Oil Tool Corp. was 30 years old, and that the company was celebrating by making a contribution in the guests' names to the R. M. Pyles Boys' Camp.

Last week Oil Tool Corp. gave the boys camp a whopping check representing the "tab" for the party that Fairfield didn't throw.

THE PARTY where nobody came proved to be a remarkable success. Already, Fairfield has been snowed under with letters from his "guests" expressing warm approval of the idea, and the mail still is bringing 20 to 30 letters a day.

"Best darn party I never gave," says Oilman Fairfield.

THE PYLES BOYS' CAMP, now in its eighth year, has been inspiring unusual things in the California oil industry ever since it was founded.

The camp, high in the rustic solitude of Sierra National Forest, was organized, built, and is supported entirely by men and women of the oil industry. It came into being back in 1949, when a group of oil men decided to pay their respects to Robert M. Pyles for his years of service to the industry. Pyles, Huntington Beach oil man, told his friends that the tribute that would give him the most satisfaction was a camp for deserving youngsters.

IN EIGHT YEARS, the California oil industry has pumped a quarter-million dollars in cash and another quarter-million in donated labor and material into the camp high in the mountains 30 miles northeast of Springville, Calif.

Oilmen packed the entire camp and all its equipment over trails into the remote site. Each year a group of oil leaders drum up the budget for the operation of the camp. This year it runs to $30,000. And each year a host of oil people high salaried executives and plain riggers and drillers alike — journey to the camp to help hundreds of boys enjoy healthful and character-building vacations that they otherwise could not afford.

THE CAMP PAYS all expenses for the boys—transportation, food, bedding, recreational equipment—the works. If a boy doesn't have proper clothes, the camp outfits him free of charge. It draws no lines on race or color, and opens its hospitality to Negro and Mexican youngsters as well as white.

"A boy is a boy," Bob Pyles puts it simply.

The camp operates for 12 weeks, and each boy gets 13 thrilling days among the towering trees and sparkling trout streams of the High Sierra. The camp is deep in the unspoiled mountain reaches and can be reached only by a six-mile hike. Each season the tons of food and supplies must be mule-packed in.

THE BOYS, from 12 to 16 years in age, are selected from the oil producing areas of the state, many from Long Beach and Orange County. Pyles himself, with the help of judges, social workers, police officers, and school officials, picks the boys.

"We have two basic requirements," Pyles says. "A boy must be unable to afford a camp vacation and the kind of youngster that will profit from it."

During their two weeks at camp, the boys ride horses on mountain trails, learn crafts, woodsmanship and conservation, swim and yank rainbow trout from streams, sing around crackling campfires, stuff themselves from heaping plates of wholesome food, and sleep under brilliant stars far from the smoggy skies of the Southland.

THEY GAIN an average of six pounds of weight and two inches of chest expansion.

They also gain some intangibles that can't be measured.

The camp quietly and unobtrusively instills in them qualities of good citizenship, self-reliance, and cooperation with others.

"A lot of the boys come up looking for a gimmick in the deal," says Bob McAdams, former Scout executive who directs the camp program. "They have never had anything given to them without strings before, and they take the city-bred viewpoint that there must be some angle."

INSTEAD, THEY find a camp where there isn't a single sign saying "Don't" where the only thing expected of them is to enjoy themselves and get along with the rest of the gang.

"Some people say you can't do much with a boy in two weeks," McAdams says. "But we know by a lot of experience that you can."

The Pyles files bulge with heart-warming evidence that this is true. Mexican lads from squalid farm-labor camps get a wider horizon of life and learn a deeper meaning in the flag ceremony held each day at camp. A Negro boy who knew first-hand the warping effect of racial discrimination stood up at the final campfire and with misty eyes told his new-found buddies:

A boy with a continual chip on his shoulder, who had never got along with others, lost his belligerence in the camp camaraderie and wound up winning the boys' vote as honor camper.

When the camp shuts down in September, a follow-up program goes into operation and each year it has been expanded. The oil men keep in touch with the boys and help maintain the feeling, born at the camp, that "somebody cares."

THE PYLES CAMP provided vacations for 40 boys the first year of its operation. Last year it served 330. This year more than 400 will make the trek into the High Sierra and in the closing two weeks this fall the camp will be host to its 2000th boy.

The oil industry has thrived on long-shot gambles, and in the Pyles camp it has hit a gusher from its unique investment in the youth of California.

Its reward has been a whole crop of better boys, some of whom Bob Pyles hopes will become the oil men of tomorrow.

And there has been the added dividend of the praise of such people as Joseph Kennick, head of the Long Beach Juvenile Bureau, a man in a position to know the lasting values of the camp.

"It's a shining model of good citizenship," says Kennick.

When Oil Tool Corp. was 30 years old, Freeman Fairfield (c), president; R. J. Osburn (r), vice president, gave check to R. M. Pyles (l) for boys camp.

2-Way Crime Stopper

Picture and Story
By Jack B. Kemmerer

LAW ENFORCEMENT groups, for many years, have made widespread use of mobile communications, but not everybody knows how they operate. Here's a glimpse, and a case in example, behind the scenes, with Sgt. W. V. Holra of the Norwalk detective bureau of the Los Angeles County sheriff's office playing the part of an armed stickup man. In this case, as in many that are called to police attention, private citizens report unusual incidents—all of which are thoroughly checked out although many are false and misleading. As it is in this enactment of a crime, a private citizen driving out of a gas station notices a man getting out of a car with a gun in his belt. The man's actions further arouse the citizen's suspicions. He looks for an opportunity to tip off the police. A block from the gas station, he finds a public telephone.

Citizen stops, phones the sheriff's office, telling about suspicious autoist.

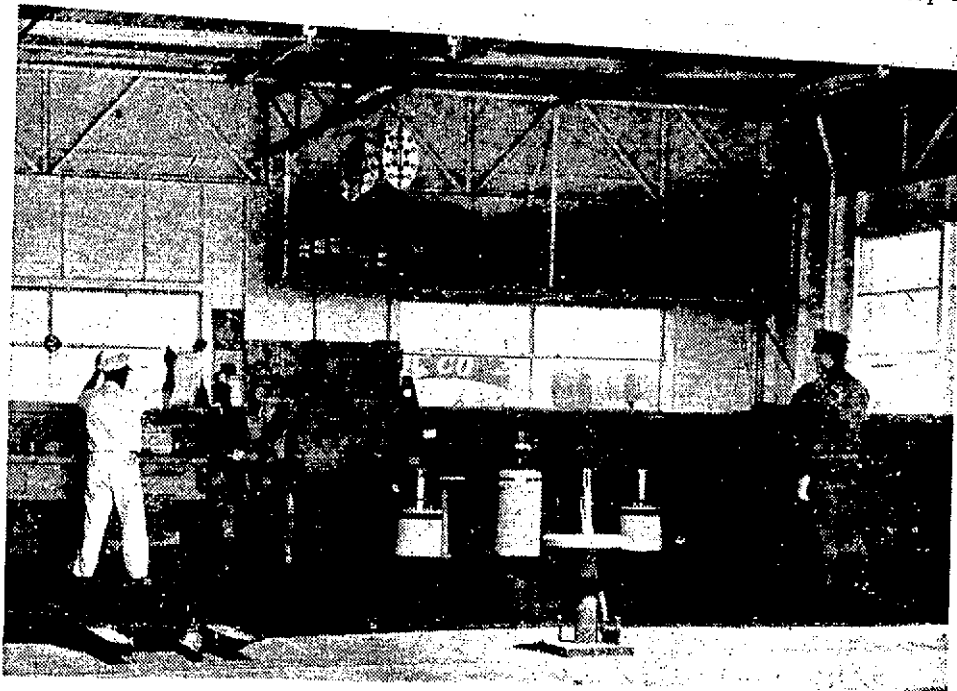

Sheriff's Radio Central controls units throughout 3325 square miles of county. Seconds after citizen's call, deputy broadcasts: "Attention all units, special attention Norwalk Car 454, a 211 in progress. Investigate."

Deputy C. F. Buck in Car 454, patrolling Norwalk area, acknowledges call, proceeds to the scene of the possible armed robbery — a 211.

Meanwhile, the citizen's suspicions were 100 percent correct, robbery is in progress. Bandit rifles cash box, seeks more loot inside.

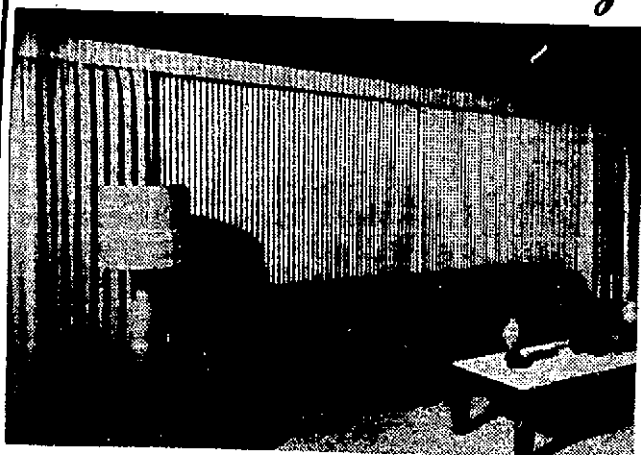

In less than five minutes from time of robbery report, Buck makes an approach; slipping up on unsuspecting gunman, he is able to disarm the man.

Using mobile radiophone in his patrol car, Buck calls for assistance to haul the suspect off to county jail.

Invitation to a 13-ager Party

Teen-agers like plenty of refreshments at their parties, substantial food but attractively prepared, easy to pick up and eat, as posed photo shows.

EVERY thirteen-ager should be allowed to have a party at least two or three times a year. Parents who have not yet permitted their youngsters to have this privilege might be surprised to learn that the preparations for such affairs are quite simple, and the cost is relatively small.

By Stella George

First of all, invitations to the party should be given about three weeks in advance. It is a good idea to telephone the guests in order that mothers can talk with one another, confirm the time, and be reassured that the party will be well chaperoned.

The number of guests should be limited to six or seven couples. If a rumpus room is not available, the living room (and perhaps the dining room, if there is one) will be used.

A party is more festive if some kinds of decorations are evident. Perhaps the most inexpensive and effective ornamentations are balloons. These cost as little as a cent each, and if they are blown up, rubbed against a coarse material, then put against the wall or ceiling, they will stay in place without hurting the paint or woodwork in any way.

REFRESHMENTS for a teen-age party should be substantial yet attractive. An excellent menu might include punch made with grape juice, orange juice and ginger ale; two or three kinds of sandwiches, such as pea-

Dish of Pulchritude

Pulchritude shines like a universe of brilliant stars in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Opposite Sex," forthcoming song and dance spectacular. There are blondes and there are brunettes and there are redheads. Some of them are great stars and some of them you'll probably meet for the first time—much to your utter satisfaction. Here's a sample of what we mean:

Brunet charmer from England, Joan Collins helps garnish the dish of beauty served in "The Opposite Sex."

Ann Miller's exciting toes ...and other attributes... for tap dancing, portrays character of glib chorine.

Pensive Janet Lake seems to be thinking of something soulful as she sits on Hollywood springboard.

Danger rides with the pilots of these 266-cubic-inch hydroplanes, capable of 120-plus miles per hour, but these outfits lure the true Spraymaniacs.

SPEEDBOAT RACERS HAVE NEW NAME

They Call Them 'Spraymaniacs'

By Bob Ruskauff

THEY'VE DEVELOPED a new name for these "disciples" of high speed over water.

They are calling them "Spraymaniacs." The disease which obsesses them is called "Spraymania."

There are other names for it, but none any better.

It strikes in moderate and heavy form, but attacks are rarely light. If moderate, those stricken eventually outgrow it, though they never forget it. If heavy, it never quite leaves. Those it has struck hard never bother to fight it. Further, they can sometimes even explain why.

THOSE FOR WHOM the disease is incurable are generally the greatest in their speed clan. The faster they go, the rougher their class, the greater the risk. They know this. Knowing it, the fast-and-rough is exactly what they go for.

Nor have they been "just lucky so far." With rare exceptions, the top ones among these prop-riders have experienced nasty, injury-producing spills. Some of the injuries have been serious.

On Wednesday some prime examples among the high priests of Spraymania will be at Long Beach Marine Stadium, racing hell-for-leather (as usual) in the 11th edition of the All-Western Sweepstakes regatta, for inboard racing hydroplanes and runabouts. The event is one of three top-flight inboard meets on the upcoming national holidays, all part of a record program of race-boat action on the famous "lanky lagoon" during 1956.

All of the true Spraymaniacs

will be there. They always come back. They must. Not for money; none gets back what it costs. So, at first thought, it might seem strange.

Take Kenny Ingram, as an example. Two years ago this 40-year-old machine shop superintendent was run over in an accident on Marine Stadium. He lost an arm. Last year he was back, racing in a successful season. This year though, instead of his 48-cubic-inch hydroplane, Ingram is due out with a new, faster job, in the 225-cubic-inch class. He has a special steering arrangement to drive with his "store-made" hand.

His philosophy: "Pretend it never happened."

Or take Bob Willis of the Willis Oil Tool Co. on Signal Hill. Three years ago he drove a boat called Roughneck to win the National E-Racing Runabout title, at Buffalo. Later, Willis was in a nasty spill on Salton Sea. So, last year, he went into the faster 225 class. Now he's into the souped-up dynamite fleet of 266-cubic-inch hydroplanes.

"I like speed," explains handsome Bob.

Three years ago Sid Street, Kansas City automobile dealer, was hospitalized for months, following a spill with his 266-cubic-inch hydroplane, Z-Z-Zip, also on Salton Sea.

TWO MONTHS AGO Street was out on Marine Stadium testing a new Z-Z-Zip, built up by the famed Southland "brain-trust" of Joe Guess and Bob Sykes. The chance hasn't come yet, but the boat has displayed an ability to turn 135 miles an hour, far over present record.

Said Street: "If she'll hold together I know we'll do it."

He won't be racing here May 30, but Kenny St. Oegger, a veteran of Marine Stadium action, will be gingerly trying out the strengthening leg he broke when Hawaii Kai flipped March 4 in Honolulu. A new Hawaii Kai unlimited hydro is being built at St. Oegger's place, General Fixture Co., in Los Angeles, for Henry J. Kaiser. St. Oegger will drive it.

Said Kenny: "We are duplicating the hull. It went beautifully. Barring accident, we'll get the unlimited piston-boat record."

THREE DAYS BEFORE he made his record jet hydroplane run of 216.2 m.p.h. on Lake Mead, Nev., I asked England's Donald Campbell "Why this stuff?" He smiled and asked: "Why does a man climb a mountain?"

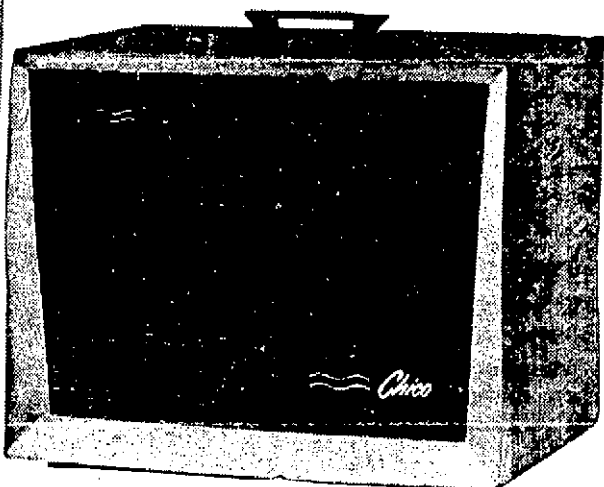

Why, indeed, Spraymania? Well, you just have it, though some will give a deeper reason.

It's only by extracting the utmost, and then a little more, from these swift, souped-up mechanical demons, that those who race discover things. Those things are instructive to engineers and builders. As Campbell commented:

"Whatever you put on a blueprint and build isn't enough. Somebody has to go out and prove whether it works or not."

Those who go out are thoroughly aware how serious this Spraymania can be. But what they discover may eventuate into something better—and safer—for you and I to drive in more leisurely fashion, a few years hence.

She Soloed in Ballet

Sunday, May 27, 1956

SHE MOVES easily, lightly, carrying trayloads of dishes as if she were a ballet dancer.

And slim Elizabeth Haire, 54, waitress and bus girl at Manning's Coffee Cafe, 125 W. Broadway, IS a ballet dancer.

She danced in the Orient for 17 years, much of the time as first soloist with the Russian Ballet Dancers. She has danced in most of the large theaters, night clubs, and smart restaurants in China, Japan, Java, Hong Kong and Manila.

BORN IN THE UKRAINE, as Elizabeth Karassell, the daughter of a doctor, she received her general education and her ballet training in Moscow. Her dancing name was Lila Veresshaguina, or more often merely "Miss Veresshaguina."

By way of the Russian-Asiatic Railway, since surrendered to the Chinese, she traveled with the Russian Ballet dancers to Harbin in 1928, where her dancing career began in the Harbin Opera House. In those days Harbin was half Russian and half Chinese.

After two years there, the

By Vera Williams

Russian Ballet Dancers began traveling. "Most of the time," she says, "we had a prima ballerina, a premier, a ballet master, four first soloists, eight second soloists."

"The group played in the big places, but one, two, three or four of us would play the smaller places. We did three, four or five ballets a year. Always there was practice, rehearsals."

"We had to have many beautiful costumes, and they cost much money."

"We made more money playing, like in the movie theaters, between shows. Sometimes we played three or four movie theaters at one time. Without time to change, we would go in our costumes in a car from theater to theater, three performances a day in each theater, and maybe restaurants also at night."

"SHANGHAI," she says, "was our main town. We would go from Shanghai to other places, but always we would come back."

Her last appearance was in 1945 in the Lyceum Theater in Shanghai. She came to Long Beach in 1948 and has been at Manning's for four years. She has become an American citizen.

Her first husband, whose last name was Veresshaguina, died in Russia before the war. Her second husband, an American named Haire, now is in Japan.

Her mother, son and two grandchildren live in Russia. At least they did the last she knew. "We cannot get letters back and forth, but we hear from each other roundabout."

DOES SHE DANCE any more?

She shakes her head. "Sometimes I give a ballet lesson. A school calls me to help with a pupil. They like the way I teach."

Does she want to dance any more?

"That is past. . . Oh, sometimes when there is pretty music on the radio and I am alone, I dance. But no one sees me."

Just a little bit out of real life character in her daily work, Elizabeth Haire strikes a pose reminiscent of days when she was first soloist in ballet.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH

"Would it be possible for us to take our dog—a small dog—with us on a trip to Europe this summer?"

THE airlines will fly a dog. And some of the shipping lines have de luxe kennels. But you run into terrible complications in England particularly. A six months quarantine right to start. I think France is easy.

The French take their dogs into restaurants and feed them from the table quite often. It is a doggy country. If you want to find out about quarantine charges in England, write Spratt's Patent Ltd., 41/7 Bow Road, London E. 3.

"We have a choice of stop-overs (due to time schedules). Which is better, Hong Kong or Manila?"

MY CHOICE would be Hong Kong. Manila is certainly foreign and exotic and interesting. But Hong Kong is more of a city. If you want a little wild life, take the boat over to Macao. Gambling, opium layouts, smuggling and quite a pretty town too. I'd keep clear of the Chinese border though. Once in a while they have a little trouble and you could come back with your brain laundered. A good town if you mind your own business.

"How about road connections between Mexico and Guatemala?"

AS always, still in the planning stage. Below Tehuantepec about 100 miles turn off to Arriaga on the coast. You load your automobile on a flat car and ride it down to the Guatemala border. Requires a certain amount of patience and persuasion sometimes to get an empty flat car. A 50-peso note is a handy persuader.

"Should we take travelers checks or is there a better way?"

After trying travelers checks, personal checks, letters of credit and transferred funds, I've decided on the travel checks. Even though at this moment I have been waiting three months for a return on one stolen $50 check.

Personal checks are too hard to cash. Letters of credit put you through too much paper work in banks where the language is a problem. Same goes for transferred funds. The travel checks cash anywhere. And I suppose I'll get the $50 sometime.

"We would like to drive through Spain but we wonder if the roads and accommodations are good."

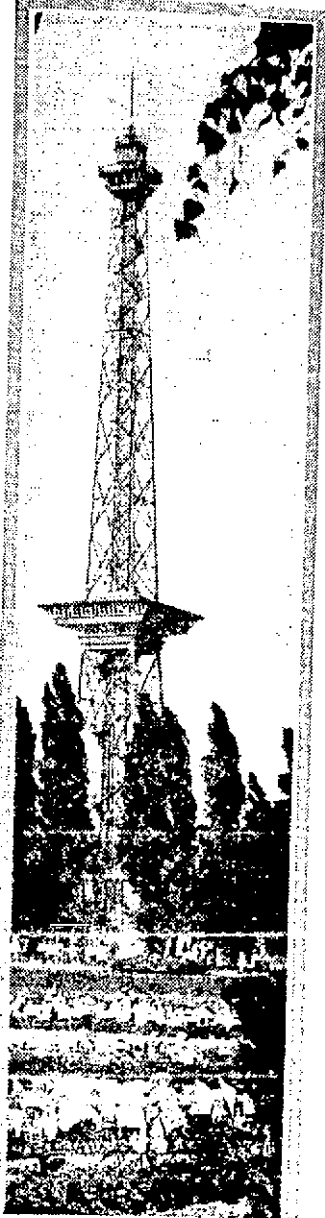

THE Spanish roads are not super highways. But they are what we would call good secondary roads. Hotels and restaurants may be a problem. Especially during the heavy tourist season. There are very good State-operated posadas. But they are small and often full. However, I've done it couple of times without reservations, just wandering from place to place. And I always managed well enough.

"Do we get visas on our passports here or when we get to Europe?"

NO visas necessary any more in any country this side of the Iron Curtain. Just an up-to-date passport. And a vaccination within the last three years to get back into the United States.

Your mailed questions will be answered (no phone calls). Send stamped and addressed envelope to: Stan Delaplane, Southland Magazine, Independent, Press-Telegram, Sixth and Pine, Long Beach 11, Calif.

Berlin Fair

Around Berlin are the popular fair grounds with the Funkturm, or radio tower, as the focal point. An express elevator goes up the tower to give visitors a rare view of the city. Restaurant is shown in foreground.

Steeped in History

Visitors touring southeast Washington generally make their headquarters at Walla Walla, the gracious and historic old city founded along the Oregon Trail. One attraction near the city is the Marcus Whitman National Monument and grave—the site at which this famous missionary was massacred by renegade Cayuse Indians in 1847.

State Parks Pack 'Em In

THIS SUMMER even more than last, America's state parks systems will be bursting at the seams. Reports from all states to the National Association of Travel Organizations indicate that camping sites especially are going to be scarce. In states, vacationers already are too late to reserve sites on which to pitch tents.

The increased popularity of camping is one of the vacation phenomena of the mid-20th Century, says the association, which speaks for the whole U. S. travel industry. Tent and trailer camping in state parks grew 60 per cent in popularity from 1952 to 1954. Preliminary reports to the National Park Service indicate an additional 15 per cent camping in the state parks during 1955.

To help meet the tremendous upswing in parks popularity, California has made many additions and improvements. Among these is the transfer of 1,834 acres of Shasta National Forest land to Castle Crags Park, which will have 50 new camp sites, a comfort station and other facilities with summer. McArthur-Burney Falls Memorial Park has a new concession building. Pfeiffer-Big Sur Park officials have a "Litterbug" program in which children receive prizes for the most litter collected in the park. Prizes are Smokey Bear fire prevention pins and horseback rides.

The U. S. has more than 2,000 state parks, ranging from small picnic areas to tremendous acreages with million-dollar lodges and complete resort facilities. Arizona now is the only state of the 48 without some sort of state parks system.

Attendance at the park system has jumped more than 40 per cent since 1952, and should be more than 180,000,000 in 1956.

In California's Antelope Valley little did he realize that less than 25 years later the public would be beating a path to his isolated and rockbound door.

At their homestead ranch Edwards and his family decided in 1928 to build a weekend summer home in the desolate but beautiful spot high above the desert floor of Antelope Valley. Their first construction was a huge rock fireplace built against the massive rock formations and which today greets visitors to the Antelope Valley Indian Museum in the main room of the buildings.

Due to his interest in minerals, shells and Indian archeology, Edwards hit upon the idea of establishing a small museum to hold his growing collection. Throughout the Antelope Valley interested persons added to the growing collection and made loans or gifts of valued stone implements, baskets and other Indian material.

THE SMALL MUSEUM was bulging at the seams by 1938 and needed more room. Grace and Joe Oliver, Antelope Valley ranchers, decided to buy the property and expand the buildings for the benefit of the area's school children. Grace Oliver has been an ardent archeological fan for years and had made many trips to Central and South America, Canada, and East and Southwest collecting Indian materials.

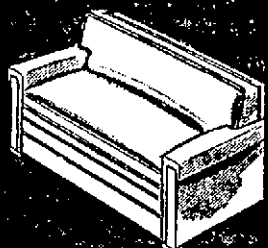

The Olivers made extensive additions to the museum, adding both rooms and more Indian material including complete displays of the work of modern Indian tribes. Today, the rambling chalet-type buildings house as fine a collection of Indian art as any museum in the country and the Olivers take great pride in showing the unique museum carved in the rocks of Piute Butte.

LAGUNA BEACH MAN RECALLS HIS PART IN

The Golden Age of the Theater

Famed on the inland waterways of the U. S. were showboats like this. The Cotton Blossom, on which Oswell Jackson trod the boards, resembled this.

By Caroline Coleman

"IT WAS the golden age of the theater—and I was part of it!"

High in his snug hillside house at Laguna Beach, with the ocean glittering far below, Oswell Jackson—"Ozzie" to his artist friends, "Jack" to his actor friends—looks over his press books, clippings, photographs.

In his career and his memories he comes close to encompassing the golden age of the American theater—an age that many theatergoers think is far past.

Jackson greatly regrets that he did not see Edwin Booth, but he saw the other greats of his youth and he appeared with some of them.

"I SUPED WITH Bernhardt in 'Camille' and 'The Scorchers,'" he says, "and I suped with Duse in 'Francesca da Rimini.'"

"A super—supernumerary—is an extra, one who appears in a mob scene, perhaps he carries a spear, but he has no lines to speak. Supe is the verb."

Jackson then was a young Chicago theatrical student, and the students received 50 cents a night for "suping" in the great shows that came along.

"Sarah Bernhardt was the greatest of them all," he says, "well, of course there was Eleonora Duse—but they were so different. Duse was suppressed. Bernhardt let go and did the terrific climaxes.

"Duse was aloof. She wore no makeup. She did not come to the rehearsals with us. We never saw her until we went on the stage with her.

"BERNHARDT loved to be with people. Bernhardt never came in the stage door. She came in the front door, heading a procession. Following her came he: manager, her secretary, her leading man. And do you know who her leading man was in those days? Lou Tellegen. He was 19 years old and very handsome." (Tellegen later committed suicide by stabbing himself 78 times with a knife.)

"Bernhardt spoke French—no English," recalls Jackson, "but I always thought she could speak English if she wanted to."

He recalls that one time a student, Marie Schweisthadt, who spoke a little French, was chosen by Bernhardt to play the part of her maid in "The Scorchers."

"Bernhardt told her in French she wanted her hair down and loose, fluffed out for the play.

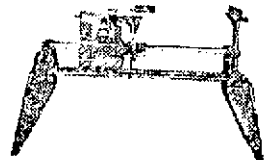

"THE PLAY WAS about the Spanish inquisition, with a terrific climax with only Bernhardt and the maid on the stage. "The curtain roared down. The crowd began cheering and yelling 'Bravo! Bravo! Bravo!'

"Marie started to run off the stage, but Bernhardt pulled her back, and with her arm around

...And Then He Met DeMille

Cecil B. DeMille, John Jensen, Long Beach artist, talk on set of "The Ten Commandments." Sir Cedric Hardwicke, head shaved for Pharaoh role, sits in.

By Vera Williams

JOHN JENSEN, Long Beach artist and former student at Chouinard Art Institute, Los Angeles, is mighty glad he entered a picture in a student exhibition there a few years ago.

"There was this sketch of mine on the walls," Jensen tells the story. "Along came Henry Wilcoxon, Cecil B. DeMille's associate producer.

"Wilcoxon liked the sketch and asked to meet me. He invited me to the studio. I thought he was ribbing me.

"But I went, and met DeMille—and DeMille hired me."

JENSEN WAS a production designer on the circus story, "The Greatest Show on Earth." Now he is hard at work on DeMille's VistaVision story of "The Ten Commandments," his imagination channeled through paints, brush, pen and pencil, scale ruler and sketches and drawings of all kinds.

In association with Arnold Friberg, the celebrated Mormon artist and illustrator, Jensen has created Biblical impressions of major scenes, together with action, wardrobe and character interpretations for "The Ten Commandments."

These visualizations, detailed on canvas or pad paper, serve every department—costumes, properties, camera and construction.

IN MANY INSTANCES a look at the artists' sketches has given Producer-Director DeMille a new idea in playing a scene or a new interpretation or piece of business, character-wise, for Charlton Heston, Anne Baxter, Yul Brynner, Edward G. Robinson, Yvonne De Carlo, Debra Paget, John Derek or others in the picture.

Pictorial high points of "The Ten Commandments" include Moses on Sinai receiving the law for all mankind; Hebrew slaves toiling in brick pits to build a great city for their Egyptian captors; pomp and ceremony of the court of Pharaoh; Biblical plagues; the Exodus; the splitting of the Red Sea.

EDITH HEAD, Paramount stylist; Ralph Jester, designer and production man; Dorothy Jenkins, designer; Friberg and Jensen divided costume interpretations, even to the extra men playing in the Exodus sequence far from the camera.

Jensen concentrated on costumes worn by John Derek as Joshua and Edward G. Robinson as Nathan, the traitor.

The Golden Key of D & E
Opens New Fairyland of Homes
"Prince Charming"
 SERIES

FAIRVIEW RANCHES

"And they lived happily ever after" is the way that all good fairy stories end, and to make this happy conclusion come true for modern Prince Charmings and their ladies fair, D and E proudly presents the most enchanting community of homes ever designed—Fairview Ranches Prince Charming Series. Straight from the pages of "Sleeping Beauty," "Snow White," and all of the happiest books of childhood . . . come these charming homes with their low sweeping roofs, wide overhangs, their quaint windows, shutters, and brick trim, and their nostalgic remembrance of long ago and far away. Here is the happiest living of all . . . in D and E's incomparable Prince Charming homes.

For all their quaintness and charm, these Prince Charming homes are no stage set of canvas and paint . . . for here is sound, conventional quality construction—as only D and E Builders, with a proud record of thousands upon thousands of homes built in Southern California, can bring you. You'll find solid hardwood oak floors laid over diagonal sub-flooring raised 18 inches above the ground. The walls and ceilings are genuine lath and plaster, so durable and adding so much to the resale value. A whole world of luxury features ranging from the massive fireplace to the lavish built-in kitchen appliances promise a lifetime of living "happily ever after!"

Dr. P. Victor Peterson and Dr. Betty Kazan of Madison, Wis., recall points of interview which resulted in Dr. Kazan coming to Long Beach State College.

LONG BEACH STATE ADOPTS

The Forward Look

By Jess Glawson

LONG BEACH State College, through the efforts of its energetic president, Dr. P. Victor Peterson, has developed a unique system of faculty and staff recruitment which seems likely to place the local school among the most "forward-looking" collegiate institutions in the nation.

Traditionally, colleges and universities have relied almost solely upon local institutions to provide the necessary personnel for filling staff vacancies. As a result, recruiting areas have remained small and local ideas, local opinions, and local prejudices have been reinforced—creating, in many cases, a narrow and illiberal provincialism which thwarts the broad aims of education.

Believing that a primary function of education is to provide students with "the broader view," Long Beach State has sought to give deserved recognition—and representation—to as many as possible of the divergent ideas, philosophies, and opinions which compose American thought.

EACH YEAR Dr. Peterson makes a tour of carefully selected American colleges seeking trained educators to fill faculty vacancies at Long Beach State. His primary purpose is to procure high-caliber personnel who will keep the local college "abreast of the times," and who will reflect credit upon the community it represents. Approximately 50 per cent of the instructors at State have been recruited in this manner.

Dr. Peterson made his sixth annual tour this year. In 30 days he interviewed more than 200 applicants, visiting five universities in four states during one week alone, and hired 70 new instructors for Long Beach State College. Traveling by train, plane, and bus, he often found it necessary to remain active 24 hours a day in order to meet all his scheduled interviews.

RECRUITING IS not confined to these "scheduled interviews," however. Dr. Peterson tells "the Long Beach Story" everywhere, and follows up every lead which may result in the hiring of another top-flight instructor for the college.

One such lead resulted in his meeting and hiring Dr. Irving Ahlquist who has become one of the area's best-known educators, and who is much in demand as a speaker and lecturer. During his first tour (1949), Dr. Peterson was introduced to Dr. Ahlquist by a bookstore operator in Cedar Falls, Iowa. A brief conversation whetted the president's interest in the young historian and a subsequent interview confirmed his opinion that "here was the type of educator we needed." Less than a week later, Dr. Ahlquist became the newest member of the Long Beach State College faculty.

DR. PETERSON'S 1956 tour took him to the Universities of Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Chicago, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska, Colorado, Denver and Utah, and to Washington University, Northwestern University and Iowa State College.

Dr. Peterson said recently, "The progress Long Beach State has made in gaining recognition among the higher institutions of learning is surprising and gratifying. On my first trip of this type, Long Beach State was an unknown, and now it has become a well known college and a credit to Long Beach."

Desserts Like Mother Makes

ACTRESS, speaker, humorist, book reviewer—but mostly mother—that backgrounds our hostess today: Mrs. T. H. (Fanny) McEnroe. That she is "mostly Mom" is conveyed clearly in this quote:

"Raising a family of three lively boys, with their many friends making our house 'open house' day and night, there are bound to be favorite recipes down through the years. Here are a few that were, and still are, often called for. Most of them are man-fare (none of this frothy stuff, Mom) so skip these desserts if you want to reduce!

"There is one pet recipe to celebrate all great events: when THE girls came along (to show parental approval); when THE grandchildren arrived (to show grand-parental delight); when the boys came home from school, from service, or just to show our special love, this ice box pudding is our universal choice."

(Editor's note: The recipe for Ice Box Pudding is the featured one today.)

Fanny's next recipe is for nut cake. She says, "Use the same recipe as for the cake pudding, omitting the chocolate and adding one-half cup chopped nuts instead. Top with your favorite frosting."

Of her pineapple upside down cake she says, "Our erudite professor son gives this an extremely high grade."

Pineapple Upside Down Cake

- 1/2 cup shortening
- 3/4 cups sugar
- 2 eggs
- 3/4 cups water
- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 3 tsp. baking powder
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. vanilla

While mixing cake batter, put 4 tablespoons butter or margarine, and one cup brown sugar in heavy iron skillet. Cook slowly until smooth. Turn off heat and arrange slices of pineapple (cherry in center) in syrup. Put batter over fruit and syrup and bake in same skillet. When done turn upside down on your fanciest plate, leaving fruit on top.

Apple torte is a McEnroe favorite, too, and of it she says: "I won my husband with this. Easy to make and faster to disappear. (the dessert, I mean)."

Apple Torte

- 2 cups apples (chopped small)
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup walnuts
- 2 beaten eggs
- 1 1/2 tsp. baking powder
- 1/2 tsp. salt (Mother always said "a pinch" but some people pinch harder than others)
- 3/4 cups flour

Mix all together, adding eggs last. Pour into large pie plate and bake one-half hour, over

Mrs. T. H. (Fanny) McEnroe is one who knows value of a good dessert in a family where male appetites prevail.

Fanny McEnroe's Ice Box Pudding:

- 1 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons butter (cream together)
- 1 egg broken into cup. (Beat, and fill cup with milk. Pour into butter-sugar mixture. Beat hard.)

Sift together into first mixture:

- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 1/2 teaspoon soda
- 1 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Bake at 350° for 40 minutes. While still warm, break cake apart into bowl and drop the following sauce over the layers of cake.

- 1/2 cake cooking chocolate melted with
- 1/4 pound butter
- 1 cup sugar

Stir into chocolate mixture, but do not cook:

Three raw eggs (drop separately into above, beating hard after each). Alternate cake and sauce in bowl. Refrigerate 24 hours (unless discovered) and top with whipped cream.

Fanny has twin sons, too, and accompanying her recipe for chocolate chip pie were these words:

"The twins, both artist and plumber, go big for this. I used to make this with semi-sweet cake chocolate, but the chocolate chips are so much easier. And I'm not too hot with flaky pie crust, but the filling always makes up for that. And it's too rich to eat the crust, anyway!"

Kitchen Tip:

To remove the meat from those pesky pecan or Brazil nut shells, put the nuts into a kettle and cover with cold water. Bring to a boil for 2 minutes. When thoroughly cool and dry, you will be delighted at how easy they are to shell—and generally they come out whole.

Chocolate Chip Pie

Dissolve one package chocolate chips in double boiler. Add: 3 tblsp. sugar and BEAT 2 tblsp. milk and BEAT 4 egg yolks. BEAT after each one 4 stiffly beaten egg whites. Whip these into the chocolate mixture and pour into baked pie shell. Top with whipped cream.

Echoing a Pattern of Living

Fireplace, reduced to simple form, and a continuous wall of wood extending beyond glass exterior wall add interest to the James Nakanishi home.

By Eileen Ball

INDICATIVE of a trend in contemporary architecture being promoted by architects across the nation is the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Nakanishi, 690 Havana Ave., designed by Kazumi Adachi.

The house is constructed on the age-old post-and-beam principle; but, paradoxically, its design is the result of an attempt to echo the pattern of life as it is lived today.

Considerations weighed by the architect, Adachi, in planning the house included a limited budget and a necessity for accommodating two small children as well as two adults, all of whom like company and privacy in about equal measure.

ACHIEVING A QUALITY of privacy was especially necessary because of the site, located at the corner of Havana and heavily-traveled 7th St. The length of the lot, 130 feet, runs parallel to 7th, where the noise and sight of busy traffic were unwanted factors. The house, therefore, was oriented to the south away from the intersection. No privacy-robbing windows face toward either of the streets, yet the exterior elevations from both sides are extremely interesting.

The west exposure (facing Havana) has caused considerable comment with its unusual fireplace. Set into an otherwise uninterrupted wall of narrow vertical wood siding bleached to a driftwood finish is an exterior brick firebox that accommodates the living room flush fireplace. From this simple masonry cubicle extends a round clay chimney.

From 7th St. a pleasing combination of textures contributes much to the good appearance of the house.

A small courtyard enclosed with weathered grapestakes is located to the left of the front door. A small shade garden situated in an ell provided by the house and the fence abounds in lush tropical plants that are effectively backed by walls of light yellow stucco. The trim and front door are stark white as are the heavy cantilevered beams that extend out beyond the ceiling to provide an overhang. Set up high between the beams at ceiling level are fixed panels of glass that admit gentle north sunlight to the living area. A stationary panel of fluted glass, the same width and height as the doorway, is located to the right of the front door.

Either exterior view of the house—the west with its unconventional fireplace or the north with its extended beams—is an example of a growing trend to leave structural members of a building exposed for the sake of the decorative elements they provide.

ALTHOUGH THERE are virtually no windows along three sides of the house, almost all the entire south exposure is glass. (The technical possibilities inherent in the post-and-beam type construction makes unnecessary the need for interior walls to support roof weight and also permits widespread use of glass for exterior walls.)

The front door opens to a hallway that leads to the living area on the right and serves to connect the three bedrooms and bath toward the left. This part of the hallway serves admirably as an entry, thus saving the living room from a lack of privacy every time the door opens.

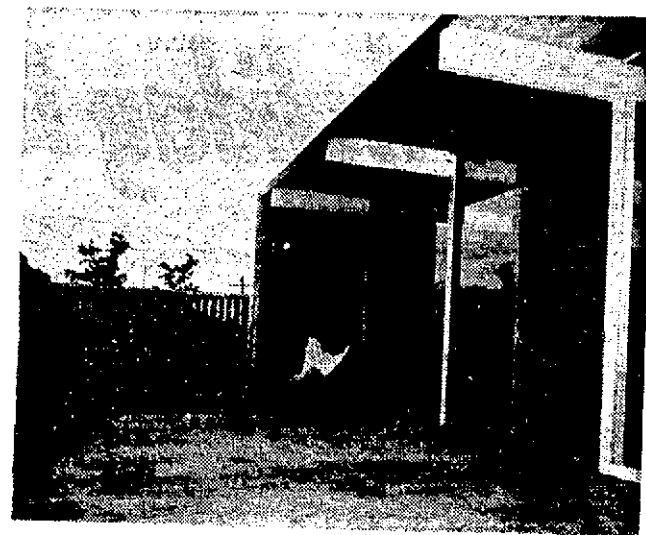

Directly opposite the front door are lowered doors that conceal washing facilities. As unusual as this arrangement may seem, there were sound reasons for its placement. For one thing, the economy factor dictated that all plumbing be centralized in one area. (The laundry is back-to-back with the kitchen and the bath.)

ALSO, THE SMALL enclosed patio-courtyard on the 7th St. side of the house is Mrs. Nakanishi's service yard, and a door located but a few steps to the left of the front door and across from the laundry enclosure opens to this yard. Consequently, the south garden is reserved for outdoor living without the necessity to serve as a drying yard, as well.

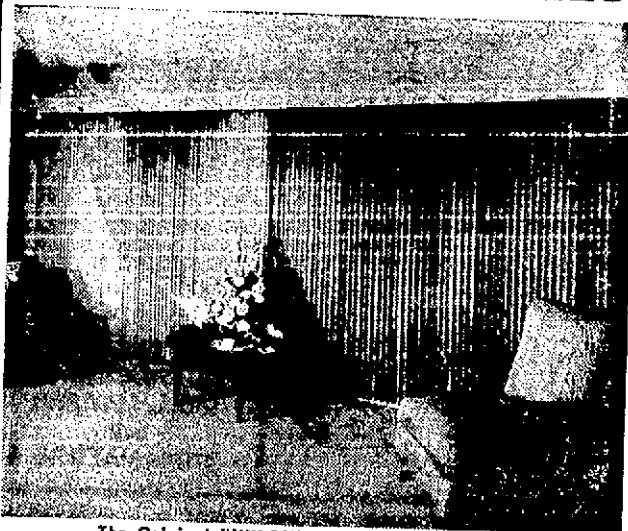

An immediate impression of the living area is one of simplicity and openness. A resilient cork floor adds warmth of feeling to the near-austerity of the architecture.

Along the entire 24-foot south side of the room glass panels extend up to the higher-than-average ceiling.

The north wall is plaster. North light filters into the room high above eye-level through the stationary glass panels set between the beams.

At the far end of the room is a fireplace reduced to a simple form. A low raised hearth of concrete and a simple frame of a single course of red brick are modest embellishments for the flush opening. The fireplace is set in a wall of vertical wood furring bleached to a driftwood finish. The manner in which the wall extends to and on through the glass to provide a baffle for the patio on the outside is one of the ways the architect has created a merger of interior and exterior that is so typical of this house.

FROM A VISUAL standpoint, the south "wall" of the living area is one with the garden fence which is a much more defined barrier than are the glass panels that impose little feeling of division.

Furnishings for the living room are simple, handsomely-styled and very mobile since this sort of area accommodates ever-changing demands.

Near the kitchen is the area designated for dining. A counter panel in the wall between the living room and kitchen may be pulled down for buffet service. Its serving surface is topped with plastic in the same grey-blue color used throughout the kitchen.

A second unique feature of the kitchen is the way its glass window-wall slides open for refreshment service to the patio.

THE BATH and three bedrooms are arranged, in that order, along the hallway to the left of the entry. The left wall of the hallway is almost entirely devoted to storage behind sliding doors of varnished no-voply (a material made of pressed wood shavings).

A buffet panel lets down for easy table setting and serving of food and party refreshments from kitchen to modern dining area of Nakanishi home.

Both the children have rooms with floor-to-ceiling glass panels that overlook the patio. There is adequate built-in wardrobe space for the accommodation of clothing and toys.

The master bedroom has a built-in wardrobe and chest that features 8 tray-drawers colorfully painted white, lemon yellow and orange. An adjoining storage room is roughed-in for the ultimate installation of plumbing fixtures.

By Horseless Carriage to a Ball

Autoists turned cowboys and cowgirls recently when members of Newport Beach Regional Group, Horseless Carriage Club, drove their cars of ancient vintage to Glenn Ranch in the San Bernardino Mountains and had a ball for themselves. They swam, ate, wore their old-time costumes dancing, rode horseback or just plain loafed and enjoyed themselves. A cameraman who was along took pictures to prove it.

And when their stay was over, Horseless Carriers headed downhill, waved a farewell by Henry and Elora Hertz, Glenn Ranch owners, operators.

Martha, Tom, John and Ernie Boyer, Long Beach folk, enjoyed excellent ranch food.

There was dancing for the guests, part of regular ranch entertainment schedule.

Glenn Ranch boasts of a typically western lounge and there the guests are invited to make themselves informally at home. Entertainment is provided.

Oswell Jackson was handsome leading man in the theater's golden period.

At 72, Jackson, now long retired from the theater, resides in Laguna Beach.

"Then Bernhardt ran her fingers through Marie's hair and said in French to the audience, 'Doesn't she have beautiful hair?' 'It was nothing for a great actor or actress to have 12, 14, 16 curtain calls,' recalls Jackson. 'You never hear anything now like the way they clapped and yelled 'Bravo!' in those days.'"

Jackson turns his press book to a "Sorceress" picture of Bernhardt, as a woman suspected of being a witch, facing her inquisition accusers. Then he says slowly, "But Duse — now Duse had something, a quality that no other woman ever had, even Sarah Bernhardt."

JACKSON SAW Leslie Carter in "DuBarry," Henry Irving and Ellen Terry in "Merchant of

Venice," E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe in "Romeo and Juliet" and "Merchant of Venice," Robert Mantell in "Macbeth" and "Richard III," Richard Mansfield in "Ivan the Terrible" and "Richard II" and Julia Marlowe in "Ingomar."

He saw "The Two Orphans" done by an all-star cast—Sarah Truax, Grace George, Mrs. Sarah Cromwell Lemoyne, Elita Proctor Otis, Bijou Fernandez, Henry Dixey, Wilton Lackaye, Louis James, W. E. Dodson, James O'Neil, Clara Morris.

"Clara Morris, who had been retired for 10 years, came back in a small part. As she walked on the stage, the whole audience as if by signal rose and cheered."

Jackson started his own career in 1905 in the "melodrama circuit," to New York, Canada and the Pacific Coast, either one-week or one-night stands. His first play he recalls was Bertha M. Clay's "Dora Thorne" and he played in "Lena Rivers" and "Thorns and Orange Blossoms" and "The Lost Trail."

HE HAS A PICTURE of himself in in a cowboy costume in "The Lost Trail,"

"I was the Hopalong Cassidy of my day," he said.

"I knew Mary Pickford on that melodrama circuit," he says. "She was Gladys Smith in those days; she was 10 years old, playing the little mother in 'The Fatal Wedding.' She had the prettiest gold curls you ever saw. Her brother Jack was a baby then; Lottie was 2 or 3 years old."

In 1911 and 1912, Jackson was on the showboat Cotton Blossom on the Ohio, Mississippi and Illinois Rivers.

Built on a barge and pushed by a small steamer, the Cotton Blossom seated 800 persons. It had a stage at one end, state-rooms over the stage for the actors to dress.

Beginning at Fort Pleasant, the Cotton Blossom moved down the Ohio to Cairo, and the Mississippi to New Orleans and then back again. If the river was high enough, it went up the Illinois to Peru, Ill.

PLAYS WERE GIVEN on the Cotton Blossom — "The Lonesome Pine," "Tempest and Sunshine," "The Old Homestead" and the perennial "Thorns and Orange Blossoms."

Jackson, the leading man, believes that he got the highest salary ever paid to a showboat entertainer on the Mississippi — $25 a week and board.

"The board was wonderful," he says. "Farmers traded potatoes, corn, chickens, etc., for showboat tickets."

He was in stock for years, playing in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," "The Devil," "Getting Gertie's Garter," "Cappy Ricks," "Three Wise Fools," "Smilin' Through." For years he was with the Poli Stock Co., playing New England towns. In 1923 and 1924 his salary was $200 a week — "a mighty lot of money in those days because there was no income tax and what a man made was his."

HE PLAYED on Broadway in "White Cargo," he played with Charles Coburn in "The Right Age to Marry," he read the prologue in a Ruth St. Denis dance pantomime.

"I did 'Abie's Irish Rose' for 50,000 miles," he says; "New York, Texas, Florida, Canada, the Middle West."

He still has a letter addressed to "Oswell Jackson, America's Handsomest Leading Man." It reached him at the Majestic Theater in Topeka, Kan.

He retired from the stage in 1935 after appearing in "Romance" with Eugenie Leontovich. He first came to Laguna in 1927, was away 10 years and then returned in 1941. He is now 72, is six feet tall, straight, has green eyes and a mane of snowy hair. His wife, Fanny, died five years ago. His home is at 552 Cypress St.

He has always been interested in art and has five lectures on art and the theater which he gives.

Hay Fever Climate

Tourists have various reasons for picking their vacation spots. They may like the fishing, the swimming, or the scenery. An increasing number of them, says Northwest Orient Airlines, go each summer to resorts along Minnesota's North Shore to get relief from hay fever. The wind and waters of Lake Superior—largest body of fresh water in the world—create an "air-conditioned" climate in which the fugitives from pollen find relief.

Journey Without a Passport

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Independent, Press-Telegram Book Editor

IT ONCE TOOK time and money to travel, but not any more. Today we can sit in our living room and go round the world in just a few evenings. No tickets to buy, no passports or visas to worry about, no hotel reservations to bother with, no foreign language problems to cause embarrassment.

Clad in pajamas, robe and house slippers, and under the glow of our favorite lamp, we can travel not only to far-off countries, but into some of the most interesting or astounding places in those countries—with the finest guides—in "Ten Years of Holiday" (Simon and Schuster, $5.95).

The guides, of course, are no fewer than 40 writers who, if they were suddenly to quit writing, would leave disappointment when we buy our magazines; for it is their work which sparks the best of the best periodicals.

Only the best work of these writers appear in Holiday Magazine over the last decade appears in "Ten Years of Holiday" and this, as expected, makes for a pretty solid book—one that can be read now and a year or 10 years from now with genuine pleasure.

V. S. Pritchett takes us to Spain, Sean O'Faolain to Italy, Neil M. Gunn to Scotland, Richard Llewellyn to Wales, Alan Moorehead to Rome, to name a few guides and their foreign routes; and here in the United States, William Faulkner goes with us to his native Mississippi, Jean Stafford to New England, Budd Schulberg to Florida, Phil Strong to Iowa, E. B. White to New York. Among others are Bernard DeVoto, James Thurber, James Street, Laurens Van der Post, C. S. Forester and John Steinbeck. The introduction is by Clifton Fadiman.

The articles and essays which comprise the bulky volume were selected by the editors of Holiday. They are the travel treat of the year.

AND SPEAKING of travel, one of the zaniest treasures of humorous writings and cartoons ever assembled on the subject is edited by no other than Lawrence Laifar and is titled "Happy Holiday" (Dodd, Mead, $3.50). All bordering on the ridiculous, there are nonsensical chapters on "French for Americans," "How to Tip Correctly," "Gondolas Are So Romantic" and "On a Set of French Dishes," to name a few, interspersed by giggle-getting cartoons. Laifar himself wrote several of the chapters, and helping out are such comics as Robert Benchley, James Thurber, Earl Wilson, S. J. Perelman, Cornelia Otis Skinner, Norman R. Jaffray, Ogden Nash and Stephen Leacock.

It's all fun, every word of it!

VINA DELMAR, the author of "Bad Girl," has written another sure-fire best seller in her new novel, "Beloved" (Harcourt, Brace, $3.95).

With great historical accuracy, Miss Delmar traces the story of Judah Benjamin from his birth on a West Indian island to his supreme position as one of the great legal minds in the era of the Civil War.

The title "Beloved" comes from Benjamin's faithless wife's nick-name for him. His great, forgiving love for his wife inspires him to become one of the finest legal minds America has ever known, respected, yet pitted by.

Under the relentless strain of

A GOOD MANY LONG BEACH PEOPLE shook hands with Sen. Estes Kefauver during his recent campaign-for-President visit here. They liked him and wished they knew more about him. They can learn all about this newsworthy figure now in "The Kefauver Story," an informal biography (Dial, $3). The book, written by Jack Anderson and Fred Blumenthal, Washington correspondents for Parade magazine, devotes considerable space to the campaign issues close to Kefauver and his campaign methods, and it also covers his life at home with his family, with which he is shown here.

a gnawing love for a woman he knew he could never hold, Benjamin became attorney general under Jefferson Davis. Benjamin's ceaseless devotion to his beautiful wife and his underlying loyalty to the principles in which he believed are touchingly blended into a fine novel.

Vina Delmar lives in nearby Beverly Hills. Her hobby for many years has been collecting material on the Civil War, which together with her natural gift for story writing has produced an exciting and colorful novel.—F.T.H.

CHILD DEVELOPMENT books are either useless or priceless, but "Youth, the Years From Ten to Sixteen" by Arnold Gesell, M.D., Frances L. Ilg, M.D. and Louise B. Ames, Ph.D. (Harper, $5.95) is the follow-up of two previous volumes which left nothing to be desired as to the understanding of children. The present and welcome volume takes up the problems of the developing child. Those parents who have read the earlier volumes will know at once what this one will be. And it is impossible in a short review to give all the priceless qualities which make this volume a must for thinking parents. If you have a child approaching puberty, this book will become tattered from reading.

POGO, the beloved comic-strip possum of the Independent and Sunday Independent, Press-Telegram, is back in the book stalls with some wonderful new adventures. You'll find them in "The Pogo Sunday Book" (Simon and Schuster, $1), and they're better than anything cartoonist Walt Kelly has done yet, if that is possible.

J. B. PHILLIPS, a retired English vicar and author of numerous religious books, discusses the hunger for faith-giving power in today's busy world, and how to achieve that power through Christian ideals in "New Testament Christianity" (Macmillan, $2.25), a reverent, understandable and inspiring work.

NEW PAPERBACK originals (first time published in book form). "The Year's Greatest Science-Fiction and Fantasy," 18 tales chosen from more than 1,000 pieces (Dell, first edition, 35c); "The Bright Phoenix," science-fiction novel by Harold Mead (Ballantine, 35c); "The Secret of Mary Magdalene," the story of a tantalizing woman who became a humble follower of Christ, by Paul Hlon (Signet, 25c); "The Last Chance," a fast-paced western by Frank O'Rourke (Dell, first edition, 25c); "Presidential Year," a novel of American politics by Frederick Pohl and Cyril M. Kornbluth (Ballantine, 35c); "Washington Lowdown," behind the scenes in the American capital, by Larson D. Farrar (Ballantine, 35c).

HOME BUILDERS or those wishing to remodel who are interested in cooling and warming a home will find the subject quite thoroughly covered in "Home Air Conditioning" (Van Nostrand, $5.95). Author G. J. Stout is an instructor at the University of Florida and knows what he is talking about.

EDUCATIONAL SUPPLIES

Leave entertainment at a teen-ager party to the guests themselves. They likely won't care for a prepared set of games to which they must conform.

nut butter, tuna fish and hard-boiled egg; assorted cookies, mixed candies, and nuts. Paper cups and paper napkins are all that is needed in the way of accessories, since teen-agers don't want to be bothered with plates. They like to pick up a cookie or a sandwich and eat it, and they don't want to balance plates or trays on their laps. The sandwiches can be made on the morning of the party, wrapped in waxed paper, then wrapped again in aluminum foil.
Most teen-agers do not like to have planned games for a party. As one thirteen-ager expressed it:

"You play games when you're very young, and maybe when you're old, like 30 or 40, but we like to do other things!"

THE POINT IS that most teen-agers like to play post office (or a variation thereof) or dance to the latest hit tunes. Parenthetically, it might be mentioned that post office is not a game for parents to view with alarm. If mom and dad will remember back a few years, they will recollect that they, too, liked to play the game when and if opportunity offered itself. It is important, however, that the father and/or the mother of the host or hostess be on hand during the party. They can remain in the kitchen or another nearby room, and diplomatically check on the activities every 15 minutes or so. This can be done tactfully and effectively if they bring in refreshments periodically or ask a question or two, such as, "Is there anything you need?" or "Is everyone having fun?" or even, "Isn't it too cold (or warm) in here?" They may not receive a coherent answer from the busy group, but at least they will be reassured that the party is running smoothly.

GUESTS INVITED to a teen-age party usually arrive on time or ahead of schedule, and the party should end promptly at the time designated. If by chance any parents are unable to pick up their youngsters, the parents of the host or hostess should see that each guest gets home safely.

From a teen-ager's standpoint, his social prestige is extremely important, and his success or failure socially can affect his whole attitude towards life. Giving parties will greatly help him gain poise and self-confidence. It's a wise parent who realizes that by encouraging a thirteen-ager to have good parties at home, he may discourage the youngster from wanting to attend the wrong type of party elsewhere.

PET PARADE

He's a Golden Pal

By Eleanor Avery Price

IF IT IS CORRECT as the late Gertrude Stein is reputed to have said that "a rose is a rose is a rose," then possibly it should be said that "a dog is a dog is a dog." True, all dogs have characteristics in common, but there are many breeds of dogs just as there are dozens of rose varieties, and each has its devoted admirers for its own characteristics.

Many people become so fascinated or attached to one or two breeds of dogs that they fail to consider the merits of others. Some of our finest breeds are still therefore a long time in coming to the front.

In the field of sporting dogs, the Golden Retriever is high on the list of those deserving attention. Among all the large dogs, the Golden cannot be beaten for his placid, affable behavior even as a puppy, for his sweetness and tolerance toward mauling children, his aptness in learning, his bright beauty, and for his great love of being a retriever or setter. He makes an ideal home pet, the unbeatable pal for children, the perfect companion for the sportsman, with a nose far better than average. And he is at home in the water or on the land.

SHOULD YOU NOT be interested in answering the call of open country and yet still want a Golden for his other fine qualities, you can keep this dog perfectly content with ten minutes backyard retrieving daily. Never throw rocks for him (or any dog) to fetch, for not only is there the hazard of his accidentally swallowing them, but there is the danger of the wear on the enamel of his teeth. He'll enjoy retrieving a ball.

Insist that the dog bring back the article you send him to retrieve. He'll soon catch on and enjoy this game to the utmost even when he is still a youngster. And, since, he loves water, let him romp in the sprinkler or "lease" water coming out of the hose.

IF YOU WANT to make a real field and stream dog out of your Golden, obtain a good book on this subject.

The Golden's fine qualities originated back in Asiatic Russia where he was used as a guardian of sheep and was able to watch them alone through the long, hard winters.

His intelligence came to the attention of the British when

some of these dogs were seen in a traveling circus act, and before long the Golden was a favorite hunting dog in Scotland and England.

AS WITH ALL floppy eared dogs, be on the lookout for any excessive digging at the ears. Ear canker, if neglected, can become a real problem. If the itching does not cease after three or four applications daily of a few drops of camphorated oil for a week, or with powdered boric blown into the ear canal with a paper funnel, consult a good veterinarian. Cauterizing the ear canker should stop the trouble if it does not yield to medication.

Picture That Has to Be Snapped Today!

Give baby a background he dominates, as he does the household . . . and shoot today; he'll grow up tomorrow!

By the Shutterbug

ONE OF THE better known copybook maxims says something about never putting off until tomorrow what you can do today.

Well, when it comes to picturing your baby as he is today—that's one thing that just can't be done tomorrow.

Babies grow so fast that planned and regular picture taking is a must if you want a picture record that doesn't have a lot of empty places in it.

SINCE BABIES mostly live indoors, you'll need a source of artificial light. Flash on camera is the simplest way to do it—enabling you to shoot any time, any place, and on the spur of the moment when he's being especially appealing.

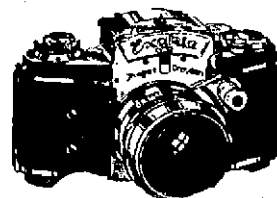

Flash has never been known to injure a baby's eyes, so you need have no fears on that score. However, once in a long time, a bulb will shatter when it flashes. Always put a flash guard over your reflector, to be sure.

WINNERS IN THE recent Long Beach Camera Guild competitions: Black and white prints—Murray Shaner, first; Evelyn Richmond, second; Virginia Callender, third; and Virginia Callender and R. Selvester, honorable mention; color slides—Elva Hayward, first; Murray Shaner, second; Gerald Church, third;

Virginia Murray Shaner and Floyd Williamson, honorable mention. Judge was George French, past exhibition chairman of El Camino, and PSA member.

Murray Shaner won first place in black and white in Southern California Council of Camera Clubs and Neil Shipley, honorable mention in color; Carl Van Steenberg had a color slide accepted for exhibit in the 25th annual salon of the Boston Camera Club with the slide "Reflections" which was awarded a silver medal for color harmony by the Photographic Society of America.

HOW TO

Build Two Sturdy Gates That Will Add Dignity to Any Fence or Wall

A GATE SMART ENOUGH in design to dignify any fence, is built of 1x12 stock. Mitred edges are beveled to get V-groove effect. Back is braced with 1x4 battens. Lag screws hold hinges, and gate is hung on a stout 4x4 post.

SIMPLE GATE OF STURDY construction makes it all the more handsome. Heavy lumber, prominent nailheads add to the massive effect. Faces of gate are almost identical, but joints are staggered for strength. Weight of gate makes sturdy hinges a must.

You CAN Beat That Alkali!

Black locust is hardy tree, tolerates alkaline soil. In spring it bears masses of fragrant white flowers.

By Karen Smith

IF YOUR SOIL contains salt-soaked sand or is considered alkaline, it would be wise for you to grow plants whose roots will not be harmed by these accumulations. The list of plants is limited but the selection is good. Some form of corrective measures to the soil should, of course, be considered. Gypsum or sulphur added to water and flushed into the ground will reduce the alkalinity. Consult your nurseryman as to the quantities, for he understands the nature of the soil.

Several loved annuals and perennials are not soil fussy. They include blazing star, calendula, day lily, iris, marguerite, mesembryanthemum, portulaca, statice latifolia, Shasta daisy, sweet alyssum, verbena, baillardia and zinnia.

Among shrubs which, with a little care, will thrive in this type soil are crape myrtle, strawberry madrone, Geraldton waxflower, California juniper, the bottle

WHICH "LAWN TYPE" ARE YOU?

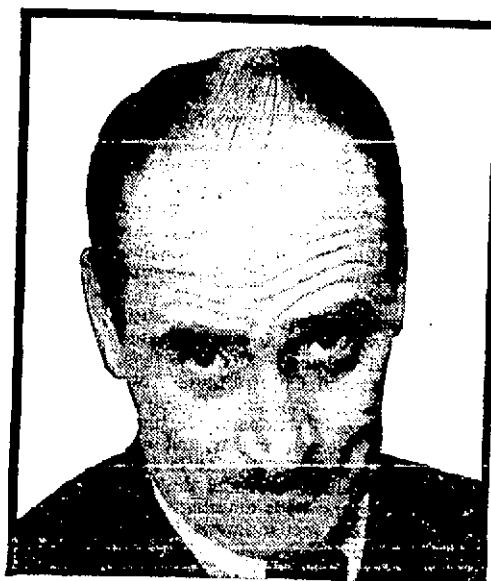

...and which Northrup King Lawn Seed is best for you?

"LAWN PROUD"

You want a showplace. You dream of thick velvety turf, lush and resilient . . . a lawn total strangers will stop to admire, that will be the envy of the neighborhood. So plant Northrup King GOLF Brand Lawn Seed. It's a blend of finest perennial grasses, including well known Kentucky bluegrass . . . along with new improved fescues. Given the regular care a fine lawn deserves, it will grow more luxurious and beautiful every year!

For a truly superior lawn plant NORTHROP KING GOLF Brand Lawn Seed.

"LET'S BE REASONABLE"

You care enough to want a lawn definitely superior, but it doesn't have to be a "show" lawn. Your goal is an attractive, permanent lawn. It must stand plenty of day-to-day living, and need only reasonable attention and care. So, plant Northrup King FORE Lawn Seed. It's a blend of good perennial grasses, including quality bluegrass. And because it contains hardy fast-sprouting fescues, your FORE lawn will become quickly established!

For a sturdy attractive lawn plant NORTHROP KING FORE Lawn Seed.

"I JUST WANT GRASS"

And you want it in a hurry, right? What's more, you need the kind of grass that can survive rough treatment . . . from pounding feet, dragging clothesbaskets, kids, dogs, more kids, wagons, trikes. So, plant Northrup King PAR Lawn Seed. It's a blend of hardy fast-sprouting grasses. These are grasses that quickly produce a thick sturdy turf, with a minimum of care. Count on PAR to grow a rugged lawn for work and play.

For a quick economy lawn plant NORTHROP KING PAR Lawn Seed.

NORTHROP KING LAWNFOOD . . . feeds your lawn 2 important ways. It contains fast-acting chemical nitrogen for immediate growth and color, plus slower-working organic nitrogen for season-long growth and root development. 50 lbs. covers 5000 sq. ft. Goes further, so it costs less!

NORTHROP KING WEED KILLERS. Spray away lawn weeds, using your garden hose! No complicated mixing or measuring. 2, 4-D WEED KILLER kills most broadleaved weeds. Pint covers 2000 sq. ft. CRABGRASS KILLER kills crabgrass, also controls many common lawn diseases. Pint covers 1200 sq. ft.

An Oddity from Australia

SAID TO BE one of the oddest of flowers, the unusual "Kangaroo Paw" from Southwestern Australia is now in bloom at the Los Angeles State and County Arboretum in Arcadia.
Because of its unique appearance, this showy herbaceous perennial plant, Anigozanthos Manglesii, is exciting attention from Arboretum visitors, according to Horticulturalist Don Woolley.

The "Red-stemmed Green Kangaroo Paw" is a member of the Amaryllis plant family. The flower stalk shoots up from narrow, black-tipped iris-like leaves.
It consist of a woody, brilliant red stem about 20 inches tall, topped with metallic green fingers, or "kangaroo paws," about five inches long.

"Kangaroo Paws" has promise as a novelty plant for Southern California gardens, Arboretum officials believe. It was grown from seed and the base leaves now form a cluster about a foot high. Older plants may become two to three feet in size.

These plants may be seen in bloom at the Arboretum on Sundays when it is open to the public free of charge from 10:30 to 4 p.m. During the week, parties of 10 or more may have escorted jeep-train tours by appointment.
The Arboretum is located at 301
N. Baldwin Ave. The telephone is DOuglas 7-3444.

"Kangaroo Paw" from Australia, one of the oddest of flowers, is an attraction at Arboretum in Arcadia.

bushes, especially Sallistemon viminialis, golden wonder (Cassia splendida), lavender, Mexican mallow, oleander, pampas grass, blue plumbago, myoporum, California evergreen cherry, dwarf pomegranate, Spanish broom and tamarisk.

MOST OF THESE plants are evergreen and frost resistant to at least 22 degrees. Grape myrtle and tamarisk are delicious.

From the evergreen trees, you can choose carob, Acacia pycnan-tha (golden wattle), camphor, California fan palm, Parkinsonia aculeata.

Best deciduous trees for alkali-line conditions are sweet gum (liquid-ambar), Modesto ash,
Chinese elm, Chinese flame trees,
Chinese pistachio, California sycamore, big-leaved maple, black locust, Fremont poplar, and mulberry, especially the fruitless variety. Chinese elm and the mulberry grow with amazing speed, and black locust is not lagging far behind.

Should none of these suggested plants fill the bill, consult a reliable nurseryman for advice.

Put Ruffles Around Your Garden

Bodger Photo

Growing ruffled petunias of the giant size, such as Fluffy Ruffles (above), will pay floral dividends.

By Walter Finch

AMONG the garden's most spectacular flowers is the giant, fancy petunia, and for the gardener who is willing to take a little extra trouble, the reward in beauty is far greater than the effort spent.

These fanciest of petunias are a favorite subject for florists, and may be found for sale in pots already in bloom. But you can grow them from seed yourself, and have dozens of plants for the price of one in a pot. Here's what to do:

First, be sure you are getting the true fancy strains. You will find them under the name of Giants of California, or Ramona Strain Giants of California, or Paramount Giant. These are the very largest and most heavily ruffled of all, with beautifully veined blooms in a variety of colors. Then, if you admire the fringed petal type, still with huge flowers and often with veining and contrasting throat colors, you should look for the individual varieties Fringed Snowstorm, Pink Triumph, Theodosia, White Mound, or mixtures labeled Fluffy Ruffles or Fimbriata. Any of these will give you tremendous flowers. You'll find that you must pay 25 cents a packet or more for the hand-pollinated seed of these aristocrats.

IT PAYS TO START fancy petunia seeds indoors, for the little seedlings are generally not equal to competition with garden weeds. A mixture of one part leaf mold, one part sand and one part garden soil is generally recommended, although you may want to try a mixture of half vermiculite and half soil, or even pure vermiculite. If the latter alternative is used, then transplant rapidly after germination is completed to a good soil where some fertility will get the seedlings started.

When the planting mixture is ready, press it firmly in the seed flat or into milk cartons cut in half the long way. The soil should be moist but not wet. Sow the seed very thinly in rows (two rows to a milk carton are plenty) directly on the surface of the planting mixture. Don't attempt to make a furrow or to cover the seed as you would in the garden. Sprinkle a very thin covering of pure sand or vermiculite on the seed. It is really not necessary actually to cover the seed — just give it something to nestle into. Then cover the flat or carton with a piece of paper or pane of glass. This is to maintain high humidity and assist germination.

YOU MAY FIND it unnecessary to water the container at all until the seed has sprouted, but if the surface does begin to dry out, then punch a few small holes in the bottom of the carton and set the whole carton in a shallow pan of water for a few minutes.

When the seedlings show one or two sets of true leaves they may be transplanted to pots or, if it is warm, to the garden itself. Give the plants six to 18 inches growing room, depending on the variety, and feed them generously as the growing season continues.

The result will be the fanciest petunias in the neighborhood!

Tips on Gardening

GARDENING TIPS for the week... Hanging baskets go a long way towards decorating patios. Attractive wooden baskets are now available in several different shapes. Nurserymen usually offer hanging baskets already painted. You will find this kind of gardening interesting and colorful.

Most shade loving plants like a fairly humid atmosphere. You can produce this from time to time by showering these ornamentals with cold water. Fuchsias especially react favorably to this cold shower treatment.

While birds have certain irritating habits, they are nevertheless part of an outdoor scene. Bird baths, houses, or just food will attract these feathered friends to your garden. There is no end of fun in watching their peculiar tactics.

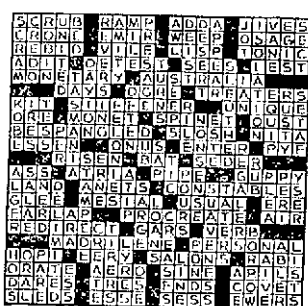

Some roses naturally have weak stems. But in some cases stems appear weak because the plants are not receiving proper sustenance and vitality from the soil.

A little extra potash is always advisable in these cases. Also, treatment with a good trace-element product to furnish the minerals in which they are deficient! If you gave them a treatment of trace elements right after you pruned them, they are now ready for another. If you didn't give them one treatment, don't neglect doing it now because their need for it is just twice as great. Trace elements will be effective on your entire rose bed, giving the bushes strength for their second blooming period.

It is natural that a few yellow leaves appear on the lower cane structure of your bush at this time of year. Only if they become too numerous and appear in the terminal structure, do you need to look for a remedy.

Hand-carved feeding station, kept stocked with food, will attract birds and bring their song into garden.

Snack Bar for Birds

By Bertha Blanchard

AN ATTRACTIVE feeding station adds beauty and enjoyment to the house and garden of any bird lover. Such a garden piece can easily be made by any amateur woodworker.

The six-foot, carved post gives protection as well as privacy to feeding birds. A metal tray set on top of the wooden shelf makes an easily cleaned, sanitary feeding place.

Of course, the most interesting detail of all is the hand-carved bird, painted in life-like colors—a picturesque background for the shelf. The quaint shingled roof, that partially shades the tray, gives a touch of charm and individuality to this feeding station.

TONY GUILLEN
Work. Work. Work...

SO YOU THINK you might like to be a restaurant owner?

You might change your mind
after you read about the terrifically long hours put in daily by
Tony Guillen, owner of El Patio
No. 1 Cafe, 337 Pacific Ave., and
El Patio No. 2 Cafe, 3503 Atlantic Ave. The superb quality of Tony's cuisine has made him one of the Long Beach area's most successful Mexican restaurant
owners.

But Tony has to pay for that success with work, work, work.
For example, look at the hours
he put in last Monday: He got up around 7:30 a.m., had breakfast
and drove his oldest boy to school. About 9 o'clock he arrived at El Patio No. 1. Because
Alice Galaz, his chief aide at No.
1, has been ill recently, it was necessary for Tony to do most of the cooking there all day.
About 5 p.m. he drove across town to El Patio No. 2. He supervised the busy activities of the larger cafe until 9 p.m. when he dashed back to No. 1 and closed it for the day. Then he drove all the way back to No. 2,
where he worked until long after
it closed at midnight.

He tumbled into bed, fairly exhausted, at 1:30 a.m., having worked approximately 16 hours.

Despite all that rugged labor,
Tony remains one of the most
cheerful men in town, always smiling, with a good word for everybody.

THE PRICES at Tony's cafes
are always extremely reasonable.
One of his most popular items
is the Combination Special, a dinner that this column has raved about previously. For only
$1.25, it includes all of the following carefully prepared, fresh foods: A delicious tostada, which is an avocado salad on a crisp
tortilla; an enchilada with cheese; a taco with lettuce and
beef; a plump tamale, and side dishes of wonderful frijoles (refried beans) and Spanish rice.

Among his a la carte specialties are such palate delighters as chicken enchiladas, chile relle-nos and chorizos (Mexican sausage.)

El Patio No. 2 is open daily
from 11:30 a.m. to midnight and
closes Tuesdays. El Patio No. 1
is open daily from 11:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. and closed Sundays.

For all Americans on Memorial Day...

Cathedral of the Pines

by NORMAN M. LOBSENZ

RINDGE, N. H.

Next Wednesday, rain or shine, more than 25,000 people from all over the U. S. will make a Memorial Day pilgrimage to a pine-shaded knoll near this small New Hampshire town. There, in America's most unusual place of worship, each in his own way will pay tribute to the country's war dead. Indirectly, they also will be honoring the memory of the young man whose death was responsible for the creation of the Cathedral of the Pines.

His name was Sanderson Sloane. He died 12 years ago, when his bomber crashed in Germany. Before going overseas, Sandy Sloane had chosen this knoll as the site of the home he and his wife planned to build. Originally, giant pines pressed close upon the trail that led to the brow of the hill. Then the great hurricane of 1938 toppled most of them.

But one spring afternoon Sandy and his father climbed the trail again. With the trees gone, they could look out across the valley and its glistening necklace of lakes to Mt. Monadnock, miles away, and the whole brilliant, rolling Wachusett Divide. It was, Sandy said, "the most beautiful view God ever put together."

After their son's death, Douglas and Sibyl Sloane often visited "Sandy's knoll"; eventually they were moved to build a modest memorial to him. Boughs and rock were cleared away, and a cross of New Hampshire granite erected. But the first small memorial service awakened such a widespread response that the Sloanes felt perhaps the Cathedral of the Pines could become a symbol of the sacrifice made by all—women as well as men—who gave their lives in America's battles. And so it has.

First, an Altar of the Nation was built; then a lectern, a pulpit, a baptismal font; and Hilltop House, a retreat for visiting clergymen. Uniquely, each structure is built of stones contributed from all over the world, many from famous personalities.

President Eisenhower, for example, sent two stones: one from the Normandy beach where U. S. forces landed on D-Day, and one from his Kansas home. General MacArthur's stone comes from Japan's Atsugi airfield, where he landed to occupy that country; Adm. William Halsey sent coral from the Pacific Islands his forces reconquered.

From the Parthenon — and Hiroshima

There are bits of soil or rock from Jerusalem's Mt. Zion; from Lincoln's birthplace; from Valley Forge, Plymouth Rock, the Parthenon in Athens, ground zero at Hiroshima — from historic sites in every American state and virtually every country in the world.

By 1946 a few pastors were asking to hold special services at the Cathedral. The Sloanes, who by now had set up a trust to oversee their efforts, installed benches, a small organ, a public-address system, a parking area.

Soon, on Sundays and special holy days, various religions were holding services in this outdoor cathedral. All told, 35 different denominations have conducted over 600 ceremonies in the past decade. In addition, countless civic, fraternal, patriotic and youth organizations have held religious and patriotic services there. The Cathedral, incidentally, is maintained entirely by voluntary donations.

Today it is not unusual for as many as 60,000 people to make the pilgrimage to the Cathedral of the Pines on a single week end. Many come to worship; but even those who come just as tourists leave with a new sense of reverence for things spiritual.

"Outdoor churches," says Douglas Sloane, "exert a subtly different sort of influence. Many who come to the Cathedral are non-churchgoers who are troubled because they cannot find a real faith. For many of them, a few services at the Cathedral of the Pines are a stepping-stone to new religious inspiration."

One couple, who came merely to sight-see, agree. "My husband and I aren't formally religious," the young wife says. "But we walked through the arches of pines, and heard the delicate organ music, and then suddenly we came to the brow of the hill and saw the cross hanging in what seemed like mid-air, surrounded only by the sky, and the mountains in the distance. My husband and I looked at each other, and we both had tears in our eyes."

"It was as close to Heaven as we'll ever get in this life."

The Cathedral, says Adm. Chester Nimitz, is "truly a memorial to all those who gave their lives in the service of our country." And by next Memorial Day this may be a literal as well as spiritual fact. New Hampshire's Sen. H. Styles Bridges and Rep. Perkins Bass have introduced a resolution in Congress to have the Cathedral designated as a National Shrine. The legislation is now in committee.

Meanwhile, the Cathedral of the Pines remains a spiritual haven for every American.

DASHING is truly the word for the new '56 General Motors cars — both in the sweeping verve of their fresh new styling and in the trigger-quick responsiveness of their advanced automatic transmissions.

For GM not only pioneered the automatic transmission—it has produced far more than any other car maker. Out of this vast experience have come new velvet-smooth '56 versions of Powerglide in Chevrolet, Variable Pitch Dynaflo in Buick and new fluid-coupled Hydra-Matic in Pontiac, Oldsmobile and Cadillac.

With these super-transmissions the extra reserve power of GM's new higher-compression engines is yours to command at a pedal-tap. And you are further safeguarded by improvements like interlocking safety-type door locks and precision-aimed headlights for greater visibility. Power steering, power brakes and seat belts are available.

Yes, for top style, top performance, top safety, your key to greater value is the key to any '56 GM car. See your General Motors dealer.

What you should know about...

POLIO IN 1956

by ROBERT P. GOLDMAN

Thirteen months have passed since the dramatic announcement of the Salk vaccine for infantile paralysis. You have read stories of defective vaccine, of new production standards to assure safety, of continuing research on other vaccines. But now another polio season looms. What is the outlook? What should you know about polio in 1956?

Here are the questions most people are asking, with answers from the U.S. Public Health Service and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis:

Q How good is the Salk vaccine?

A Among inoculated children, there is 75-80 per cent less paralytic polio than among uninoculated groups. Some experts say the vaccine affords even more than 75-80 per cent protection.

Q How much vaccine will be available this summer?

A By July 10, producers hope to have enough to provide two shots each for 67,000,000 people, most of them 14 or younger. Don't be surprised if actual supplies fall somewhat short of that estimate.

Q Why isn't there more vaccine?

A Each batch takes at least 120 days to produce, and is subject to time-consuming delays all along the way.

Q Before rigid safety standards were set up last spring, much vaccine was produced. Is any of that still used?

A No.

Q Can vaccination cause a child to spread polio to his family?

A No — because the vaccine does not contain live viruses.

Q What is the recommended dosage?

A Two shots four to six weeks apart — with a third shot seven months to a year later. Even with only one shot, there is considerable short-term protection.

Q Has anyone received the full three shots?

A Some youngsters have. Out of 4,658 in Massachusetts who got the full course of injections, just one came down with paralytic polio.

Q How many people have received Salk vaccine to date?

A Around 20,000,000.

Q How many paralytic cases did the vaccine prevent last year?

A Last year, the total was about 1,250. This year, experts predict vaccine will prevent "several thousand" paralytic cases.

Q Is the vaccine used today different from that used a year ago?

A Fundamentally, it is the same. Production and safety testing techniques have changed considerably, however.

Q Who is eligible to receive vaccine?

A States have set up their own programs for distribution. So far, youngsters under 15 usually are given priority. But local doctors and city health officers can tell you of your state's arrangements.

Q It cannot really be said that polio will be licked in '56, can it?

A No, paralytic cases are still occurring. One week's total last month was slightly over the five-year average for the comparable period.

Q Then the old rules still apply — the ones about preventing overexertion, avoiding crowded places, etc.?

A Certainly. Not until 1957 will there be a "minimal number" of paralytic cases.

Q Will there be vaccine this summer earmarked for epidemic areas?

A Small emergency supplies will be available — for research purposes. Doctors still want to determine whether vaccine used on the spot can shorten the duration of an outbreak.

Q Will people have to get annual "booster" shots through life?

A Probably not. There is evidence that the three-shot schedule gives three or more years of protection.

Q Can vaccine which passes present safety tests cause polio?

A No.

STURDY CAMEL, Canary Islands' beast of burden, holds full load of wandering Americans — the Walter family of Haddonfield, N. J.

A family 'paradise' on $200 a month

These Americans got away from it all — and so can you... by RICHARD WALTER

MY FAMILY of six, including children stair-stepped from 4 to 8, has just returned from a year of relaxed and gracious living in Spain's balmy and beautiful Canary Islands. We lived in a seven-room lava-block villa in a subtropical mountain valley, with a full-time cook and housemaid and a gardener. We all learned Spanish and formed lasting friendships with many of the Islanders. We swam in 80-degree surf whenever we felt like it, climbed mountains, coffee-clatched under the palms at sidewalk cafes. But most important, we caught our breath after nine breathless postwar years in Suburbia Americana and took a fresh look at ourselves.

This new life was not the life of Riley. But it was what we wanted and needed — far from traffic jams, heart attacks, TV sets, the do-it-yourself craze, "Mom, where are my rubbers?" and the 5:19 Ulcer Special.

By any light it was worth many times the $200 a month we spent. With the right approach it could be done for even less. "With 4,000 pesetas ($100) a month," a Canario shipping man told us, "my family of five lived very comfortably. Now at 10,000 ($250), we could live indecently."

Of course, the Canaries aren't the only dish in the ocean. There's Madeira, Majorca, Jersey (the other Jersey), Ischia, the Caymans, St. Helena, Tobago, Tahiti and a covey of other island paradises. Like humans and houses, each has its good and bad points. But we chose the Canaries, and here's why.

There are seven requirements for a family paradise:

- 1) Dry, sunny, year-round summer weather. Object: to eliminate snow suits, rain gear, asthma.
- 2) Year-round ocean swimming.
- 3) Living costs one-third to one-half what they are at home.
- 4) First-class medical care 24 hours away.
- 5) Opportunity to learn a useful foreign language.
- 6) Access to stimulating, educated people with a viewpoint different from ours.

7) A culture with different standards and an easy-going tempo.

The much-cartooned desert island, equipped only with palm tree and native girl, would never meet these requirements. Nor would an isle such as Capri, with its daily wave of tourists. The island we felt fitted specifications most exactly was Grand Canary Island, one of the seven inhabited Canary Islands in the Atlantic 700 miles southwest of Gibraltar and 100 miles off the west coast of Africa.

The climate exceeded our most optimistic dreams. It was neither tropical — in the sense of monsoons and humidity and torpid heat — nor temperate as we understand the term in the U.S. In winter, warm, dry air from the African desert repelled the chill trade winds from the north. Winter mornings were good "suit weather." Afternoons were warm enough for swimming. In summer the cool trades drove the hot desert airs back into the Sahara. And all year the friendly Gulf Stream sent seas of constant warmth — warmer in winter than Southern California's surf in summer.

Except in the port area there were no houses by the sea, so we settled for a mountain villa and a small European car to bridge the gap. From here we drove to any of four beaches. One was an oasis with palms, a lagoon, five miles of dunes along a warm, shimmering sea and not another living person in sight. Just us, alone with sun, sand and sea, in June — and in January, too.

A day at the beach might be followed by a different kind of day — a morning of shopping, a big midday meal, a siesta and a Canary merienda from 6 until 10. This is a wonderful blend of high tea, cocktail party, dance, debate and children's soiree — the way to entertain in Grand Canary. Or instead we might climb the 2,000-to-6,000 foot mountain peaks that walled our world. Or wander through the orange groves and banana plantations and talk to the friendly, unhurried farmers. And the evening air might ring with guitar music and the laughter of young couples discussing tomorrow's fiesta.

Language was a problem at first. Only one of us had studied it — two years of high-school Spanish with a four-month night-school refresher. It was two or three months before we could carry on an intelligible conversation. As a resident you need to know the language, and the more you know the more fun you have. As we learned more, all of us formed friendships we'll treasure for the rest of our lives.

"Friends," said one of the island's leading citizens, "are for more than giggling with." And in weeks to come, this man's family took us into their hearts. Their house became ours when we visited the city. They helped our children with Spanish. They took us on beach parties. They loaned us clothes for a formal reception. They took us to military maneuvers, football games, concerts. Even Christmas was a day shared, and homesickness was far from our minds.

In some cases we had to overcome certain prejudices against Americans. One day, crossing a village square, we were stopped by a Canario couple. The woman asked if we were from the Basque country of Spain, where there are many blonds. Told we were Americans, she reacted with shocked surprise. "But it can't be," she protested. "In America, people do not have so many children. One or two, yes? But not four." To her, America was the land of skyscraper dwellers with Only Children.

To a Canario, money and material possessions are quite secondary. Unwritten charge accounts at the shops are the rule. Too-prompt payment of a bill may be an unfriendly act, suggesting that the debtor thinks the creditor hard-pressed. No one allows impatience to cause embarrassment to another. One day, after piling up more groceries than she had money for, my wife tried to return the extra items. The clerk was greatly distressed. Although he had never seen her before, he insisted she take the goods and pay some other day.

"The important thing is that you should be happy," he said. "When you are happy you will always return. If you do not return I will be desolate because I have thrown away the chance to make a new friend."

Living costs turned out to be even lower than we had anticipated. Of the $5,000 saved for this "year away," we had to allot $2,150 for transportation. This left $2,850 for 14 months' living expenses for six of us. At first we felt we'd be lucky to get by on this $200 a month without a car and with only a gardener and a cook. After our second month we discovered that even $165 a month would cover us, so we added the car and a full-time housemaid.

How was this possible? Our villa and servants came to $50. Food ran to $60 or $70, with nine of us eating. Haircuts were 12 cents for me and 10 for the boys. Movies (such as Son of Paleface, with Bob Hope wisecracking in Spanish) were 10 cents for adults, 2½ for children. Milk right from the cow was 10 cents a quart, oranges right off the tree and bananas straight from the plantation 3 cents a pound. Gin: 70 to 95 cents a fifth. Scotch: $2.80.

Sorry, No Peanut Butter

Living costs can come higher for the visitor who does not accept the Canario way of life. Facial tissues, for instance, are not available at any price. Neither is peanut butter. A No. 2½ can of Hawaiian pineapple costs 90 cents. If you insist (we didn't) upon celebrating Thanksgiving with turkey, you could pay the combined monthly wages of your cook and housemaid. And though American cigarettes are smuggled in at $1.25 a carton, anything else from the U.S. may cost double what it does here.

When is the best time for you to take a year away from it all? Don't wait for retirement. Go now — at 30, 35 or 40 — when you still have years left to benefit from it.

To find your paradise will take research. You'll find that very little has been written about living on islands. There are travel pamphlets, to be sure, but few down-to-earth facts on schools, medical care and what's for lunch. With a three-year collection of travel magazines, an encyclopedia and some Harian publications (mailing address: Greenlawn, N.Y.), you can work up a list of 40 or 50 possibilities. To these apply the "tests" above. If this only leads to a tie, visit the consulates of each. We also wrote to the Spanish Information Office, 485 Madison Ave., New York City.

Dromedary Presents Its New Angel Food Mix

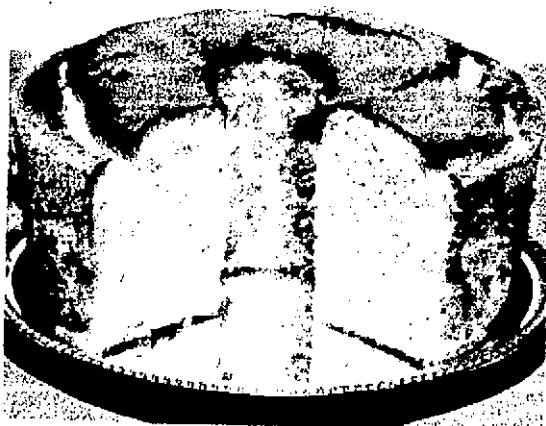

Inspired by the historic recipe used in the Birthplace of Juliette Gordon Low, Founder of the Girl Scouts

Angel Food, indeed! Light as a moonbeam, fluffy as a summer cloud, white and moist as a fresh snowfall—that's the kind of Angel Food Cake you'll bake with Dromedary Early American Angel Food Mix. No matter how good you've made Angel Food Cake before, you'll outdo yourself with new Dromedary!

And, as any good cook knows, the secret is in the recipe. Dromedary has turned to a favorite recipe used in the Birthplace of Juliette Gordon Low, founder of the Girl Scouts of the United States of America. The inspiration for this new mix—a veritable masterpiece of the baking art—was found in an old family cookbook. Result: an Angel Food Cake that bakes high and light and with a yummy crust and flavor all its own. Dromedary is the only Angel Food Mix wrapped in Glittering Gold Foil to keep it mixing-bowl fresh!

Once again, Dromedary makes baking history with another historic recipe. You, too, can make history at your own table if you bake a Dromedary Angel Food Cake—soon!

DROMEDARY received rights to the Angel Food recipe used in the birthplace of Juliette Gordon Low in return for its support of the restoration and endowment of that historic home now owned by the Girl Scouts of the U. S. A., a member organization of the National Trust for Historic Preservation.

Tips for you
on how to get away for a year at ease

WHOOPEDEDOO on beach

To reach your island, I recommend travel by freighter. It starts you off in the right mood: simple, informal, inexpensive. There is no direct transportation between the U.S. and Grand Canary, so we went first to Casablanca, Morocco, on a Royal Rotterdam Lloyd freighter. For the leg from Casablanca to Grand Canary, we wrote for third-class reservations to Compagnie de Navigation Paquet, Marseilles, France. Combined fare for both ships came to $173 each, or $1,038 for the six of us.

Here are some other ways to hold down expenses:

1) If you have a family like ours, you can get a group passport for $10 instead of six separate ones for $60. The only catch: you must cross national borders as a group.

2) Keep luggage light and manageable. We held ours to three suitcases and four army foot-lockers.

3) Check currency rates before setting out. We saved 10 per cent on living expense by buying the legal limit of Spanish currency through our U.S. bank. The rest of our needs were sent by our bank to a Grand Canary bank. This saved 8 per cent.

What about your job? My company generously allowed me a leave of absence. Our school superintendent granted leaves to the children, too. He said the experience would more than make up for the loss of a year of formal schooling. (And he was right.)

What to do about your car and your house? We sold our car, and leased the house to an Army colonel for 14 months at a rental which permitted our agent to pay all fixed expenses at home.

A caution: If you're a big-time Charlie, out to paint the town, you'll think the Canaries strictly for the birds. Might as well shoot your $5,000 in New York or Paris. Though there's a luxury hotel on each of the main islands, Canarios don't cotton to visitors who shout, "Bring on the dancing girls" (or milk shakes or ice cubes or sirloin steaks).

If you find your paradise and leave behind the clutter of civilization, you may wonder why you should ever return. We did many times, finally realizing that the homing instinct was bound to win out. The longer we stayed away the more we appreciated what we could make of our lives back here.

This is one good reason to live away for a year, and there are many others. With time to think, you gain a new perspective. You can learn to relax, to cut down needless ritual, to gain a sense of well-being. Your family has a new unity. You can return to new jobs and old responsibilities with vigor and confidence.

These are just a few of the benefits realized from a year in an island paradise. Do they appeal to you? ■

FEBRUARY FUN for Barry Walter is romp in warm surf. Though school day ran from 9 to 7, three-hour siesta allowed play time.

FAMILY LINEUP of Walters includes (l. to r.) Dick, Kathleen, Barry, Brian, 7; Karen, 6, and Craig, 4. Family found a year away gave them new unity.

New-formula LA FRANCE BLUING WASHES OUT "NYLON GRAY"

Also, keeps new nylon bright... keeps out the "gray"!

Easy as this:

1 Soak garment 5 to 10 minutes in a washbowl full of hot La France suds. Nothing else needed... La France is detergent, nylon-brightener and bluing all in one.

2 Wash, rinse, hang to dry... and that's it! After just five washings even the dingiest nylon is bright again.

NOTE Gentle La France won't let fabric get "yellow" like most bleaches. White things stay white, colored things stay bright when you wash them in new La France Bluening. Remember La France is also wonderful for rayons, dacrons and cottons.

Use New-formula La France in the automatic washer for the family wash, too—no special bluing rinse needed. Get the economical 6-oz. package today.

HUMAN HELICOPTERS ON SKIS

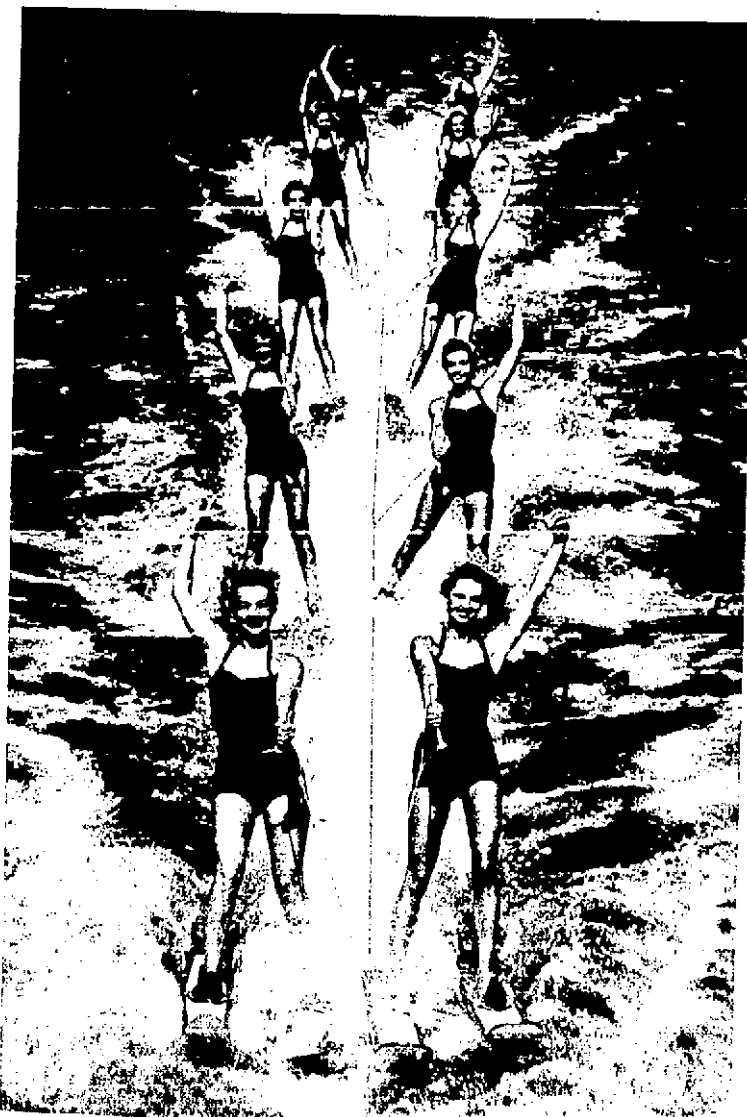

CYPRESS GARDENS, FLA.

DANCE on water skis is less strenuous than the "helicopter spin" and—in this case—more glamorous. These 10 pretty maidens are skiing in a conga line.

Have you outgrown fun?

FUN ISN'T JUST FOR CHILDREN, you know—or for the rich—or the happy-go-lucky. Every woman needs fun, almost as much as she needs food!

Fun keeps you feeling young, looking young. And you should keep in mind, especially if you have a family, that fun makes you fun to be with.

But—if you're like all too many women today—maybe you're missing out . . .

Perhaps each day seems alike to you . . . gray, and . . . yes, a little grim. You do the same monotonous chores. You drag yourself from one task to another.

You feel yourself irritated by little things. Even your children's laughter, perhaps, tends to make you edgy and annoyed. And what make it worse is that underneath you know there's really good-natured, even-tempered you.

It's difficult to understand why this gradual change has come about, leaving you feeling so . . . well, so "in-between."

No, you're not really sick

You tell yourself that you're not really sick, so you actually can't blame your health. But you're far from being really well.

It might comfort you to know that you're not the only one who feels "wrong" day after day. Millions of people have the very same experience. They're missing out on fun, too—and they don't know why, either.

After all, it just wouldn't occur to the average person that anything as simple as the caffeine habit may have a marked effect on the way he feels.

Yet, without realizing it, you may be one of the millions bothered by the caffeine in coffee or tea.

Your doctor would tell you . . .

Your doctor would be the first to tell you that, for some women, one of the worst offenders against the human nervous system is the caffeine in coffee or tea.

The use of this strong stimulant day after day, week after week, may make you tired, dragged-out, nervous, irritable.

However, if you're addicted to this habit, there's no reason in the world why you can't get yourself in tune again, begin to feel as you'd like to.

You replace a bad habit with a good one

You switch from caffeine-heavy drinks to a new, wonderful, caffeine-free hot beverage . . . Imitation Coffee Flavor Instant Postum—available for the first time.

What a rich aroma this new beverage has! And it tastes so full-bodied, so satisfying!

Your grocer has both new Imitation Coffee Flavor Instant Postum, and famous regular Instant Postum with a distinctive flavor that millions have enjoyed for many years.

You make Postum instantly, right in the cup. Just add boiling water and stir. You can enjoy it straight or with cream and sugar, all day long, without fear.

There isn't a taut nerve, a sleepless hour or a headache in Postum. It can't make you nervous, irritable. It can't keep you awake at night because it doesn't have a single speck of caffeine in it.

You owe it to yourself and to your family to try this wonderful, caffeine-free beverage not just once, but for 30 consecutive days. After all, you can't expect to free yourself from the accumulated effect of a habit of years in two or three days, or even a week.

Costs half as much as most coffees

Whether you choose new Imitation Coffee Flavor Instant Postum (red label) or regular Instant Postum (blue label), you'll get up to 100 cups from the 8-oz. jar and up to 50 cups from the 4-oz. jar—for less than a cent a cup! Postum is so inexpensive, compared with most coffees—cup for cup, it costs only half as much.

So try Instant Postum for at least 30 days—take this one step that may make a real difference in your everyday life—every waking hour, every sleeping hour.

Don't let another day go by without giving this caffeine-free beverage a fair trial. Start the 30-day test today. See if you don't feel better! Act better! Look better!

WHEN YOU BUY YOUR CAR ON THE COMPLETE C.I.T. PLAN

You and your family get extra protection when you buy your car the C.I.T. way—in regular monthly payments out of income. Your car dealer can arrange everything on the C.I.T. Time Purchase Plan, and all these protections can be yours from the moment you receive the keys to your new car:

YOUR CAR PROTECTED FROM COLLISION LOSSES. If you should have an accident, under the C.I.T. Plan you may have your own car dealer make the repairs promptly, with genuine factory parts and approved service methods. No need to shop around for bids or estimates. No second-rate repairs. Fastest claim adjustment service, too.

FURTHER PROTECTIONS TO YOUR CAR. You are protected in case of fire, theft, malicious mischief, vandalism, flood, explosion, riot, pilferage and many other causes of loss.

TOWING AND ROADSIDE HELP. If you or any member of your family should run out of gas, have a dead battery, flat tire, starter failure, or any other breakdown on the road, you simply call the nearest service shop, get a receipted bill, and you will be reimbursed up to $10 for service and labor.

ESTABLISHED CREDIT WHEREVER YOU DRIVE. Anywhere you travel in the United States or Canada, you have full credit for any emergency repairs required by your car. No need to dip into travel funds or try to cash checks. The nearest C.I.T. office pays the repair bill for you. You repay in convenient monthly instalments.

HELP IN LEGAL DIFFICULTIES. If you or any member of your family are held on traffic charges, the C.I.T. Plan enables you to obtain a bail bond up to $5,000 at no additional expense; saves delay, embarrassment, money. (Unavailable to California or Canadian purchasers.)

CASH BENEFITS IN PERSONAL ACCIDENTS. You are covered in case of your death or loss of sight or limbs arising from many common traffic accidents, as specified in a Limited Travel and Pedestrian Accident Policy. (Unavailable to California or Ohio purchasers.)

LIFE INSURANCE. If you should die from any cause while this insurance is in force on your life, your family will own your car free and clear without further payments.

All these protections will help you enjoy carefree driving. Over fifteen million people have had them when they bought their cars out of income on the C.I.T. Plan. You can get this low-cost financing and protected transportation through your car dealer no matter what make of car you buy. Ask for the complete C.I.T. Plan when you buy your next new or used car.

PLAYERS, judging from the stance of the figures, may have taken these positions when ball was pitched in game.

BASEBALL: Back to the Indians?

600-year-old statues, found in Mexico, now may prove they played it first

CATCHER used a pot or basket instead of a mitt, probably stood a good distance behind the batter—since he didn't wear a mask.

PITCHER threw a near-regulation-size ball—of an unknown material—with the overhand motion of modern hurlers.

MEXICO CITY.

How old is baseball? According to many historians, the first game was played on June 19, 1846 between the New York Nine and the New York Knickerbockers in Hoboken, N.J. Now, however, there's evidence that baseballs may have been tossed around at least 500 years earlier in the rocky plateaus of western Mexico.

The evidence: three reddish clay figures found in tombs of Indians said to be Tarascan. Shown in the photos on these pages, the 600-year-old figures depict Indians in stances amazingly similar to those of a present-day pitcher, batter and catcher.

First found in 1952 or '53, the figures only recently came to light when artist Diego Rivera donated them to Mexico's National Museum here. The 1½-lb., foot-high figures stunned archeologists here and in the U.S. When PARADE showed these pictures to an archeologist at New York City's famed Museum of Natural History, he was nonplused. "This is the first evidence we've ever had," he said, "that North American Indians apparently played a game so similar to today's baseball."

Judging from the stances of the figures, it is at least possible that the players stood in relation to one another as the photographer has placed them above—the way a present-day pitcher, batter and catcher would stand. Whether there were any more players is unknown, but from other relics the scientists have found that the games—played before large crowds in rectangular stadiums—were a lot grimmer than today's pennant races. Reason: The contests involved the tribe's warriors and their prisoners—and if the prisoners lost, they paid with their lives.

PHOTOS BY HECTOR C. MANJARREZ

BATTER was outfitted with a chest protector of armor and a helmet, probably his battle equipment. The bat was made of solid wood, may also have been used as a war club. High "collar" of chest protector, it would seem, allowed batter to duck his head inside like a turtle to guard himself against "bean balls."

Cook Out U.S.A.

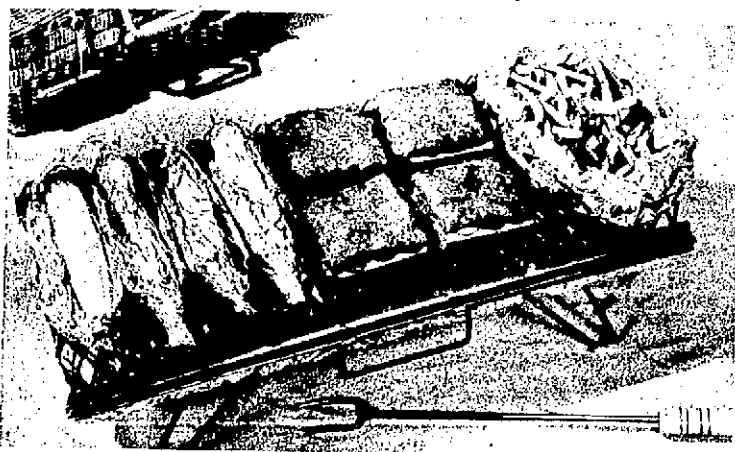

Summer's coming—so here are wonderful ways
you can fix food with charcoal and grill

by Beth Merriman, PARADE FOOD EDITOR

California claims it all started there, but what about New England clambakes and Southwest barbecues? In any case, this business of cook-outs is America's new love. The butcher, the baker, the barbecue maker can bear witness, along with many others in the food and appliance fields. This summer, the whole country will be cooking outdoors with charcoal.

You can spend a lot or a little for your barbecue grill. None of those pictured here is excessively costly, but all are efficient and easy to use. Whichever you choose, follow the manufacturer's directions for best results.

As for fuel, buy charcoal briquets of good quality. Start your fire 45 minutes before you cook. Space briquets a half-inch apart. Wait until ash coats each briquet. Tap it off before and during cooking. The heat will be terrific—and when you try these PARADE "barbecue specials," the results will be, too!

Hamburgers and corn—a grill dinner for four

This compact, lightweight grill folds up and can be carried anywhere. It uses charcoal briquets with aluminum foil placed underneath to reflect and intensify heat... To barbecue corn-on-the-cob: Husk, remove silk, soak in salted ice water 20 minutes, drain; brush with soft butter, sprinkle with salt and pepper; wrap in doubled heavy foil, twisting ends; cook 12-15 minutes, giving each ear a quarter-turn four times... To make Hamburger Squares: Pat the seasoned meat thin; cut in squares; top four squares with packaged sliced process cheese, sliced stuffed olives and remaining meat squares; cook 5-6 minutes on each side; serve between bread slices... To grill french fries: Wrap frozen french-fried potatoes in foil; heat on grill until hot, crisp and brown.

Double-duty grill cooks a meal—and burns dry waste

This deep, convenient device can be wheeled around to collect and burn leaves, grass, etc.; with lid inverted and grill in, it's a charcoal brazier... To barbecue ham and pineapple: Use inch-thick slices of precooked ham; slash fat edge; heat 30 minutes, turning once. Wrap pineapple slices in heavy foil with a little butter, brown sugar and cinnamon; grill 10 minutes; unwrap; place on ham after turning... Wrap servings of sliced squash with butter and seasoning in doubled heavy foil; grill half an hour, turning once... Rub skins of potatoes with soft butter; wrap in doubled heavy foil; cook 1-1½ hours, turning several times.

Liver-and-bacon on a grill you can easily flip over

This grill turns over with a twist of the wrist, holding food firmly in place. It can be raised or lowered to control the degree of heat... For this quick-and-easy meal, slice large onions and grill 5 minutes with calf's liver. Flip grill; remove top; add bacon and sliced tomatoes; replace top; cook about 5 minutes longer. During last two minutes of cooking, put bacon on top of liver to blend their flavors.

PINEAPPLE COCONUT SPRYCRUST

- ½ cup less 1 tablespoon Spry
- 3 tablespoons canned pineapple juice, heated
- 1 teaspoon milk
- 1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 4 tablespoons chopped coconut

Put Spry in mixing bowl. Add heated pineapple juice and milk and whip with fork until all liquid is absorbed and a thick, smooth mixture is formed. Sift flour and salt together onto Spry-whip and stir quickly into a dough. Pick up and work until smooth and blended; shape into a flat round. Roll between two 12" squares of waxed paper into a circle ¼" thick and about size of paper. Peel off top paper, sprinkle 2 tablespoons chopped coconut over pastry, leaving about a 1" border plain. Re-cover with paper and gently roll coconut into dough. Turn pastry and paper over and repeat process, rolling in remaining 2 tablespoons coconut. Peel off top paper, place pastry in 9" pie pan, pastry next to pan. Remove paper, fit pastry into pan, trim ¼" beyond pan, turn back even with edge of pan, flute rim. Prick shell all over with fork. Bake in very hot oven (450°F) 12-15 min.

Simple but Sensational!

SPRYCRUST IS FLAVORED PIECRUST!

Now for the first time you can make as many different piecrusts as there are flavors—chocolate, honey, mocha, just to mention a few.

Based on the famous Spry "Water-Whip" pastry method, Sprycrust is an entirely new and original kind of pastry. And it's amazingly simple to prepare. You whip in flavor—you roll in a texture. Important: Do not, under any circumstances, make substitutions for Spry.

Ask any good cook you know. The real test of a shortening is piecrust. So if you have had failures with piecrust, don't blame yourself. Blame the shortening... and switch to Spry. No other shortening can top Spry for pure shortening power. And this power is uniformly distributed through every pound. Thanks to homogenizing, plus a patented process of protecting its purity, Spry has the "built-in" safety to guarantee perfect piecrust every time you bake.

The untold story of

Gregory Peck

PART II

He became an actor by accident—now he grosses $500,000 a year. Here's how Eldred Peck made the grade in Hollywood

by LLOYD SHEARER

When Eldred Gregory Peck was graduated (an English major) from the University of California in 1939, a classmate prophesied: "That guy will make the greatest floor-walker any department store ever had."

Today the classmate is a minion in a New York advertising agency, and lanky Eldred is one of this town's real successes. He has been nominated four times for Academy Awards, he lives in a $105,000 Beverly Hills mansion (five bedrooms, five baths), drives a Jaguar and a station wagon, owns a ranch near Santa Barbara, heads his own independent production company, grosses approximately half a million dollars a year and is the star of two of the outstanding films of 1956, The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit and Moby Dick.

Moreover, demands for his acting services are so intense that he currently enjoys the right to choose his own stories, approve his own directors, dictate his own terms as to salary and profit percentages.

How did Gregory Peck, now 40, achieve this enviable position?

His boyhood, spent in Southern California, was directionless. Child of a broken home, he divided his time unequally among military school, his pharmacist father and his receptionist mother. At college he thought of becoming a doctor, then grew fond of rowing and Elizabethan literature—two pursuits of limited financial potential.

But, because he was tall and personable, he was asked in his senior year at California to join a campus production of Anna Christie. That did it.

Of his stage debut, Peck confides: "I was lousy. I didn't like acting and I'm reticent about my emotions. Even at that, had I been ordinary lousy, I'd probably have forgotten the whole business in time."

"But I wasn't. I was lousy lousy. And it did something to me. It made me sore. You can call it a challenge if you like. But for the first time in my life there was something I had to get out and lick. Nothing had ever hit me like that before."

Thus, following graduation, Peck took off to conquer Broadway with a letter of introduction from his father to a business friend. The letter helped him land a talker's job at the New York World's Fair.

As a talker—"Step right up, folks, and watch 'em go... Around the upright walls of an open bowl... One hundred death-defying miles per hour"—Peck received $25 a week. After a month of it, his voice "sounded like a gravel mixer." So, on his day off, he wangled a spot as a Radio City sight-seeing guide. This lasted until the fall of 1939, when he won an acting scholarship at the Neighborhood Playhouse School of Theatre. Since it paid only $50 a month, he took modeling jobs to augment his income.

While Peck was learning his craft under expert teachers, he slipped a spinal disk one day in dancing class. That aggravated an injury he had suffered in his rowing days—and presently brought him a 4-P draft rating. Two years later, when five Hollywood studios were fighting for his services, Peck admitted frankly that he owed at least part of his popularity to the wartime manpower shortage. "I caught this industry in a squeeze," he said. "At least 12 top-notch actors are away fighting."

The Road—and Greta

Before he came to Hollywood, Peck dropped his first name and signed to go on the road with Katherine Cornell in The Doctor's Dilemma. His part called for eight lines in the third act. His pay: $50 a week.

Says a fellow-actor (English) of Peck at that time: "He seemed to be rather low-keyed for an American, never any jokes or wisecracks. He behaved older than his years. Most young actors sow their wild oats on these road tours—new town, new sweetheart. Not Peck. He fell quickly in love with Miss Cornell's hairdresser, a pretty little thing named Greta."

screen (above) and on. Critics say this expresses his true self. Friends say it hides real warmth.

Greta Konen, petite Helsinki-born daughter of a Finnish jeweler, was earning $60 a week just then. When Greg, two years her junior, first broached marriage, she suggested that they wait until they had fattened their exchequer at least a little.

The following year, Guthrie McClintic offered Peck the male lead in Morning Star at $200 a week. The play ran on Broadway a month, then closed. The very next day, October 4, 1942, Gregory Peck and Greta Konen were married in an Episcopal church in Manhattan.

They began housekeeping in an old brownstone house. "I was sure," the first Mrs. Peck says, "that Greg was going to be tops. His attitude was so positive. He was willing to work endlessly on his parts. He was in three more Broadway plays before we came to Hollywood, and none of them was successful. But in each one he got sensational notices. I can't tell you how hard he worked, in fact, still works."

The Peck marriage endured technically from 1942 to 1955 and was blessed with three sons: Jonathan (now 11), Stephen (9) and Cary (6). Actually it began to unravel in 1952, when the family journeyed to Europe so Greg could make Roman Holiday with an unknown actress named Audrey Hepburn.

Why the marriage began to founder is difficult to tell. Certainly, Peck is no woman-chaser. People who know him relatively well say flatly that the actor is fundamentally shy in the presence of women.

"With Greg," one actress confided in me, "a girl has got to be the aggressor. Unlike most actors, he isn't an exhibitionist. He always gave me the feeling that he was trying to look into his subconscious, only he was afraid of what he might find there." Some years ago, after extensive research into Peck's youth, a writer reported that Peck "tended to stand back and watch while the cheerleaders and backfield men made off with the only girls who interested him."

Peck by nature is not a volatile or temperamental man. He has tremendous self-control. Sometimes, during his first marriage, he would come home after a hard day's work and find dinner guests he didn't like; then he would merely take his plate of food and eat in a bedroom.

In her divorce hearing Greta Peck testified that one night, when she and Greg were entertaining friends, "My husband stayed for half an hour, then took his hat and coat and walked out before dinner. I followed him to the door and asked him if he wanted me to go with him. He said it made no difference whether I did nor not ... My husband told me we would be better friends if we weren't married."

PECK CONTINUED

His marriage failed—but he remains a devoted father

FURIOUS MOMENT in Moby Dick finds Captain Ahab (Peck) wielding harpoon on studio whale's flank. Behind peg-leg, Peck's own leg is hooked into a handy hole.

In the divorce settlement, Peck gave his wife their family home and furnishings, $65,000 a year in alimony, custody of the three boys; agreed to pay $750 a month for the boys' support, give up half his interest in three films, World in His Arms, Roman Holiday and Moby Dick; agreed that, after 1965, he would pay his ex-wife 10 per cent of his earnings until she remarries. In the annals of Hollywood's hectic divorce history, few other actors have ever been so generous without compulsion.

For that matter, few have been as considerate to their children as Peck is to his. Two Christmases ago, although estranged from his wife, he had Jonathan flown to Europe for the holidays. Five months ago Peck was married to 24-year-old Veronique Passani, an ex-newspaperwoman from Paris, but he makes it a point to see his sons several times a week. He takes them riding on his ranch, puts in his stint as a Little League baseball father, attentively watches their scholastic progress at the Bel Air Town and Country School.

"Greg is a man," claims his first wife, "who has always taken scrupulous care of his responsibilities. My boys are extremely lucky in having him for a father. When we first came to Hollywood, I never thought Greg and I would develop in different ways and grow apart. But I guess that's what really happened. It's no one's fault."

His First Movie

It was Casey Robinson, a screen writer wanting to turn producer, who first signed Peck to a movie deal. Robinson had seen Peck in Morning Star and had talked emotionally to the young actor about becoming "part of a small intimate group that would make artistic as well as commercial movies." The pitch appealed to Peck, so he came west and starred for Robinson in Days of Glory. The year was 1943, and Hollywood was losing its screen heroes to the armed forces in droves. Peck quickly became what is termed "a hot property," with various studios bidding for "a piece of Peck."

Eventually he was parceled up among MGM, David O. Selznick and 20th Century-Fox, committing himself to make 12 pictures in approximately seven years. All were big-budget productions. Local observers say his best performance to date was wrung out of him in Gentleman's Agreement (1947) by director Elia Kazan. The New York critics, however, voted him their top acting award on the basis of his work in Twelve O'Clock High (1949).

It is safe to say that in all his 23 films Peck never has given a bad performance. Though critics say he lacks the spark of greatness, each of his roles is carefully thought out and painstakingly executed. Frequently called "a director's dream," he is long on industry, integrity and intelligence, short on bluff, bilge and ballyhoo.

Although Peck's name is well-known in the movie colony, his true personality is not. Many colleagues consider him unbending, cold, humorless, even forbidding. While he spends money freely, he rarely seems vivacious or happy; generally he resembles a stock-broker more than an actor. He thinks before he talks and speaks his words one by one as if he were launching carrier pigeons.

One of his close friends, screen-writer Sy Bartlett, insists that Peck gives an erroneous surface impression. "Underneath the serious facade," Bartlett explains, "Greg is one of the kindest, warmest human beings you can ever possibly know. He's so understanding that lots of times he's like a father-confessor. I can't tell you how many people's troubles he's borne. Guys like John Huston, Willie Wyler, Nunnally Johnson, men who are keen judges of character, they all swear by Greg. Why? Because he's solid, he's good in a pinch, you can count on him."

"Maybe he's not a fast man with a gag, but that doesn't mean he's without a sense of humor. A few weeks ago I was married in Palm Springs. One day later Greg came up and slapped me on the back. 'And they said,' he cracked, 'that your marriage wouldn't last!'"

RELAXED MOMENT during shooting of Gray Flannel Suit in Westport, Conn., sees Peck in horn rims, comparing swings with the pro on a local golf course.

As for Peck's own new marriage, it seems to be wearing well. The second Mrs. Peck is an attractive young brunette of French-Russian extraction who hero-worships her husband and, in the Gallic tradition, permits him complete mastery of their home. Peck has taken Veronique with him on picture locations in Ceylon (The Purple Plains) and Ireland (Moby Dick), and undoubtedly will take her with him this coming July when he is scheduled to leave for the South Seas with director John Huston on the production of a new film, Typee.

As movie celebrities go, Gregory Peck is probably the most un-Hollywood-like actor in the business. He saves his acting for the camera; few other stars can control themselves that long.

Teen-age Topics

It's about time for a column devoted solely to the boys. Here are some of their recent letters:

Q. I am in business college and like the same girl another boy likes. He has a car and can afford to show her a good time. I can't. Should I forget her? — L.H.M., Beaumont, Tex.

A. Tell the girl that you like her but that you can't afford to entertain her more elaborately. If she is mature enough, she will not judge you solely by material things.

Q. I am a boy 15 years old. My father says that I may not learn to drive the family car until I have stopped biting my nails. I have tried many times but failed. Please help me. — R.E., Hartford, Conn.

A. Habits of this kind are very hard to control, but when the reward is great enough, sometimes a person can give up such an unattractive one. Nail-biting, especially in the teens, can be a sign of severe tension. It would be a good idea to find out the cause of your tension before you even attempt to learn to drive.

Q. I am 18 and go with a girl who is 16. We love each other but she won't go steady with me because she is afraid her last boy-friend will make all of her friends dislike her. (He was my best friend at one time and we had an argument over her.) What can I do? — P.L., Pine Bluff, Ark.

A. If she has stopped going with him, there really shouldn't be any problem. I suggest you go out with some other girl. You may decide your friendship with this boy means more to you than the girl.

Q. I am a boy 15 years old and have a fairly large amount of money in the bank which I earned myself. I would like to buy a $45 rod and reel, but my mother thinks it is foolish to spend so much. What do you think? — W.N., Maryville, Tenn.

A. I feel that unless money a child earns is actually needed for the support of the household, parents should not forbid his buying what he wants with it — within reason.

Q. I am a boy of 16 and have been dating a girl of 14. I have taken her out only five times, but some of the kids at school have started a rumor that we are going steady. After hearing it, her mother won't let her date me until she has gone out with other boys. But since the other fellows think we're going steady, they won't ask her out. How can I solve this problem? — M.C., Saginaw, Mich.

A. If you really want to help, just take out a few other girls. In time, the boys will understand that this first girl was not your exclusive property at all. She should then have the variety of dates her mother prefers.

"To Thee I Will Give The Keys of the Kingdom"

George Johnson didn't hate the Pope. Indeed, he held the head of the Catholic Church in high esteem as a leader in the spheres of morality, world peace and human rights.

But nobody could convince George Johnson that the Holy Father had any special authority to speak officially for Christ. Where in the Bible, George wanted to know, is there any mention of such a person as a Vicar of Christ? Where in Holy Scripture does Our Lord delegate any of His authority to a single human being?

It was not until he read, and read again, the words of Jesus to Peter (Matthew 16:18-19) that George Johnson began to understand the Catholic claim of papal authority.

"And I say unto thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it" ... "And, I will give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven: and whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth shall be bound in heaven: and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven."

The Catholic claim concerning the authority of the Pope does not depend solely, of course, upon this or other significant passages of Holy Scripture. For the Vicarship of the Pontiffs had been universally recognized throughout Christendom long before the books of the Bible had been gathered together, and several centuries before the Church had officially selected the writings which were to be regarded as inspired.

But for the benefit of those who wish to weigh the Catholic claim in the light of the Bible, we respectfully suggest that they do as George Johnson did—read and read again Our Lord's words to Peter, "And I will give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven..."

For is it not a clear delegation of His authority when Christ tells Peter:

"... whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth shall be bound in heaven..."? For a long time George Johnson had believed Our Lord's reference to "this rock" meant Peter's faith and not Peter's person. But now he saw in the Savior's words a specific command to exercise specific powers of judgment, which had to be an act of Peter the man.

A highly interesting and authoritative story of the origin of the papacy... the reasons why Catholics believe as they do concerning the Pope... a brief but exciting history of the Popes since the time of Peter, the first Pontiff—all these and many other interesting facts are contained in a pamphlet which we will gladly send you free on request. We will mail it in a plain wrapper and nobody will call on you. Mail coupon today. Ask for Pamphlet No. PR-11.

VEL*

MAKES DISHES SHINE

WITHOUT WASHING OR WIPING!

"VEL SOAKS DISHES CLEAN — SAVES YOU ALL THE HARD WORK!"

Don't Wash—JUST SOAK
Dishes soak grease-free in seconds! No washing is needed. If food clings, a touch of the dishcloth gets it off. No greasy dishwater with Vel.

Don't Wipe—JUST RINSE
Just soak and rinse. Dishes dry without wiping! Even grease in pots and pans is so completely dissolved no hard scouring is needed.

Package for package — VEL CUTS GREASE BETTER

• Better than liquid detergents • Better than the leading washday detergent • Better than soap

—and yet NO 'DETERGENT BURN' TO HANDS!

PROVE IT YOURSELF!

"HAND-HEAT TEST" shows why:

Dip hands in water. Then put a tablespoonful of any leading washday detergent in one hand — put a tablespoonful of VEL in the other.

FEEL THE HEAT from washday detergents, indicating irritating alkalis and harsh chemicals that cause "Detergent Burn"!

FEEL NO HEAT with Vel because Vel contains no irritating alkalis or harsh washday chemicals that cause "Detergent Burn"!

VEL is a miracle of mildness! Vel helps you avoid rough, red hands — causes no "Detergent Burn"!

—MarVELous for dishes and finest fabrics.

With more years of research... more study and experimentation... more major contributions to dental hygiene during the past 79 years than any other company in the world, COLGATE—WORLD LEADER IN TOOTHPASTES—NOW ANNOUNCES

COLGATE BRISK* FLUORIDE TOOTHPASTE

Contains the ONLY FLUORIDE proved in 10 years of clinical tests

HARDENS TOOTH ENAMEL, MAKES TEETH STRONGER

starts working instantly

TO DEFEAT DECAY

Scientists proved this Fluoride
And Brisk's Fluoride is the only Fluoride proved in 10 year clinical tests... the same fluoride now being used successfully in water supplies... the same dentists use successfully to reduce decay. That's why this same fluoride, so widely approved by medical, dental and governmental authority, is now in Brisk.

Benefits both adults and children
Brisk's Fluoride/85, Colgate's exclusive new formula, helps protect all permanent teeth whether in adults or children over six. Brisk's Fluoride is instantly released... works on contact as you brush your teeth... strengthens tooth enamel as no other decay-preventive ever could.

Works even while you eat, drink or sleep
because Brisk's Fluoride/85 not only gives you wonder-working Fluoride to strengthen tooth enamel, but provides a second, tested decay-fighter that starts working instantly... keeps working all day against the formation of decay-acids. Unless you get Brisk, you cannot get the benefits of Fluoride/85.

Only BRISK has FLUORIDE/85,
gives extra protection Fluoride alone can't give...
works best where you need it most

Brisk's Fluoride actually concentrates in weak or "soft" spots where decay usually starts—combines with tooth enamel, becomes part of the tooth itself—thus protects as no other decay-fighter can. And Brisk's new, stay-active decay-fighter reaches into tight crevices between teeth—into food-traps where decay acids form—starts working instantly to defeat a major cause of decay.

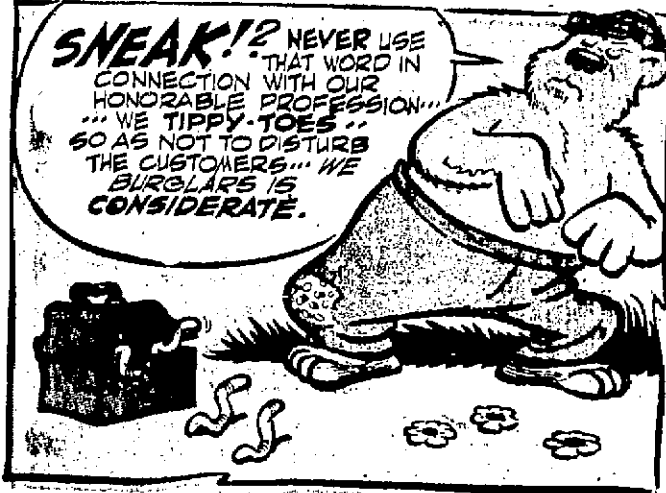

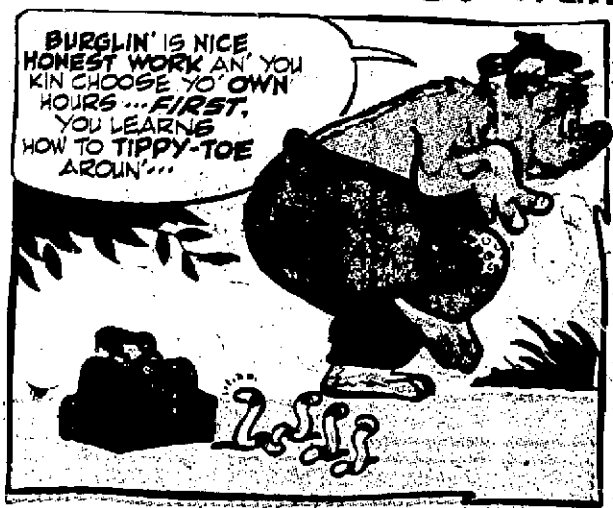

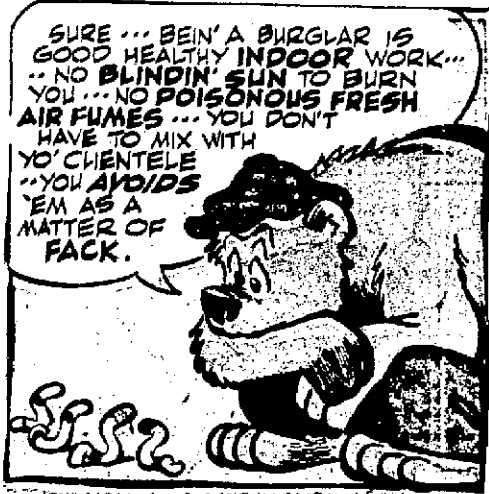

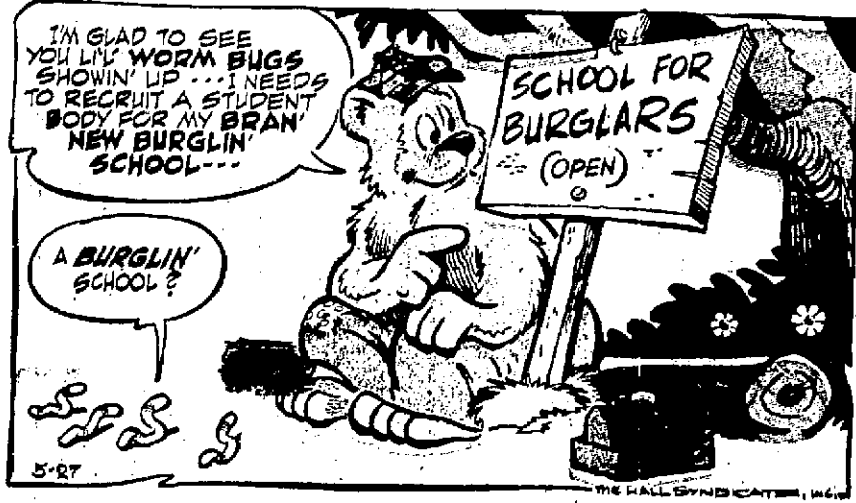

'WONDERFUL FLAVOR!'
Helps keep breath fresh all day!
And there's no "tinny" aftertaste with new Brisk! Your mouth tastes sparkling cool and sweet! Brings out all the natural whiteness of teeth!

Simpson Says Wade Attack Due to Grudge

'Groundless,' Demo
Candidate Asserts,
Raps Hosmer Record

By MALCOLM EPLEY

Congressional Candidate
Raymond C. Simpson Saturday fired an answering blast at Harry Wade, charging a "personal and groundless grudge" led to Wade's bitter attack on Simpson that shook Democratic circles last week.

The quiet of a hitherto lethargic primary campaign was broken by the hot exchange between Wade and the Simpson camp, and more fireworks were anticipated in the final week before the June 5 balloting.

Simpson and his campaign boss, Thomas P. Crocker, took turns Saturday lambasting Wade, who resigned two important party positions and came out with a resounding endorsement of Republican Congressman
Craig Hosmer. They ascribed "political enmity" to the fiery
Wade, and claimed he is frustrated because he has had ambitions, himself, to run for Congress, but hasn't found support.

DON ROSE, the county Democratic chairman, said Wade had joined the ranks of "election-eve turncoats who will have little success in fooling the voters."

But one local Democrat predicted the rift in party ranks will widen and others will follow Wade in support of Hosmer, who has crossed in his campaign for election to a third term.

Simpson and Crocker viewed Wade's action as a one-man defection.

"I regret," Simpson said, "that a man who has possessed such potential for good has permitted a personal and groundless grudge he has nursed against me for several years to cause him to lose his perspective."

His announcement that he will support the incumbent Congressman indicates Wade does not realize the significance of the Congressman's voting record, which organized labor has declared to be 82.97-per-cent unfavorable to the people during his period of service in the House.

10,000 See Explosion of Jet Plane

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—An estimated 10,000 people saw a jet fighter plane making a firework demonstration at nearby Ft. Bliss ground into the ground Saturday and burst into flames in the desert.

An official at Clovis Air Force Base, Clovis, N.M., where the pilot was based as a member of the 386th Fighter-Bomber Wing, identified the victim as 2nd Lt.
Warren M. Kimball of Phoenix.
His plane and two others, all F801 Sabrejets, came in low at a rocket target in an Army-Air Force firework demonstration.

TWO PLANES pulled up but the third roared into the ground.
The rest of the demonstration was cancelled.

Bill Russell, reporter for the El Paso Herald-Post, described the crash.

He said the plane "came in much lower than the other two."
The pilot seemed to be in trouble.
He managed to lower his tail a little as if he were getting control but continued roaring downward.

"Then, about a quarter mile from the grandstand down the range he seemed to be pulling up. But by then it was too late and he plunged in with a burst of orange flame."

L.A.C. Says:

Blind Partisanship

Political patronage has long been one of the politicians' methods for paying workers who help elect them.
"To the victors belong the spoils" is an old, but well-practiced system of politics. It is practiced by both of our great political parties. It is still practiced. But there is evidence that its potency is being greatly reduced.
Political jobs just do not carry the inducements they did in the past. Business and industry offer better pay with greater security. It is becoming increasingly difficult to get people to go to work for government.

There are, however, politicians who still believe patronage is the way to win votes. An example is a Republican candidate for governor of Illinois. In his political

Russ Air Might Told U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen.
Curtis LeMay estimates that by 1959 Russia will have enough long range bombers and nuclear weapons to destroy the United States—if Soviet airmen should get every conceivable break in a surprise attack.

This reluctant "guess" by the commander of the Strategic Air Command was made public Saturday by the special Senate subcommittee investigating relative U.S.-Soviet airpower.

The estimate was made against the background of a situation in which all the armed forces are bidding for funds, and competing with each other for what they consider the rightful place in the defense picture.

It was included in nearly 200 pages of closed-door testimony from which 111 deletions were made by Defense Department censors prior to release.

LEMAV'S OPINION, based on jet bomber programs of this country and intelligence estimates of the Soviet, was produced in a series of questions by Sen. Symington (D-Mo.), chairman of the air power inquiry.
The general said that if data supplied by the central intelligence agency are correct, the Russians will have nearly twice as many long range jet bombers as this country by 1960 "so the advantage will be with the Russians."

LeMay said he could not guess what Kremlin leaders will do then he added:

"From 1958, he is stronger in long range airpower than we are, and it naturally follows that if he is stronger, he may feel that he should attack."

LeMay told Symington that by 1958 the Russians will be stronger in long range bombers "and that the deterrent force would then transfer to Russia from the United States."

Symington pressed LeMay

ORDAINED PRIEST

L.B. Buddhist Leader to Plant Historic Tree

By SPENCER CRUMP

A Long Beach man who leads Buddhists on the Pacific Coast tonight will present area worshippers a sapling believed descended from the original "tree of enlightenment" under which the religion was conceived 25 centuries ago.

He is Leslie Lowe of 934
Appleton St., president of the Universal Buddhist Fellowship of California.

The ceremony will be at 8 p.m. at Koyasan Buddhist Temple, 342 E. 1st St., Los Angeles, where the sapling will be planted. Oriental priests will celebrate by joining in the traditional sutra (chanting) chant.

An ordained Buddhist priest,
Lowe looks exactly as a Caucasian Buddhist might be described in a story book. He is bearded and has knowing blue eyes. He wears sandals with his business suit and of signifies the wisdom of Sidihartha Gakama, the Buddha.

"I asked questions of Christianity and prayed to an Unknown God," says Lowe, a retired sanitation engineer.
"Now I have found the answers through the teachings of Buddha and pray to a God that I know."

LOWE BEGAN studying Buddhism 40 years ago and grew into the religion. Ordained a priest four years ago in Japan, he says Buddhism has much to offer the Western world.

Chairman for tonight's program will be the Rev. Jack Kent, minister of the Long Beach Unitarian Church and a member of the Buddha fellowship "because I want to recognize the world's other great religions."

Tonight's Wesak ceremony, which will include chanting Japanese priests, is part of a world-wide celebration noting the birth, enlightenment and passing of the religion's prophet.

Siddhartha Gautama was a young prince in India who failed to find enlightenment through suffering and privation. He sat under a tree to meditate until he achieved this goal.

THE YOUNG MAN found the rules of life, largely embracing kindness to others, and was proclaimed Buddha—The Enlightened One. The religion spread around the world from India.

His aid to enlightenment, technically a ficus religiosa of the botanical family to which the fig belongs, was labeled the "Bo" Tree—the Tree of Knowledge.

A spectacular temple stands near Gupta on the site of the original tree. A cutting from the first tree was sent in 300
B. C. by devout King Asoka via his missionary daughter to Ceylon, where what is believed to be the original tree is now enshrined.

It was from this tree, after six months of negotiations, that Lowe obtained the sapling to be given for planting at the Los Angeles temple. Receiving it while attending a Buddhist conclave two years ago in Rangoon, he brought it here carefully in a bamboo cylinder and nursed it from little more than a twig.

Harry's Trouble Is Wherever He Goes It Shakes

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—Four sharp earthquakes Saturday night struck the area around Florence, thronged by tourists including Harry S. Truman.

None of the shocks damaged
Florence itself, where Mr. and Mrs. Truman arrived earlier today. But the Florence Observatory said damage probably was caused farther north, where instruments were knocked out.

35 miles east of Florence said a rolling quake was felt there for several seconds beginning at 6:35 p.m.

Earlier in the day, Truman drove through Tuscan villages and towns plastered with election posters and commented it was "just like back home."

Congressman's Link with Nazis Revealed

GOP in Wisconsin Rejects Sen. Wiley

MILWAUKEE (UP)—Rep. Glenn Davis, a last-minute candidate, stormed the Wisconsin Republican convention Saturday to defeat Sen. Alexander Wiley for the party's endorsement for U. S. senator.

Loss of the endorsement was a major political setback on his 72nd birthday for the Chippewa Falls, Wis., Senate veteran, who is finishing his third six-year term.

However, Wiley told reporters as he left the convention hall he will run in the Republican primary election in September despite the endorsement loss. He said he already has received more than 20,000 signatures on nomination papers and is getting more in the mail at the rate of thousands a day.

THE ENDORSEMENT gives Davis the advantage of organization support, including campaign financing. But endorsed candidates have been unhinged in Wisconsin's turbulent politics before, and Wiley will be anything but a darkhorse in his attempt to win the nomination.

Davis, who had previously said he would not run for senator, said he changed his mind only Saturday on the urging of Republicans from all over the state.
He told the cheering convention
"I have a firm conviction that what we have done here has been right for the Republican Party."

THE 41-YEAR-OLD Davis has represented Wisconsin's second district since he was elected in 1932. A number of Wisconsin
Republicans claimed he had gone
overboard for internationalism
and the had feeling broke out into the open in 1953 when the state convention censured him for refusing to change his stand against the Bricker Amendment.

First rumblings against him came shortly after he was elected in 1952. A number of Wisconsin
Republicans claimed he had gone
overboard for internationalism
and the had feeling broke out into the open in 1953 when the state convention censured him for refusing to change his stand against
the Bricker Amendment.

U.S. Builds 2,000 MPH Rocket Plane

BUFFALO (AP)—An experimental rocket plane has been flown at a speed of nearly 2,000 miles an hour, the Buffalo Evening News said Saturday.

The newspaper said an announcement that the Bell Aircraft Company's X-2 had broken the previous record of 1,650 miles an hour could come at any time.
Another Bell ship—the X-1A—had set the earlier mark.

Bob Watson, the News' business and financial reporter, wrote in a page one story that the plane had come close to its anticipated top speed of 2,000 miles an hour in tests at Edwards Air Force Base in California.

The paper said Lt. Col. Frank K. (Pete) Everest was the test pilot.

WALKS INTO TRAP

Socialite Slaying Suspect Seized at Home of Wife

MIDDLEBURY, Vt. (AP)—A bartender wanted in the murder of an attractive blond Philadelphia socialite in Carson City, Nev., walked right into his own trap Saturday when he came here to visit his wife. He was arrested without a struggle while knocking on her front door.

State police said William E.
Boswell, 36, Carson City, drove here in the dead woman's car and was carrying her wallet, which contained a "nominal" amount of money.

Police said Boswell, who had been sought across the country, refused after his arrest to waive extradition to Nevada where he is charged with first degree murder in the slaying of Mrs. Anne Harris Van Ryne, 23, whose body was found in his Carson City apartment.

He also refused to discuss the slaying, authorities said. However, he admitted the car he was driving belonged to Mrs. Van Ryne. He said she had lent it to

German Papers
Tell Plan to Keep
'U.S. Out of War'

WASHINGTON (AP)—
Long-secret documents made public Saturday recounted that Nazi propa-gandists with thousands of dollars in hand collaborated with "a well known Republican congressman" in trying to get the 1940 Republican national convention to adopt an "isolationist" platform.

No name was given for the congressman in captured German documents, but secret for 16 years by British, French and American officials.

They were made public without comment by the State Department, but a footnote cited a keep-out-of-war newspaper advertisement published at the time over the signature of Hamilton Fish Jr., then a Republican representative from New York.

FISH, ASKED for comment, said he remembered the ad very well and he added that, in raising the money to pay for it, "not one cent came from German sources."

Many of the documents made public Saturday were cables to Berlin from Hans Thomsen, conspirator in man-in-charge at the German Embassy in Washington in 1940. America's last full year of peace before World War II.

It was a year of struggle between so-called isolationists and interventionists in American politics. The struggle was heightened by the fall of France, Italy's entry into the war against the allies and the American presidential election.

REPORTING on this in a "most urgent top secret" cable of June 12, 1940, Thomsen told Berlin the isolationists apparently were losing out.

Looking to the 1940 Republican convention, appearing within two weeks at Philadelphia, he outlined a two-part "well-camouflaged lightning propaganda campaign."

1. "A well-known Republican congressman who works in close collaboration with the special official for press affairs will invite some 50 isolationist Republican congressmen on a 3-day visit to the party convention." Their aim would be to "work on the delegates of the Republican party in favor of an isolationist foreign policy . . . $3,000 are required."

2. "The Republican in question is prepared to form a small ad-hoc Republican committee" to

Dr. Olmsted Dies; Helped Find Insulin

BERKELEY (AP)—Dr. James M. D. Olmsted, 70, professor emeritus of physiology at the University of California and a research participant in the discovery of insulin, died Saturday.

Dr. Olmsted came to California in 1927 from the University of Toronto, where he had worked on insulin studies. He retired as chairman of the University of California's physiology department in 1952.

The French Academy of Sci-

L.A.C. SAYS:

advertisement in the Centralia Sentinel he tells voters that he has criticized the present governor for keeping too many Democrats in jobs. He says that if he is elected governor he will do away with Civil Service if it keeps him from ousting Democrats so good Republicans can be seated in their jobs. He says that if we are to have the two-party system the party in power must have patronage to reward its workers.

This is the program of Judge Sid M. Ward, now seeking nomination for the governorship of Illinois. But it is also the attitude of a very large percentage of officeholders and seekers. It is a cynical attitude accepted by many citizens who blindly follow party candidates. An example is the job given John Maragon, former Kansas City bootblack and buddy of Harry Truman. He was convicted of using his influence with the President to greatly profit himself while Truman was in the White House. On being released from jail he was given a job in the House mail room.

Draw Pearson now admits he was largely responsible for helping Maragon get this job. He says Maragon was just an ignorant individual and he has paid his debt to society. But one must ask is that any reason why the Democrats who control this patronage should give such an individual a government job to be paid for by taxpayers whom that individual betrayed?

Officeholders do not have the pressure on them for small jobs as they did years ago. During the depression it was terrific. But now the greatest job pressure comes from men and women seeking appointment to important commissions or to the courts.

This change in patronage demands has greatly changed the political picture in some states. It has caused voters to be less partisan-minded. They vote for the man rather than the party. It is only in the large eastern cities that boss rule still holds control of wards. That is based entirely on patronage. It is practiced by both parties. But only in the southern states does blind partisanship continue to rule as a one-party system.—L.A.C.

publish full-page newspaper ads during the convention "with the impressive appeal 'Keep America out of War.'" The cost was estimated at $60,000 to $80,000.

Thomson cabled he had accepted proposal No. 1 as a "unique opportunity." As to the ads he said the Republican congressmen's "Republican friends" would probably pay half the cost. He asked Berlin's approval to pay the rest. Other documents indicated approval was given.

A FOOTNOTE by State Department historians said "such an advertisement appeared in the New York Times for June 25, 1940."

A check of this issue of the Times turned up a full page ad of "The National Committee to Keep America out of Foreign Wars." Fish, who was a House member from 1921 to 1945, signed the ad as chairman of the committee.

Sen. Karl Mundt (R-SD) recalled Saturday that, as a member of the House from South Dakota in 1940, he led a group of "young turk" Republicans to the Philadelphia convention.

"We were mostly against Wendell Willkie because he was an interventionist," Mundt said. "I remember there were about 20 of us, all in our first year in Congress, and we went to Philadelphia together."

Mundt said he couldn't remember whose idea it was. He said it grew out of meetings of what he called "The Wednesday Night Club." He said this club was composed of first-term Republican congressmen who opposed any involvement in the European war.

He said the group paid its own way to Philadelphia, stayed one night to press its views on the Republican convention's resolutions-platform committee. Got out a letter opposing Willkie and returned to Washington.

THE NEW YORK TIMES of June 20, 1940, reported the Mundt group's appearance before the platform-resolutions committee in these words: "The evening session (of June 19) was further enlivened by the appearance of a flying squadron of 20 Republican members of Congress, who came from Washington under the leadership of Rep. Mundt of South Dakota to urge the committee for the strongest possible stand against intervention in the European war.

"A few minutes before the members of Congress put in their appearance Christopher T. Emmet Jr. of New York laid before the platform writers a plea for all possible aid to the allies. Mr. Emmet was speaking for William Allen White of Kansas, head of the committee to defend America by aiding the Allies."

The resolutions-platform committee was headed by Alf Landon of Kansas, who had been the unsuccessful Republican presidential candidate in 1936. Landon was described in accounts of the

of Representatives. During the last session of Congress, according to Labor's published report, Hosmer voted 14 times against the people's welfare out of 17 votes on key issues. The fact that Wade does not understand this is concrete evidence of his political senility. I can only say he has my deepest sympathy."

Crocker, who is chairman of the 70th Assembly District Democratic Council, and Simpson's campaign co-chairman, asserted that Wade told him in February that he would support Hosmer if Simpson were a candidate for Congress.

"In the light of Wade's previous attacks on Hosmer," said Crocker, "it appears he is really not so much for Hosmer as he is against Simpson, against whom he harbors a personal animosity."

Crocker also claimed he had heard rumors that Wade had been promised the postmaster-generalship in Lakewood if Hosmer is re-elected.

Crocker said he sees no evidence that the Los Angeles County Democratic Central Committee, which has endorsed Simpson, is subservient to the California Council of Democratic Clubs as Wade charged. He said that the clubs, for the most part, are working harmoniously, but that some members are unhappy about the "inaction and passive resistance to party progress" by a few members of the county central committee. He said this has resulted in support for a new slate of candidates for election to the committee on June 5.

IN HIS ANTI-SIMPSON statement Friday, Wade announced he is resigning as a member of the county central committee and chairman of the 70th Assembly district county committee. Crocker claimed Wade's resignation had not yet been received by the committee, and remarked he should have resigned before attacking the Democratic candidate. He noted Wade is not a candidate for re-election at the coming primary.

Answering Wade's charges that Simpson has destroyed party unity, Crocker said it is Wade who has fomented intraparty strife. "It is well known," said Crocker, "that Wade has nursed a desire to run for Congress for several years and has grown steadily more bitter because no one else seemed to think he was qualified for the office or could be elected."

Wade asserted that Simpson has been "twice repudiated" as a candidate by the people of Long Beach. Crocker said that if defeat in election is repudiation, many other Americans have suffered similarly only to be acclaimed later. The greatest and most famous of those, he said, was Abraham Lincoln.

CROCKER COMMENTED on Wade's statement that the county committee in the 70th Assembly district had endorsed Paul Strader for Assemblyman. "The 70th District Democratic Council convention was held previous to the committee meeting," Crocker said. "Wade, Strader and a few others walked out of that convention without presenting Strader's name and held a 'rump' meeting at which they contrived to secure the endorsement of the committee and oppose the candidacy of Daniel T. Brice who was endorsed by the convention."

A few weeks later, Simpson was endorsed for Congress by the 18th District Democratic Council convention. "I do not recall seeing Wade at that convention," Crocker said, "although he could have attended and presented his own name or that of any other Democrat for endorsement if he had wished to. Later, Simpson was endorsed by the Los Angeles Democratic Central Committee, of which Wade is a member. I do not know if Wade attended that meeting or if he walked out there also. In any event, Simpson was endorsed unanimously."

ROSE, THE CHAIRMAN of the county committee, said he regretted that a man who had pledged himself to support the party platform and candidates should "spurn his commitments." He added:

"The election-eve turncoats, with whom Simpson has now joined company, will have little success in fooling the voters. One loud blast in the press and they are forgotten." He said the committee will take proper action in reference to Wade at an early meeting.

LeMay testified that past and present superiority of his worldwide bomber force had prevented start of an atomic war and should prevent one as long as superiority continues.

He repeated several times that if an atomic war starts, the United States and its allies must fight it with equipment they then have. He said all aircraft factories, industrial centers and other necessary aid would be bombed out.

$5,200 AUTO GOOD ENOUGH, BANDIT SAYS

NEW YORK (AP)—Lawrence Tenele, 55, was sitting in his $5,200 Cadillac at a railroad station waiting for a friend Saturday, when a man wearing dark glasses and a trench coat jammed a gun into his ribs.

Tenele handed over $140 and a $200 wristwatch and thought that would be the end of the holdup. The gunman had other ideas, however.

"Man, this is some load," he told Tenele. "Bet it cost about 8,000 bucks."

"No, Tenele replied. 'Only $5,200.'"

"That's good enough for me," the gunman said. "Hop out, cat, I'm ridin' in style today."

Tenele got out. The gunman got in and sped away.

Cooley, Chatham and Deane, acting independently, refused to sign because they felt the manifesto was too bitter. All three have taken stands favoring segregation, but prefer a "moderate" approach to the problem.

Gov. Hodges was solidly supported by most of the powerful Democratic leaders in the state. The 57-year-old retired textile mills executive opposes mixing of the races in schools but has adopted a "moderate" program based on "calm, deliberate study."

OBSERVERS figured close to its other congressional race, though the racial issue was not directly involved in them.

In the Third District, Rep. Graham A. Barden was opposed by political newcomer James O. Simpkins of New Bern. Barden, as chairman of the important House Education and Labor Committee, has been a target of northern Democratic liberal elements because he opposed the new $1 federal wage minimum law and has blocked legislation for federal aid to schools with any federal strings attached.

BUT SIMPKINS confined his campaign to a plea for fresh blood in Washington to promote industry and diversification in the predominantly rural district. Veteran Rep. Carl T. Progress Slams the Stage Door

Sir! How Dare You? 'Dancing' Girls Mean It

By BEN ZINER

Dad-dee, forget about those diamond rings, bracelets, everything.

Today's chorus is having no part of such tokens of appreciation from stage-door daddies. Most likely, her heart belongs to Junior, the lad down the street who spends his money on carboys—not champagne.

The stage door definitely is shut, a bevy of local chorines—the Marion Rankin Dancers—told a reporter Saturday. In other words, don't believe what you see in the cinema.

And let's get something else straight. They're "dancing girls"—not chorus girls.

"The term 'chorus girls' often has a derogatory connotation," says 20-year-old line captain Catherine Hawley, 1035 Olive Ave., who has been a Rankin girl for five years now.

CATHERINE SAYS there's an exception to stage-door romances. She's the exception. She met her husband of four weeks, Charles, during a show in Phoenix, Ariz.

"However," she hastens to explain, "I met him through one of the girls in the line—Phyllis Hamm. He's her cousin."

Catherine, whose stage name is Schurz, says Charles dated her after each evening's show and "We finally got married on my first night off in weeks."

One thing, though, hasn't changed in Glitterland. The stage-door Johnnies still are trying.

"There's always a bunch of guys hanging around the stage door," discloses 18-year-old Joanne Hoffman, 3070 Karen Ave., a Long Beach City College student who has been dancing professionally for a year. "But I never go out with any of them," the blonde, blue-eyed chorine says.

"WE DON'T MAKE a habit of seeing them," echoes 20-year-old Daryl Evans, 710 Hamilton Pl., San Pedro, a brown-eyed girl who is a bookkeeper when she's not dancing.

"They're taboo," says Loretta Ippolito, 19, of 3270 Delta Ave., a City College brunette.

"Never date 'em," comments Carole Mitchell, 16, of 2158 Adriatic Ave., a Poly High School student. Carole, the baby of the line, spends her extra time appearing as an extra in television shows. "Absolutely not," says Gayle

MODERN-DAY CHORINES ... Their Hearts Belong to Junior

Culp, 17, of 5852 Gardenia Ave., a Jordan High School pupil.

"Never," adds Patil Rodgers, 19, of 11150 Harris St., Lynwood, who attends Compton Junior College.

"Ditto," says 17-year-old Diane Brown, 2123 Monitor Ave., who goes to Poly High School.

"Not me," puts in Sandra West, 17, of 4161 Fleet Haven Rd., of Wilson High School.

"I never go out with them," says O'Reta Smith, 17, of 1519 W. 15th St., San Pedro, a student at Mary Star of the Sea School.

"Me neither," asserts Phyllis Hamm, 18, of 1708 Killen Pl., Compton, who attends Compton Junior College.

VETERAN OF the line is 24-year-old Nancy Lough, 4726 Carfax Ave., Lakewood, mother of two children. She's the only dancer of the current 12 who can remember when the Rankin Dancers performed with the Ina Ray Hutton orchestra on television week after week.

Her husband, Dean, is a former schoolmate. They have two sons, Duane, 5, and Klem, 2.

"As for my dancing in a line, my husband is all for it," she says.

Decked out in blue sequin leotards speckled with fluorescent stars, the chorines rehearsed Saturday afternoon for a "black light" novelty act. They have a show coming up in a few days in Los Angeles' Shrine Auditorium.

The Shrine Aud. is familiar ground to the girls. They average one show a month there.

In the past the line has danced for the Arizona State Fair, the Del Mar Fair and similar events.

Dance director Marion Rankin says her biggest problem is replacements.

"The girls are always getting married," she explains. "The boy usually is someone the girl went to school with."

"Yes, there's always a crowd around the stage door after shows, but as the girls said, these men don't create a problem these days."

So, get lost, Daddy-O. The Broadway melody of old no longer lingers on.

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands (AP)—There are too many fat Dutchmen. That was the conclusion of a national meeting of dietitians.

Prof. Piet Muntendam, director-general of The Netherlands Public Health Service, said: "Dutchmen would rather die from eating too much of the wrong food than from working too hard."

She reported Mrs. Christensen had been staying at the Fountain Grove Hospital, 4151 Fountain St., and had disappeared about 11 a. m. Saturday.

Police listed the case as apparent suicide.

Two Dead, 12 Hurt in Accidents

Two persons were killed and 12 injured in a series of traffic accidents in the Long Beach area Saturday and late Friday.

One mishap was a spectacular crash in which an automobile went out of control, sheared off a fire hydrant and overturned twice, killing the driver and injuring a woman passenger.

The dead: Walter Douglas Smith, 27, of Los Angeles.

Rita E. O'Connell, 18, of 1035 W. 180th St., Gardena.

Smith was killed almost instantly Saturday when his car flipped over twice at Figueroa St. and Pacific Coast Hwy.

His passenger, Barbara Matthews, 21, Los Angeles, suffered a fractured skull and possible internal injuries. She was taken to Harbor General Hospital.

THE GARDENA victim was killed in a two-car crash at Pier Ave. and Gould Lane, Redondo Beach, early Saturday. She was a passenger in a car driven by Edward L. Hult, 27, of 1350 W. 16th St., Gardena, who was taken to Harbor General Hospital with a punctured lung.

Driver of the other car, Leopoldo S. Montanez, 40, of 1746 Spreckels Lane, Redondo Beach, was arrested after the accident.

Robert F. Williams, 18, Los Angeles, another passenger in Hult's car, received two leg fractures.

A crash at Lomita Blvd. and Hawthorne Ave., Torrance, late Friday seriously injured Victor Low, 75, and Madge Low, 67, of 1816 Henderson Ave., Long Beach. They were taken to Harbor General Hospital.

A pedestrian, Frank Hernandez, 56, of 3385 W. 17th St., Torrance, was injured seriously when he was struck by a car while crossing Crenshaw Blvd. at 170th St.

Two cars crashed and plunged into a ditch near Artesia St. and Atlantic Ave. early Saturday, injuring four persons, two seriously.

Douglas R. MacMillan, 22, of 6537 Caviata Ave., one of the drivers, was booked by police on suspicion of felony drunk driving and was charged with speeding. He sustained minor injuries.

Seriously hurt were Mrs. Shirley Sleeper, 48, of 5524 Bellflower Blvd., and Mrs. Verna M. Northrop, 49, of 292 Temple Ave. They were passengers in a car driven by Mrs. Helen J. Carter, 46, of 14311 Mar Les Dr., Santa Ana, who received a fractured right arm.

SEVEN-YEAR-OLD Lonnie R. Joseph, 1171 Walnut Ave., suffered a chipped elbow Saturday when, police said, he rode his bicycle into a moving van at Peterson Ave. and E. Anaheim St. The van driver, George T. Jacobson, 30, of 445 E. Pleasant St., was not cited.

Motorcyclist Dennis Hanson, 24, 1106 E. Emery St., Whittier, was injured critically Friday afternoon when his vehicle struck an auto driven by Alex Walker, 77, of 1436 N. Spadra Rd., Fullerton, as Walker was making a U-turn on Fullerton Rd. near Sunnycrest St., Fullerton, police reported.

Two Survivors of Plane Crash at Sea Describe Rescue by Boat

Two veterans of World War II came home from another brush with death Saturday and recounted the tragic drowning of their companion 200 miles west of Long Beach.

William Newton, 26, of 5609 N. Carfax Ave., was swallowed up by a huge wave—with rescue just out of his grasp.

Jay Tracer, 36, of 520 Fernleaf Ave., Corona del Mar, and William Drake, 39, of 117½ Bay Shore Dr., returned to port aboard the Union Oil Co. tanker Avila, Saturday.

THE TWO MEN and Newton had to ditch their plane when it ran out of fuel. They thought they were over dry land, but found themselves over the ocean.

Tracer is a survivor of the infamous Bataan death march. He spent most of World War II in Japanese prison camps.

And Drake, who now is his partner in an aerial photography firm at 3730 Atlantic Ave., was the pilot of a B-29 who dropped bombs on Japan—and he unwittingly dumped a load of bombs near Osaka Prison camp where Tracer was a POW.

Tracer and Drake rented the four-place Cessna 182 to fly to Fresno to have a camera repaired. Newton was en route to Fresno on business. He was employed by his father, Thomas Newton, 4444 Peppercorn Ave., who operates a private detective agency and bail bond business here.

"THE PLANE'S RADIO was out and we figure that the compass was defective," said Tracer, who has been flying since he was 17 years old. "We got over Bakersfield all right and then hit a heavy overcast between there and Fresno. We turned back for Bakersfield only to find that soaked in."

Low visibility kept them from spotting Long Beach. When their fuel was exhausted, they came down for a landing and were amazed to see they were over the ocean. They landed safely and the plane began to sink.

Nearby was the Norwegian vessel, Castleville.

Before running out of fuel they buzzed the ship to attract its attention. The ship continued for a quarter of a mile before it could slow and return to the men.

"WE WERE AFRAID that the ship's crew hadn't seen us," Drake related. "The waves were so high that we couldn't catch sight of the ship. I never saw the lifeboat until it was right up by me."

Drake said he last saw New-

Four Slain by Bride in Quarrel

HAMMOND, Ind. (AP)—A young bride, in a rage over what police said was a family quarrel over crowded living conditions, Saturday shot her invalid husband, her mother-in-law, and her two sisters-in-law.

Mrs. Opal Juanita Collins, 25, was arrested immediately after the wild shooting spree and readily admitted the slayings to police.

The dead were her husband, Ben C. Collins Jr., 28, a paraplegic Army veteran, her mother-in-law, Mrs. Julia Collins, 48, and her husband's two sisters, Mary Sue, 11, and Martha Ann, Collins, 14.

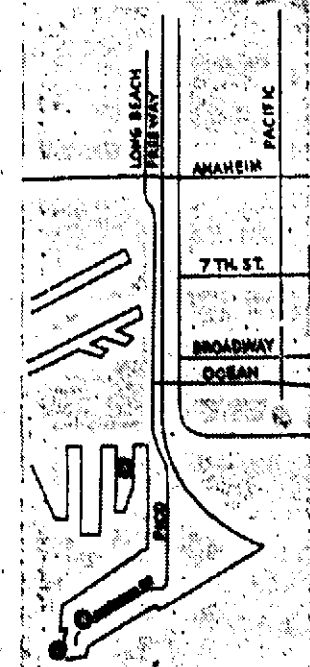

Police said the family moved to Hammond from Louisville, Ky., a short while ago. They said the couple was married in Indianapolis, Ind., early this month.

When police arrived they found the four victims sprawled on the floor of the small home. Mrs. Collins said she shot them all with a .22 caliber rifle equipped with a telescopic sight.

Police said the shootings followed a heated argument centering around living arrangements in the house which was owned by Mrs. Collins' husband.

Harbor Day Fete to End Trade Week

World Trade Week will be brought to a climax today at Long Beach and Los Angeles harbors with the observance of Harbor Day.

Junior chambers of commerce from Long Beach, Los Angeles, Wilmington and San Pedro are co-operating in staging the day's events.

Local junior chamber representatives announced Saturday that entries in the children's model tugboat contest will be accepted today as late as 11 a. m., after which judging will begin.

In addition to tours aboard the tugboat Long Beach, moored at Pierpoint Landing, winners will receive $25, $15 and $10 merchandise certificates.

OTHER EVENTS besides the model contest which will be held in a new warehouse on Pier A near Pierpoint Landing include a fashion show, military displays, exhibits of world cargoes and a showing of imported autos.

The aircraft carrier USS Boxer will receive visitors at Berths 17 and 18, Pier B. The cruiser USS Toledo and the destroyer USS Tucker will welcome the public at Berths 178 and 179 in Wilmington. The Lurline will also be open to visitors at the Matson Terminal.

$25 Million Slated for Fun Areas

WASHINGTON—The National Park Service plans to spend more than $25 million to build new roads and spruce up nine recreation areas in California.

The Department of Interior said the money will be spent over the next 10 years under the service's Mission 66 program, a comprehensive long-range plan.

REQUIREMENTS for Yosemite National Park, largest in the state, have not been determined, and will be added to the total.

The California program includes about $15.6 million for roads and trails and $9.5 million to develop and improve hotel facilities, campground and picnic areas, and other facilities.

Expenditures will be directed toward modernizing and improving existing roads. National Park Director Conrad L. Wirth said. Very little new mileage is planned.

SEQUOIA, KINGS Canyon, Death Valley and Lassen National Parks are scheduled to receive the bulk of the improvements.

An estimated $8.6 million is proposed for roads and trails at Sequoia and Kings Canyon. All of Death Valley's roads, now gravel, are scheduled for surfacing, at a cost of $1.6 million. Lassen is scheduled to receive $586,000 for roads and trails and $1,119,000 for buildings and campgrounds.

STATE'S MODEST COED

Gertrude Gellen, Long Beach State College student, modestly lists her film star son as "T. Hunter" in college records.—(Staff Photos)

T. Hunter's Mother Lives Quietly Here

By BOB HOUSER

Gertrude Gellen's personal data file at Long Beach State College lists for reference one "T. Hunter."

Gertrude is a 47-year-old student. The reference she gives is really her son, Arthur Gellen, who now uses a pseudonym. He is Tab Hunter, freshly-minted movie star and—in the eyes of this nation's young dolls—one of the top 10 dreamboats extant.

It's quite reasonable that Mrs. Gellen should expect good reference from T. Hunter because Tab is picking up the tab for his mother's schooling.

Starting a six-year educational program is not easy for a three-decade truant. And it is not a whim borne of the sudden financial emancipation provided by the success of her famous son. It's simply that she always wanted to go to school.

SHE HAD LITTLE chance as a child. She was born in Hamburg, Germany, in 1909. Home-making was the prescribed career for daughters in European families. So she cried from her window and watched other young people passing on their way to school.

Her father, John Gellen, a chef on United States Steamship Lines, brought his family to America in 1927. Gertrude and her two sons, Walter, 3, and Arthur, 2, came to California in 1933. Then, in later years she worked. Sometimes she held two jobs so she could keep her sons in school.

Now, Mrs. Gellen's boy-raising formula, equal parts of love and understanding, seems to have wrought success. About Tab she says, "Someday I think he will be very good. He's a humble boy with a good outlook. He is a very real and very natural boy."

Son Walter is in Alaska with the Navy, has completed three years of college credit in service, is married and a father and hopes to become a doctor. Walter paid his mother tribute more precious than gold. After years of taking the childhood lessons for granted and growing into manhood, he said one day, "Thanks, Mom, for what you've done."

TAB IS MORE LIKELY to call his scholar "Honey." He compliments her on how her letter writing has improved after only one year of formal English instruction. The two meet perhaps once a week either here at her Long Beach apartment or in Hollywood. They talk by telephone a couple of times a week. She may say, "Thank you for calling."

Leag Names Hill as New Field Deputy

NORWALK—Appointment of Robert E. Hill, 14508 E. Horst Ave., as a field deputy to serve in the southern section of First Supervisorial District was announced by Supervisor Herbert C. Legg. He will assume his duties Monday.

Since 1952, Hill has been associated with the Los Angeles Bureau of Southern California Newspapers. Prior to that time he worked as reporter and editor on the Alhambra Post-Advocate. He served two years in the U. S. Infantry during World War II with the 24th Division in the Philippines.

The new field deputy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hill, residents of Bellflower for more than 30 years. They reside at 8930 E. Belmont Ave., Bellflower.

TAB HUNTER... Mother Favors Latin

"Thank you for being there," Tab answers.

So far, a relatively simple tale. But Gertrude Gellen is a difficult subject; much too complex for faithful portraiture in a single sitting. Not just vivacious, enthusiastic, poetic, prodigious, philosophic, energetic, intelligent or mystic. She is all these things, but each is modified by half-tone values—here enriching the basic color or meaning, there rendering it enigmatic.

"Man someday will float," she explains.

Here is the mysticism. Her meaning is that man's faith and God's head (the greatest gift of God) will one day enable him to reach staggering heights—heights which will dwarf all present accomplishment.

She has an obsessing conviction that this noble improvement is inevitable.

Noise and talk are irritants on the course of this supernal summit, she maintains. "Someday the great minds will have no need of chatter and words. Their goals will be achieved in concert through telepathic communication."

Goal of her own education—a planned two years at Long Beach State and three more at UCLA—is to equip herself for a career of social work. She would like most to work in a hospital and, if possible, with handicapped children. She has an uncommon interest too in brain and heart surgery.

GERTRUDE GELLEN believes man's realization of his brain's capacity will bring with it cures for the palsied or mentally retarded children. On this conviction her voice heightens to earnest surety: "It must be!"

A vehicle toward this enlightenment, she believes, is Latin. So she studies Latin privately. She thinks Latin should be available to any who wish it, even if it is not a popular course and the classes are small.

Latin helps create an interest in science. Even if only one great scientist emerges, the program will have been justified. Tab Hunter's mother leans forward with each excited verbal volley, her hands posturing punctuation. She is a tall, trim, tanned blonde woman who has another great ambition besides schooling and social service career. She wants to attend the Metropolitan Opera.

She hears the music often by radio and is transported as would anyone "who has the ears to hear and the heart to listen."

It might seem strange that the handsome mother of a handsome young bachelor movie star is not plagued with attention and questions by young people. It's quite simple, however. She hasn't told anyone.

GLOOM AT THE 'SLOP CHUTE'

Marines Scowl at New Rules

By BEM PRICE

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP)—For 40 years raw boys have been manufactured into proud U. S. Marines here. The manufacturing methods hardly would have found favor with Boy Scouts and the language of instruction would have been out of place at Sunday School plerics.

The end result, however, has been a fighting force as close to real professionals as anything the United States has produced. In 173 years it has never been licked.

Now the Marines' highly controversial training methods are undergoing drastic change and from the officers' club to the enlisted men's "slop chute"—as the beer parlor is called—there is a measure of gloom.

After his fourth beer one night an unhappy staff sergeant said, "We've had the old corps, the new corps and now this fouled up thing."

Another sergeant said, "We get more like the Army every day."

The word from the commandant, Gen. Randolph Pate, is that thenceforth all Pate is to be trained "by the book"; that is, the Landing Force Manual.

In the past, "The Book" has served primarily as a guide for the noncommissioned officer drill instructors (DI's) at this Marine Corps recruit depot.

Over the years the DI's have developed their own methods of discipline and training, methods not condoned anywhere in "the book" but which the Marines have felt to be effective.

NOW ALL THIS IS changed and Staff Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon did it.

On April 8, a moonless Sunday night, McKeon smashed a platoon of recruits past the ribbon range and into tide-swept Ribbon Creek. Six were drowned.

McKeon said he did it "to teach them discipline." The Marine Corps said he had been drinking vodka. He is now in the brig awaiting trial by court martial July 14 on charges of manslaughter.

In the hearing Pate said, "Some practices have crept into the handling of recruits which are not only unnecessary but do not comport with the dignity of the individual or his self respect."

Pate sat up a special recruit training command here and at the West Coast recruit depot at San Diego, directly responsible to him.

THE RESULT has been a sharp curtailment in the independence and autonomy of the drill instructors.

No more will DI's be permitted to take recruits on night hikes.

From now on the DI's will use no profanity. Recruits will no longer be known as "stupid idiots," among other things.

The ancient practice of making the talkative recruit stick his head in a bucket and shout "I am an idiot" 500 times is out.

No longer will a "boot," as recruits are known, be given a toothbrush and told to scrub an entire barracks.

commissioned officers in the world.

He also has been the backbone of the present corps, the producer of the heroes of Guadalcanal, Iwo Jima, Okinawa, the Inchon landing and the Chosin Reservoir.

WHERE THE DI will stand under the new training command setup currently is in doubt.

The new recruit training command here is under direction of Brig. Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr., who, like Pate, has spent most of his time in the corp in staff jobs.

Greene insists that basically the methods of training are sound. "I have no intention of changing this system or letting it get soft."

He also said he intended to enforce the rigid discipline "by other means: leadership."

Ten officers have been assigned here as "inspectors." They have been told not to get between the DI and his platoon but if they find anything wrong to "take it up with the senior officer present."

This has not set well with the drill instructors. The DI's feel that the 10 officers are "Sneaky Pates," that is, spies.

The drill instructor is a dedicated man. His home life is negligible. Take S-Sgt. Bill J. Cooke of Emporia, Kan., and his assistant, S-Sgt. Philip W. Farhat of Bayonne, N. J., both veterans of Korea.

During the first two weeks of the platoon is forming up for its 10 weeks of training, they rarely get home. Afterwards one or the other is with the platoon 24 hours a day. Often they are up at 4:30 a. m., and sometimes not in the sack until 11:30 p. m., or later.

"Dammit," said Cooke, "I love this outfit and I don't care who knows it. A Marine stands up straight and he can stand anything."

"I've been turning out people somebody may have to lead in combat. Hell, I may have to lead them myself and if I do I want blind obedience."

UNTIL GREENE CAME, the great leveler has been the de-lousing process where a recruit is run through "the grinder." His head is shaved. He is showered and fitted out in Marine clothing. Hereafter, the men will be given military haircuts.

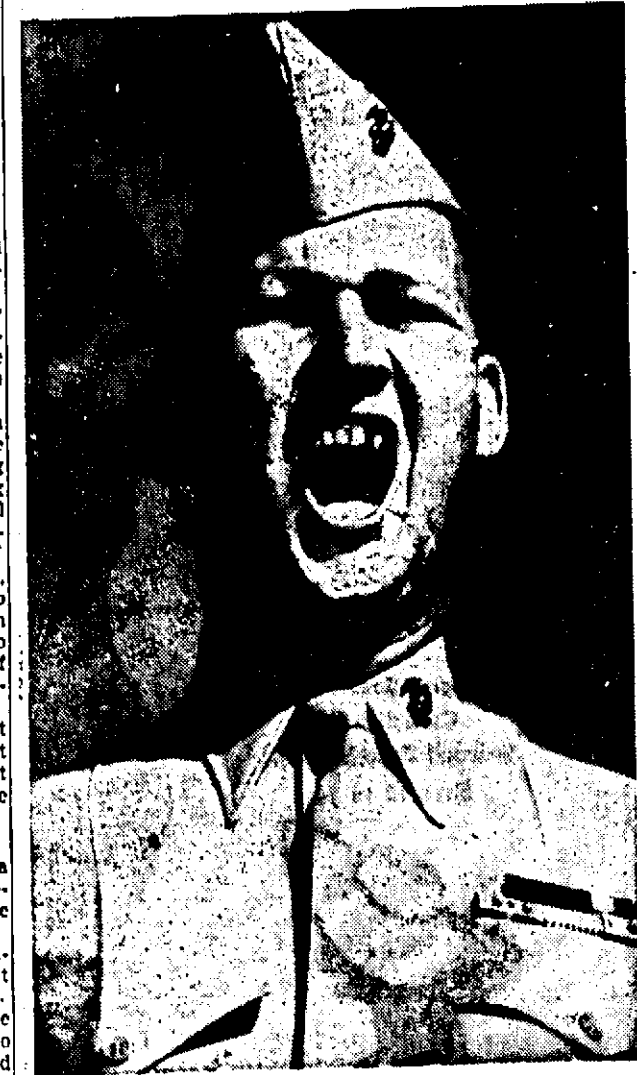

Cooke currently has the last of his bald platoons. Right after their trip through the "grinder," the bull-voiced Cooke roared to attention.

"From now on," he barked, "I'm your mother, father, sister, brother and sweetheart. If you have any problems you bring them to me. If I can't straighten them out we'll find somebody topside who will."

"You," he went on, "are going to learn to live together, work together, eat together, and do every other thing together."

"You are going to learn to be faithful to one — the Marine Corps. If the guy in front of you is slow roll over him because he is the — who is going to be slow in combat."

"And don't forget this: you volunteered. The only excuse for the Marine Corps is to be ready to fight and, by God, you are going to be ready."

U.S. Seeks to Widen Russ Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, it was learned Saturday, probably will suggest to Russia next week that its invitation for a few Air Force officers to visit Moscow be broadened to include top leaders of other services.

President Eisenhower will make the final decision, probably on a recommendation from the Joint Chiefs of Staff that the Soviet invitation be accepted subject to certain conditions which in effect would change its nature substantially.

Eisenhower's own attitude toward an exchange of officials between this country and the Soviet Union was described by informed officials as positive. The administration appears at the moment to be prepared for an open ended series of official visits which could lead eventually to an invitation to Soviet Communist Party boss Nikita Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai Bulganin to come to this country. That is not a specific purpose of American diplomacy now but some officials concede it could work out that way.

EISENHOWER has given his personal attention to the Soviet invitation to the Air Force ever since Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and his associates decided early this week that it could lead to an important visit or series of visits in the interest of the United States. Some administration officials see the whole operation as one which could also contribute to what the President described in his speech at Baylor University Friday as "our efforts to establish a climate in which universal disarmament can go forward."

The Soviet invitation was informally presented to the Air Force last Monday by Col. Philip Bachinsky, air attache at the Soviet Embassy acting at the direction of Marshal Vasily D. Sokolovsky, Soviet armed forces chief.

Sokolovsky invited Gen. Nathan F. Twining, air chief of staff, to send two or three "high level officers of the United States Air Force" to the celebration of aviation day in the Soviet Union on June 21.

No Radiation Involvement in Girl Death

NEW YORK (AP)—An autopsy report said so far there were no signs of atomic radiation damage to organs of a Hiroshima maiden who died here while undergoing her third plastic operation.

Tomako Nakabayashi, 26, was one of 25 Japanese girls brought here last year for treatment of burns they received in the atomic bombing of their city. They became known as the Hiroshima maidens.

She died of what Medical Examiner Dr. Milton Halpern called a heart arrest while undergoing the surgical treatment Thursday night.

Dr. Halpern and Dr. Sadao Otani, a Japanese pathologist, performed the autopsy. Dr. Halpern said in a statement:

"There was no evidence of any structural damage to the heart, brain or other organs attributable to a radiation effect of the atomic bomb explosion in 1945 which resulted in the thermal burns, the complications of which necessitated reconstructive surgery."

"She had suffered a deep arm injury. A scar ran from her elbow to her fingers and was so deep it had pulled her right wrist into a useless position. The operations were designed to correct this injury."

Japan Jobless Total Up Million

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's unemployment hit a postwar high in March, although employment was up a million over last year. The government reports 1,060,000 were unemployed in March. The previous postwar high was 840,000 in March 1955. Employment rose to 40,830,000 from 39,840,000 in March a year ago. The government said the unemployment rise resulted mainly from large numbers of high school and college graduates entering the labor market.

Pregnancy No Path to Altar?

BERLIN (AP)—East German Justice Minister "Red" Hilda Benjamin told a group of Soviet Zone girls that pregnancy does not free them from the law which prohibits marriage before age 18.

"A 16-year-old girl has not enough experience to decide if she wants to travel through life with the man who is the father of her child," the minister was quoted in the newspaper Junge Welt. "An illegitimate child is no scandal any more."

Bulgaria Rebuffed by U.S. Diplomats

WASHINGTON (UP) — The United States has rebuffed Communist Bulgaria's bid to reestablish diplomatic relations angrily broken off in 1950, it was disclosed Saturday.

Administration officials said American diplomats in Paris recently informed Bulgarian diplomats that this nation does not even want to talk about resuming relations. The Bulgarians were told, it was added, that this government is not prepared to continue even informal talks on the matter.

The rebuff followed "several Bulgarian approaches" in Paris, at United Nations headquarters in New York, and at other places. The first approaches were made last February.

THE UNITED STATES recalled its diplomatic staff from Sofia and ousted Bulgarian diplomats here on Feb. 20, 1950. This was after the Communist regime ousted U.S. Minister Donald Heath for alleged "spy-traitor" contacts inside Bulgaria.

The United States vigorously rejected the Red charges against Heath as "wholly unfounded." It accused the Communists of subjecting American diplomats "to a series of indignities and restrictions" and of murdering Bulgarian employees of the U.S. Legation.

The State Department remembers the treatment dished out to this country in 1949 and 1950 following establishment of diplomatic relations in 1947. There also is some feeling that restoration of relations would have a discouraging effect on hopes for freedom of persons living behind the Iron Curtain.

UNWANTED HAIR REMOVED FOR LIFE

FOR WOMEN—The "St. Pierre Dual Action Method" upsets all concepts of treatment. This method destroys more hair for the dollar than anything developed in 50 years. BONES BROKEN BEFORE BIRTH

Five-day-old Kevin, held by his mother, Mrs. Richard Slunder, 23, of Bedford, Ind., suffered 30 to 40 broken bones before his birth, according to physicians. Both cause and cure are unknown. All ribs, both legs and arms breaks have healed, but a cast still covers the right arm.—(AP)

Keef Warns Dems Adlai Can't Win

MIAMI (UP)—Sen. Estes Keefauver said bluntly Saturday that the Democrats can not win with Adlai Stevenson in 1956 but out bid to beat Stevenson in the primary next Tuesday. The state's 28 Democratic national convention votes will be pledged to the winner.

Stevenson asserted the President is standing "grandly aloof" in the midst of "bureaucratic civil war" in Washington. His only rejoinder to his Democratic rival's personal attack was that "it is up to the Democratic voters and not Sen. Keefauver to decide who is the strongest candidate in 1956."

Keefauver said in a central Florida speech that "what was not good enough to win in 1952

Ike Plays 27 Holes of Golf

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP) — President Eisenhower played 27 holes of golf Saturday—the most since the day before his heart attack last Sept. 24.

He teed off on the Gettysburg Country Club course in brisk, 52-degree weather at 9:30 a.m., and played around the nine-hole course three times before returning to his nearby farmhouse at 1 p.m.

It was his most vigorous day of golf since shooting 27 holes at Denver last fall. He walked the course at the start "to warm up a bit" but later rode the links in an electric cart.

George L. Allen, a Gettysburg neighbor and personal friend, played the 27 holes with the President. Club pro Dick Slesinger shot the first nine and Dr. Howard Mee, Snyder, Mr. Eisenhower's personal physician, accompanied the presidential party on the last 18 holes.

The President flew to his farm here from Washington late Friday after a flying trip to Waco, Tex., for an address at Baylor University. He will return to the White House some time Monday.

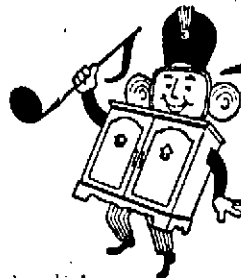

Lloyd's Pool Won't Bet on Life of Ike

LONDON (UP) — Lloyd's of London has refused to "politicize" reasons to write insurance policies on the life expectancy of President Eisenhower, the London Evening Standard said Saturday.

The newspaper said the insurance firm, which writes policies in virtually any field, has received inquiries "about the price of insurance that President Eisenhower will live through his second term of office if he is re-elected in November."

It said Lloyd's has refused to "underwrite this risk." The firm "has given an instruction that the risk is not to be accepted for political reasons," the Standard said.

Big Steel Pay Talk Monday

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The nation's biggest labor negotiations of 1956 start Monday when the United Steelworkers Union presents the steel industry with one of the most expansive, and perhaps most costly, set of demands in USW history.

Negotiators for the AFL-CIO union and the industry have roughly a month to hammer out a settlement on 23 contract proposals for expiring two-year contracts covering some 650,000 steelworkers employed by 172 basic steel and iron ore producers. The strike deadline is midnight June 30.

But the main goals of the 1,200,000-member union are only four. The USW already has made clear its key demands are: 52 weeks of supplemental unemployment benefits; premium pay for weekend work; a "substantial" pay increase; and a greatly improved hospitalization insurance program for which companies must foot the entire bill.

USW President David J. McDonald has declined to set a price on the contract "package." The union contends only that its aims are "reasonable" and amount to only a "fair share" of the industry's profits, now soaring to record heights in what is almost certain to be a record production year.

As usual, giant U. S. Steel Corp.—which produces about 1.3 of the nation's basic steel supply—will be the first to face McDonald and his team of negotiators. The union will start presentation of its case at 10 a.m. Monday.

McDonald will deal with Bethlehem Steel and Republic Steel Corporations—the number 2 and 3 ranking firms—Monday afternoon. Tuesday will see the remaining members of the industry's "big six"—Jones & Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, and Inland Steel—start their contract sessions here. Great Lakes Steel, a Detroit subsidiary of National Steel Corp., also is on the second day schedule.

Presbyterians Set Budget at $32 Million

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—The 168th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. Saturday accepted the largest financial program in its history—a basic 1957 budget of $15,040,776 with added goals that would run the figure to $32,243,661.

Of the overall program fund, the churches will be asked to provide $25,183,661. The remainder of the hoped-for $32,243,661 would be made up by special gifts, bequests and from other sources.

The total program amount compares with the 1956 figure of $25,769,649. This year, the basic budget was $14,650,000.

SUNDAY'S PORTION of the assembly will be purely religious in nature with many of the out-of-town pastors assigned as guest preachers at Philadelphia area churches.

On Monday, the assembly will turn back to such business and the proposed merger with the United Presbyterian Church and the admitting of women to the ministry.

The merger plan was presented to the assembly Friday but final action was put off until next week on the grounds the merger report was too lengthy for a vote the same day it was handed down by committee.

Four Quints Shun Festive Anniversary

MONTREAL (UP)—The four living Dionne quintuplets aren't planning any party for their 22nd birthday Monday.

Marie, proprietor of a newly opened flower shop, says, "The party we had after opening the shop last Saturday was our birthday party, too."

The shop is named "Salon Emille" after the sister who died in 1954.

Annette is studying music in Montreal. Cecile and Yvonne are nurses in a suburban St. Laurent hospital. Marie had been in a convent studying to be a nun, but she left last year because of poor health.

Marie says she will work as usual on Monday. But she and her sisters have planned surprise gifts for each other.

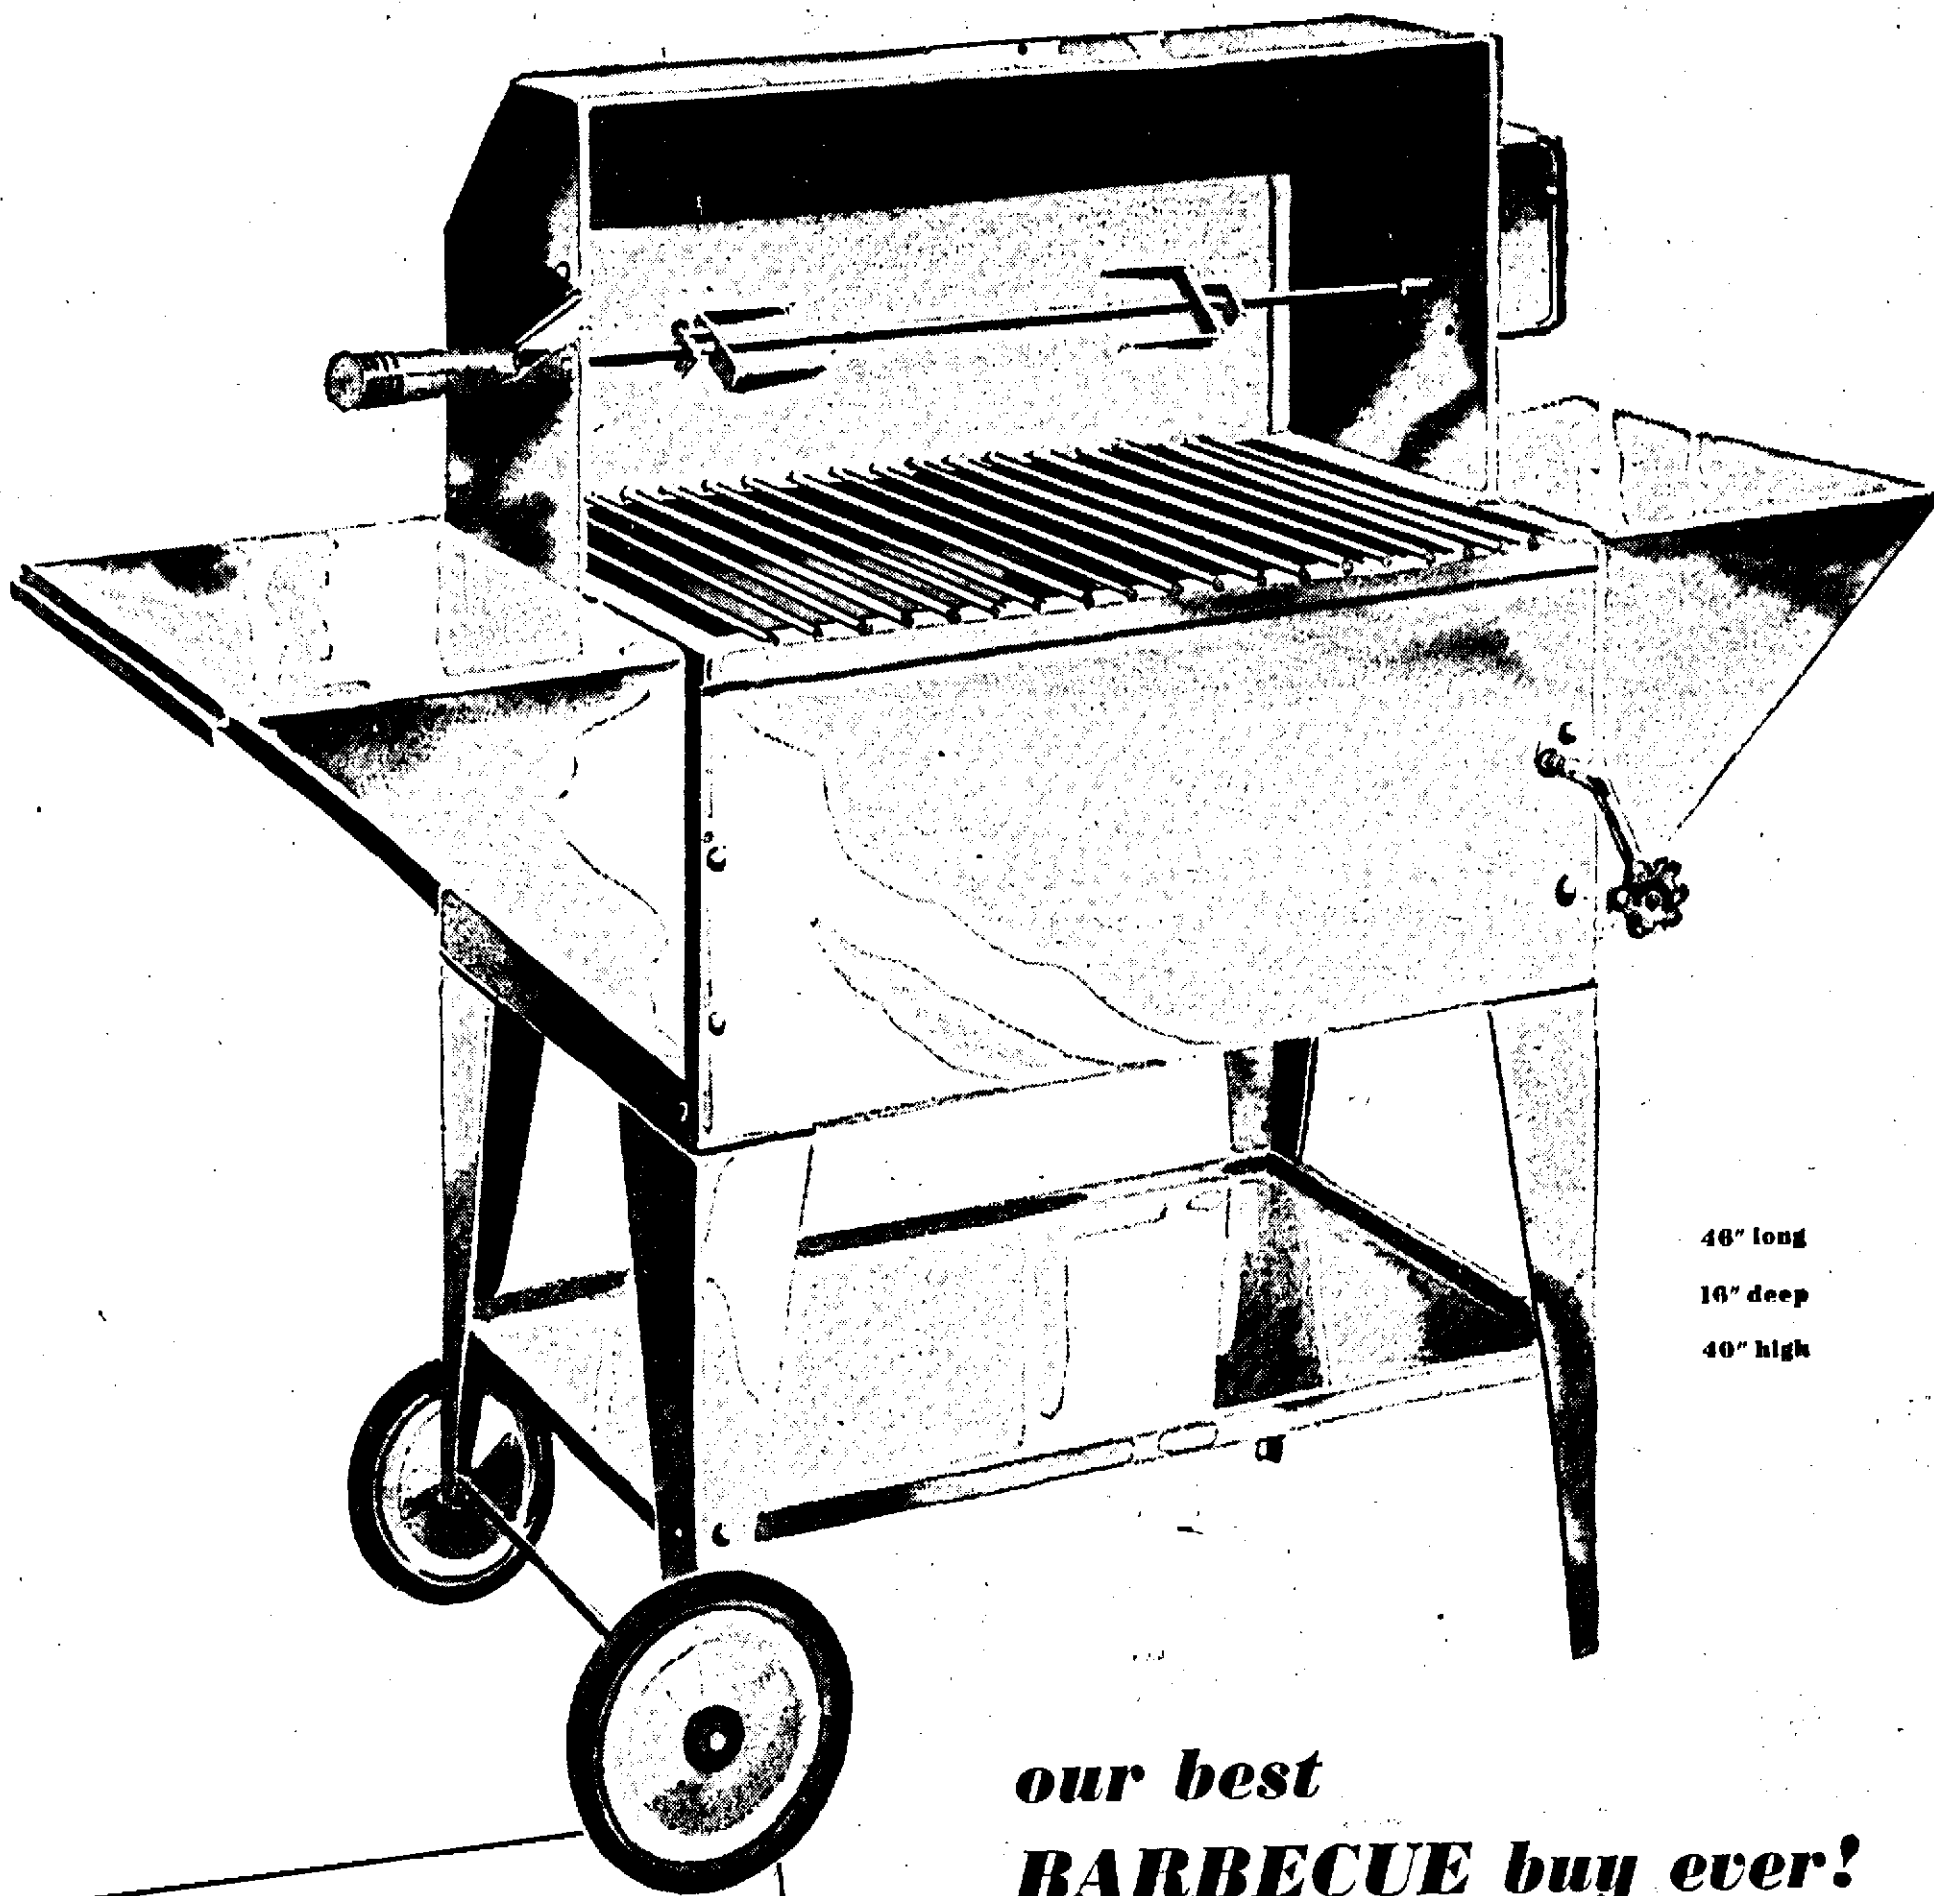

On their 21st birthday, the quintas came into a fortune of approximately a million dollars. They celebrated quietly then at a family reunion at their home in Callander, Ont.

President Will Get 2 More Tests in 1956

Russ Set Pace at Air Show

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP)—Russia's new TU-104 twin-jet civilian airliner stole the thunder from the latest American and British jet fighters Saturday at the International Air Show at Kloten Airport.

Russians at the show were high in their praise for Britain's gleaming Hawker Hunter jet fighter. And they peered closely at the new U. S. Air Force F-100 Super Sabre, descendant of the planes that downed Russian-made MIGs in the Korean war.

But the crowds for the Russian airliner which was first revealed to the West at London last month.

The onlookers even ignored a display of American guided missiles to gaze at the gleaming silver plane which made a brief flight over the field. The Russians were kept busy passing out leaflets giving details of the plane and its capacity.

RUSSIA KILLED off chances of an aerial match between their latest MIG-17 jets and the Super Sabre, much to the disgust of the American pilots present. A Soviet official said MIGs definitely will not take part in the flying display which will be featured at the show today.

The Russians themselves seemed most interested in the Hawker Hunter Mark VI, never shown publicly before and reported to be one of the fastest jets in the world. The British kept it in an isolated hangar under guard.

An estimated 100,000 spectators are expected at the two-day show in which a total of seven nations will demonstrate their aerial progress.

This is the first time the Russians have attended the Zurich show.

Soviet Marshal Sergey I. Rudenko, deputy commander-in-chief of the Soviet Air Force, flew in from Berlin to head the Russian delegation.

U. S. Air Chief in Europe, Gen. Lauris Norstad, was invited to head the American group. He declined because of a busy schedule.

Norstad succeeds Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther this fall as overall NATO military commander.

Many Auto Dealers Said to Be in Red

WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP)—Thousands of auto dealers are in the red and the car-buying public is immersed in indebtedness because of the policies of automobile manufacturers, an auto dealer said here.

Frederick M. Sutter, first vice president of the American Auto Dealers, spoke before the Washington State Auto Dealers Assn. Sutter, a Columbus, Ind., auto dealer, said between 1½ and 2 million too many cars were built last year. He said dealers were forced to accept the surplus.

The dealers had to get rid of the cars "in all kinds of wild deals," Sutter said. Public indebtedness on autos alone zoomed to nearly 4 billion dollars, he said.

Dock Pact Is Extended for 2 Years

The Pacific Maritime Assn. and the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union have signed a two-year contract extension.

It provides a two-cent hourly wage increase, with three cents for overtime. Further negotiations on wages will take place in September. If agreement is not reached, the matter will go to arbitration and any increase will be effective Oct. 1.

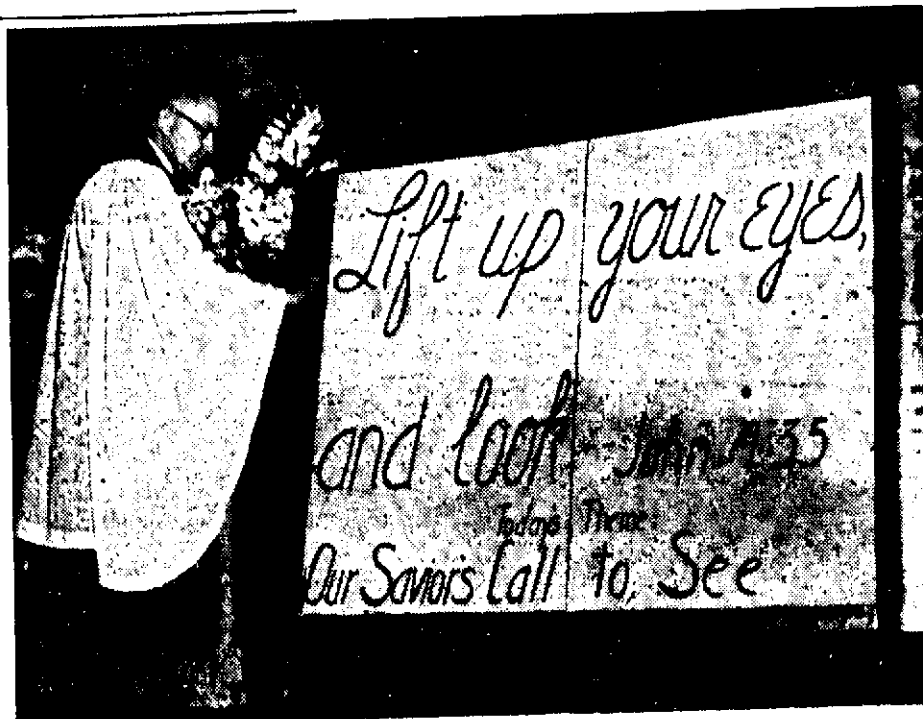

Either party may request another review Aug. 1, 1957, on wages and overtime, welfare contributions and two other items to be selected by the union. The ILWU's welfare plan, with modifications agreed upon earlier, will continue in effect subject to the 1957 review.

Negro Woman Will Be First of Race to Finish Alabama White College

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—A Baptist minister's wife, one of 20 Negroes quietly attending classes at integrated Spring Hill College in this deep south town, on Tuesday will become the first Negro graduate in the college's 126-year history and the first to finish a white school in Alabama.

Mrs. Fannie Ernestine Motley entered the Catholic college after attending Jesuit College here, Selma University and Alabama State College for Negroes at Montgomery.

Her husband, the Rev. D. L. Motley, is pastor of the little Yorktown Baptist Church in suburban plateau.

NEGROES WERE first admitted to Spring Hill three years ago. There was no publicity about their admission and there have been no incidents since. They cut with white students (numbering about 2,000) in the college cafeteria but must sit by themselves and are not allowed to participate in sporting or social activities. They also are forbidden to live on the campus.

Father Andrew Smith, president of Spring Hill, feels Negroes are being treated well at Spring Hill.

He said the college tried to treat them "like any other students so they won't feel any different."

Registration records don't carry the race.

MRS. MOTLEY is a native of Monroeville, Ala., and received her grammar school education there. Publicity-shy, she avoids newsmen.

Wishing her and the other 86 graduates well, Tuesday, will be September 1 to oust her expulsion by the university.

Alabama's junior U. S. Sen. John Sparkman, a signer of the southern manifesto against integration. Some 200 miles to the north, another Negro, Autherine Lucy Foster, created campus riots when she tried to enter the all-white University of Alabama. She said she will be back next September to try to oust her expulsion by the university.

There, Publicity-shy, she avoids newsmen.

Wishing her and the other 86 graduates well, Tuesday, will be September 1 to oust her expulsion by the university.

U.S. Losing Leadership, House Told

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Foreign Affairs Committee said Saturday Russia's "smiles" and the growing strength of U.S. allies are causing America to lose prestige and leadership in the free world.

The increasing economic and military vigor of this country's allies is making them less dependent on the United States, the committee said. This, coupled with a commingling of the Russian attitude, it added, has made the free world more reluctant to follow American leadership.

"The bargaining power of the United States has diminished in important respects during recent years," the committee said in a report on the administration's foreign aid program for the coming year.

However, the committee made a strong plea for continued American assistance with special emphasis on technical aid to the free world as long as the Soviet threat continues.

The committee slashed $1.1 billion from the administration's $4.9 billion foreign aid request. Much of the cut was in military aid funds.

Jackie Gleason Uninvited as His TV 'Wife' Weds Rich Real Estate Man

NEW YORK (UPI)—Audrey Meadows, the red-haired beauty who is comedian Jackie Gleason's much-tormented "wife" in television skits, got married in real life Saturday to a wealthy Washington real estate man, Randolph Rouse. Gleason wasn't invited.

Miss Meadows and close relatives smilingly declined to answer queries as to Gleason's absence. However, a Gleason aide said the comedian received a telegram at 7 Saturday morning saying: "Dear Ralph—so sorry but I'm becoming a bigamist today, marrying Randy Rouse. Love, Alice." Miss Meadows and Gleason in their "Honeymooners" sketches on TV use the names Alice and Ralph Kramden. They will continue to appear together in shows this fall.

ABOUT 50 PERSONS saw Miss Meadows, who is 27, wed Rouse, 38, in the chapel of the Church of the Heavenly Rest on Fifth Ave. at 90th St. It was the first marriage for both.

The groom went through the nuptials with his left arm in a cast. He suffered a fracture recently in a fall from a horse. Best man was the bridegroom's brother, Parke Rouse Jr., of Williamsburg, Va.

Allen and another brother of the bridegroom, William D. Rouse, Falls Church, Va., were ushers.

The ceremony went off smoothly except for one minor mishap. As Miss Meadows strode

ROUGH RIVALS FOR ROBIN

Champions Compete With Bow and Arrow

More than 20,000 arrows will flash from bow to target today as 80 Southern California men and women archers compete at Heartwell Park in the Long Beach Archers annual championship tournament.

It will, in fact, be a tournament of champions since the entry list includes Artie Palkowski, Women's State Champion and third in the National Championship in 1955; Rube Powell, Men's National Field Champion; Jean Richards Burri, present Long Beach Archers Women's Champion and the 1953 International Women's Champion; Joe Fries, Men's National Target Champion and California State Champion, and Bob Kest, National Double American Champion and secretary of the National Archery Assn.

VISITORS AND MEMBERS will vie for 54 trophies which will be presented at a 7:30 p.m. banquet at today's.

The shooting starts at 9:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. The public is in-

False Spinach, Brief Case and Thief Walks Out

LEGHORN, Italy (UPI)—Police Saturday arrested Carlo Boschi, an ingenious prison barber who escaped from Milan's "escape proof" jail.

Disguised with a false beard, a smuggled-in suit and a brief case, Boschi joined a group of visiting lawyers May 5 and walked out of San Vittore prison, who bolder once challenged any prisoner to escape.

The convicted car thief was up to old tricks when police found him. He was trying to sell a stolen car.

Calcutta Cholera Death Toll 500

CALCUTTA (UPI)—The death toll rose to nearly 500 Saturday in a cholera epidemic scourging this crowded city.

Victims were dying at the rate of 10 a day.

Health experts and city officials redoubled their efforts to check the spread of the disease now in its fifth month of epidemic proportions. The municipal corporation planned a "health week" campaign to inoculate as many persons as possible with anti-cholera serum.

OFFICIAL FIGURES released

Hundreds of victims have jammed hospitals and taxed medical facilities in the city of three million population.

But the epidemic is no startling visitation that causes panic. Cholera is an old story to Calcutta.

Since records were started in 1841, Calcutta has never had a year without an outbreak of the dread affliction which is carried

WE HAVE TO LOSE TO WIN

For the next 3 days we are offering our regular $30.00 PRIVATE dance course for only $8.50—just a fraction of what it costs us to provide you with this top-flight instruction! Why are we making this offer? Here's the reason. We are in an Inter-Studio Enrollment Contest and the competition is keen. If, in the next 3 days, we can enroll 92 pupils at the Long Beach and Compton Studios, our teachers have the opportunity of winning some really fabulous prizes—and you do, too!

As for learning how to dance, it's simple—the famous Arthur Murray way! In his 44 years of experience Arthur Murray has taught millions how to dance . . . quickly, easily. And learning how to dance has given his pupils the secret to popularity. Because parties are part of the lessons, you can count on meeting hosts of new friends—enjoying a world of fun and good times.

So, if you've ever thought of learning to dance, don't miss this unusual opportunity to get expert private instruction—in the popular Latin dances, Fox Trot, Waltz or whatever dance you prefer. Enroll now! Remember, this Contest Offer is good only for the next 3 days. Arthur Murray School of Dancing, 247 E. Fifth St., Long Beach, and 904 S. Long Beach Blvd., Compton. Studios open 10 A. Bank Bandit Gets $8,125, Escapes Despite Dagnet HOPEDALE, O. (UPI)—A neatly dressed gunman held up the First National Bank in this Harrison County town Saturday and escaped with $8,125 despite an aerial and ground search.

The State Highway Patrol sent an airplane from Columbus to join in the search for the man, described as being between 20 and 25 years old. The aerial search was hampered, however, by rainy weather which caused poor visibility, the patrol said.

Plans Homes for Unwed in Public Units

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Westland (R-Wash.) said Saturday he's optimistic over chances for his proposal to permit elderly single persons to live in public housing units.

If not included in the new housing bill by the House Banking Committee, he said, he will offer it as an amendment when the measure is considered on the floor.

Westland said a survey of Housing Authority units in Seattle, Everett and Bremerton shows there are vacancies which could be occupied by elderly persons if the law permitted. He said he was told by the committee that similar situations exist elsewhere in the nation.

"The government has its money invested in these units," he said. "It is only common sense to utilize what we already have by providing shelter and a decent place to live for these people who have difficulty competing in today's housing market."

REGIONAL POLITICS

Water Top Issue in District

By The Lookout

Water development is viewed as the top issue before California and this district by most of the candidates running for the two legislative assembly posts to be filled here at the June 5 primary election.

That is shown in answers to a questionnaire sent to the six candidates by the League of Women Voters. Copies of questionnaires with answers to numerous questions by the Congressional candidates as well as legislative candidates are on file at the main city library and all branch libraries where they may be inspected by voters.

Five of the six legislative candidates listed water development as a major issue. These were Assemblyman Herbert R. Kleckson and Candidates Richard Russell and Coy Sanders in the 44th District, and Assemblyman W. S. Grant and Candidate Dan T. Brice in the 70th District. Candidate Paul D. Strader (70th) views transportation as the state's major problem, and this was also mentioned by a number of others.

Smog control, school expansion, finishing of the tideland issue with respect to subsidence and political redistricting were other matters listed.

Congressional candidate Craig Hosmer (Incumbent) and Raymond C. Simpson likewise mentioned water as a domestic issue in which they are strongly interested. Others:

Hosmer—Tighter anti-narcotic laws, housing programs for minority groups and aged; partnership development of natural resources, opposition to irresponsible fiscal proposals.

Simpson—Federal aid to education, expanded social security, amendment of Taft-Hartley and Walter-McCarran acts, development of public power, adequate farm program, opposition to favoritism for big business, opposition to postage subsidies to national publications at expense of small-taxpayers, opposition to public utility grants.

Mrs. George C. Hall is chairman of the group of the League which interviewed candidates and prepared the questionnaires.

THE COFFEE KLATCH

NEW YORK—"Como's Coffee Klatch" is what we call it.

New York hasn't many French sidewalk cafes or Greek coffee houses—but then Paris and Athens don't have anything like this Saturday afternoon meeting place of Broadway characters.

Perry Como himself will wrap an arm around you—if he sees you—and thank you for coming to his rehearsal.

It's around 2 o'clock Saturday the characters begin streaming in the stage door of the Century Theater at 58th and 7th.

From 6 to 20 young girls, many with cameras, salute you as you swing from the sidewalk into an alley to the stage door.

JANE RUSSELL, Jeanne Crain, Rhonda Fleming, Patti Page, Peggy Lee, Julius La Rosa, Johnnie Ray and many other stars have hurried through here to rehearsal—so it's good hunting for the autograph fans.

"Hey, when you gonna write a whole column about Perry—and his fans?" they ask you, if you're a columnist.

Inside, you turn through a doorway toward the stage—and in the semi-darkness you see Perry Como sipping something from a mug.

It's bouillon.

"He's even got me drinking it," says Comedian Buddy Hackett, who's been on the show 6 times, at $4,000 to $5,000 a crack.

Perry doesn't begin "the dress" until 5—but until then he rehearses songs and sketches for an audience of Broadway agents, lawyers, press agents, comedy writers and, frequently, "Rose-elle," or Mrs. Como. There's a stand in the back where you can buy coffee and sandwiches. Sipping their coffee, the characters sit there in two or three rows of orchestra chairs . . . and gossip.

"The joint is packed with people who tell Tom Rockwell how to run his business," says Harry Sobol, Perry's press agent.

Tom is Perry's manager—he also represents Julius La Rosa, the Mills Brothers and others.

THE MILLS BROTHERS

claim that after Tom "discovered" them around 1930 in Cin-

PERRY COMO

cinati and told everybody how great they were—selling them to both radio and record companies—he said to them:

"Listen, you guys have sung for everybody else. How about letting me hear you sing once?"

Perry's writers, headed by Goodman Ace, are always at the Coffee Klatch, putting $1 in a pool, along with their guess as to what their rating'll be against Jackie Gleason that week. But they don't bet overstrong on Como.

"We bet like a guy trying to win a pot of about $11," one said. An NBC vice president may be around, too. One of them, asked what he thought of Jackie Gleason's returning to his one-hour "live" format next year, replied:

"I think it's bully."

Perry—unlike some performers—enjoys having all the characters around. As he begins his dress rehearsal, he says to the audience, "Thanks for coming to our dress rehearsal. It helps us time the show—and find where the laughs are . . ."

He stops and repeats "Laughs . . . —shrugs and chuckles as though he knows there aren't any laughs . . . and goes on. The experts think the Como Coffee Klatch is greatly responsible for Perry's relaxation, for he's already done the show for a small but extremely critical audience. Perry himself often leaves for a half hour.

"Where's he going?" I asked as he and a priest got into a car. "Don't you know?" somebody said. "To confession."

State College Cast in Good Production

By GEORGE D. STEPHENS

Will Shakespeare's gay comedy of fairy-crossed lovers, "A Midsummer Night's Dream," was greeted Thursday by the appreciative and, at times, enthusiastic applause of the first-night audience. Directed by Dr. David Sievers, who has assembled a competent array of talent, the production in the theater at Long Beach State College showed polish and verve not often seen in college theatricals of this type.

Shakespeare concocted a frothy mixture of fairy nectar, champagne and honest English ale which offers its takers everything but serious drama—which, while held suspended in the dream world of the dramatist, poet, they forget and do not desire. The "enveloping action" of the play concerns the marriage of Duke Theseus of Athens to Hippolyta. But this event is merely a background or excuse for the story of two pairs of romantic lovers who are beguilingly entangled in a situation illustrating Shakespeare's statement "the path of true love never did run smooth."

This production has made good use of the rich material for spectacle inherent in the fantasy. Colorful costumes, suggestive scenery, excellent lighting effects, and the music of Mendelssohn all contribute much to its success.

AMONG THE PERFORMERS, Lee Gayer as Puck is outstanding—a most charming elf. Her miming is of professional caliber. She is supported by a competent group of dancers led by Charles Lawrence as Oberon. Of the "mortals"—and what fools they be, as Puck says—the rustics pleased the audience with their clownish rendition of the "play within a play." Ed Cohen played Bottom, he of the ass's head, with the proper brash buffoonery; Bob Faircloth was skillful as the senile Peter Quince; their support's were hilariously cloddish.

Bob Sorrells was regal and in good voice as Theseus. Susan Croxton was appealing as Hermia, and Pat Stiles and Ron Albertsen were adequate as other romantic leads.

Dr. Sievers' direction was at one precise and imaginative. Obviously the cast had been well rehearsed; their pace and timing were sure. Their reading of Shakespeare's verse, while at moments leaving something to be desired, as may be expected among young amateurs, was in general adequate and sometimes good. Credit must be given to the choreographic effects created by Albert Hutz; they were excellent. Settings by Dr. John Green, costumes, lighting and makeup were of high quality.

The play will continue its run June 1, 2, with a matinee on June 2.

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . . "YOU CAN'T PRINT THAT!" Carol Swartz, the gal who did the nude-in-the-bubble-bath pose at the Coliseum, claimed later she did too have something on "I had the faucet on!" she maintained . . . A star's husband who lived with her only a year wanted merely a $100,000 settlement, and she's hollering "Shakedown!"

Frank Sinatra's gal, Peggy Connelly, told on her return from Madrid that Artie Shaw is also in Spain, cracked: "That's all that Ava Gardner needs!"

A famous singing star's younger-looking husband and his younger-looking girl friend were digging the live in a hideaway spot and, naturally wanted no publicity . . . Billy Daniels made $50,000 in Australia and even his best friends don't know what he did with it . . . Tony Farrell had $30,000 in the Folies.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "A boss is a man who's early when you're late and late when you're early"—Florian Zabach.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Tuffy Tuttle told Claire Mann she won't visit the ball park on Ladies' Day; she'd rather see men play.

Earl's Pearls . . . Nowadays many young married couples start housekeeping with just the bare essentials—a TV set.

Nicky Blair is acquainted with a Texan who doesn't know what to do with all the money he's not making . . . That's earl, brother.

Grandmother Sees Film 22 1/2 Times

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—A Louisville, Ky., grandmother wrote to Samuel Goldwyn:

"This is the first time I have ever written to a studio. In fact, the first time in my life I have ever seen a picture the second time. Four weeks ago I saw 'Guys and Dolls.' I hesitate to put in writing how many times I have sat through the picture—22 1/2 times. It must be a record."

She also asked Sam to send her a kitten if Marion Brando's cat ever has any.

"It's one of the nicest letters I've ever received," says Sam, "but one thing really puzzles me. What happened that one time to make her walk out on the picture when it was only half finished?"

NEW U. S. FILM FACE

American filmgoers will get their first peek at Maria Schell, Europe's top actress, in Warner Bros.' "As Long as You're Near Me," a tender story set against the background of motion picture making. Picture also introduces O. W. Fischer, the Continent's popular actor.

Danny Thomas May Be Widower When His Video Series Renews

By EDWARD S. KITCH

CHICAGO (UP)—Comedian Danny Thomas is television's man with a serious family problem:

Should Danny Williams be a widower when the "Make Room for Daddy" TV show on ABC begins its 4th season next fall, or should he be married?

His departing TV wife, Jean Hagen, leaves a gap in the script as well as in the hearts of many small fry who view the Tuesday evening show on 143 stations.

"Whether I'm a man with a new wife or a widower, I'm leaving it up to the fans," said Thomas during a Chicago appearance.

"Some 17,000 fans have written to suggest a solution. 'Three to one are in favor of a widower.'"

The others have suggested more than 40 actresses to replace Miss Hagen, who seeks a new theatrical career.

"ONE SAID: 'Oh, what does it matter! Bring in a new actress. So she looks different."

Maybe she was in an accident or something and her features were changed by plastic surgery."

Many feminine viewers have nominated themselves for the role.

One in Houston said: "I'll cook, take dictation, sew and do any odd jobs you may desire in addition to acting in the show!"

Brooklyn housewife with five children nominated herself but added this note of caution in her letter:

"Please don't tell my husband I'm trying for the part. I want him to see me first on your TV show and surprise him."

Many letters are written by the junior set.

The Williams' children represented by movie moppets Sherry Jackson and Rusty Hamer play Terry, the 11-year-old daughter, and Rusty, the 6-year-old son.

"Rusty is nother Spencer Tracy," said Thomas. "All he needs to do is be himself. He'll be a star for a long time."

AMONG THE MANY children who have suggested a new wife for Danny is a sixth grade school boy in suburban Glenview, Ill. Playing Dan Cupid, he shot a letter to Danny and nominated his teacher for the part. He wrote:

"Dear Danny: 'Mrs. Rieck Wood make a good wife for you. She is nice, to. Good she additon. Love, Dick. 'P.S. She has a girl, 18. Good she come!'"

He included a newspaper picture of Mrs. Sigrid Rieck which appeared in a Glenview paper April 5.

Danny called in Mrs. Rieck for an interview.

"So you want to be a television actress?" he asked.

"I haven't the slightest idea what this is about," Mrs. Rieck replied. "I'm usually correcting papers, preparing dinner or washing dishes and don't have time to watch your program."

"I can see you'll have to get an automatic dishwasher," Danny said.

WHY NO MONEY DOWN

"I don't have to worry about paying my expenses as a dentist (I am interested first in giving service)." Dr. Campbell said, "I have found through trial and error that every one of my offices must give a lot of credit to be prosperous.
In the past, when one of my offices curtailed credit, this office became less prosperous. People gladly pay for good service when you are thinking of them before the money. My records prove that insisting on cash, even in small amounts, hurts my dental practice. No money down helps my dental practice."

SEE YOUR SAVINGS

When you go to buy something at a department store you see article tagged with a price. You don't have to be a good bargainer to get a good price.
"I am doing this in dentistry," Dr.
Campbell said, "Each sample denture, which you choose from has a price permanently marked into the denture.

you take your choice."

Meter Reader Admits Slaying of Socialite

CINCINNATI, O. (AP)—A City water meter reader with a good conduct record Saturday confessed the murder of Mrs. Audrey Pugh, a prominent society matron, because he was afraid she would report his insistent knocking on the door.

The confession ended one of Cincinnati's most baffling murder cases. It began the afternoon of April 11 when William Worthington Pugh, a printing company executive, arrived home to find his wife's body lying in the entrance hallway of their home.

Held without bond on a first degree murder charge was Robert Lyons, 43, a veteran of 20 years with the city water company.

Lyons had been questioned previously about the murder but was released after a lie detector test. He was arrested the second time when a maid in the home of Dr. W. O. Ramey, who lives nearby, provided a vital clue.

The maid, Mrs. Ethel Hanson, told police she saw Lyons when he stopped at the Ramey home
10 minutes after the time Mrs.
Pugh was killed with 22 wounds.

MRS. HANSON said Lyons spent about 10 minutes in the basement of the Ramey house.
When he went in, he had a sweater over his jacket, Mrs.
Hanson said. When he came out,
he had a jacket over the sweater.

Mrs. Hanson said that she did not see Lyons turn on his flashlight while in the basement reading a meter at the doctor's home.
When he went out she said "he stood still for a minute and gave a great big sigh."

The FBI, which joined in the manhunt for Mrs. Pugh's killer, found that he had erased a notation in his meter book which instructed him to enter the Pugh home by the front door. Mrs.
Pugh could not hear him when he knocked at the rear entrance.

LYONS RENACTED the murder for police Saturday.

30,000,000
Italians to Cast Ballots

ROME (AP)—Italians will choose new local governments today and Monday in an election of wide international significance. A turnout of about 30 million voters is expected.

It will show whether middle of the road democracy in Europe is being weakened by the new Communist themes of coexistence and anti-Stalinism.

The Italian testing ground is a sensitive one. With two million members, the Italian Communist Party is the largest outside the Iron Curtain. In the last national election for a chamber of deputies in 1953, 37.2 per cent of Italian voters chose the extreme left alliance of Communists and partyline Socialists.

THE WESTERN world is waiting to see Italian voters' reaction to the change in Communist tactics. This is the first important election in a member of the Atlantic alliance since the switch.

First results are expected from the Italian Tyrol and Sicily, where voting begins and ends
Sunday. Elsewhere polling continues through Monday. Final results are expected Tuesday night.

The polls open in 7,694 elec-tional contests—some local, some provincial—at 8 a.m. Italian time Sunday. Eligible voters total 30,817,736. Last time 88.8 per cent of the eligibles voted.

State Treasurer Fires Straying Guard

SACRAMENTO (AP)—State
Treasurer Charles G. Johnson said Saturday he has given the order to fire his straying night guard, John Zachary.

Zachary, on the other hand, told reporters he has heard nothing about being fired and planned to report for work Saturday night as usual.

Informed of this, Johnson said he presumed Zachary would continue to work over the weekend and be fired Monday.

Zachary's troubles stem from the night of March 4 when state police found the ground floor window of the treasurer's office wide open and Zachary, who was supposed to be on duty, missing.

The police said they took over guard duty until Zachary returned some six hours later.

The vaults in the treasurer's office contain an estimated two billion dollars in securities and the office handles as much as 250 million dollars in cash.

The guard told newsmen he left his post "for a couple of hours."

"I was sick," he explained, "and I didn't want to hurt my good record for five years by taking time off. It was a mistake."

Zachary said he intended to keep working until he was given different orders by the state treasurer. He added that under civil service rules he felt he would be entitled to a hearing

if he were fired.

Steelsmith Drops White

By JERRY WYNN
The first round ouster of defending champion Larry Griggs lights of first and second round Jerry Steelsmith's tense play in the Long Beach City Golf Championship at Recreation Park Saturday.

DROTT WINS SIXTH

Angel Home Runs Clip Rainiers, 9-6

With Casey Wise, Gale Wade, Gene Mauch and Steve Bilko hitting homers, Dick Drott pitched Los Angeles to a 9-6 win over Seattle Saturday before 3,101 fans at Wrigley Field. The victory boosted Los Angeles PCL lead to two games.

Won't Sell Ram Stock - Reeves

Dan Reeves, managing director of the Los Angeles Rams, said Saturday his co-owners of the professional football club had offered to buy him out for $1 million or sell out to him for $2 million.

Richardson's and Taft's overtime heroics, the former defeating Keith Lopp on the 19th, the latter besting Bill DeWitt on the 20th, ended a pair of hairbreadth matches. Never more than a hole away separated the opponents in both.

Richardson's winning bird on a drive just shy of the green and a chip putt to it put him four under par to Lopp's three under. Taft's decisive, 15-foot putt, made him five under while DeWitt was "only" four below regulation.

Lopp was also three under in swamping Pasadena City champion Al McDaniel, 7 and 5, in his morning match.

LONG BEACH City College's Dick Carmody was seven under par for the day in scoring two impressive victories. His first victim was Steve Shaw, 3 and 2; the second, former SC-Puget Sound champion Dick Clover, 4-3.

Clover had gone birdie-birdie-eagle on the 15th, 16th and 17th holes of his first match which he won over John West on the 21st hole.

Other Long Beach school-boys to post double victories were Bob Terry of City College, Pinky Stevenson of Wilson High and Bob Meade of Poly High.

Stevenson sewed up a 2-up victory over Arol Thomas by chipping in from below the green and 75 yards out on the home green. He whipped Gene Combs, 5-4, in his opener.

A NOTED PREP to bow out was Bob Boughner of Downey. He was five under in the morning in beating Bill Dickinson, 7 and 5, but his three under afternoon play wasn't enough against Ed Koryak.

HAVE EVIDENCE

PCC Schools 'All Guilty'

LOS ANGELES (UP)—The chairman of a UCLA booster organization, whose group was one of the chief targets of the Pacific Coast Conference in its penalties against UCLA for alleged illegal aid payments to athletes, said Saturday "all conference schools are guilty and we have the stuff on them."

Ray Carlisle, of the Bruin Bench, said the PCC would be given evidence of alleged "undercover" aid payments next week.

Carlisle indicated charges would be made against California and possibly Stanford.

Braves, Hitless 9 2/3 Innings, Nod Reds in 11th, 2-1

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves, held hitless by three Cincinnati hurlers for 9 2/3 innings, finally pulled out a 2-1 decision in the 11th inning Saturday to cling to the National League lead.

Frank Torre singled Hank Aaron, who had tripled, home with the winning tally after the Redlegs had tied the score in the ninth. The Braves held a 1-0 lead going into the ninth by virtue of a second inning run scored without a hit.

Torre batted in both Milwaukee runs and both were scored by Aaron before 22,936 at County Stadium. Joe Black was the losing pitcher, and Ray Crone, who shut out the Redlegs for 8 1/3 innings, the winner.

UNTIL THE NINTH, Milwaukee seemed to be on the way to a decision in the regulation distance, after taking full advantage of Johnny Klippstein's wildness to score one run in the second without a hit.

Aaron was hit by a pitched ball. Klippstein then walked Bobby Thompson and Billy Bruton to fill the bases, and Torre hit a sacrifice fly, that Frank Robinson caught only after a spectacular run, to score Aaron.

In the 11th, Aaron tripled, and after the bases were loaded on walks, Torre singled him home.

Porterhouse Beats Swaps

HOLLYWOOD PARK—Porterhouse ran down the favored Swaps in the stretch Saturday to score a nose victory in a major upset in the $109,800 California at Hollywood Park before 58,500 dumfounded racing fans.

A roar of surprise went up from the huge crowd as Swaps blew a two length lead in the stretch to a horse that was considered only a sprinter and had been expected to help force the pace for his stablemate, Mister Gus, who finished third.

Bobby Brocato, who had been expected to fight it out with Swaps for the winner's share, was fourth and Honey Alibi was fifth, while Poma II was last in the field of six.

THE WINNING time was 1:40 4/5, just two-fifths of a second off the world's record set by Swaps in capturing the 1935 running of the mile and a sixteenth race.

Swaps pulled away from the field at the turn into the stretch and was about two lengths in front when he appeared to slow up slightly as jockey Willie Shoemaker looked around and saw Porterhouse coming at him in long strides. Shoemaker went to work on Swaps but Porterhouse was not to be denied as jockey Ismael Valenzuela applied his whip and the son of Endeavor II responded in ground-eating strides.

For a moment it appeared that Swaps might last it out but in the last two jumps Porterhouse reached him and got his head out in front at the wire. It was a photo finish and the crowd continued its roars of astonishment while awaiting the official result. When it was posted and revealed that the 1-4 shot had been defeated the cries grew louder.

The Liangollen Farm entry of Porterhouse and Mister Gus returned $28.70 to win, $5.80 for place and $3.90 for show. Swaps placed $2.70 to place and $2.90 for show.

It was Swaps' first defeat since last August when he was beaten by Nashua in their match race at Chicago and it was the biggest win of Porterhouse's career. For Bobby Brocato it was his first defeat since he went down before Swaps at Santa Anita in an overnight race.

BOBBY BROCATO, with Johnny Longden up, set all the pace, getting out of the gate fast and opening up a good lead around the turn. Swaps laid in second position and Porterhouse was third in the early running.

Swaps nailed the speeding Bobby Brocato at the far turn and by the time he had rounded into the stretch he was in the lead and appeared to be pulling away. But as Bobby Brocato faded, Porterhouse moved up to second position. Even then it did not appear that the five-year-old had a chance until Swaps seemed to loaf at the eighth pole.

SHOEMAKER took the blame for the defeat of Swaps by declaring that he thought he had the race won in the stretch and eased up on his horse, permitting Porterhouse to catch him.

"It wasn't his fault that he didn't win," Shoemaker said. (Continued on Page B-14, Col. 3)

Fishin' Around

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

Whenever the polish is removed from our own ocean fishing—it's rather tarnished at this writing—one can always find good angling south of the border, either in Baja California, or in Sonora, on the other side of the Gulf of California.

Mr. and Mrs. George Jandreau, 5602 Long Beach Blvd., looking around for a good fishing spot, drove to Santa Tomas, below Encarnada, then took a dirt road to the ocean. There they rented a skiff, rowed out just offshore and loaded up with kelp bass and various other species of fish.

Jandreau said that for a couple of hours he and his wife found the hottest fishing they had ever experienced. Some of their bass weighed as much as 5 and 6 pounds.

The place where they fished is near Santo Tomas Pt., 19 miles from the city of the same name. Jandreau says that it takes from one to two hours to negotiate the short distance, but that any car can go there, provided the driver is careful.

All of that makes a strong point, namely, that you have to undergo certain hardships to reach good fishing spots. Santo Tomas is 230 miles from Long Beach. The highway is good and accommodations at the city are excellent. But at the ocean point, life is rather primitive. There are no electric lights and few conveniences.

Jandreau advises anyone going there to take his own bait. Salted anchovies are excellent. Other baits are very good for surf and rock fishing.

MORE ABOUT MEXICO—Claude Kreider, outdoor writer, and Jake Hunter were very enthusiastic in telling me about a recent trip they had to Loreto, also in Baja, California. They were guests at the Flying Sportsmen's Lodge. They drove to Tijuana, then took a 4½-hour plane trip to Loreto, which lies just 100 miles north of La Paz. Loreto is practically hidden by dense jungle growth.

The Long Beach men didn't connect with any billfish, preferring to fish for sierra, spotted cabrilla, pinto, grouper, yellowtail and bonito. They used light tackle and caught fish ranging up to 25 pounds.

Claude said that the lodge specializes in fine food and has six modern cruisers with good Mexican crews who really know the fishing banks. Most of the angling is done across the channel at Carmen Island.

Both anglers were impressed by the quaintness of the small town. They spent some time exploring and photographing the first mission of the Californias. It was built in 1697. Twenty-one miles across a range of mountains is another old mission, now mostly in ruins, but still forming the nucleus of a small Mexican settlement. They went there, hiring a native driver to negotiate the mountain road.

Ed Tabor runs the Flying Sportsmen's Lodge and the rates are extremely reasonable.

Rocket '9'. Eagles Meet

Strengthened by the addition of several local high school and City College players, the Long Beach Rockets go after their third straight win today when they meet the L. A. American Eagles in a semipro game at Recreation Park. Game time is 2:15 p.m.

The Rockets whipped Chandler Rock and Gravel, 9-2, last week to run their season won-loss record to 8-1. Don Mello, star St. Anthony's pitcher, joined the Rockets last week and pitched the final four innings to preserve the win for Pete Cassidy, another ex-Saint. Mello, whose high school ERA was a sensational 0.50, struck out three in his semipro debut.

Rejoining the Rockets from L.H.C.C. is first baseman Emmett Ryan, who had two hits in four trips last week.

Chuck Winslow and Bob Carter will renew their red-hot battle for Rocket hitting honors. Winslow was held hitless in five at-bats last week and "slipped" to .411, while Carter had 4-for-5 and scored to .392. Winslow has 21 hits in 51 trips, while Carter has 20-for-51.

Channel Outboard Race Slated June 10

Preparations for the fourth annual Avalon to Magnolia Pier cross channel outboard classic Sunday, June 10th, are nearing completion by the sponsoring Outboard Boating Club of Long Beach.

Registration of boats, pilots and co-pilots for the event is underway at 30 registration stations in Long Beach, and from the advance registrations received by the committee, George Austin, general chairman in charge of the race, predicts this year's entries will exceed the 193 of 1955.

Fifteen classes have been set up. The slowest class, B, will be composed of 250 pound boats with 15 horsepower outboard motors, while the fastest class will be D with boats from 300 to 450 pounds powered with twin 40 horsepower motors.

Course for the race starts at Avalon Harbor with the first heat beginning at 8 a.m., over the open water to the Seal Beach end of the breakwater, then inside the breakwater to the finish line at Magnolia Pier. Distance for the course is 29 miles. The fastest time in last year's classic set a new course record when Roy Rogers' yellow jacket negotiated the run in 54 minutes, for an average speed of 36 miles per hour.

Other Schenley awards: Delbert Salas, South Gate, 12-pound barracuda; Buddy Diamond, Long Beach, 10-9 barracuda, and Ray Beadle, Torrance, 10-2. All white sea bass awards were taken by anglers fishing on boats out of Balboa, Oceanside and San Clemente.

OUTDOOR PERSONALS—The Long Beach Casting Club and its feminine counterpart, the L.B.W.C.C., take part in a skiff tournament at Sportsman's Park, Los Angeles, today. It is a registered event and the local casters expect to bring home some of the loot. Better watch out for those women casters; they are going like lightning this year. Such names as Norman Collins, Marks Sparks, Mildred Wolfe and Jennie Bishop are not to be treated lightly, even in mixed tournaments with the men.

The L.B.C.C. has a stag scheduled for Thursday night of this week, at which the members expect to reveal some plans for future fishing trips.

Most likely spots for trout fishing this week are Cachuma Reservoir, north of Santa Barbara; Santa Felicia Reservoir, near Ventura; Little Rock Reservoir, which has suddenly come to life, and the lakes of San Bernardino County which were restocked last week with catchable-size trout.

HERE'S A RUNDOWN on other freshwater fishing spots: Harvey Lake (San Diego County), open Saturdays and Sundays only, is producing some big crappie and a few bass. El Estero de San Juan (San Diego County), which is overgrown with bluegill, will be chemically treated this week. If you want to kill off a lot of those tiny bluegill that are eating on bass eggs, then make a point of being there. Lake Mead, on the Kern River east of Bakersfield, is yielding some nice weight limits of 1-pound rainbow trout on trolling rigs. More anglers are catching catfish. Other fishermen are getting bass and trout below the dam. Some are using live bait. The lake is well-stocked with bass, trout and catfish. Wardens in that area are sure that there will be one of the biggest crops of dove in Imperial, Coachella and Palm Springs valleys next fall. . . . North of Los Angeles, a new lure, called the Rock Hopper, that looks like a sure killer for trout and bass. It's a deep-running, floating bait that looks like a minnow and its depth can be controlled easily by changing the line on the reel. . . . Mickey Turner, 6, small boy near his home, is using a fishing stick for a rod, some mussels, a rusty hook and white bread for bait. And he caught 10 bass and a 3-pound catfish. That's the sinner for today. (Special)

Watkins Heads Jr. Grid Loop Finances

Forrest A. Watkins has been named chairman of the Long Beach Junior Football League's finance committee for the coming year. The league hopes to raise $5,000 to buy equipment for its teams.

Mayor George Vermillion started the fund-raising drive with a check for $100, Watkins announced.

The junior football program is for boys between the ages of 11 and 15 years. Two divisions of play are sponsored. "A" class is for boys weighing from 126 to 155 pounds, while "B" class is for boys 95 to 125 pounds. Six groups with "A" and "B" squads will form the 1956 league, including the Belmont Bears, Lakewood Cougars, North Long Beach Bulldogs, West Side Mavericks, Los Altos Lions and Downtown Tigers.

Laurel Ups Purse

LAUREL, Md., UP—Laurel fell in with the times Saturday by announcing it will increase the value of its International horse race from $65,000 to $100,000 for the fifth running Nov. 12.

Buffums' Rewards Poly Girl

Jacqueline Arblos, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Arblos of 3752 Orange Ave., Saturday had won two scholarships totalling $800.

She was named top Young Careerist of the year by Buffums' Department Store. The pretty, brown-haired Poly High senior received a $500 scholarship in an award announced by Harry Buffum, store president.

Jackie, who plans to attend University of California and make a career of merchandising, also received a $300 scholarship announced by the California Alumni Scholarships Committee.

THE POLY HIGH MISS and 19 other young careerists, representing all city high schools, have been working part-time at Buffums' since the start of the school year. Purpose of the program, Buffum said, is to attract young people to the retailing business.

The Buffums' program was started three years ago.

Other winners of scholarships announced by California Alumni Scholarships Committee are Larry Burris of Compton Union High School, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Burris, 1118 N. Pearl Ave., Compton, and Charlene Conrad of Jordan High, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Berlin, 2823 Montair Ave.

Funds for the scholarships were donated by UC alumni of this area.

300 Groups OK School Bond Bid

Organization support for Proposition C, the school measure on the June 5 ballot, passed the 300 mark on Saturday, according to Everett Houser, chairman of the sponsoring Good Schools Committee.

"The number of organization endorsements should exceed 350 and may go as high as 400 before election time," Houser said. "This overwhelming support is evidence that the people of Long Beach, Lakewood, Signal Hill and Avalon believe that good schools are important."

The 301st endorsement received by the Good Schools Committee was from the Long Beach Realty Board.

HOUSER EXPLAINED that endorsements are being received from every section of the school district and from every major grouping of the population.

He said that 18 Catholic churches and organizations to date have joined with 64 Protestant groups and 8 Jewish organizations in support of Proposition "C." Organized labor has sent in 43 endorsements and business associations have accounted for another 13. Thirty-seven patriotic groups are also included among the first 300 endorsements.

THE HIGH POINT in the educational campaign in behalf of Proposition C was reached last week when 9300 volunteer workers made calls at the 142,000 local homes to leave a pamphlet describing the need for additional school funds, Houser added.

Another phase of the campaign which was gaining momentum by the end of the week is the "10-Club" idea. Any adult can become a member of the "10-Club" by agreeing to get ten persons to the polls on June 5 to vote for Proposition C.

Ancient Relics Found on Isle

AJACCIO, Corsican (U)—A 14-year-old shepherd boy has found Roman remains dating from the time of the notoriously cruel Emperor Commodus (180 A.D.).

Andre Perinetti's original discovery about a half mile from Rustanico village was an ancient vase.

This led to fragments of pottery and glass vases, two rings, a coin and bronze buckles. They were the first Roman relics found on this Napoleonic isle.

Japanese to Help Build Electric Plant

SALTA, Argentina (U)—Japanese technicians will direct installation of electrical generators for a hydroelectric plant under construction near Salta, a commercial and trading center of 70,000. The equipment was bought in Yokohama.

FORD TRUCKS COST LESS!

Ford is America's lowest-priced line of trucks. A comparison of factory-suggested list prices shows that Ford has more models priced under competition than any other line.

But low initial cost is only one of the reasons why Fords cost less. Take resale value for instance. Any used-truck dealer will tell you there's always a good market for a Ford Truck. That means a higher trade-in allowance for you.

Operating costs? Only Ford gives you the oil and gas economy of a modern Short Stroke engine in every truck, V-8 or Six. And Ford Trucks cost less to maintain because they're built stronger to last longer. Using latest registration data, life insurance experts prove Ford Trucks last longer! See your Ford Dealer! Buddhist Ban, Temblor Derailed Universe Entries

By VERA WILLIAMS

Buddhists and an earthquake are keeping a couple of girls from the Miss Universe Beauty Pageant July 12-22.

So far they have provided the biggest headaches this year, but there will be more, prophesies Oscar Meinhardt, executive producer who this year will be executive producing for the fifth time.

Buddhists have taken over Ceylon, and Buddhists take a dim view of contests, according to the information received by Meinhardt.

So there will be no contestant this year from Ceylon. Last year Ceylon's beautiful Maureen Hingert placed second in the Miss Universe contest and she still is under contract to 20th Century-Fox of Hollywood.

Lebanon, torn by a recent earthquake, is under government edict to curtail social activities this year. So that means there will be no Miss Lebanon.

TO DATE, 80 girls—45 from the states, 35 from foreign countries—have entered. There will be more, Meinhardt predicts.

What are the "normal" headaches of putting together a beauty pageant?

"Well," says Meinhardt, "getting the girls, getting the sponsors, getting the girls here, running the pageant, getting the girls home again."

In their casual way, many foreign sponsors don't answer letters, says Meinhardt, and they do not let him know that girls are coming until two or three weeks before the pageant.

And then the photographers—! Not American photographers, Meinhardt explains hastily. He means foreign photographers.

"We have to have advance photographs of these foreign girls for press releases," says Meinhardt. "Can we get them? No! I don't know whether they don't take them, or whether we just don't get 'em. Anyway, we could use a lot more than we get."

THEN THERE is the matter of synchronizing flights of these girls so they land simultaneously, or thereabouts, in Long Beach. That takes quite a bit of doing when there are upward of 80 girls.

This year all the girls will stay in the Lafayette Hotel, which will make it simpler for pageant arrangers, hostesses, chauffeurs, etc., etc. There will be 50 hostesses—one for each two girls plus the executive committee. Hostesses will take turns staying all night at the hotel.

As an innovation, this year all meals will be served buffet style at the Lafayette.

"That will speed up service," says Meinhardt, "and it will give the girls a chance to select what they want to eat. Before this, a printed menu was put before them and they had to select from it, and many of the girls didn't know what the hell the menu said!"

These ingredients and others are to be mixed with cheerfulness, lubricated with gladness, etc., etc., baked in the "oven of blessedness" and "heated with the fire of true love." While warm, spread with a "frosting of gracefulness."

From there, the cook book goes right on to layer cakes, one of which, alas, is marked with the tell-tale "no good." No such note, fortunately, is applied to the marriage cake.

THE HOUSEHOLD hints dept. at the back of Mrs. Flamer's wonderful old book rings with a note of authority. After many of the hints is a positive declaration of their efficacy.

"RHEUMATISM—Five cents worth nitre potassium, twenty cents worth of iodine potassium, in one pint of water. Take one tablespoonful three times a day before each meal. If followed as directed WILL CURE WITH-OUT FAIL."

"CURE FOR ALCOHOLISM"—In the morning before breakfast, an orange should be eaten, one about 9 o'clock, one before dinner, one before supper and one before retiring; continue for one week. The second week four oranges a day will be sufficient, the third week three and the fourth week the tippler won't be able to bear the smell of alcohol.

Or the thought of an orange.

Beach Girls Eligible for 'U' Pageant

The glory trail to the Miss Universe title is open to girls of the Long Beach area but they'll have to go by way of Lakewood.

Deadline for the entries in the second annual competition to select Miss Lakewood is June 9. She will be selected June 16 and thereby earn the right to compete in the Miss California preliminary to the Miss USA and Miss Universe contests.

THE GREATER LAKEWOOD Chamber of Commerce has invited girls of Long Beach and other neighboring communities to enter the Miss Lakewood competition, according to W. G. Nichols, executive secretary of the C. of C.

Long Beach offers no city representative in the Miss Universe competition since it is the host city.

Nichols said girls between 18 and 28, either married or single, may obtain entry blanks at the Chamber office, 4166 Norcross Way, and may telephone for any contest information at GA 5-0713.

PETER C. SITRINI, chairman of the contest, said preliminary judging would be conducted at 7 p.m. June 14 and 15, with five finalists selected each evening. The 10 finalists will compete at 3 p.m. Saturday, June 16, for the crown and scepter of Miss Lakewood.

The winner will have her expenses paid for the Miss California preliminary at the Moulin Rouge, will win a trophy and a year's opportunity to preside at many community affairs for both fun and profit.

Both preliminaries and finals in the Miss Lakewood contest will be held in the May Co. auditorium, Lakewood.

Pay Raises Slated for Ford Workers

All Ford Motor Co. hourly workers and most salaried employees will receive pay increases Friday, the company announced Saturday.

Approximately 127,000 hourly employees represented by the United Auto Workers will receive "improvement factor" increases of 2 1/2 per cent or 6 cents an hour, whichever is greater.

Most of the company's 52,800 salaried employees will get increases ranging from $10.50 to $18 a month, depending on base pay.

Contracts signed with the UAW and other unions last year provide for annual improvement factor increases through June 1, 1957.

The company pointed out that this year's improvement factor will be the seventh paid by Ford.

Lakewood Parks Contract Signed

The Lakewood Park District board of directors Saturday approved a long-disputed contract with the Lakewood City Council for park development.

The Council approved the agreement earlier in the week and indicated that if the district did not agree to the plan it would seek other means to get the parks developed.

City Making Progress on Bond Plans

By GEORGE WEEKS
City Hall Reporter

Less than four months after the voters approved the $29,210,000 municipal bond issue, the city has made substantial progress toward spending a major portion of that sum, even though none of the bonds has actually been sold.

A summary just released by City Mgr. Sam E. Vickers' office shows nine architectural and engineering contracts have been authorized for design work to cost a maximum of $942,832. Construction cost is estimated at $17,045,100.

Even before any of these projects materialize, however, construction will be started on two $ m a l l improvements. Groundbreaking ceremonies are tentatively scheduled for June 25 at Somerset Park, site of a proposed $10,000 activities building, and California Ave. Play-ground, where $6,500 will be expended for game courts, walks and other improvements.

Similar ceremonies will be scheduled progressively during succeeding months, Vickers said.

BIDS WON'T BE OPENED on the first unit of bonds—$5,900,000—until June 19. Meanwhile the city is advancing funds from other accounts to meet preliminary expenses, all of which will be reimbursed later from the bond receipts.

According to Finance Director S. M. Roberts, another fair-sized bond sale will probably be recommended late this year, primarily for the project deemed most urgent on the list—the construction of tunnels under Lakewood Blvd. and Spring St. for the Municipal Airport runway extension.

ARCHITECTURAL and engineering contracts already approved, with the amounts involved for design and also for construction, are:

Cite L.B. Airman for Hero Rescue

A-2C Eugene L. Konopatzki, 39, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Konopatzki, 5737 Harco St., has been cited by the Air Force for heroic work after a B29 refueling plane crash-landed in Alaska.

The young airman was radio operator on the plane, which landed on a glacier north of Fairbanks. Although injured, he administered first aid to four other crewmen and radioed for assistance.

Dad Contest Deadline Set

A few moments of your time today might give your father lasting joy, reminds the "Father of the Year" contest editor.

With the deadline for entries in the annual contest next Thursday at midnight, the contest editor urges all readers to submit entries at once.

In 50 words or less anyone in the area served by the Independent Press-Telegram may make a nomination. It does not have to be the writer's father for whom the entry is made.

Judges will select the winner and he will be announced in the Southland Magazine June 10, a week before Father's Day.

An engraved trophy will be presented the father. Letters should be mailed to the Father of the Year Contest Editor, Independent Press-Telegram, 6th and Pine Ave., Long Beach.

Transport Due Back

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The transport Gen. J.C. Breckinridge, arriving this afternoon from Yokohama, is bringing home 1,111 members of the Third Marine Division and the First Marine Airwing. Also aboard are 689 Army men, 307 Air Force and 39 Navy.

AFTERMATH OF ENIWETOK

Fallout From H-Bomb Test in Pacific Reaches Coast

BERKELEY (AP)—Fallout from the H-bomb blast in Eniwetok last Sunday appeared to have reached the West Coast, the State Department of Health said Saturday.

The announcement emphasized that there is no possibility of damage to any living thing. Delicate instruments registered up to 2.4 milliroentgens an hour, which was described as in the high range of normal background 5,000 miles away.

AMONG LONG BEACH LOVELIES seeking entry to the Miss Universe Pageant by way of the Miss Lakewood competition is Myrna Lois Bucher, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Bucher, 3029 Pacific Ave. Auburn-haired Myrna weighs 108, measures 33-23-34, California's 1948 VFW majorette champion, she was a Miss Welcome to Long Beach runner-up.—(Staff Photo by Don Webster)

Among distinguished guests representing some of these organizations will be: Fred Jordan, Paul Hanson, Robert P. Clancy, Mel Rubin, E. M. McNamee, C. A. Parmenter, Leroy Gardiner, George Hill, W. P. Heidewald, E. B. Allmeroth, C. Wendt, C. A. Burger, William Dovey, Long Beach chief of police, and VI Dovey, executive secretary to the Mayor.

Samaritans End Convention Here

June Cooper of Oakland was named Saturday as new state Ahayhi for the Ladies of the Orient and Alvin Wines of Riverside was elected Division Supreme Monarch of the Ancient Mystic Order of Samaritans.

The two groups held a one-day convention Saturday in Municipal Auditorium.

Jones Will Speak to Masonic Club

Howard Jones, manager of Long Beach Convention and Visitors Bureau, will speak on "Convention Dollars Are Your Dollars" at a meeting of Long Beach Masonic Club Thursday noon in the Wilton Hotel.

Frederic A. Shaffer will be chairman, and the Rev. Dr. Russell M. Brougher will preside.

All-Night Event to Have Top Entertainers

Seniors at Poly, Wilson and Jordan High Schools will hold their annual all-night graduation dance from 11 p.m. June 14 to 5 a.m. June 15 in Municipal Auditorium.

Top-flight entertainers will provide music for the event.

Bernie Richards and his orchestra will play from 11 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. and again from 2 to 2:30 a.m.

Shorty Rogers and His Giants, widely known progressive jazz combo, will occupy the stage from 12:30 to 1 a.m., reappearing from 1:30 to 2 a.m.

The Modernaires, popular vocal group, featuring Paula Kelly, will sing from 1 to 1:30 a.m.

Freddie Martin and his orchestra will play for the remainder of the program beginning at 2:30 a.m.

JORDAN is this year's host school. Tickets are $2 each. Bids will be handed out at the door.

Ceryl Sharpe, of Wilson, is designer of this year's bid.

Chairman of the entertainment committee is Ken Zomnick of Jordan. Committee members include Bob Ward and Nancy Goodman, of Poly; Jim Berry, of Jordan; and Fred Betts, of Wilson.

Housing committee members are: Nancy Peery, of Poly, chairman, assisted by Jim Ferguson, of Wilson, and Nancy Hill, of Jordan.

Rev. Bates, of Jordan, is chairman of bids and tickets committee, assisted by Marilyn Akin, of Wilson.

THE PUBLICITY committee is composed of Mike Brown, of Wilson, chairman; John Vafis, of Poly; and Pat Gardner, of Jordan.

Seniors will be excused from school on June 15.

The all-night graduation dance has been an annual event since 1949. It was organized to avoid traffic hazards created in previous years when graduating seniors drove all the way to Hollywood to celebrate. Four seniors were killed in an automobile crash in 1948 after a student went to sleep at the steering wheel and the car left the road and struck a tree in Los Angeles.

Lifeguard Tests Given 100 Youths

More than 100 youths took swimming tests Saturday afternoon on the beach near the main lifeguard station to qualify for positions as summer lifeguards.

The tests were given by the city civil service commission, with Lifeguard Capt. Roy (Dutch) Miller assisting.

Seventy-five seasonal lifeguards will be employed from June 16 to Sept. 15, bringing the lifeguard force to a summer total of 100 for the swimming areas at the ocean, bay and lagoon.

The lifeguards to be employed will be selected from the civil service eligibility lists already established. Those qualifying on the basis of Saturday's swimming tests and other examinations will be added to the eligibility list.

Business Up to All-Time High Record in L.A.

An all-time new high in local business activity during April has been announced by the research department of Security First National Bank, Los Angeles.

The bank reported the business index was up 5 per cent compared to April of last year. They said unemployment in the Los Angeles area had declined but that the drop was less than the usual seasonal amount.

200 TO GET OUTINGS

Camp Donations Total Half of Required Goal

The Long Beach campership committee's greatest need right now is for money contributions, leaders said Saturday.

Cash contributions to date will assure at least 200 of the needy boys and girls in the Long Beach-Lakewood area of a week at summer camp. That means that less than 50 per cent of the deserving youngsters listed in the files of the summer and camping committee of the Community Welfare Council have been offered assistance.

Donations in any amount may be sent to the Campership Fund, Welfare Council, 1213 Cedar Ave. For information telephone HE 2-0991. Peggy Finley is general chairman for the drive.

THE AVERAGE campership fee is $25 per child per week. The camps are operated and supervised by the Salvation Army, Catholic Youth Organization, YMCA, YWCA, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Boys Club and Boy Scouts.

A LARGE PERCENTAGE of the children come from families who are receiving aid from the Bureau of Public Assistance. They have only enough money to provide the bare necessities of life.

Many of the boys and girls are from broken homes. Some are orphans, others fatherless. Many have special problems which might be helped greatly through association with others in the healthy atmosphere of a summer mountain camp. Two weeks remain in which to make contributions to the Campership Fund.

Strikers Wreck Train in India; 58 Injured

CALCUTTA (UP)—A train from which a violent mob of railway strikers had dragged the engine crew crashed and injured 58 passengers Saturday at Khargpur, 75 miles from Calcutta.

The engine and first car of the train, in which nonstrikers were going to work, left the rails at Khargpur railway station and mounted the station platform.

The injured included four on the platform. Five of the victims are in serious condition.

The Southeastern Railway said the strikers surrounded the train when it halted, assaulted and dragged off the engine driver and crew of two, then set the train in motion.

35 Cities, 69 C.s of C. Back Proposition W (Water Bonds)

More than 35 city councils and 69 chambers of commerce in the Long Beach-Los Angeles metropolitan area have endorsed Proposition W, the water proposal on the June 5 ballot, according to Bill Barbee, Long Beach chairman of the Southland Water Committee.

"We are deeply encouraged by the immediate and widespread support Proposition W is receiving from both governmental and civic organizations. By their enthusiastic endorsements, they are doing their part to insure an adequate water supply for Southern California for years to come," Barbee said.

Proposition W would enable the Metropolitan Water District, through short term financing, to complete its aqueduct facilities from the Colorado River to their planned capacity within six years.

THE DISTRICT plans to borrow 50 million dollars on short term notes to be repaid from pledges of 170 million dollars which will be paid over the next 30 years by areas recently annexed to the district, according to Barbee. He emphasized that no tax increase is involved.

Among the city councils endorsing Proposition W are those of Long Beach, Signal Hill, Los Angeles, Pasadena, Pomona, Beverly Hills, Burbank, Glendale, Santa Monica, Torrance, Hawthorne, Inglewood, Redondo Beach, Hermosa Beach, Compton and Lynwood. Chambers of commerce in these cities and many others have also approved Proposition W, Barbee said.

Barbee pointed out that the Metropolitan Water District extends over a five-county area and that similar support is being obtained in San Bernardino, Orange, Riverside and San Diego Counties.

"Long Beach already depends on the Colorado River for 45 per cent of the city's water supply. Proposition W will assure Long Beach an adequate water supply for the future and thus safeguard our continued growth and prosperity," Walker said.

Leedom stated, "Nothing is more vital to the health, safety and welfare of our community than water. We can do without many things and survive, but we cannot do without water. It is essential for every segment of our economy."

Two sailors aboard a motorcycle were pursued by police on the west side of Long Beach Saturday until one of the riders was hurled off the vehicle.

The driver, Warren L. Holbrook, 19, of the USS Kermit Roosevelt, was arrested at a locker club soon after he abandoned the motorcycle at Pacific Ave. and Pacific Coast Hwy. He was booked in city jail for investigation of reckless driving violations.

His passenger, Thomas G. Body, 18, of the same ship, was picked up by police at W. Seaside Blvd. and San Diego Ave.

'Hot Rods' Drive for Hope City

Giving up a day at the wheel, approximately 600 members of Hot Rod clubs in Long Beach, San Pedro and Wilmington will help to canvass door-to-door in behalf of the City of Hope fund campaign Sunday, June 3.

The car club members will wear their uniforms—jackets bearing the insignia of their affiliations—and carry the official City of Hope canisters for donations.

Calling the day "Hope Sunday," sponsors will attempt to raise $50,000 in Long Beach and $1,000,000 throughout the state during the four-hour drive from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The appeal is the annual campaign for funds for research and treatment of leukemia, cancer, heart disease and tuberculosis at the non-sectarian facilities of the City of Hope in Duarte.

Chairman of the harbor area drive is Jack Hoffman, Milt Silverberg is president of the local Sponsors Club, an auxiliary of the City of Hope.

Officer Bob Cabot of the Long Beach Police Department is assisting in co-ordinating the efforts of the car club members toward the campaign.

Kuchel Gives Small Boat Aid Advice

WASHINGTON—Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.) Saturday advised California to form a single agency to push for federal funds for small boat harbors.

"It seems to me we should have an organized effort," he wrote Gov. Goodwin J. Knight. Although progress has been made in getting federal grants, Kuchel said a single agency could help get more by conducting studies, preparing plans and setting up priorities.

Because California has few natural bays, inlets or harbors, man-made facilities must be constructed, Kuchel said. If they are provided, thousands of Californians would use them, he predicted.

A state agency to weigh and co-ordinate proposals for harbor developments could operate like the state water resources board which has developed balanced programs for flood control activities, Kuchel suggested.

Its primary effect would be to "minimize controversy" which often prevents the state from obtaining federal funds, he added.

Hosmer Serves All of People, Deserves Bi-Partisan Backing

IN 1952 THE VOTERS of the 18th Congressional District cast their ballot for a Congressional candidate who pledged that he would back the Eisenhower administration and conscientiously represent the people and interests of this district without thought of party.

Those promises were kept, and the people returned that candidate—Congressman Craig Hosmer—to Washington in 1954 with a solid vote of confidence.

(It was a vote, by the way, not only for good representation but also for advancing the District in Congressional seniority. Each consecutive term served by a Congressman adds significantly to the prestige and influence of his district in the Capitol.)

There is every reason why the local voters again this year, on June 5, should support Mr. Hosmer. He is the same man and is doing the same good job.

★ ★ ★
HE IS A CONGRESSMAN who works actively to get the district a fair, square deal in Congress and from government officials.

During his terms of service the program at the Long Beach Naval Shipyard, a major economic factor in this community, has been stabilized and the threat of closure turned back.

He played an important part in securing an appropriation for sorely-needed improvement and expansion of buildings at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

He led a valiant fight in Congress to protect the rights of Southern Californians to vital water supplies from the Colorado River.

He secured for this community the distinction—which has a practical, economic importance to the people here—of being named along with Los Angeles as a "metropolitan area."

There is, of course, nothing partisan about such representation. These are the affairs of all the people of the district. And they have been dealt with from that standpoint. Partisanship simply plays no part in the Congressman's work with regard to the numerous federal decisions that affect Long Beach, Lakewood and Signal Hill.

The results speak for themselves. They have been for the benefit of all.

CONGRESSMAN CRAIG HOSMER deserves re-election in his own right, for his record stands by itself. But the fact that he has supported the Eisenhower administration's policy of moderate, calm, forward-looking government speaks further in his favor.

This fact should be an attraction, we believe, to "Eisenhower Democrats." Though these backers of Eisenhower will not be able to vote for Mr. Eisenhower in the presidential primary, they do have a course of action which will express their support of Ike.

That course is to vote in the Congressional races (where candidates may crossfile) for men who can be depended on to back up Ike in Congress—such men as Congressman Hosmer and U. S. Sen. Kuchel.

We feel our past support for these men has been well justified. They have served well. We are proud to recommend their election once again on June 5.

JOHN S. KNIGHT

Adlai-Estes Debate Shows How Lucky People Are to Have Ike as President

POLITICAL PRIMER: Politics is a funny business indeed.

1. A President is to be elected this year. President Eisenhower is running for re-election. He has no opposition, within his own party.

2. The two major Democratic candidates are Adlai Stevenson, the 1952 standard bearer, and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, runner-up to Stevenson at the last Democratic convention.

3. The Gallup poll shows that 64 per cent of the voters prefer Ike to Stevenson and an even higher percentage will take Eisenhower over Sen. Kefauver.

4. In Florida, on May 29, Democratic voters will say whether Stevenson or Kefauver delegates will be sent to Chicago next August.

5. Both candidates are campaigning in the folksy, handshaking style that is natural for Estes, unnatural for Adlai. But Florida voters have been yawning.

6. The ABC radio, and television network contributed an hour of precious time for a debate between the two Presidential hopefuls. It was well advertised in the press. The audience was large. This could be quite a show.

7. So, what happened? For nearly 60 minutes, Adlai and Estes exchanged echoes in one of the dreariest performances ever staged by two politicians in contention for the Presidency. As the Washington Post said: "The two opponents looked and sounded like members of the garden club discussing the weather."

CONCLUSION: Adlai and Estes are personal friends of this columnist. Both had sought support from the Miami Herald, a Knight newspaper, in next Tuesday's primary.

But if this was the best they could offer—an obviously tired Adlai caught off balance by Kefauver's gentle gibes, mangling his usual precise phrases, and Estes promising the moon without regard for the nation's solvency—how can the conscientious editor make a choice?

Florida voters expect their candidates to come out fighting. But contrary to expectations, the much heralded Stevenson-Kefauver "debate" was a drab, uninspired affair which proved nothing except that a good many people were heard to say how lucky they are to have Ike as President.

CUTS IN FOREIGN AID: The House Foreign Affairs Committee has, by a 24 to 4 vote, approved a billion dollar cut in the administration's nearly $5 billion foreign aid bill.

This slash is long overdue and should be supported by both houses of Congress. Our foreign economic and military aid programs beg to be reappraised and revised downward.

It was originally intended that military aid would help get our Allies started on rearmament, just as Marshall plan economic help was supposed to be of temporary duration until Europe was rehabilitated.

Both now appear, under one form or another, to have become a permanent part of our foreign policy, with the time-worn rationalization that these programs "bolster the free world against communism."

If Europe cannot now, with its present prosperity, support a military defense establishment, what kind of Allies do we have? Only the soft-headed Americans still believe we can cure anything with a buck.

More gifts of money are misunderstood. The new approach to foreign aid should contemplate a business partnership or relationship in which the underdeveloped nations can attain a measure of economic independence while preserving their self-respect.

DAVID LAWRENCE

U. S. Must Resist Blackmail by Nations That Are Playing Both Sides of Street

WASHINGTON—"Let them go Communist." This epitomizes a growing sentiment in Congress about the so-called "neutrals." It means that the United States must not allow itself to be blackmailed into foreign-aid programs by governments which under the guise of neutrality are really "playing both ends against the middle."

The case of Egypt is much discussed hereabouts. Nasser, an ambitious leader, is trying to play the Soviet Union against the United States. He wants the Aswan Dam built. It's a very important project—it will take 18 years to build. It means needed irrigation for millions of acres of land.

The Soviet Union has made a transparently weak offer to help finance the project, but Nasser implies he must take it unless Great Britain and the United States kick in with the desired funds.

THE ASWAN DAM and the canal distribution of the water, together with the hydroelectric work that goes with it, will cost at least $1,000,000,000. Irrespective of whether Nasser is a statesman or a Communist stooge, the dam means a lot to the future of the people of Egypt. Hence the American government wants to help, but can't be in the position of placing itself in the clutches of an ambitious dictator who claims he is undecided whether to line up with the west or with the Communists.

There are some Americans here in responsible posts who feel that maybe the time has come to call the Soviet bluff—to let Egypt try to get along with Soviet funds alone—in other words, to take hands off and permit nature to take its course.

THUS FAR, Moscow seems willing to grant a 35-year loan of $200,000,000 to build the dam. But the huge reservoir itself would be useless without the projects to distribute the water throughout Egypt and the Sudan. These will cost $800,000,000 more. There are many knotty problems still to be solved and meanwhile Nasser doesn't seem to be doing much in diplomacy to forward the cause of the people of his own country. He manages to insult the United States about every other week. His latest pact with Communist China files directly in the face of America's friendship.

The willings of Nasser, moreover, to accept the Communist scheme which seeks to establish a military foothold in the Middle East has aroused suspicion in the West. Thus, because of his arms deal with Czechoslovakia, and now with Communist China, the whole strategic problem will have to be reviewed by NATO.

Also by 1960 the Suez Canal is scheduled to come under complete control of Egypt.

Air Force, Army Hurled Secret Publicity Memos

WASHINGTON—Backstage reason for the Army-Air Force feud that has suddenly hit the headlines is a publicity campaign that both services decided to launch to win public and congressional support.

Without consulting their alleged boss, Secretary Wilson, the Army brass gave their campaign a central theme: "A Decade of Insecurity." The Air Force then came back with a reverse theme entitled: "A Decade of Security Through Global Airpower."

★ ★ ★
While Charlie Wilson was looking the other way, the Army loaded its publicity guns with ideas for speeches, magazine articles, and press leaks. These were carefully calculated to sell the Army's views to the public.

The Air Force promptly organized a more ambitious, long-range publicity program. In a private memo to its publicity boys, the Air Force urged:

"We must take the public past the point of uncertainty. We must convince them that investment in the Air Force will net a superlative payoff in continued freedom and safety. Convincing the public will take a long-range public relations blueprint... commanders at all levels will review their individual programs and initiate aggressive action to support this program."

★ ★ ★
AFL-CIO CLERICAL staff workers, deciding to practice what they preach, held a labor meeting the other day, to discuss working conditions at their own union headquarters.

Will the western nations accept such a transfer if it means handing to the Soviets control of one of the most important waterways in the world?

Can Egypt afford to place herself within the Soviet military orbit—in an area which the West will have to consider hostile if war should break out? This is something Nasser will have to consider.

It's something also that Sukarno of Indonesia will have to take into account. Sukarno has accepted Communists into his government. He was careful in his speeches here to refrain from saying anything that would indicate he is disturbed by Russian colonialism. He criticized western "colonialism" and made just the kind of speech that pleases the Kremlin. He knows, of course, that this country wants Indonesia's friendship. But at what price? How much money does Sukarno really want from America?

MOST EXPERTS here think the Soviet "competition" is a gigantic bluff and that if America refuses to be taken in, other governments will some day discover that there are no strings attached to being friendly to America such as the Communists in Moscow or Peking would impose.

The Neighbors

By George Clark

"Don't let any guests put wraps in here. Last time word got out that I still sleep with a Teddy bear."

Adlai, Estes Find Campaigning in Sprawling California Big Job

IT COSTS $240,000 to mail a postal card to every registered voter in California.

That startling fact gives some idea of the immensity of the task of putting on an intensive political campaign in this sprawling state—a problem that Estes Kefauver or Adlai Stevenson could probably describe in graphic terms at this stage of the game.

A postal card mailing is obviously a minor feature of a campaign, but let's take a look at the cost of even that "small" effort. We have 5,487,822 registered voters in the state. Just the postage for that many cards would be about $110,000. Cost of the cards and having them printed would run the total up to about $240,000, according to an agency that has engaged in statewide campaigning over many years.

From this, it is apparent that a campaign aimed at reaching most or all California voters runs into many hundreds of thousands of dollars in money expense, not to speak of the physical strain on a candidate who might try to cover every hamlet in person.

STEVENSON and Kefauver, now winding up their drive for California's Democratic presidential preference, haven't tried to get everywhere in the state. But considering that they've had to campaign simultaneously in the primaries of a number of other states, they've both done fair jobs in getting around in huge California.

Both have tried to do as much personal campaigning as possible, apparently on the theory that a handshake means a vote. This has taken a lot out of them, and on their visits here, both have appeared extremely weary.

Here recently, Stevenson displayed the soles of his shoes (see cut) and no holes were visible. But in the picture the leather appears a little worn and the heels slightly run down. Many Stevenson supporters here are wearing little silver shoes, with a hole in the sole, recalling a famed picture of the 1952 campaign when Stevenson displayed a worn shoe to photographers. Kefauver and Stevenson have been campaigning for Democratic votes only, of course, but there are 3,059,873 Democrats in California registered for the June 5 primary. If half of them vote on presidential preference, it means that the winner will need at least 750,000 votes.

Recently Congressional Quarterly reported that it was costing the Democratic candidates about $500 a day each to campaign in California and elsewhere. Minimum cost factors include rent, $20; personnel salaries, $285; transportation, $75; living expenses, $30; telephone, $40, and miscellaneous, $50. These averages do not include advertisements and radio and TV broadcasts.

Adding to the problems of Stevenson and Kefauver is the fact that they are still on their own as individuals and do not have the party organizations and treasury to draw on. Once a candidate is nominated for the presidency, the party money rolls into the vote battle and of course the costs become astronomical. They are just about that as it is.

On the Republican side of the primary, there is no contest this time for California's presidential preference, and President Dwight Eisenhower, the lone candidate, has not had to campaign. Republicans are waging a drive to get out a big vote of confidence for the President, but this has not compared with the effort required of the contesting Democrats.

The only other statewide campaigning required before this election is in the U. S. Senatorial race. State Sen. Richard Richards has possibly done more traveling than the other major candidates. U. S. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, the Republican who is trying for both party nominations, is an old statewide campaigner and has had to spend much of the pre-primary period in Washington. Former Congressman Sam Yorty, also seeking both nominations, has been moving about, but apparently not as extensively as Richards, the only one of the three who has not previously been in a statewide campaign.

By far the most ambitious effort to woo California votes on a statewide basis has been made by two non-Californians, Stevenson and Kefauver. They are probably happy that it's about over.

TOWN MEETING

Filling of Council Vacancy Discussed

TO THE EDITOR:

Your recent editorial on filling council vacancies by appointment was current, interesting and, as you say, "worthy of consideration."

The appointment method would be much more economical. And who is there to say that appointment to the vacancy would not be just as representative as is the present method of election held only in the one district where the vacancy occurs which, of course, is inconsistent with the normal citywide method of electing Councilmen.

YOUR EDITORIAL overlooked one point which I am inclined to think holds the key to the present charter provided for filling Council vacancies by appointment and also there was, at the time, a well-defined cleavage among Council members—say a 4 to 4 or a 5 to 3 division such as in the days of the "Solid Five."

In the present method practical in preventing clique control of the Council? How much would it be worth in dollars at some time under a given set of conditions?

The present plan cannot be said to be ideal. It is not as economical as the appointment method. If the reader rules out the appointment method, for reasons given, we have left what we now have, which provides a Councilman just for an interim period at an interim cost.

Says Alien Act Discriminatory

TO THE EDITOR:

It is a great honor to be a citizen of this country, but how much greater an honor and privilege it is to choose to become a citizen of this great country.

I was born in Germany, persecuted under Nazism, separated from the U. S. Air Force after three years and four months of service with an Honorable Discharge, and thus probably feel a stronger pride in this country than the average immigrant.

In 1954 I was refused the right to take the examination for U. S. Diplomatic Service because I had not been a citizen for five years, and according to latest report the requirements have been raised to 10 years to qualify. This is a discriminatory law, in my opinion.

WHEN I AFFIRMED my signature to the oath of allegiance, I knew that if required by law I would bear arms on behalf of the United States or perform noncombatant service in the armed forces of the United States, and that I took this obligation freely without any mental reservation of purpose of evasion. By accepting the duties as a citizen of the United States, I was then granted equal rights by law immediately and not after 10 years.

As a citizen of this wonderful country I sincerely recommend the protection of the original Constitution of the United States from amendments such as the McCarran-Walter Immigration act, which overthrows the First Amendment.

Amateur Sports, Dollar Signs Don't Go Together

Oakland Tribune

REGARDLESS of how far the Pacific Coast Conference investigation into the subordination of football players goes, the public will approve a fair and full inquiry.

The purpose of the faculty representatives is to enforce the rules equally for all member universities and adhere to an honest system of recruiting athletes. Whenever a university steps out of bounds, it should expect immediate punishment. Those that abide by the regulations have the right to expect that the derelictions receive summary treatment.

One of the characteristics of amateur athletics is the purity of its motives and methods. Once confidence is destroyed, the character-building aspects of honest competition are impaired. It is the purpose of the conference heads to restore such confidence and make it dangerous for violators of the accepted rules to continue unfair practices. That purpose will be generally lauded by those who enjoy one of the best American sports.

Recruitment within the bounds of decency, and based on the merits of the college, is not in itself inimical to college athletics. But some of today's highly organized and well-financed modes of operation have passed the bounds of reason and public acceptance. A THOROUGH cleanup was certainly due, and we trust it will be carried to a successful conclusion. Whether it is Pacific Coast colleges or West Santee in his dispute with the Amateur Athletic Association, it is not compatible with sportsmanship and college loyalty for amateur athletes to be plastered with the dollar sign. The system deserves radical remedies and that apparently is what we are getting.

IN MAJOR PALOS VERDES DEAL

Purchase by a group of Southland companies, headed by Edward K. Zuckerman and Barney R. Morris, of approximately 1,000 acres adjoining Palos Verdes Estates, foreshadows construction ultimately of $75,000,000 worth of estate-class homes in area. It was sold by Palos Verdes Properties, composed of the Capital Co. and Rancho Palos Verdes Corp. Shown above, left to right, are Ivar O. Hanson, general manager, Palos Verdes Properties; Morris; Zuckerman, and Paul W. Anderson, vice president, Capital Co.

Builders Buy 1,000 Acres for Palos Verdes Homes

Acceleration of the ultimate transformation of Palos Verdes Peninsula into a world-famous, luxury-estate community was announced yesterday by announcement of purchase and plans for improvement of approximately 1,000 choice acres adjoining Palos Verdes Estates by a group of Southland companies.

Eventually $75,000,000 worth of homes will be built in the newly-acquired area, according to spokesmen for the buying group, headed by Edward K. Zuckerman, Barney R. Morris, and the Grandview Building Co. The area will be known as Grandview Palos Verdes.

The land, described as a natural extension of such exclusive communities as Palos Verdes Estates, Rolling Hills and Portugette, Belling Hills and Portugette, was acquired for a reported consideration of $6,000,000, in one of the biggest land transactions in recent California history, from Palos Verdes Properties, a partnership composed of Rancho Palos Verdes Corp. and the Capital Co., a subsidiary of Transamerica Corp.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT, pointing out that a large portion of the historic Rancho Palos Verdes already has been fashioned into luxury communities of beautiful homes and spacious estates. Including the City of Palos Verdes Estates, said that the 1,000 acres just purchased will be developed along similar lines. The majority of the area overlooks the Palos Verdes Golf Course and the ocean.

At the same time it was stated that the remaining portion of the colorful old rancho will be developed by the Capital Co. and Rancho Palos Verdes Corp. into a complete town site and smaller commercial areas, with schools, churches and community recreational facilities, as well as residential estates.

Plans will assure preservation of the natural scenic beauties and bridge trails in those mountainous areas not adaptable for development, it was stated.

SEVERAL have been spent in research and preparation of recommendations for community planning of the entire region by such nationally known specialists in the field as Victor Gruen Associates and Pereira & Luckman.

An initial construction program, already launched by the Zuckerman-Morris-Grandview group, and based on plans by two architectural firms—Harris & Rice, AIA, and William M. Bray, AIA—calls for the building of $5,000,000 worth of homes including 10 display residences, which soon will be opened for display on the north side of Montemalaga Dr.

THIS INITIAL SITE is 2 miles from the large Malaga Cove Plaza shopping center and within 2.5 to 4 miles from Redondo Beach and Rolling Hills shopping centers and business districts at Pacific Coast Hwy. and Hawthorne Blvd., and Pacific Coast Hwy. and Crenshaw Blvd. Additionally, there are extensive shopping areas as Lomita, Hermosa Beach, Torrance, San Pedro and Wilmington, all within a 15-minute drive of the area.

Ranked among the nation's top residential builders by "House & Home," authoritative publication of the home construction industry, published by Time, Inc., Zuckerman and Morris are the builders of the $60,000,000 Grandview Hollywood and Grandview Hollywood properties on the O. T. Johnson ranches in Southwest Los Angeles.

Spokesmen pointed out that, with the transactions just finished and other plans coming along, Rancho Palos Verdes appears headed for a complete transformation of the area which was picked by Governor Pío Pico

Easy Terms on Resales

Spokesmen for Del Amo Park, new residential community at 20th St. and Pioneer Blvd., Artesia, announced yesterday that a limited number of 3-bedroom homes are available for resale because some families have been forced to move to other locations.

Officials said that terms may be arranged "to suit" either veterans or nonvets, who may move in for only $189.

"Only because conditions of employment required some families to give up these homes are they now available on highly desirable terms," a spokesman explained. "An excellent buy for

Story Book Homes Loaded With Extras

A collection of the most desired features in a moderately priced home is what today's homebuyer finds when visiting Chapman Woods "Story Book" homes in Garden Grove reports a spokesman for Walker & Lee, sales agents for the Cliff B. the handyman, they may be made as good as new with a minimum of fixing and cleaning."

The area may be reached by way of Hwy. 33, it was stated.

Priced from $13,850 to $14,950, Chapman Woods homes were designed to incorporate the many plan, construction and feature qualities usually seen in more expensive dwellings, such as central hall plan to eliminate unnecessary traffic through bedrooms, areas, insulation, weatherstripping, oak flooring and built-in automatic kitchens.

A free-standing fireplace, backed by an indoor barbecue in some models, master bedroom suite, Pullman-type baths with tiled stall shower and colored bath fixtures, Royal Jet forced-air heat with summer ventilation, sliding "horizon" window walls in the dining area, cathedral ceilings and cove lighting are more of the features of the homes.

Kitchens are equipped with built-in General Electric washer-dryer combination, food pulverizer, birch cabinetry, breakfast bar and, in some models, built-in Western Holly range and oven in decorator colors. Washable interior walls, Timm aluminum casement windows, Armstrong linoleum, back-yard incinerators and Tele-Jack-TV outlets are more of the features.

Visitors drive out Garden Grove Blvd. to Highway 39, turn north to Chapman and east on

Chapman to Ninth St. From Los Angeles, take Santa Ana Freeway to Highway 39, turn south on Highway 39 to Chapman and east to the models.

Ample Room in Huntington Crest Homes

The builders of Huntington Crest Homes in Huntington Beach have discovered that what the average home buyer wants most in a house is space, and lots of it.

Frank McFarland, sales agent, says that many people would rather have a lot of built-ins and gadgets in favor of more room, both inside and out. This, according to McFarland, is a big factor in the success of the spacious 4-bedroom, 2-bath Huntington Crest Homes, which feature 1,300 square feet of living area on extra large lots.

With 16 different exteriors to choose from, Huntington Crest offers a low move-in price to non-veterans of only $395, with no costs, impounds, or additional charges on homes priced from $11,150 to $11,750.

Located near the ocean in Huntington Beach, Huntington Crest features sturdy conventional construction, with Provincial styling, acoustical plastered ceilings, covered patios and porches, natural wood kitchen cabinets, and many other exceptional items for comfortable, practical living.

Huntington Crest homes are convenient to shopping centers, schools, and vacation areas, and may be reached from the Long Beach area by taking 7th St. to Highway 39 (Huntington Beach Blvd.), and turning right on 39 to Huntington Crest.

made for big family living! Opening onto the kitchen, its family room has a 12-foot sliding glass door to its patio.

TWO-BATH homes all, they're available in 9 smart custom-detailed exteriors.

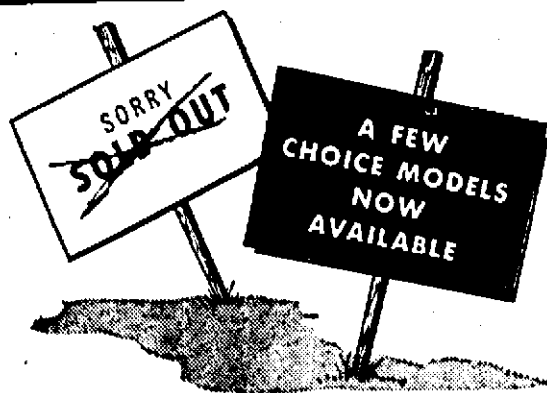

One style of the models is California Contemporary, one is modern, and the other is a triumph of charming informality. Contemporary fabrics, upholstery, and matchstick draperies unite, in complete harmony, with period maple and pine.

The Freedom gas kitchen with built-in oven and range are in delightful colors.

The complete laundry center has built-in combination GE washer-dryer, hamper, sorting shelf and large linen closet.

Former GI's can still buy these 1936 "Hall of Fame" homes for nothing down except, usual costs, $14,315.

You can see them from the Long Beach area by driving east on Carson St. (which becomes Lincoln Ave.), and then turning north on Miller St.

If the 'SOLD OUT' sign on Buena Berry Park turned you back, don't despair. A few choice models are now available because of credit rejects. They're the easiest homes to get to—just one block east of Knott's Berry Farm. Corner Crescent and Stanton in Buena Park.

Homes Soon Ready for Buyers

IN KATELLA PARK

Katella Park homes in Garden Grove are finding wide favor with buyers who have children. The homes in the current series are being rushed to completion for many of the new buyers are planning to move in the end of June, as soon as school is out.

Most of the new buyers in Katella Park in Garden Grove are planning to move in as soon as school is out, builders and developers H. Cedric Roberts & Sons said in pointing out that now is the time to buy a new home so a family can make the move as soon as the school bells ring for the last time this year.

The 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes have attracted buyers' attention particularly as good family homes, the builders continued, which is why sales have been building up these past few months.

While there are a few homes ready for immediate occupancy, the remainder of the current series will be completed shortly for the end of June moving days to Katella Park.

FAVORED FEATURES of Katella Park are the 6 built-in, color-matched range, oven, refrigerator, dishwasher, washer-dryer and waste disposer, all included in the sales price of $16,450.

The separate laundry room, the sliding wall between bedrooms, the all brick fireplace and the carefully planned storage space also have been popular features.

The landscaping is completed in the front yards, so that the streets have an attractive look as soon as people move in. Orange trees are on most of the custom-styled lots, and the eucalyptus trees bordering the tract also were saved.

Two furnished models are located on Brookhurst St., at the corner of Katella Ave. in Garden Grove, just 20 minutes from Long Beach.

OPENING TODAY

Shake roofs sweep low and wide on the new Enchanted Park homes having their grand opening today in Buena Park. Illustrated is one of the three-bedroom, two-bath and powder room models located at Knott and Crescent Aves. Enchanted Park homes are available to veterans at $15,300 to $15,500 on low VA terms.

Enchanted Park Grand Opening Set for Today in Buena Park

"Enchanted Park," new God-new homes are highlighted by "clipped" ceilings and window heavy shake roofs, wide overhanging eaves, great sweeping used brick fireplace exteriors and sparkling diamond-lite windows.

Big brother to the original widely acclaimed "Enchanted Homes" creation, the new development is reportedly even more highly individualized with a wide variety of unusual exteriors and increased use of custom-building techniques indoors.

The new "Enchanted Park" homes are presently available to veterans at $15,300 to $15,500 on low VA terms, according to Pioneer Land Co., sales agents.

The striking exteriors of the

INSIDE, the new homes have dropped ceilings to emphasize the intimate atmosphere. Fine wallpaper and handrubbed wood panels blend with delicate turned-wood posts, occasional window seats, and wide-spreading used brick hearth.

Special facilities include the completely separate powder room with its own shower, make-up table and wall-to-wall mirror. There are also 2 full baths and 3 spacious bedrooms, many with

Each of the new homes boasts an "Enchanted Kitchen" with built-in gas oven and counter-top range, garbage disposer, ceramic tile throughout, and natural birch cabinets in quantity.

To one side of the kitchen is a separate porch and laundry area. Adjacent to the kitchen is a wide breakfast bar which opens on the round-the-clock family room.

SOME CHOICE HOMES LEFT

Because of credit rejects, a few special homes with nothing choice Buena Berry Park homes down, except moderate costs have again been made available and imposts, and with low to the public, Don Coleman, sales monthly payments that include both principal and interest. Monthly terms for all Buena Berry Park homes start at only $58.92 for veterans.

THIS VETERAN IS SORRY!

He qualified for a $14,025 house, so he bought it. Now he realizes an Award Home at $12,025 would have given him just as much. He had to move into his new home with his dingy old furniture. That $2,000 meant "No furniture!" His monthly payments are so high that his budget is straining at the seams. No fun for his family!

THIS VETERAN IS HAPPY!

He could have qualified for a $14,025 home, but he chose an Award Home for only $12,025. Now he finds that the size, construction, and luxury are at least equal to costlier houses. With the $2,000 he saved, he bought new furniture. His monthly payments are less than rent for his new Award Home—only $61.93. Plenty of money left over to enjoy life!

Merryville Estates Provide Buyers Wide Choice of Homes

Last week's new Merryville Estates preview showing in Buena Park presented a "buyers' paradise" because of their vast selections. Prospective buyers saw 8 furnished models . . . 19 different exteriors. Even the most discriminating of "lookers" found a home exceeding their expectations, salesmen say. These new 3 and 4-bedroom homes with 2 baths are as practical as they are beautiful, the builder says.

J. Paul Langford, advertising director of Merryville Estates, points out: "These new homes in Buena Park are the latest concept in home planning. They present royalty in design, construction and planning. They are priced with the average home owner in mind." Terms for vets are no money down and low monthly payments/priced from $15,195 to $18,600. Non-vet terms are $2,500 down of $77.61 principal and interest. Merryville Estates homes are $94.22 per month principal and interest. Offering great value to buyers, the homes are in the Southland's fastest growing area. Their oversized lots consist of better than 7,200 square feet of livable outdoors.

BUILT BY TOBIN
Merryville Estates in Buena Park offers homes such as this, built by Herbert Tobin. A wide range of selections is available, priced from $15,195.

From Los Angeles take the Santa Ana Freeway to Grand (Highway 39), right to Lincoln—right to models. From the Long Beach area it is suggested you follow Lincoln or Carson east to Buena Park . . . then look for the signs of the Beautiful Queen—she points the way to Merryville.

Herbert Tobin of the Tobin Companies has stated "prior to the building of Merryville Estates, surveys were made to determine the features most wanted by home owners in Southern California. We have complied with these wishes in the 3 basic steps of home building, planning, construction, design."

"For example, floor plan arrangements offer two places to eat—kitchen and dining room . . . bedrooms are away from the noisy area of the home."

ATTRACTIVE KITCHEN
Spacious cabinets and all-electric appliances, featuring a built-in oven and range, win the enthusiastic approval of women visiting the Royal Palms model apartment at First and Atlantic Ave. All appliances are included with every kitchen in the 12-story Royal Palms, which will be mutually-owned by its residents.

Kitchens Appeal in Royal Palms

Color and convenience are key-notes of the fully equipped kitchens attracting enthusiastic attention at the Royal Palms model apartment now open at First and Atlantic Ave.

For cleanliness, safety and freedom from fumes, the Royal Palms kitchens are all-electric, featuring a built-in oven and range, with a ventilating exhaust fan to carry away cooking odors. Ovens are at a raised level to eliminate stooping and lifting, and all controls are conveniently placed.

An electric refrigerator and garbage disposal are also included in every Royal Palms kitchen without extra cost. The monthly charge paid by the owner-residents covers normal repair and replacement of appliances, in addition to principal and interest, taxes, utilities, operating expenses, etc.

"THE MODERN DESIGN of the kitchen, and the quality appliances that are included have made a big hit with all the visitors to the model apartment, and they have been an important consideration in the rapid rate of sales," reports E. T. Moore, of Moore Realty, sales agent for the Royal Palms.

"Women are quick to recognize that this kitchen is designed to give them the ultimate in convenience and efficiency, to save work and to provide a gay and colorful setting that helps make time spent in the kitchen more pleasant."

Organized on a mutual-owner-ship plan to be owned and controlled by its residents, the Royal Palms will contain 164 de luxe 1 and 2-bedroom apartments in a 12-story tower to be built at First and Atlantic, one block from the ocean. Main floor facilities will feature a heated swimming pool, patio with deck and spacious social lounge.

Numerous teachers and other professional men and women are included among those who have already reserved apartments, according to Moore. For those who are away from the city for long vacations, the Royal Palms management will offer a sub-letting service whereby apartments can be rented to selected visitors to produce a substantial income for the owners.

Royal Palms apartments can be purchased on an F.H.A. payment plan, or for all cash. Sponsors of the Royal Palms are Dr. H. L. Buffum and family; P. I. Wilsey and affiliated companies are the general contractors.

Air of Hominess Prevails in Lincoln Park's Houses

All the modern features of expert planning and latest conveniences have been masterfully combined with a gracious air of hominess in the homes now offered by Centex Construction Co., the nation's largest residential builder, in their latest development located in the city limits of Anaheim.

Typically expressive of the quality of workmanship and value available in Lincoln Park is the Grant, one of 5 furnished models now open daily from 10 till 9.

A spacious 20-foot kitchen-dining area features a built-in barbecue oven in a wall of used brick, a snack-bar divider, antique-copper built-in oven and counter-top ranges, double sinks with garbage disposal, molded counter tops with matching panel on the wall behind the range.

The ceiling is dropped over the natural ash cabinets and built-in china closet, eliminating the dust catcher space over cabinets. Antique copper hardwood adds an additional note of warmth to the natural wood finish, and lends a cozy early-American air. Just off the kitchen is a huge separate utility room, 12 feet by 7, and providing plenty of space for washer, dryer, built-in laundry tray, and broom closet; outlets are installed for all appliances.

In the other bath, a tiled wall provides a shower space over the tub, and a wall of tiled pullman cabinets houses the colored basin, topped by twin medicine chests flanking a large center mirror.

OAK HARDWOOD floors over 2x6 tongue and grooved subflooring add both beauty and well-built quality to the rest of the house. Lath and plaster walls throughout, plus ceiling insulation, provide truer heat control

SLIDING GLASS walls in the rear living room open onto a large patio and back yard completely enclosed by a diamond-topped redwood fence, which are included in the purchase price, as are the complete front, side, and rear lawns, trees, and shrubs.

Inside the 21-foot living room, outstanding appointments include the floor-to-ceiling fireplace of used brick, and the wall of built-in cabinets and bookcases, all done in natural ash.

On the other side of the house, which can be completely separated from the kitchen-dining-living area, are the bedrooms, den, and two baths. The large master bedroom suite

ON BUDGET TERMS

Terms to fit family budgets for both vets and non-vets are reported boosting sales at Homestead Gardens, residential community of three-bedroom, two-bath homes, typified above, which are rising in Garden Grove on Verano St., just north of Westminster Ave.

Homestead Gardens Terms Are Favored

Vets' terms of no cash down but costs and impounds and non-vets' terms under FHIA, with less than 10 per cent needed for the down payment, are expected to bring an early sellout of remaining 3- and 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes at Homestead Gardens, on Verano St., just north of Westminster Ave., in Garden Grove.

This forecast was given yesterday by Walker & Lee, Inc., sales agents for the community, whose model homes display has furnishings by Anron Schultz of Long Beach and Anaheim. Large crowds were reported at the exhibit, which is open daily from 10 a. m. Immediate occupancy after escrow is available.

"Buyers are enthusiastic," a spokesman said, "about the large 7,200-square-foot lots, thermostat-controlled heating, big wardrobe closets, steel casement windows, fibre glass insulation, acoustic ceilings, lath and plaster walls, stall showers with large glass doors and big garages with abundant storage space.

"IN ADDITION, features high on the favored list with visitors include Waste-King garbage pulverizers, wide driveways, weather-stripped doors, 40 and 50-gallon automatic gas water heaters, modern exteriors with redwood accents, rock roofs in many colors, gutters and downspouts, wide overhangs, and in some models, Modernfold doors."

Spokesmen declared also that buyers have expressed widespread approval of the convenient Garden Grove location, just off the Santa Ana freeway from downtown Los Angeles, yet possessing a wealth of suburban advantages and proximity to the beaches and other recreational spots.

"Investment-wise, these Homestead Gardens homes are outstanding," an official said, "because they are rising in the midst of the greatest growth in the Southland."

Vets Urged to Act on No-Down Terms

G.I.'s are advised to be wise and buy their home at once, according to Sales Agent Don Coleman.

Coleman emphasized that G.I. loans must be completed by expiration date July 25, 1957.

"The lengthy processing time required for VA loans makes December the latest practical date for application, unless the law is extended," says Coleman.

"At Excelsior Village you can still make it on the no cash down offer to veterans.

and near the shopping centers and beaches."

The No Cash Down also means that qualified veterans can move in immediately, and begin to enjoy that indoor-outdoor California living featured in the homes. Here you will find such looked-for qualities as the built-in range and ovens, washer-dryers, and fire-alarm systems. Added features that the smart home-maker looks for are the 7 flush-door walk-in closets, the lifetime aluminum windows, the glass enclosed showers, and the forced-air heating systems.

To reach Excelsior Village from Garden Grove Blvd. (7th St.) turn right on Brookhurst Ave. and drive to the corner of Westminster and the model homes.

Los Altos 18th Unit Terms Low to Vets

Efficient use of space in the reported by Los Altos Realty, 3-bedroom, 2-bath homes of Los Altos Realty, Inc., sales agents. The problem of adequate storage space, always of concern to the homemaker, has been solved in the 18th Unit homes through installation of spacious ceiling height closets, large linen storage and generous kitchen cabinets of wood.

EASILY REACHED by driving east on 7th St. to Studebaker Rd. and then north to Anaheim Rd., the homes are being offered for the first time to veterans on low down terms and low monthly payments. In all, 103 of the former rental homes are being placed on the market.

Prospective home owners may select from a variety of exterior elevations and interior floor plans. In addition, buyers have the opportunity to choose from a varied number of lot locations. The different plans may be seen at the model home which is located on the corner of Anaheim and Studebaker Rd. It is open daily between 10 a.m. and 8 p.m.

As part of the developed community of Los Altos, the 18th Unit homes are within the city of Long Beach and enjoy the many benefits of municipal service. The development has paved streets, concrete sidewalks, street lights, sewers and other improvements.

Among the "plus features" of the dwellings are step-saver kitchen with In-Sink-Erator disposal, central hall plans, ceramic tile showers and extra wide roof overhang.

The residences are landscaped with front and rear yards planted and most of the spacious lots are fenced.

New Liberal Terms in Havenwood Home

Havenwood Homes announced 500 with only 8 models in the higher price bracket. All are 3 bedrooms with 1 1/2 or 2 baths. Features include hardwood floors, natural finish mahogany kitchen cabinets, Payne forced air heating units, disposal and exhaust fans, extensive use of ceramic tile to a full head height of shower area of tubs. "Pop" will like the extra work space in the oversized 20x20 garages. Some models have rear living areas with sliding walls of glass.

Hauge said: "The tract is right in the heart of Garden Grove; schools and shopping are within walking distance. The best way to reach the tract is to drive east on 7th St. to the center of Garden Grove, watch for the Garden Grove water tower and then turn right on Century Blvd. to look". Styles range from modern to provincials. Bob Hauge, sales manager, states that "prices start at $12,250 and end at $12,500."

ONLY FIVE PONTY-ANAHEIM HOMES REMAIN TO BE SOLD

Special terms to vets at Ponty-Anaheim, new community of 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes in Anaheim, which permit buyers to move in immediately for only $20, has resulted in a virtual sell-out. It was reported yesterday by builder George Ponty.

"We have only 5 homes left at Ponty-Anaheim, but our special offer still stands," Ponty said.

The new homes, which are located on Ball Rd., between Agate and Nutwood Aves., are also available to non-vets on special terms "while they last," Ponty stated.

Designed by AIA Architect Gilbert L. Leong, the big 4-bedroom homes contain 1,394 square feet of living space and have such added features as custom-designed brick fireplaces, built-in Western Holly gas ranges and ovens with hoods and fans, Whirlpool automatic clothes dryers, superaminc tile worktops, natural ash cabinets, 75,000 BTU thermostat-controlled forced-air heating, wall-of-glass picture windows, double French doors, paved patios, fenced backyards and complete landscaping.

Salt in the Suds

In a salt mine 1,130 feet beneath Detroit, drills often tap soapy looking water that has been there an estimated 300 million years.

Low Terms Offered on Remaining Homes

Both veterans and non-vets may still purchase a striking Enchanted Home in Garden Grove. Pioneer Land Company, sales agents, said.

The remaining homes in unit 2, consisting of a few in each model and elevation, are available from $15,200 to $15,400 with low down payments on both VA and FHA terms, the agents added.

Built in a unique "south-of-France" style, the Enchanted Homes have warmly individual exteriors. Outstanding are the heavy shake roofs, wood paneling and brick planters which blend the artfully-designed homes with the California countryside. Exceptionally cool in summer, they have wide sun-sheltering eaves and sparkling diamond-light windows.

INSIDE EACH Enchanted Home are such welcome features as 3 unusually large bedrooms, 2 big bathrooms, and a completely separate powder room with its own shower, wide, wide mirror and charming make-up table.

In the Enchanted Kitchen are fine built-in range and oven, lifetime formica-topped work surfaces, efficient garbage disposer and many natural birch cabinets.

Antique brick forms a high and wide fireplace with commodious hearth; and an attractive and durable family room provides a work and play center for the entire household at all hours.

from Los Angeles, take Santa Ana Freeway to Hwy. 39 in mid- to Stanton, turn left to Orange-Buena Park. Turn right on Or-ange-wood and right to the furnished angewood, then left to models.

Vets Need No Down on Big Award Home

Excellent selection of large, wide lots, preferred location, home exteriors and floor plans is still available at Award Homes, Golden West St. and Garden Grove Blvd., it was announced by the builders, a Volk-McLain Co.

"Our terms of no down payment to veterans, in the face of generally tight home credit, have created a buying rush, with Award Homes sales exceeding $5 million dollars," stated Kenneth O. Volk and Robert McLain. "Veterans can still easily find the Award Home that best suits their family's needs. Prompt action is advised, however, as we expect to sell out shortly, and these are the last of the final unit of Award Homes available to veterans with no down payment."

These Award Homes de luxe series, for veterans, are sold on GI financing terms of no-down payment and monthly payments of sixty-one dollars and ninety-three cents. Full price of $12,025 is set for the new 3-bedroom and

FOR VETERANS ONLY

Award Homes de luxe series, for vets, announce homes in final unit are now selling out on no-down-payment terms at Golden West St. and Garden Grove Blvd. Monthly payment is $61.93 on a three-bedroom and den home with two baths and two-car garage.

den Award Homes. All have 2 baths and 2-car garages.

SEVEN FURNISHED MODEL homes are open daily till 9 p. m. Patios, exteriors, and back yards of model homes are flood-lighted for after-dark viewing.

Veterans from Long Beach should take 7th St., which becomes Garden Grove Blvd., east to Golden West St., then south to Award Homes. This is half-way between Long Beach and Santa Ana, is located near beaches, parks, schools, and churches, and is convenient to super-markets and shopping centers in adjoining Garden Grove. Buses go to downtown Los Angeles and nearby Lakewood Village. It is on the route of the proposed Santa Ana-Long Beach Freeway. Architect Edward H. Fleckett has created fourteen new exterior designs in a variety of California ranch-modern designs. He has also done the site planning, placing Award Homes to produce interesting streets. Seven different floor plans are offered. Fleckett and Volk-McLain are joint winners of the National Award of Merit of the National Association of Home Builders for "outstanding residential planning and design."

A built-in combination radio and inter-communication system is a feature of Award Homes. From a master panel in the kitchen, the homemaker can carry on a 2-way conversation with people in four different areas, indoors and outdoors. Award Homes are set on extra-large, wide lots, with a minimum size of 7,200 square feet. Colorful Bermuda roofs have wide eaves and overhang, and are topped with white, red, green, or pink crushed rock. Curved drives provide generous off-street parking. Garages feature rustic redwood overhead doors and storage space.

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—When Hilda Bjork of Sweden arrived by plane from New York she spent $5 in cab fare trying to locate her brother, John. She couldn't understand what the trouble was until she consulted airline officials, who learned John lived in South Bend, Wash.

4-Bedrooms Only $10,750

Warning veterans that the time is running out for them to use their GI home purchase rights, Marlon Thomas, sales manager for Hazelwood Freedom Homes Saturday stressed the low price on a large home offered in the tract.

Located just east of the Long Beach city limits on 7th St., the homes have 4 bedrooms and 2 baths and the full price is $10,750.

Veterans who have a gross income of $310 a month may move into a Hazelwood Home without down payment, Miss Thomas added. Monthly payments are $54.94, principal and interest.

The master bedroom is really a master in the homes, each 15% by 12 feet. Of lath and plaster construction, the homes have Rockwool insulation.

Located near schools and shopping centers, the homes may be reached by driving out 7th St. 3 miles beyond the San Gabriel River. Model homes have been furnished by Aaron Schultz.

Doe Kidnaps Calf, Drives Dog Away

MONEY CREEK, Minn. (AP)—Kermit Hanson, searching his pasture for a newborn calf which had failed to come to the farmyard with its mother, found the calf had been kidnapped—or adopted—by a doe.

The deer refused to leave the calf, and drove off Hanson's dog. The farmer chased the deer away and took the calf to the barn for safe keeping.

IN CANDY STICK

Candy Stick Lane Estates, development of three-bedroom, two-bath homes, typified above, is rising in an attractive location at 11791 Medina Dr., Garden Grove, just off the fast Santa Ana Freeway.

Non-Vets Buying on $195 Down

Introduction of the "lowest non-vet terms in Garden Grove" has greatly stimulated sales at Candy Stick Lane Estates, new home community at 11791 Medina Dr., it was reported yesterday by the builders.

"Non-vets can now move into a 3-bedroom, 2-bath home at Candy Stick Lane Estates for only $195 down," a spokesman explained, "while vets are still offered terms of nothing down, except costs and payments with low monthly payments."

Located in the center of a built-up luxury area where many homes are valued at $30,000 and more, he pointed out, the Candy Stick residences are being sold for only $12,875 and have such features as planter-view fireplaces, hardwood floors, 68-foot lots, covered patios, huge sliding glass doors, formal-topped kitchen work areas, separate service porches, copperized range hoods with fans, garbage disposers, steel wardrobe doors, large lighted closets and spacious breakfast nooks.

ALSO STIMULATING sales, it was reported, is ease of qualification for both vets and non-vets and the offer of immediate occupancy on some homes.

"In figuring non-vet eligibility for home ownership, at Candy Stick Lane, we are also taking into consideration the incomes earned by wives," it was explained.

Visitors from Long Beach are directed to follow 7th St., which becomes Garden Grove Blvd., to Euclid Ave. in Garden Grove. Euclid is then taken north to Chapman Ave. where a left turn leads to Medina Dr. Just four short blocks west of Euclid. The new homes are on Medina Dr. a half block north of Chapman Ave.

Junk Man Finds Pennies in Scales

CHICKASAW, Okla. (AP)—Mrs. C. W. Harrell is going to double check from now on when she gives away anything to the junk man.

She discarded an old set of scales from her place of business. Several days later the hauler reported he examined the old scales and took out 236 pennies. The scales had been out in back of her store for eight years.

IN CENTURY PARK

Grand opening of Century Park at Lampson and Magnolia, Garden Grove, was highlighted by the exhibit of three and four-bedroom, two-bath models featuring lath and plaster, hardwood strip floors, traditional stylings and a host of ultra-modern conveniences. Both VA and FHA terms are available. This is one of the models shown at the opening last weekend.

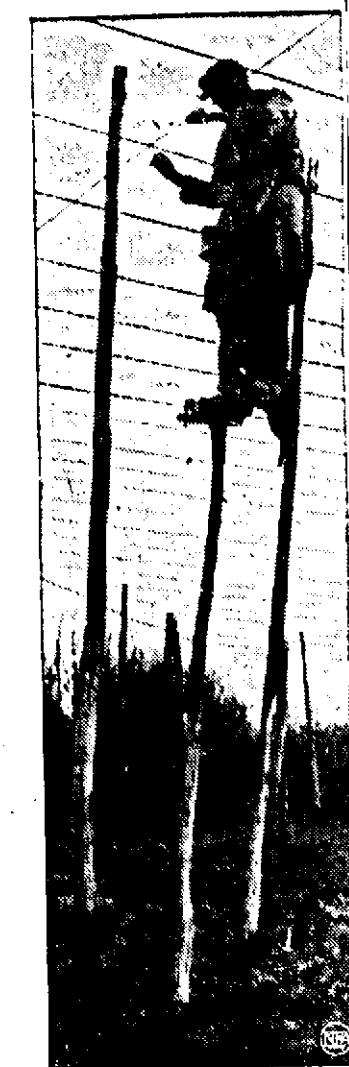

Century Park Opens Home Sales Today

Enthusiastic interest already has been shown in the model homes at Century Park, prior to today's grand opening, and a quick sell-out of Aristocrat Homes' development of 3 and 4 bedroom, two bath homes at Lampson and Magnolia, in Garden Grove is expected.

Aristocrat Homes offer spacious, luxury-loaded houses to vets on terms of nothing down but costs and imposts. Non-vets, it was noted, may buy on FICA 30-year loans.

Compelling attraction with home seekers who have made advance reservations at Century Park is the fact that these houses are of traditional design, and conventional construction. Hardwood strip floors and genuine lath and plaster are used throughout. Exterior trims include Dutch and Colonial shutters, pot shelves, sliding details, architectural glass panels to lend charm to outside appearance and extra illumination to front entry halls.

The Aristocrat Homes spokesman explained: "Since we consider a home the most important investment the average man will make in his entire lifetime, we have avoided

Aldon Has Virtual City in Buena Plaza

Opportunity of viewing 9 model homes in one location, including both 3 and 4-bedroom stylings, all with 3 baths, has greatly increased crowds at Aldon's Buena Plaza in Buena Park. It was reported yesterday by company officials.

Total sales are now nearing the 2,000-home mark and families are moving in daily as the focus of attention is concentrated on Buena Plaza's final unit and completion of the $50 million, 2,100-home community, a spokesman reported.

"We are now in the final stage

ALDON'S 1956 SERIES

Shown is one of the many new three and four-bedroom homes, all with two complete baths, making up the 1956 "Triumph Series" now on display at Buena Plaza, near Knott's Berry Farm, on La Palma Ave. east of Miller St., Buena Park.

Three factors are responsible for continued heavy sales at Buena Plaza, according to E. "Billy" Hamburg, general sales agent. "First, today's buyers want the built-in integrity they associate with the Aldon name," he said. "Next, they want the indoor-outdoor living, the freedom of movement, the countless luxury conveniences and the easy homelike floor plans built into the homes at Buena Plaza."

Finally, they want such Aldon features as the built-in Western lily gas ranges and ovens in attractive colors, the range hoods, the custom-designed floor-to-ceiling fireplaces. All of the homes at Buena Plaza, it was noted, have big two-car garages, large service areas.

Continue Special Offer for Orangewood Estates

Special preview showing during the past week, with vets' terms of nothing down but costs and imposts, will be continued for another 7 days at W. E. Robertson Co.'s Orangewood Estates in Fullerton, where the new second unit with built-in brick barbecue in kitchens or patios has attracted thousands of visitors.

Some of the new models have this feature in their kitchens, side by side to modern features as built-in gas ranges and ovens, deep double-deck sink with dish sprays and covered one-piece countertop. Others have the built-in barbecues outside the living rooms in the paved and flood-lighted patio areas.

The new homes, all designed by architect Max Maltzman, are currently displayed at Orangewood Estates' Fireside Series in Fullerton. Boosting sales are attractive terms for both vets and non-vets. Non-vets pay only $995 down on conventional terms. FICA terms are available, also.

AMONG THE MANY features shown in a display of eight model homes at the new community are the combination breakfast buffet-bars between dining-living areas and kitchens in many of the models. On two levels, they are useful for formal dining service or breakfast and snack purposes.

The model home display is on

Jail Burglarized From 'Outside'

Families who tired of bucking crowded streets, contending with smog and whose families outgrew their homes, have finally found the answer—in Katella Park! They've found, that Katella Park homes are designed for a lifetime of living. In a well planned community of fine homes...on custom sized lots and gracefully curving, tree-lined streets...quiet and secluded...yet conveniently close to schools and shopping.

Here, years ahead planning, created homes with "flexibility"—where one room can be converted into two—and back again—in minutes.

Homes where kitchens are a delight—spacious and bright, with built-in color-matched appliances...with hoods over a built-in range...with the refrigerator, oven and dishwasher out of the way and saving floor space for such popular "extras" as a breakfast bar.

Indeed the entire surrounding vicinity, with its wide streets, through highways and adjacent freeways, is the most well planned section of greater Los Angeles—confirmed by Disney's million dollar survey to determine the most easily accessible locality to and from all areas.

Bring the family to Katella Park this weekend. If you are not too familiar with construction, bring a friend who is. Folks who know good construction and design are our biggest boosters!

This is the year for "Operation Deepfreeze" conducted by the U. S. Navy in cooperation with the International Geophysical Year so today we get Part II of "Antarctic: Third World" for a full hour on (4) at 1 p.m. Films taken in the South Polar region showing how the camps were set up by the Byrd expedition this year will be narrated by Bill Hargrave, cameraman who took the color films, and the introductory remarks will be made by Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd.

AT 8 P.M.—Kato Smith makes her third appearance on "The Ed Sullivan Show" over (2) and is accompanied by Marlon Marlowe, Senor Venues, comedian Dick Shawn, David Whitfield, the acrobatic Hasleva and winners in the recent annual Harvest Moon Dance Contest... Competition on (4) "Comedy Hour" will be Vivian Blaine as hostess, Ben Hise, Florence Halop, Walter O'Keefe, Paul Moore, Ben Lewy and Alan Mowbray.

DRAMA—Jessica Tandy and hubby Hume Cronyn will star in a turn-of-the-century comedy on the "Alcoa Hour" at 9 p.m. on (4). There's a Runyonesque flavor to this story of a confidence man whose attempts never quite succeed and of the spinster who gives him the alternative of finding her a husband or going to jail... Joe E. Brown heads the cast on "G.E. Theater" as the town inebriate who tells tall tales of his railroading and baseball playing. The year is 1912 and telegraphy comes to town to bring the play-by-play of the World Series and Joe is picked by the telegrapher to call the game. He is raised to a new high esteem until the very end when he refuses to divulge the score on (2) at 9 p.m. John Nesbitt's story of the San Francisco derelict who proclaimed himself emperor of the United States will be offered on "Telephone Time" at 6 p.m. on (2). Edgar Steigl stars as the man who "reigned" in the bay city from 1850 to 1880... A woman of plain appearance who has accepted her husband's affairs with other women without complaint suddenly finds her life changed by a handsome prince. Further change comes when the prince is found killed in his sports car leaving a strange bequest on "Alfred Hitchcock Presents" on (2) at 9:30 p.m. Jacques Bergerac, Leora Dana and Alan Hewitt star.

QUESTING—The election outlook for 1956 will be discussed on the "American Forum" at 2 p.m. on (4) by the chairmen of the Democratic and Republican National committees, Paul M. Butler and Leonard W. Hall... Once again Dorothy Kilgallen finds herself the only regular panelist on "What's My Line" at 7:30 p.m. on (2) but she gets an assist from Eamon Andrews, moderator of the British version.

India Guarding Against Inflation
NEW DELHI, India (U)—India is on guard against inflation. Government figures show the wholesale price index was 391.2 last month against 345.5 in April 1955. (The year ended August 1955 is taken as the base of 100). The government hopes to bring food prices down by releasing emergency grain supplies and opening "fair price" food markets in many areas.

Yachting, Music Give Diversity to Social Scene

RARELY does the Benjamin L. Rolfe family cluster about the grand piano in their Long Beach home. Use of the instrument is left mostly to Mrs. Rolfe, known professionally as Yaltah Menuhin.

Rolfes moved from West Los Angeles to Long Beach in January. Their sons are Robbie, 8, and Lionel, 13.—(Staff photo by John Neagie.)

Career, Home Happily Join Hands in Life of Yaltah Menuhin Rolfe

By JEAN B. MOORE

This afternoon a slender woman with frank eyes and a quick smile will seat herself at the grand piano in Municipal Art Center. Her diminutive height belies the power in her fingers. Her animated face may grow thoughtful as the Menuhin Ensemble closes the current concert season at the Center.

The gifted pianist is Yaltah Menuhin, known on three continents as a concert artist and chamber music player. She now adds new resident in Long Beach to her list of titles.

Distinguished musicians assembling with her at 4 o'clock for the program will be Dorothy Wade, violin; William Van Den Burg, cello; and Richard Polkar, clarinet. They will introduce several works new to Long Beach, including Sonata by Castelnuovo-Tedesco, given its world premiere recently by Mr. Pickar; Bartok's Contrasts for violin, clarinet and piano, and a Ravel Trio for violin, cello and piano. There is no admission charge to the concert.

In private life the vivacious sister of famed violinist Yehudi Menuhin is Mrs. Benjamin L. Rolfe and a devoted mother to two sons, Lionel, 13, and Robbie, 8.

A commuting problem brought the Rolfe to Long Beach from West Los Angeles.

As a referee or judicial officer with the Industrial Accident Commission of California, Benjamin Rolfe had offices in the Jergins Trust Bldg. A year of back-and-forth convinced him a lot of time was being wasted fighting traffic, time that could be more profitably and pleasantly spent learning to play the lute, oil painting or writing verses.

So in January the Rolfe moved into a pleasant Spanish home at 4441 E. Broadway. Impressively framed in the immense front picture window is Yaltah's piano which willingly yields to her touch every morning. Every morning but Tuesday, that is. "That's the day I go to Santa Ana to watch my husband perform," she says. "A musician's life is really a lonely one," she explains further. "It's fascinating to see the outside world. That is why I enjoy listening to the hearings."

Constant companion to the artist since she was three has been the piano. From San Francisco her parents took her, her brother and sister to Europe.

Between music lessons in France, Italy and Switzerland the three youngsters were privately tutored by their parents and instructors.

Yaltah has limited her concertizing now to California. Three months in Europe, without her family and with mumps in Scandinavia, convinced her on her last tour in 1932 that home and hearth scored first place in her heart. Already the entrenching has begun. Although not interested in becoming a "joiner," she became an associate member last week of the Long Beach State College chapter of Phi Beta, national professional fraternity of music and speech.

The Rolfe cherish home life. Hours once spent commuting give slow talking Ben added time with his sons. Lionel is in the eighth grade at Rogers Junior High School, while Robbie is a third-grader at Lowell and a piano student.

Some time ago Benjamin decided to try playing the lute. It looked easy. He found out it wasn't, but has kept plugging away, teaching himself to play 15th to 17th Century music. In their home hang oils of Yaltah and the boys, painted by Ben, as well as excellently composed photographs of musical still life. His color photography has won him ribbons in lawyer's avocation contests.

Yaltah is first to praise his prowess in the kitchen. "He cooks divinely," she enthuses. "Why, do you know what happened last Christmas? His mother, who is a simply supreme cook herself, actually asked him for his recipe for turkey stuffing!"

LONG BEACH 12, CALIF., SUNDAY, MAY 27, 1956 SECTION W

TO THE VICTOR

In anticipation of Alamitos Bay Yacht Club's annual Memorial Day Regatta Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday, Commodore Gordon M. Dougherty and Mrs. Dougherty display a club trophy. The Doughertys plan to be on deck to meet members as they arrive for buffet dinner Saturday evening. Hundreds of sailors and sailorettes will participate in the three-day event.

Regatta Will Open Yacht Club Season

Opening its official racing season, Alamitos Bay Yacht Club's annual Memorial Day Regatta will be divided into two parts this year with two races on Memorial Day, Wednesday, May 30; two on Saturday, June 2, and one on Sunday, June 3, with time out for a gala buffet dinner Saturday evening.

Commodore Gordon M. Dougherty and Mrs. Dougherty and Vice Commodore Sidney T. Exley Jr. and Mrs. Exley will be on deck prior to the dinner to greet members and their guests.

Reservations and dinner arrangements will be handled by Harry G. Wood, entertainment chairman, while Mrs. Wood, decoration chairman, and Mrs. Grace Hurt will use red and blue candles and streamers on tables covered in white for a patriotic decor. Assisting in serving the dinner will be Mmes. James P. Neukirk and Sherman Pruitt.

Mrs. Lyman H. Algure and Mrs. Lewis F. Seapy, co-chairmen, will have a score of distaff members of the various fleets to man the galley with them during the Regatta.

Robert B. Hoffman, chairman, and Miss Frances Dixon, vice chairman of the race committee, will be on duty with their crew of able assistants, Mmes. Hoffman, Hurt, Frank Preissler and Mr. Lyman H. Algure.

Among the Regatta participants will be the "Crewing Commodores," so dubbed during the recent Ensenada yacht races, when Llewellyn Bixby Jr., Sidney T. Exley Jr., George A. Hart Jr. and Richard Russell Jr. crewed on

Commodore Dougherty's sloop, Rampant. All have served two or more tours of duty as commodores.

Officers and standing committee chairmen who are working for a successful Regatta are Commodore Gordon M. Dougherty; Vice Commodore Sidney T. Exley Jr.; Senior Rear Commodore Harry G. Wood; Junior Rear Commodore Charles Weber; secretary, Loyd Landes; treasurer, John A. Graye; port captain, Llewellyn Bixby Jr.; fleet surgeon, Dr. Fred Kellogg; house, William A. Siegrist; galley, Mrs. Lyman H. Algure and Mrs. Lewis F. Seapy; building, Arthur F. Glasier; moorings and grounds, Ted C. Matson; race, Robert B. Hoffman; protest, Richard Russell; legal-finance, George A. Hart Jr.; entertainment, Harry G. Wood; publicity, Mrs. Gilbert Wagner; roster, Duncan McIntosh; Sou'wester, Wills Weber; trophy, Valle G. Young; club historian, Mrs. Sidney T. Exley, and membership, Jack Reid.

Fraternity Tea Today

Members of the recently organized Long Beach Alumni Association of Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity and their wives will be entertained at a tea today at the home of Dr. and Mrs. David L. Bryant in Park Estates. Special guests will be members of Beta Psi campus chapter, which was installed at Long Beach State College on March 17, the fraternity's 50th anniversary.

Presiding at the tea tables will be Mrs. Beach Vasey and Mrs. Charles W. McCandless. Assisting the hostess will be the Mmes. Francis J. Flynn, Clarence R. Bergland, David N. Vazquez, John W. Cleveland, Wayne W. Young, and Vito N. Romans.

Officers of the local alumni association are Dr. Bryant, president, and Clarence R. Bergland, secretary. Board of governors for the campus chapter includes fraternity alumni Judge Beach Vasey, chairman; Dr. Bryant, and Rev. Alnsley M. Carlton; with James Dutch, president of Beta Psi chapter. Dr. Gordon H. Warner serves as faculty adviser to the campus chapter.

Realtors Wives

Board members of Realtors Wives Club met Tuesday for luncheon at the home of Mrs. Arthur Maspero, 700 Cartagena. Guest speaker Mrs. Don Davis reported on the various philanthropic needs in Long Beach. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. J. L. Bohan.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Wood, one of Alamitos Bay Yacht Club's well-known husband and wife sailing teams, are busy with plans for a buffet dinner Saturday evening—a highlight of the annual Memorial Day Regatta which opens on Wednesday. Wood, entertainment chairman, is handling dinner arrangements and reservations, while Mrs. Wood will be in charge of decorations.

It's Later Than You Think

By ILKA CHASE

The dead should be more tidy. I don't expect much in this vale of tears —after bawling about in it a few years who does —but I can't think it capitious to ask the majority please to consider the plight of those who survive.

The mess that many people departing this life leave behind them for others to peep on reminds one of a pampered debutante stepping out of her shoes and ball gown and leaving them in a heap on the floor.

Granted, as one advances in years or falls in health, it is prudent to give thought to the world beyond. Concern with matters spiritual can bring comfort both to the living and the moribund, but it's nice if those outward bound can also develop a sense of responsibility. A little realism doesn't hurt either.

Recently finding myself in the position of a survivor touches off these somber reflections. The position I discover is not unique. Several friends have thrown up their hands, rolled their eyes heavenwards and muttered "My dear, don't talk about it. What we went through when..." It then develops that they were sorely tried by the wills, lack of same or condition of property with which they found themselves confronted upon the demise of Gertrude or Uncle Charlie or old Cousin Lucy.

A common experience seems to be the inverse ratio that prevails; the smaller the property the more involved the bequests. A fifth of the residue of the estate after payment of just debts, administration and funeral expenses and inheritance taxes to go to a second cousin once removed. The residue comes to a paltry $473. And those funeral expenses! It isn't everybody who can afford to die these days, yet the more straitened the circumstances of the ex-person the more distant the relations he has remembered, after having got along without them just fine for 50 years. And, as must inevitably follow, the more desperate the struggle of the executors to locate them.

Suspicious Rise

This takes forever and when it is done what happens? The relations who have been living in happy ignorance suddenly become suspicious. They never knew that Cousin Ed had a penny or thought about them if he had, but now they have been got in touch with by a lawyer. This is impressive. They remember an old lacquer tray that belonged to great-grandmother Cummings. Through undue influence Cousin Ed's wife got it. Now that Ida and Ed are both gone it should come back to the logical branch of the family and where is it? If the deceased has been of artistic bent matters get really chaotic. The relations who wouldn't give his pictures wall space now begin to consider them "original oils" and are the appraisers dependable? And what about clothes? The women of the family are all pretty much the same build, aren't there any valuable clothes or furs laying about? It develops there are some

End-of-Year Flurry for Clubs

As the current club year rolls into its last moments, women's groups are busy with a variety of activities, including installations of new officers, dinners and luncheons.

NLB Women's Club
Mrs. Virgil Koon was installed last week as president of North Long Beach Women's Club in a colorful ceremony at Houghton Park Clubhouse. Installing officer was Mrs. Icy Ilgh, president of Los Cerritos District, assisted by Mrs. Harry Cox. Each officer was presented with an orchid corsage centered with small musical instruments symbolic of her duties.

Installed with Mrs. Koon were the five vice presidents, Mmes. Ruel Hird, William Adams, Clifton Watson, Rawlin Abrahamson, and Martin Bonnewitz; F. E. Williams, recording secretary; H. A. Robinson, corresponding secretary; R. A. Terrell, financial secretary; Cecil Ault, treasurer; William O'Hara, chairman of standing committees, and Earl Heise, curator of departments.

Group Eight, with Mrs. Seguire as chairman, served as hostess and was assisted by members of the Junior Women's Club; Mmes. Fred Harris, retiring president, and Mrs. John Garrelis, incoming president.

Plaza Play Group
The final business meeting of Plaza Play Group took place recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ellpper, 2431 Studebaker Rd., with election of officers first on the agenda.

Chosen to lead the group during the next year were Mmes. George Underhill, chairman of mothers; Robert McCue, chairman of business; Carl Humke, secretary; Howard Tietzer, corresponding secretary, and Jack Ellpper, treasurer. Mrs. Don Hummel presided.

Movies shown by the group's teacher, Mrs. Don Stage, featured the recent group visit to Sierra Madre Community Co-operative Nursery.

Long Beach Garden Club

As their last meeting of the year, members of Long Beach Garden Club gathered for a "jitterney" potluck dinner recently in Linden Hall. After-dinner entertainment was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Boggs of Los Angeles. Mrs. Boggs, garden chairman of Los Angeles County Federation of Women's Club, gave a talk on roses, and her husband, formerly with Armstrong Nurseries, showed beautiful colored slides of roses, explaining in detail special characteristics of each rose pictured.

During the later business session, officers for the coming year were elected. They were: Mmes. R. J. Keating, president; Florence Hess, vice president; Florence Sunu, recording secretary; Lloyd Richards, corresponding secretary, and Oscar Jessing, treasurer.

Woman's Music Club

Closing events continue to dot the social calendar of Woman's Music Club, with a recent highlight being last week's meeting of the Choral Section at Chandelier Restaurant for the annual luncheon and installation of officers. Lavender and white orchids decorated the chairman's table and lavender sweetpeas were used at intervals on the U-shaped table arrangement.

Seated with Chairman Mrs. Elot O. Nelson were Mrs. Howard Leland Pfeiffer, club president; Mrs. Adolph Brodbeck, president-elect; Mrs. Don L. Gilson, curator; Mrs. Emmett Thompson, chairman-elect; Mr. and Mrs. Arne Zahl and Mrs. O. S. Lindenberger, club press representative.

The musical interlude after luncheon was presented by Mrs.

Irvin E. Meairs and included Mrs. Margaret Lewis, soprano; Mrs. Eunice McPherson, pianist, and a trio composed of Mmes. R. S. Wilkinson, Wallace B. Rodecker and Viola Peterson who sang selections from light operas.

Mrs. Pfeiffer conducted the installation, placing in office Mmes. Emmett Thompson, chairman; Opal Shattuck, vice chairman; Irvin E. Meairs, secretary, and John E. Davis, treasurer.

Story League
The May meeting of Long Beach Story League took place in the home of Mrs. Philip O'Toole, 306 La Verna, President. Mrs. H. A. Zeladorf announced that Mrs. Earl Heise had been appointed vice president of Western District of National Story League by the district president, Mrs. George Lagerquist of Tacoma.

A Store of Fashion
COR. LOCUST AT FIRST

Following devotionals by Miss Abbie Davis, program chairman Ada L. Lyon spoke on the month's subject, "Western Folklore." In keeping with the topic, Mrs. E. B. Mincery related some incidents of the life of Paul Bunyon. Mrs. Heise told an impressive Mother's Day story, "Aunt Minnie's Twelve Daffodils."

Officers for the new year were installed by Mrs. Heise in a ceremony using the four leaf clover as a symbol of luck, love, faith and hope. Installed were Rose Berry, secretary, and Miss Mimes. H. A. Zeladorf, president; Clara Pearls, treasurer.

Last Ebell Meet Slated

Blending their voices in rich music, two young artists, Sheila Gayle, lyric soprano, and Gerald Miller, baritone, will present the final program of the year for Ebell Club Monday afternoon in the clubhouse.

Both contest finalists, the musicians will be accompanied by Curtis Stearns.

Installation of the new incoming board will be a highlight of the afternoon. Mrs. Will H. Winston, president, will conduct the business meeting.

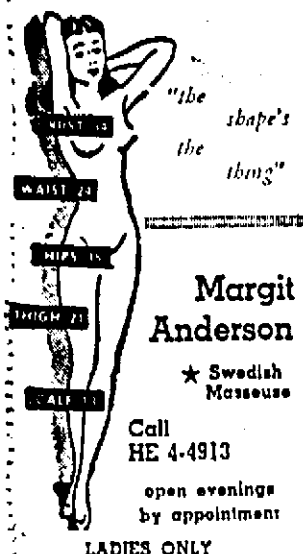

Tea, traditionally served at the last meeting before the summer holiday, will be served by members of the hospitality committee headed by Mrs. Robin L. Hindeley.

Taps, Hula on Musical Program

Madame Calhoun Studio of Dance of Paramount will present a program of "Rhythm on Parade" on the Community Program, sponsored by the Recreation Department in the Exhibit Hall, Municipal Auditorium, Monday evening at 8. Highlighting the show will be a specialty hula number by 5-year-old Rita Pratt. Feature acts will include 3-year-old Jo Ann Perry in a novelty tap; Billy Jackson, fast tap routine; Joyce Cook, Holland number; plus Russian, close tap, Indian, Spanish, boogie, soft shoe routines, exhibition ballroom and many novelty numbers.

Community singing will open the program at 7:30 p.m. led by George Griffith, local tenor, with Mrs. Madeline Frazer as accompanist.

Old time and square dancing will follow the stage program with music furnished by the Tvo Orchestra. This civic program is free to the public.

TO BE WINTER BRIDE

At a recent party for friends and relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Allan McIlree, 5618 Sunfield Ave., announced the engagement of their daughter, Alice Jean, to Edward L. Shaw Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Shaw, 2548 Quincy Ave. Both young persons are graduates of Wilson High School and attended LBCC, where she was active in Ramayana and AWS. He is with the U. S. Air Force Reserve, 452 Bombardment Wing, Long Beach. They will wed Jan. 6, 1957.

Officials to Be Feted

Matrons and patrons birthday party Monday evening of Belmont Shore Chapter, O. E. S., will honor Esther Weiner, worthy matron and George Serviss, worthy patron. The 1956 worthy matrons and worthy patrons will preside during the evening at Searchlight Temple.

Other honored guests will include Jeannette Gerech, Grand Esther; past matrons who served Grand Chapter as deputy grand matrons since 1953 in the Long Beach area; the past matrons and past patrons of 1953 and their husbands and wives.

Evelyn Frank will be in charge of the evening with Camilla Mulford and her committee serving refreshments in the dining room.

Whittier College Students Linked in Romantic News

Of interest to her many friends in the scholastic and music circles of Long Beach is news of the engagement of Willo Jean Maylen, daughter of Mrs. Vera Graham, 1415 Cedar Ave., to Robert H. Blechen, son of Mrs. Marguerite Blechen of Ealdwin Park.

The betrothal first was told with the traditional offering of chocolates to Athenian sisters of the bride-elect at Whittier College, and the offering of cigars to Franklin brothers of the bridegroom-elect at the same school.

No wedding date has been set. Miss Maylen was graduated from Polytechnic High School where she was affiliated with Phi Gamma Chi, student government, and California Scholarship Federation. She is attending Whittier College on a scholarship, and has served as social chairman of the Athenian.

Exotic Orient Intrigues Guests at Club Festivity

Long Beach branch of the American Association of University Women recently entertained more than 200 members and guests at an Oriental tea in the lovely home of Mrs. William Casselbury, 852 E. Ocean Blvd. Mrs. Arthur S. Huey, social chairman, was in charge of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. Beach Vasey and Mrs. John Butler.

Mrs. Casselbury's home, with its Chinese gardens and wide, sweeping view of the Pacific from its spacious windows, was gaily decorated for the occasion, and on the beautifully appointed tea table, in an ancient inlaid hubbuhl, was a high flower arrangement of pink peonies and large red leaves. Coffee was served from elaborate silver services, and the Chinese motif predominated in the refreshments of Oriental cookies, shredded coconut, ginger strips, cashew nuts and fresh pineapples filled with assorted fruits.

Hostesses at the tea table with Mrs. Wayne Fitzgerald, chairman, were Mmes. Frances McCall, Vaughn Abrams, Richard Loyne, Sherman Mix, Arthur Plourde, E. L. Reynard and Miss Isabel Long. Miss Hazel Collins, president of the club, had in her receiving line to welcome the guests Mmes. Parkinson Hayward, William Casselbury, Forrest E. Clark, Robert Pryor, Arthur Arnold, Ray W. Townsend, Arthur C. Leighton and the Misses Lucille Webb, Adda Middleton, Avis Middleton, N. Evelyn Davis, Elizabeth McNeal, Bernice Wilcox, Iona Potteys, Evelyn Lofland, Marian Tripeny, Doris Rumsby and Adda Anderson.

Shower for Bride-Elect

Miss Gwen Heffner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bayor, 1916 Diane Dr., Compton, was honored at a bridal shower last week given by Mrs. Wesley Pickens in her home, 1505 Ohio Ave. Miss Heffner will be married to the hostess' nephew, Eugene Pickens, June 15 at the Los Angeles Temple of the Church of Jesus Christ Latter-day Saints.

A ceramic bride and groom centered the refreshment table on which the colors white and yellow was used. Yellow and white gladioli and roses carried out the colors throughout the house. The honoree was presented with two electric appliances, a gift from the entire group, and each guest also brought individual "gadget" gifts.

Mrs. Larson to Entertain Board

Saying thank you for many an important job well done, Mrs. Albin Larson will entertain the Executive Committee of the Long Beach Council of Parents and Teachers on Tuesday, in the home of Mrs. John M. Rigby. The group will gather at 9:30 a.m. and the coffee hour will precede the regular monthly meeting, unique only in the fact that it will be the last, as a new slate of officers will take over the reins following the Council meeting on June 5.

Officers and chairman of the Council honored their retiring president at a luncheon at Silverado Park on May 25. Mrs. B. W. Neumaler, Director of Hospitality was in charge of the affair and presented Mrs. Larson with a gift from the outgoing members of the executive board.

Parents Tell of Betrothal

Mr. and Mrs. Jacques La Coste of 1149 E. Carson St. have announced the engagement of their daughter, Charlene Vern Stephens, to Donald Driver Bettencourt, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Bettencourt, Whittier.

Miss Stephens was graduated from the Academy of Our Lady of Peace in San Diego and attended Long Beach City College where she was affiliated with Tammuz Sorority. Her fiancé also attended LBCC after serving with the Marine Corps. He was a member of Thor while at City College.

No wedding date has been set. A small reception for close friends and relatives of the couple is planned as soon as the bride-elect's parents return from vacationing in Nassau.

Frank Diettes Note Anniversary

Friends and relatives gathered recently for a buffet supper in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Diette on the occasion of their 50th anniversary in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Robert Stout, 4842 Daisy Ave. Their eldest daughter, Mrs. Thomas E. McDonald of Sunnyvale, Calif., arrived in time for the festivities and remained for a short vacation.

The honored couple married in Lowell, Mass., on May 20, 1906, and have resided in Long Beach for the past 26 years.

VOICE RECITAL

Michael Cook, 14-year-old boy soprano, will be heard in a voice recital at 8 p.m. Monday at the penthouse studio of Dr. Robert W. Magin in the Villa Riviera. The public is welcome, and reservations may be made with Dr. Magin. The youthful singer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Cook, 3433 E. Fairman St., attends Bancroft Junior High School and is choir president of the First Congregational Church Boys' Choir. Of Michael's voice, Dr. Magin says, "only once in every 50 years does one hear a boy's voice with such flexibility." (Photo by Jasper Nutter.)

Toastmistress Conference to Be Weekend Highlight

Annual Southwest Regional Conference of International Toastmistress Clubs, Inc., will be in session in Long Beach at the Wilton Hotel next weekend, June 2 and 3, with all Long Beach clubs serving as hostess chapters.

Mrs. Donald McBride of South Gate, supervisor of this region, will preside. Miss Helen Cameron, Long Beach Toastmistress Chapter, is co-ordinator for the spring conference. Other local women serving in key positions for conclave arrangements are Mrs. Kenneth Weinard, housing; Margaret Braswell, hostesses; Vivian Clary, budget and controller; Mrs. M. W. Payne, reservations.

Mrs. Mark McMahon of Santa Ana, international president of ITC this year, will be an honored guest for the two-day meeting.

Delegates representing 149 clubs of the Southwest Region encompassing all of California, Arizona and Nevada as well as Hawaii, Canada and Japan will be present.

Kenny Benefit Set Tuesday

A benefit bridge-canasta luncheon is planned for Tuesday noon by the Sister Elizabeth Kenny Auxiliary in the Garden Room of Mottell's.

Mrs. Thomas E. Davis, general chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. H. C. Heidenreich. Others to serve as hostesses will be Mrs. Gale F. England, Charles E. Forbes, W. E. Harman, William S. Hull, Helen Bennett and Mrs. Louis H. Murray, president.

Mrs. Fred R. Schwarz and Mrs. Frank Ellsworth are in charge of door awards. Reservations are being handled by Mrs. Alec F. Johnson, 2824 Clark Ave., or any Auxiliary member.

Proceeds will be allocated to the Sister Kenny Memorial Hospital of Southern California. The benefit is open to members and friends interested in rehabilitation of polio and muscular dystrophy victims.

Ebell Juniors Conduct Traditional Installation

In a beautiful and impressive installation ceremony Friday at Clock Country Club, Mrs. Robert Carter assumed the president's duties for Ebell Juniors, succeeding Mrs. William Guyser.

The installation service, written expressly for Ebell Juniors by the late Mrs. Bertha Una Jones, was used for their first installation 11 years ago and has become a tradition with the club. Mrs. Arthur Bonzer officiated.

Seated with Mrs. Carter were Mrs. Robert L. Ray, Kenneth McCulloch, Roland Coltrane and Howell Gester, first, second, third and fourth vice presidents respectively; T. B. Turner Jr., recording secretary; Paul Williamson, corresponding secretary; C. J. Weide, treasurer; and J. T. Campion, financial secretary.

Large travel posters and bright brochures, model airplanes, confetti and delightful favors enhanced the colorful "Holiday" theme. Green, gold and white flower arrangements were echoed in corsages for officers and special guests. The program and decoration committees, headed by Mrs. Roland Coltrane and B. J. Quinn, were in charge of the luncheon. Musical numbers were presented by Mrs. Joseph C. Nolan, pianist and Richard Selby, baritone.

Mrs. Guyser was presented with a press book recording events of her club year and with a silver tea service, gift from the club.

August Plans

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Oliver of Bellflower have revealed the engagement of their daughter Mary Ellen to Cpl. Raymond Cox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Deb Cox of Belton, Texas. Cpl. Cox is presently attending the U. S. Marines Mechanic School at Camp Lejeune, N. C. Miss Oliver is a student at Bellflower High School. The young couple plans to be married early in August.

Registration and pre-convention festivities will begin Friday evening. Registration will continue at the Wilton Saturday morning at 8:30 a. m. to be followed by a coffee hour. Luncheon at 11:30 in the Pageant Room will feature an informal speech contest. The afternoon will be spent in workshops and there will be election of officers. Major speech contests will be conducted at the Saturday night banquet.

Early bird meetings, program and brunch and final business discussion will precede conference adjournment at 2 p. m. Sunday.

During the speech contests 10 contestants, one from each of the councils within the region, will be selected and from these a winner chosen to represent Southwest Region at Toastmistress convention in Boston in July.

Wed in Wayfarer's Chapel

Early twilight softly lighted picturesque Wayfarer's Chapel in Portuguese Bend when Patricia Arnold Huff, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Perry Huff of 3724 Lime Ave., became the bride of Sam Robert Quincey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Quincey of Ramona.

The ceremony, performed earlier this month by the Rev. Kenneth W. Knox, united two third generation Californians. Patricia is the granddaughter of Mrs. Guy L. Arnold and the late Mr. Arnold, longtime residents of Long Beach.

Layer upon layer of ice-blue nylon tulle lent a luminous sheen to the bride's Cahill gown of embroidered organza. The bouffant skirt, waltz length in front and sweeping to floor length in back, was gathered to a lowered waistline.

Embroidery outlined the Sabrina neckline, dipping low in the back, and was repeated on the skirt. Her ice-blue pleated nylon tulle veil cascaded from a motif of pearls in leaf design. Contributing its note of quaint fragility was an old-fashioned bouquet of valley lilacs and blue forget-me-nots, circled by a frill of French lace.

The bride asked Phi Mu sorority sisters at UCLA to be her attendants, and her young sister, Mary Joy Huff, to be junior bridesmaid.

Maid of honor Betty Lou Palmer, in nylon embossed white organza over yellow taffeta, and Nancy Baird and Claudette Anfinson, bridesmaids, in similar gowns over mint green, wore costumes designed with fitted waists, scoop necks and bouffant skirts with huge taffeta bows accenting the backs. The junior attendant wore white organza over yellow taffeta.

Yellow rosebuds with white lilacs entwined with ivy in a white basket were the graceful flowers carried by the maid of honor. Bridesmaids carried green baskets of white lilacs.

white stock and ivy.

The bridegroom's brother, Frank Quincey, served as best man. Guests were seated by Phillip Curti and John Williams.

The bridal party greeted guests at a reception in the home of the bride's parents before the new Mr. and Mrs. Quincey left for a short honeymoon in San Diego.

The bride, who attended elementary and junior high school in Long Beach, was graduated from Palo Alto High School and will be graduated in June from UCLA.

The bridegroom is a graduate of San Diego State College, now doing graduate work in geography at UCLA where both young persons will return in the fall for graduate study. They will summer near Quincey where he is employed in the Forestry Service.

Mrs. Sam Robert Quincey

'Hairdo a Day Possible'

Every time you glance at those photographs of models wearing a series of attractive hair styles, you've probably said to yourself, "It would be fun to wear my hair in all those hairdos, but who has the time to put up her hair each night in pin curls and the morning struggle to comb them out?"

So, it may come as a pleasant surprise to you to know that there is a comparatively new hair-care kit on the market which enables you to have a completely new hair style for every day of the month from one pin-curl setting. Equally important is its economical price, and the fact that it can be used with equal effectiveness on natural or permanent-waved hair.

The secret of it all is the Robert Curley hair styling kit which contains a shampoo, conditioner and a cleverly designed hair styler that consists of a comb flanked by two spiral nylon or natural bristle brushes which enables the user to comb, brush and polish her hair simultaneously into waves and curls.

The heart of this exciting method of hair care is the Robert Curley Hair Conditioner, which contains more lanolin than any other hair conditioner on the market. It works wonders with the most difficult hair, restores its natural beauty, and brings out waves and curls you never dreamed you had. The treatment, of course, is done very simply at home.

Etheridge Tent

Anna Etheridge Tent No. 58, Daughters of Union Veterans, will meet at 12:30 p.m. Monday at Veterans Memorial Building with Mrs. Rose Capron presiding.

Mrs. Clarence E. Lundell

Chiropodist Auxiliary in Annual Conclave

Beginning today and continuing through Wednesday the Auxiliary to the California Association of Chiropodists will have its annual convention at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles. Delegates from all divisions throughout the state will convene to assist the state president, Mrs. Clarence E. Lundell, 321 Bayshore Ave., Long Beach, in the formulation of plans for the coming year.

Mrs. Buford Criswell of Culver City is convention chairman and will be assisted by Mrs. Rayfield Aranow, state secretary, together with various members of the Los Angeles and San Diego Divisions.

Main issues before the group relative to chiropody are the improvement in the application of all phases of executive leadership in fields of philanthropy, public relations, finance and budget, membership and publicity.

Individual "buzz" groups covering all these subjects will be established so that detailed results can be more easily worked out and tabulated for a report to be made at the final meeting. Two films on chiropody will be shown and are also available to the public upon request to local chiropodists.

First luncheon and meeting entitled "Spring Fantasy" will be hosted by the San Diego group under the direction of Mrs. Wendell Matze. Decorations will be in keeping with the theme and the beautiful Terrace Garden Room will be the setting.

The Tuesday luncheon is being arranged by Mrs. Robert Brennan of Los Angeles and carries the title "Royalty's Recognition." At this luncheon, which will be attended by national officers headed by Mrs. Robert Shor of Los Angeles, national president, all past state presidents will be presented with a silver gift.

Dr. Robert Shor, state president of the California Assn. of Chiropodists, will bring the main address to the group entitled "The Importance of an Auxiliary in the Progress of Chiropody." Following this address the regal installation of new state officers will be conducted by Dr. Alfrena Matchett of Beverly Hills.

Local members accompanying Mrs. Lundell to the convention include, Mmes. William Beattie, Otto Boll, Floyd Brown, Jack Oliver, John Sulzbach and John Kinkella, local division president.

Luncheon to Honor Presidents

Retiring presidents of the Long Beach Council of Parents and Teachers will be hostesses to their incoming presidents at their luncheon at Lakewood Country Club on Thursday at 12:15 p.m. Incoming presidents are asked to gather promptly at eleven o'clock for the taking of pictures.

Presidents of the Northeast area, under the direction of Mrs. H. E. Beale and Mrs. R. E. Stillwell, are in charge of the luncheon arrangements and the decorations. The Southwest area presidents under the direction of Mrs. William E. Kummer, are planning the program.

Guests at the luncheon are to be Mrs. Albin Larson, Council president; Mrs. Charles Hackett, executive secretary; Mrs. Robert Hayden; and Mrs. J. W. Dean, press chairman.

World Worker on YWCA Program

Mrs. Margaret Hathaway, member of the World YWCA staff with special assignment in South Africa, will be in Long Beach Thursday as speaker at the 52nd annual meeting of the Long Beach YWCA, announced Mrs. R. L. Yankie, president of the board of directors.

Mrs. Hathaway currently is on furlough from her duties in South Africa, where for the last several years she has been actively working with local YWCA groups seeking affiliation with the World YWCA, which has its headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland. She travels through 40 communities conferring with leaders and assisting in leadership training and other phases of YWCA program.

Last summer, as a member of the World YWCA staff, Mrs. Hathaway was a participant in the Leadership Consultation held in Geneva prior to the YWCA Council meeting in England. She also attended the World Council meeting in company with representative leaders of the YWCA in South Africa.

Before her assignment to the World YWCA, Mrs. Hathaway was assistant director of the Defense Services division of the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association of the USA, and prior to that was for six years an associate executive in the Long Beach YWCA. Previously she spent many years in the Far East with the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions and as wife of the late Willis Hathaway, YWCA secretary well known in China because of his long period of assignment there.

When with the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, Mrs. Hathaway was a teacher of history and music at the Mary Farnham School in Shanghai, at the American School in Tientsin and at the Riverside Academy in Nippon. Before that she had been a teacher of history and music in the high school at Goldendale, Wash.

A native of Salem, Ore., Mrs. Hathaway is a graduate of Willamette University in Military Society Bustles With Variety of Parties, Installations and Showers

By VIRGINIA NEWTON

710 Babcock Rd. of that city.

With the beginning of summertime and the wonderful weather which is so much a part of our southern scene, the Officers and Wives Club of Long Beach will begin a new club year June 5 at 12:30 when the group will gather at the Officers Club, Allen Center, for an installation luncheon party.

Hostesses at this time will be members of the retiring board and reservations should be called in to Mrs. R. M. Whelpley or Mrs. J. L. McAnn by Saturday noon of June 2.

The newly elected officers are: Mrs. Robert Campbell, president; Thomas Flynn, first vice president; Charles Noel, second vice president; G. W. Davis, recording secretary; Walter E. Greene, corresponding secretary; Lyman Vaughan, treasurer, and John Litting, assistant treasurer.

Col. and Mrs. John Price have as their house guest from San Antonio, Tex., Mrs. Price's mother, Mrs. Hazel Anderson.

Mentioning San Antonio, reminds us: a nice card just received from those former residents, Capt. and Mrs. John L. Schwanger and Jonelle, says that they are now residing at this city at the cocktail hour recently.

More party doings going on out at NAS, Los Alamitos, include the monthly luncheon party of the Officers Wives Club of that base last Thursday when May flowers and showers of sunshine were used as the theme. The buffet luncheon was served on the patio and cards followed in the TV room. Hostesses for the day were Mrs. R. E. Mahmfeldt, N. Grayson and Walter Ascell.

A very pert and pretty party planned by the wives of officers attached to the USS Helena was held at the home of Mrs. Harry Smith, wife of the commanding officer of the ship.

You see it was a gala event honoring all the "expectant mothers-to-be" of their group. Amid all the beautiful pinks and blues of babyland was one little mama, who didn't wait, Mrs. M. E. Hurley, who had her baby a few days before.

Speaking of the next generation, stock call over at Fort MacArthur included the announcement from 2nd Lt. and Mrs. Mario Tarabini of the arrival of Lisa Marie, who tipped the beginning scales at 6 pounds and 9 1/2 ounces.

Mrs. J. LaBarre recently entertained at the coffee hour the wives of the officers attached to the USS Romo.

Mrs. T. Gorman Byrne will be hostess at a luncheon and board meeting of the newly elected officers and newly appointed chairman of the Coast Guard Officers Wives Club at her home, 4415 Greenbrier Rd., on the afternoon of June 12. New reservation chairman of the group is Virginia Martinson.

Mrs. Lewis Sallanick has as her house-guest here from Boston, Mass., Virginia Panarese.

Newly elected president of the Officers Wives Club of Long Beach, Mrs. Robert Campbell, has just announced her board members, who are: Mrs. Harold Larner, program chairman; E. W. Sweazy, publicity; J. C. Woolfel, membership, and R. K. James, hospitality.

Joanne Koch to Exchange Vows With Robert Cohn

Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Koch, Wilmington, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Joanne Fredda Koch, to former Wilmington resident Robert Melvin Cohn, now of Long Beach.

A Banning High School and Harbor Junior College graduate, the bride-elect received her B.A. degree in elementary education from Mills College in Oakland. Well known in harbor area musical circles, she has done graduate work at Mills in music and languages, and has appeared with Oakland's Little Players.

Executive secretary for a

has been engaged in social welfare work for the past three years. He studied at the University of Arizona and UCLA, where he received his B.A. degree.

Graduate work at Washington University in St. Louis, Mo., was followed by enrollment at the University of California in Berkeley, from which he will receive his M. A. degree in June.

A June 10 wedding in San Francisco is planned, after which the couple will establish residence in San Mateo for the duration of Cohn's residency at San Mateo County Hospital.

Joanne Fredda Koch

publishing company in San Francisco, Miss Koch plans to continue her voice study and concert work in the Bay City.

A former member of Wilmington Bethel, John's Daughters, and affiliated with Wilmington Parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, she has been a member of the San Pedro Symphony and Torrance Symphony orchestras, Harbor String ensemble and a soprano soloist at St. John's Episcopal Church.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cohn of Long Beach, her fiance

Chapman-Grimes Names Linked

Immediate family members witnessed the recent ceremony uniting in marriage Rose Marie Grimes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Grimes, 206 Redondo, and Charles Robert Chapman of 215 W. 10th St. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Minton, Drayton Plains, Mich.

For the double ring afternoon service the bride wore a blue princess style dress and carried a white orchid atop a white Bible. Attending her was Jackie Williams as maid of honor.

The new Mrs. Chapman is a senior at Wilson High School. Her husband received his early schooling in Michigan and attended the University of Michigan. The couple is now residing at 3321 E. 7th St., Apt. 1.

Laguna Pen Women to Exhibit in June

By VERA WILLIAMS
Independent Press-Telegram Art Editor

Artist members of the Laguna Beach branch of the National League of American Pen Women will have the June exhibit in Pacific Coast Club Galleria.

Exhibiting artists and their works are Margory Adams, Laguna Beach, pastels, oils, water colors; Katherine Conover, Three Arch Bay, oils, woodcuts, murals; Priscilla Frazer, Emerald Bay, water colors, oils, prints; Gertrude Gardner, Laguna Beach, water colors, oils; Fern Gary, Laguna Beach, oils, water colors; Louise Leyden, Capistrano Beach, oils, water colors, crafts; Diane Meredith, Laguna Beach, water colors, oils, murals, crafts; Dorothy Stephens, Laguna Beach, water colors, oils, pastels; Anne Von, Emerald Bay, oils, water colors, designs, crafts; Mildred Waters, Laguna Beach, water colors, oils, and Virginia Woolley, Laguna Beach, oils, water colors, etchings.

Margory Adams, best known for her portraits has had one-man shows throughout the United States. Her portraits hang in many cities in the United States and in England, France and Australia.

Katherine Conover has been head of the art department of Central High School in Detroit and Wayne University. She recently had a one-man show in the Little Art Gallery, Boston.

Priscilla Frazer, who received her M.A. degree from Long Beach State College, attended Instituto Allende in Mexico. She had a one-man show last March in Laguna Beach Art Gallery and received second prize for a print in the National Biennial Art Show in Washington, D. C. in April.

Gertrude Gardner has a diploma from Fontainebleau, France. She also studied in Portugal, Spain and England.

This will be the sixth exhibit this year for Fern Gary (Mrs. Cliff Warner). She previously has exhibited in the Ojai Art Gallery, Mount San Antonio College, Los Angeles Ebell Club, St. George Utah Festival of Arts and state biennial N.A.A.P., Laguna Beach.

Louise Leyden, noted for her paintings of eucalyptus trees, is an indefatigable outdoor painter. Neither weather nor rugged terrain deters her when she finds an interesting subject.

Diane Meredith is best known for her replicas of moths and butterflies. This work first was exhibited in the Toledo Museum of Art, Toledo, Ohio.

Dorothy Stevens studied in seven European countries. Her first exhibited painting, in the Los Angeles Biltmore Hotel, was bought by Alwater Kent.

Anne Von, a graduate of Long Beach State College, also has attended Chouinard Art Institute, Los Angeles, and Instituto Allende, Mexico. Her first professional work was motion picture retoucher. She is a contributing member of California Artists, manufacturers of original Christmas cards, and designed the 1957 catalog cover.

Mildred Waters does water colors of Southern California, France, Belgium, Italy and Holland.

Virginia Woolley, who was born in Atlanta, is widely known for her flower paintings and street scenes of the South and Mexico. She studied at the Chicago Art Institute and in Paris for three years. While there she exhibited etchings in the Paris Spring Salon.

Paintings by Ben and Velma Messick will be shown the remainder of May in Pacific Coast Club Galleria.

Dates of the annual Festival of Arts and Pageant of the Masters are announced July 14 through Aug. 12 in Laguna Beach.

Twenty paintings by Watson K. Frederick, 3117 Lanal St., Army colonel turned painter, will be displayed this week in the windows of the Bixby Knolls Carpet Co., 4354 Atlantic Ave.

Frederick, who fought in two wars and served 27 years as a reserve officer, retired in 1945 and took up paintings as a hobby. He paints landscapes, seascapes, flowers, portraits.

"In my pictures," he says, "I try to capture the spirit of the outdoors and the joy of life."

Worry Clinic

Husbands, Ask Wife's Advice

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case R-366: Lawrence L., aged 28, is a talented chemist who is married and has two children. "Dr. Crane, Larry is a wonderful husband as regards money matters," his wife admitted.

"And I think he loves me and the children. But he has one fault which is getting on my nerves. For me he is too close mouthed! By that, I mean he never tells me his plans or invites my comments. He doesn't even argue things out with me or let me make any suggestions.

"Maybe he thinks it is unmanly to consult one's wife. Or could it be that he feels it is belittling to the male ego to invite suggestions from others? Please tell husbands to consult their wives and let us have our say."

Many husbands are like Larry, for I receive this complaint frequently. Some husbands get that way because they have an inferiority complex and think they must make all the decisions without anybody's advice, or they will appear weaklings and henpecked.

But that isn't true! Women are smart creatures. They often have much better judgment on many things than do their husbands. And even if they don't offer any superior ideas, it is always good husbandly strategy to invite their help. For this inflates their ego and cements their devotion to their mates.

A husband may not always act upon the advice of his wife. Maybe he holds some extra evidence which proves superior to that offered by his spouse.

But every husband should learn to seek the advice of his wife and invite her suggestions on his contemplated action, whether it be the building of a garage or the buying of a necktie.

"But doesn't it prove a delightful surprise to have the husband plan things?" asked Larry when I interviewed him. Yes, to a certain degree it does. So surprise her with an unexpected movie date. But as a general rule, invite her suggestions on future plans.

Many high school and college youths make this same mistake of being too secretive about their plans. That's one reason why they often get into trouble, for their parents and friends may possess knowledge which they lack but which obviously show the folly of their proposed action.

So make it rule in life, if you wish to be popular and a good leader, to invite help. Don't think it indicates weakness or juvenility. Instead, it is a mark of a topnotch executive to throw your ideas on the table and then let your friends or family thresh out the issue.

Zonta Club, Dentals Install

By ANNE GILCHRIST

Installation ceremonies for Zonta Club of Long Beach, conducted recently in the Panorama Room of the Lafayette Hotel, took on the colorful aspect of early America with its bright Indian theme cleverly utilizing Zonta colors of turquoise, gold and maroon.

In a setting of wigwags, camp fires and other Indian paraphernalia, Vivian Showalter was seated for a second term as president by J. Maria Pierce, lieutenant governor of District 9. Taking office with Mrs. Showalter for the ensuing year were Lucille Murdock, vice-president; Maxine Hill, recording secretary; Daisiana Millison, corresponding secretary; Marion Preede, treasurer; and Florence Merriam, member-at-large.

Myrna Coon, chairman of the evening, introduced Sterling Smith, clarinetist. Mrs. Coon, by request, sang her special arrangement of "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Dorothy Rankin Bembridge.

Play Shows West Pitfall

One of the country's best players managed to muffle today's hand. The principle of play is, however, surprisingly simple.

Declarer won the first trick in dummy with the queen of diamonds. He next led a club to the ace—and the hand went up in smoke.

It was now possible for South to win only four club tricks. He could not make the contract with three diamonds and a spade in addition to the four clubs.

If South led a diamond, West would take the king of diamonds and shift to spades. He would be able to take three spades, a heart, and a diamond before South could get nine tricks.

South led a heart, but West stepped up with the ace of hearts and shifted to spades. He regained the lead with the king of diamonds in time to set the contract with the last spade.

The bidding made it clear that West was short in clubs, since a player doesn't make a takeout double with length in the suit that he is doubling. South could guard against any short holding by West by leading the king of clubs to begin that suit.

As the cards lay, West would have discarded on the first round of clubs. South would therefore be warned of the club distribution in time to take a finesse through East.

He would then knock out the king of diamonds and get to the dummy with a spade for a second club finesse. This line of play would produce five club tricks.

South would be equally safe if both opponents followed on the first round of clubs. He could continue with a club to the ace. If both followed the suit would break. If West showed out on the second round of clubs, South would eventually get to dummy with a spade to take the one finesse that he would need.

Offers New Hair Life,

"Even the most bouffant coiffure can be adapted into a shorter, more casual version," says David Connelle, brilliant young hairstylist now visiting the May Co., Lakewood.

Here with his latest collection of hair creations, Connelle applies scissor wizardry that shapes natural, fuller waves and curls with his new exclusive technique.

The new "Pink Cloud" permanent is featured with Connelle's new hairstyling technique—accomplished with exclusive "pillow" curlers that set in layers to give a soft, natural look and springy, resilient curls that are easy to keep. Perfect for spring and summer.

If your hair needs reconditioning from being dry and brittle, a marvelous new French discovery, Rege Tress Lotion, will be skillfully applied to bring tresses back to glorious natural radiance.

Connelle will be at the May Co. Lakewood May 28 through June 2.

Scheduled

Dating from 1946 up to the minute, former and current members of Junior Exchange, City College's men's social club, will stage their first annual Alumni Dance on Tuesday in Meadowlark Country Club, starting at 8:30 p. m.

Playing for the semi-formal affair will be the Jack Lynde orchestra and jazz quintet. In charge of the dance arrangements are current president Joe Valdez and JX alumni Jack Satariano, Bob Lichtenhan, Bill Layden and John Caldwell.

The May 29 dance will be the first alumni get-together since Junior Exchange was founded 10 years ago on the City College Lakewood campus by a group of World War II veterans, under the sponsorship of the Downtown Exchange Club.

Proceeds of the dance will go to the Athletic Scholarship Fund at City College.

Our Children

A Home Divides, and a Child Is Divided, Too

By ANGELO PATRI

Divorce, the bane of childhood, often results in what I term the divided child. One parent, usually the mother, is given the custody of the child, but at the same time the other parent is given some relationship to him—a visit once a week, or so. Maybe half a year.

This means, no matter what the duration of the visit, a divided child. His allegiance to his parents must be divided. He will cling, secretly if he must, to one parent or the other. Each will try to strengthen that allegiance in his way. Maybe he will openly blame the absent parent. Maybe he will do this by implication, asking questions that bring out answers that can be slanted his way. This confuses a child and influences his behavior, and not always for the best.

The short visit, the one-day affair, is hardest on the child. The parent he visits, having him for the day, goes all out to make the day a happy holiday. He takes the child to a show, takes him to a toy shop and buys him toys in reckless quantity, buys him a fine meal and sends him home, loaded down with gifts, in a taxi.

This sort of thing gives the child an idea that if he lived with that parent, this would be the regular thing—treats, toys, and nothing to do to spoil the day. When he gets back to his home and the regular routine of duties, school, study, work and play and sleep, he is dissatisfied and is likely to blame the everyday parent for not giving him the same delightful time. This is certain to give the child distorted ideas of one kind and another, and to leave him insecure and miserable. And because the decision that divided the child was based on the law, nothing can be done about it. The basic fault was in the relationship of both parents, then the separation or the divorce.

I am not wise enough to say what should be done when two people decide they cannot live together another day. Sometimes they cannot and should not. If they would only agree on one point, the care of the children, think what is best.

LONG BEACH STATE COLLEGE EVENTS

by PLACER MUSE

"Graduation time is almost here," and the tempo around Long Beach State College has picked up noticeably. Graduating seniors, either pale and drawn, or smiling confidently as the case may be, turned their work in to the instructors and took their final tests last Friday. Seniors graduating in June do not have to take the final examinations if their work is satisfactory, so to add to their joy they have the envy of all their classmates.

As a final fling, a busy commencement week has been set up for the future college graduates. Last Wednesday the Athletic Awards Banquet took place, and yesterday morning the Associated Women Students had their Awards Breakfast. This Friday night, awards will be made to the college journalists, and on Saturday the graduating students will have a chance to toast their alma mater with ham and eggs at the traditional breakfasts in the Meadowlark Country Club. Winding up the week will be the Baccalaureate Service next Sunday in the First Christian Church at 4 p. m. Then Thursday, June 7, the Senior Prom, and finally Friday, the commencement at Long Beach City College.

Miss Barbara Bassett, assistant professor of nursing at Long Beach State College, was honored last Friday night at the Sigma Chi Nu's fourth annual Officer's Installation Dinner at the Hawaiian Restaurant.

Granted a leave of absence from State College to act as Public Health Service Nursing Advisor to the Philippine government, Miss Bassett will be gone for two years, and will leave early in July.

New officers for the group are Louise Johnson, president; Margaret Drimmon, vice president; Roberta Strimple, recording secretary; Marie O'Koren, corresponding secretary; Motoma Roebuck, treasurer, and Gladys Korber, historian. Dorothy Walsh will replace Miss Bassett as faculty adviser, and on the Long Beach State College faculty.

A chance to study in the mountains is being offered to interested students by the Natural Science Division of Long Beach State College and the Idyllwild Arts Foundation.

The courses being offered are Conservation Workshop, Field Natural History, the Outdoor Workshop, and the Wilderness Workshop. Students can either board on the campus of the Idyllwild Arts Foundation, or camp out in one of the several State Parks in the area.

The climate is billed as, warm days, cool nights, and smog free. Students or those interested should contact the Summer School office or the Natural Science Division office.

The new and old student body presidents of Long Beach State College are recently returned from the 31st annual convention of the Pacific Students President Association.

This was the first year Long Beach State College has attended the convention, and Huey Shepard, next year's president, put State on the map by a determined showing in an election for convention president by losing in finals by only 10 votes.

Bill Barnes, outgoing president, evaluated the trip with the comment, "I only wish I had been able to attend last year. The experience gained helps in conducting college affairs."

As further proof of the fact that Long Beach State College students are taking their share of honors and scholarships, four awards were made last week to State College students.

Three awards were made to State College students by the Chemical Rubber Company of Cleveland for outstanding students in lower division chemistry, physics and mathematics. Winning awards were Philip Anthony, chemistry; David Whitmoyer, physics, and Don Kelly, mathematics.

The national Wildlife Federation Graduate Fellowship for 1956 went to Delloyd L. Smith, a student of Wilson and LBC, before coming to State. In addition to going to school, he has been assistant manager of a market in Bellflower for the last six years.

Why Grow Old?

Emotionalism Is Cause Behind Her Overweight

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

If any of you have any doubt that there is such a thing as emotional obesity, listen to a quotation from a letter which came from a very intelligent reader: "Exactly a year ago I joined your Marathon and laboriously whittled off 23 pounds in a little more than two months. I have been on your Marathon ever since. It has been a long pull because I have never overcome fully the real source of my overweight."

"I have found that I must battle this as the alcoholic does by never forgetting that this is my weakness. I find that if I can just keep myself from taking the FIRST bite of gooey cake, or the FIRST mouthful of spaghetti, or the FIRST spoonful of ice cream, I have won over the awful compulsion to gobble and chew for comfort."

"This is the only way I can make progress. To date I have lost 45 pounds and feel 100 per cent better. I can wear a size 15 dress and am striving now to lose those last 15 pounds of overweight."

"Therefore I am sending for your Marathon again this year. I will not lose the most of all your entrants but we are all winners when we make a conscious effort to improve."

Isn't that a wonderful letter? She has lost 45 pounds and is now going for the last 15 pounds of overweight. It is a wise woman who can analyze herself and see herself objectively! Few of us can. Many women turn to food for comfort without realizing that they are doing so. Be honest with yourself. If you find that you are a victim of emotional obesity try missing that first bite as this reader did.

If you missed my Nine-Day Reducing Diet, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of the Press-Telegram.

Lupo-Slattery Vows Taken

In a wedding solemnized in the Little Wedding Chapel Around the Corner in Las Vegas May 20, double rings were exchanged by Patricia Slattery and Joseph Lupo.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Slattery of Downey, lived most of her life in Long Beach and is a graduate of Jordan High School, where she was a member of Phi Omicron Sorority. She continued her education at Compton Junior College. Her husband, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lupo of Endicott, N. Y., attended schools in the east and just recently completed a four-year tour of duty with the U. S. Navy.

Charlene Slattery, sister of the bride, was maid of honor while Chester Howard Clark was best man. For her marriage, the new Mrs. Lupo chose a sheath dress of turquoise and white silk and wore a white orchid corsage at her shoulder. The wedding party was accompanied to Las Vegas by the bride's parents.

The newlyweds, who plan a delayed honeymoon trip to New York, are now residing at 5328 Cedar Ave.

Entertain AAUW Officials

American Association of University Women met Tuesday evening in Mottell's Garden Room for a joint board meeting. The present executive board of the club, which has been serving this year under the president, Miss Hazel Collins, met with the new board which will carry on club activities under the president-elect, Mrs. Parkinson Hayward. About 60 members were present.

After a delightful potluck supper planned and served by Mrs. Cyril Evan Farrand and her committee, a board meeting was conducted by Miss Collins. Annual reports were given and funds voted for several scholarships.

Mrs. Hayward then presented her new board members. She urged them to appoint their committees at once in preparation for a work-shop meeting in the late summer. Basic plans have already been made for next year's programs.

Cadillac

Expected Much...and Got More!

He had heard it time and again from his friends who drive Cadillacs.

He had heard, for instance, of Cadillac's marvelous performance... and of Cadillac's great comfort and handling ease... and of the personal satisfaction that comes to the man at the wheel.

And so, when he accepted the keys to his first Cadillac car just a little while ago, he thought he knew what to expect from the "car of cars".

Well, here he is—only a few short miles out on his maiden journey—and he's learning a great truth about Cadillac: that nothing can adequately prepare a man for

Cadillac ownership, save the experience itself.

How, for instance, could anyone fully foresee the joys of owning a new Cadillac? It gives a man a sense of pride and a feeling of fulfillment that literally defy description.

Or how could anyone anticipate the thrill of driving a new Cadillac? Smooth and quiet... eager and responsive... restful and relaxing—it simply has no counterpart on the world's highways.

And how could anyone possibly foreknow the many other pleasures that await him at the wheel...

... the joy of finding that his Cadillac, with all its quality and character, is among the most practical of motor cars to own and operate...

... and the satisfaction we believe he will find in his relationship with us as his Cadillac dealer—and in our honest concern with his motoring well-being.

Yes, it's a wonderful thing, this education in the ways of Cadillac ownership—and we sincerely hope that you will stop in soon for a personal preview of the experience.

We think you will be delighted to learn how quickly you can get delivery and to find how much your current car is worth to us in trade.

Your Baby & Mine If School Upsets Him, Discover Why

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Here is a boy of 6 who started kindergarten last year and everything was fine until the middle of the year. At that point he decided he did not want to use the school toilet. The mother figured this one out but now he doesn't want to go to school at all.

He gives a different reason each time he is asked. The mother writes, "We live only 2 1/2 blocks from school and he keeps coming home. I have been taking him back and he coaxes me to stay. I visited a little today but up to this time I have not given in to him."

"He is not pampered or spoiled (we have an older child) and I have tried talking to his teacher and she is trying to help me. But she doesn't know what is the matter with him."

"I have deprived him of things he likes to do in the afternoon. I have talked to him and spanked him. Now I don't know what to do. He doesn't get clear to school before he turns around and comes back home. I do hope you have the answer."

One answer would be to know more about what goes on in school so that you may determine what it is he dislikes about the school situation. It might be very illuminating for you to visit each morning for a week and see what happens and how it affects your boy and then you would be in a much better position to help him than you are now.

Obviously, he doesn't like school. It may be the way he is treated by other children. It may be the teacher he dislikes. It may be the routine which is rigid and uninteresting. You can't tell what it may be unless you find out what bothers him and makes him prefer home to school.

When you discover what affects him, then you can do something about eliminating it. Meanwhile (and while you are visiting his school each day) you can tell him firmly the fact that all children have to go to school. They don't decide whether they will or not, their parents do not decide it. It is the law of the land. They must go to school.

Right now when you argue, or ask questions which he cannot answer, or punish (which has nothing to do with the question at all), the boy knows he has you on the run. Make it clear that when he comes home you'll take him back, if it be 10 times. Then find the reason for his behavior and you are on the track to a solution for it. But right now you are working in the dark.

Our 10-cent booklet "Ready for School?" will help with suggestions for aiding children to accommodate themselves to this new environment. If you would like to have it send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of the Press-Telegram.

Fielding C. Combs

Chef of the Week Cook It, Then Call Him 'MISTER Chef---Sir!'

By MILDRED K. FLANARY

Independent Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

Today's candidate for Chef of the Week is of pioneer stock—and is pioneering a brand new position. He's the first director of public relations for the City of Long Beach. That Fielding C. Combs has the necessary qualifications is evidenced by many things, but especially his uncanny and unusual faculty for remembering names and people.

Visalia was Combs' home port. After receiving his early education there, he attended USC College of Business Administration. The real estate business in Visalia kept him occupied from '29 to '41, during which time he devoted eight years to that city's school board.

With the advent of World War II he joined the U. S. Army Air Force and the next four years of his career were spent in the vicinity of China, India and Burma. Upon discharge, however, he headed for San Francisco where he was board operations officer for the San Francisco office of Price Administration for a year. Just prior to coming here, he was district housing expediter, National Housing Agency, in charge of operations in central California.

In 1948, Combs accepted a position as head of the mobilization planning division at the shipyard and special assistant to the industrial manager of 11th Naval District. He retired from the shipyards to accept his present position.

As public relations director for Long Beach, Combs' duties will include preparation of material for all publicity media, co-ordination of the departmental public relations and planning training programs for the improvement of contacts between the public and employees.

An avid traveler, our "chef" CAN really cook and really enjoys cooking. But he draws the line on the pots and pans, having no yen for clean-up chores. His recipe today is most unusual—it's for Chili Con Queso, Visalia. 2 cans roasted green chills 1 lg. can tomatoes 1/2 lb. American cheese 1/2 cup half 'n' half 1 clove garlic Pinch cumlin, salt to taste Cut chills in one-half pieces. Do not remove seeds. Add to drained tomatoes. Add chopped garlic and seasoning. Simmer over low heat until liquid is reduced. Add cheese which has been cut into one-fourth inch cubes. Stir until cheese melts. Add cream and serve on tortillas, or toast. Also excellent as a side dish for meat or game. Serves 4.

CHAPEL VOWS

Wedding bells will ring June 20 for Patricia Jeanne McElligott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merton Stutzman, 1026 Magnolia Ave., and Charles Lamb Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lamb Sr. of Norwalk. The couple will be wed in a double-ring chapel ceremony at First Congregational Church.

Molly Mayfield

Bogged Down by Budget Blues

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD: I've got those old budget blues. All the time it's scripp and save, just to keep up a skinny little bank account.

You probably know that a business girl doesn't earn vast sums of money and, by the time she pays her income tax and social security and rent, and insurance, and food and a few incidentals, there's not a whole lot left.

And there are so many things I'd like—a nice car, better clothes, swell vacations. Sometimes I'm tempted to accept some help.

I've had some offers—most girls have. I guess—from men who could afford to keep me nicely. They all have wives, of course, but that needn't interfere. Do you think it sounds like such a bad idea, Mrs. Mayfield? It sure would make life easier.—TEMP'ED.

DEAR TEMPTED:

I really don't think you're serious. You're just bogged down with those budget blues, and you're having a little fun toying with this idea.

But think it over, little kitten. Think it over. It really isn't what you'd like at all. Imagine being tied down to some older man you really don't love. How would you like having to ask him for every cent? And imagine how you'd feel knowing, since you would have no real claim on him, that he could walk out on you any time he chose.

Think how you'd have to dodge your friends to avoid explaining. And imagine how you'd feel if you finally met some young man you truly loved. How would you explain to him what you did for a living?

Nope? This is false security, and I'm glad you're really not serious about it.—M. M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

My grandmother passed away a few weeks ago, leaving my grandfather, who is 80. He has had a stroke and also suffers from palsy.

Would it be possible to have your kind readers send him a card or letter on Father's Day? Letters are the only contact he has with the outside world, as he is unable to get around. He is so lonesome and misses Grandmother so much. His address is W. O. Beard, 5644 E. 28th St., Kansas City, Mo.—Mrs. G. E. F.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

Four of us are very mixed up and unhappy. I have been married five years, but stopped really loving my wife two years ago. Now I have fallen in love with another woman. She is married, but separated from her husband. Her husband still loves her and hopes

School Menus

Luncheons Listed for Students

The following menus will be served in Long Beach elementary schools the week of May 28-June 1:

MONDAY: Italian spaghetti, buttered green beans, pineapple cottage cheese salad, toasted French bread and milk.
TUESDAY: Chili beans, buttered sliced carrots, apple cheese crisp, whole wheat biscuit with butter and milk.
WEDNESDAY: HOLIDAY.
THURSDAY: Hot dog on bun, coleslaw with sour cream dressing, autumn fruit cup, Peter Pan cookie and milk.
FRIDAY: Macaroni and cheese, garden peas, molded fruit salad, whole wheat bread and butter and milk.

The above items make up the elementary children's lunch, 25 cents. Soup, salad and dessert from the junior-senior high school a la carte menu are sold in the elementary schools, but they may be purchased by the children only after they have purchased the tray lunch.

TUESDAY: Hamburger on bun, potato salad, tomato and cheese slices, apricot halves and milk.

THURSDAY: Tasty meat open sandwich, whole kernel corn, grapefruit sections with cherry garnish, chocolate filled cookie and milk.

FRIDAY: Cheese enchilada or baked fillet of haddock, frozen peas, autumn fruit cup, whole wheat bread and butter and milk.

Soup sells for 12 cents, the main hot dish 12 cents, vegetables 7 cents, vegetable salads 12 cents, plain cottage cheese 10 cents, fruit salads 12 cents, sandwich 15 cents, all desserts 10 cents. Milk, orange juice, fruit and ice cream are sold every day. Students in the junior and senior high schools are not required to purchase the tray lunch before purchasing a la carte items.

Tea Honors Executives

A reciprocity tea was given recently by the North Long Beach Women Federated at Houghton Park Clubhouse. At the large and well-attended affair were presidents of all the women's organizations in the Long Beach area affiliated with the President's club.

Judge Martin DeVries was guest speaker. He stressed the importance of love for America and the eternal values and power of our ideals in keeping our country great and strong.

The study group will meet on Monday at the home of Mrs. Lena Sanders, 6712 Gardena Ave., at 1 p.m.

Drive with care . . . EVERYWHERE!

Holds the road like it loves it

(and Chevy does!)

It isn't just Chevrolet's record-breaking performance that makes it such a pleasure to drive. It's the solid, sure-going way Chevy covers the miles!

You don't have to drive a car for very long to tell if it was really built for the road. You can sense its balance in your hands on the wheel. You can feel whether or not it gets skittish in a cross wind or on a curve. You can see how true it holds to its course and how quickly it straightens itself out of a tight turn.

In all these ways, you'll find that the new Chevrolet is a car that's right for the road. And in other ways as well. In record-breaking performance with horsepower that ranges up to 225. In gunflash acceleration that gives you extra seconds of safety in passing.

Chevrolet, you know, won both the acceleration and flying mile events for its class in the NASCAR time trials at Daytona Beach—both in record time!

When you team up that kind of performance with Chevy's rock-steady way of going, you've got a car that loves the road! Why not stop in and see some sunny day, soon?

For all Americans on Memorial Day...

Cathedral of the Pines

by NORMAN M. LOBSENZ

RINDGE, N. H.

Next Wednesday, rain or shine, more than 25,000 people from all over the U. S. will make a Memorial Day pilgrimage to a pine-shaded knoll near this small New Hampshire town. There, in America's most unusual place of worship, each in his own way will pay tribute to the country's war dead. Indirectly, they also will be honoring the memory of the young man whose death was responsible for the creation of the Cathedral of the Pines.

His name was Sanderson Sloane. He died 12 years ago, when his bomber crashed in Germany. Before going overseas, Sandy Sloane had chosen this knoll as the site of the home he and his wife planned to build. Originally, giant pines pressed close upon the trail that led to the brow of the hill. Then the great hurricane of 1938 toppled most of them.

But one spring afternoon Sandy and his father climbed the trail again. With the trees gone, they could look out across the valley and its glistening necklace of lakes to Mt. Monadnock, miles away, and the whole brilliant, rolling Wachusett Divide. It was, Sandy said, "the most beautiful view God ever put together."

After their son's death, Douglas and Sibyl Sloane often visited "Sandy's knoll"; eventually they were moved to build a modest memorial to him. Boughs and rock were cleared away, and a cross of New Hampshire granite erected. But the first small memorial service awakened such a widespread response that the Sloanes felt perhaps the Cathedral of the Pines could become a symbol of the sacrifice made by all—women as well as men—who gave their lives in America's battles. And so it has.

First, an Altar of the Nation was built; then a lectern, a pulpit, a baptismal font; and Hilltop House, a retreat for visiting clergymen. Uniquely, each structure is built of stones contributed from all over the world, many from famous personalities.

President Eisenhower, for example, sent two stones: one from the Normandy beach where U. S. forces landed on D-Day, and one from his Kansas home. General MacArthur's stone comes from Japan's Atsugi airfield, where he landed to occupy that country; Adm. William Halsey sent coral from the Pacific Islands his forces reconquered.

From the Parthenon—and Hiroshima

There are bits of soil or rock from Jerusalem's Mt. Zion; from Lincoln's birthplace; from Valley Forge, Plymouth Rock, the Parthenon in Athens, ground zero at Hiroshima—from historic sites in every American state and virtually every country in the world.

By 1946 a few pastors were asking to hold special services at the Cathedral. The Sloanes, who by now had set up a trust to oversee their efforts, installed benches, a small organ, a public-address system, a parking area.

Soon, on Sundays and special holy days, various religions were holding services in this outdoor cathedral. All told, 35 different denominations have conducted over 600 ceremonies in the past decade. In addition, countless civic, fraternal, patriotic and youth organizations have held religious and patriotic services there. The Cathedral, incidentally, is maintained entirely by voluntary donations.

Today it is not unusual for as many as 60,000 people to make the pilgrimage to the Cathedral of the Pines on a single week end. Many come to worship; but even those who come just as tourists leave with a new sense of reverence for things spiritual.

"Outdoor churches," says Douglas Sloane, "exert a subtly different sort of influence. Many who come to the Cathedral are non-churchgoers who are troubled because they cannot find a real faith. For many of them, a few services at the Cathedral of the Pines are a stepping-stone to new religious inspiration."

One couple, who came merely to sight-see, agree. "My husband and I aren't formally religious," the young wife says. "But we walked through the arches of pines, and heard the delicate organ music, and then suddenly we came to the brow of the hill and saw the cross hanging in what seemed like mid-air, surrounded only by the sky, and the mountains in the distance. My husband and I looked at each other, and we both had tears in our eyes."

"It was as close to Heaven as we'll ever get in this life."

The Cathedral, says Adm. Chester Nimitz, is "truly a memorial to all those who gave their lives in the service of our country." And by next Memorial Day this may be a literal as well as spiritual fact. New Hampshire's Sen. H. Styles Bridges and Rep. Perkins Bass have introduced a resolution in Congress to have the Cathedral designated as a National Shrine. The legislation is now in committee.

Meanwhile, the Cathedral of the Pines remains a spiritual haven for every American.

DASHING is truly the word for the new '56 General Motors cars — both in the sweeping verve of their fresh new styling and in the trigger-quick responsiveness of their advanced automatic transmissions.

For GM not only pioneered the automatic transmission—it has produced far more than any other car maker. Out of this vast experience have come new velvet-smooth '56 versions of Powerglide in Chevrolet, Variable Pitch Dynaflo in Buick and new fluid-coupled Hydra-Matic in Pontiac, Oldsmobile and Cadillac.

With these super-transmissions the extra reserve power of GM's new higher-compression engines is yours to command at a pedal-tap. And you are further safeguarded by improvements like interlocking safety-type door locks and precision-aimed headlights for greater visibility. Power steering, power brakes and seat belts are available.

What you should know about...

POLIO IN 1956

by ROBERT P. GOLDMAN

Thirteen months have passed since the dramatic announcement of the Salk vaccine for infantile paralysis. You have read stories of defective vaccine, of new production standards to assure safety, of continuing research on other vaccines. But now another polio season looms. What is the outlook? What should you know about polio in 1956?

Here are the questions most people are asking, with answers from the U.S. Public Health Service and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis:

Q How good is the Salk vaccine?

A Among inoculated children, there is 75-80 per cent less paralytic polio than among uninoculated groups. Some experts say the vaccine affords even more than 75-80 per cent protection.

Q How much vaccine will be available this summer?

A By July 10, producers hope to have enough to provide two shots each for 67,000,000 people, most of them 14 or younger. Don't be surprised if actual supplies fall somewhat short of that estimate.

Q Why isn't there more vaccine?

A Each batch takes at least 120 days to produce, and is subject to time-consuming delays all along the way.

Q Before rigid safety standards were set up last spring, much vaccine was produced. Is any of that still used?

A No.

Q Can vaccination cause a child to spread polio to his family?

A No — because the vaccine does not contain live viruses.

Q What is the recommended dosage?

A Two shots four to six weeks apart — with a third shot seven months to a year later. Even with only one shot, there is considerable short-term protection.

Q Has anyone received the full three shots?

A Some youngsters have. Out of 4,658 in Massachusetts who got the full course of injections, just one came down with paralytic polio.

Q How many people have received Salk vaccine to date?

A Around 20,000,000.

Q How many paralytic cases did the vaccine prevent last year?

A Last year, the total was about 1,250. This year, experts predict vaccine will prevent "several thousand" paralytic cases.

Q Is the vaccine used today different from that used a year ago?

A Fundamentally, it is the same. Production and safety testing techniques have changed considerably, however.

Q Who is eligible to receive vaccine?

A States have set up their own programs for distribution. So far, youngsters under 15 usually are given priority. But local doctors and city health officers can tell you of your state's arrangements.

Q It cannot really be said that polio will be licked in '56, can it?

A No, paralytic cases are still occurring. One week's total last month was slightly over the five-year average for the comparable period.

Q Then the old rules still apply — the ones about preventing overexertion, avoiding crowded places, etc.?

A Certainly. Not until 1957 will there be a "minimal number" of paralytic cases.

Q Will there be vaccine this summer earmarked for epidemic areas?

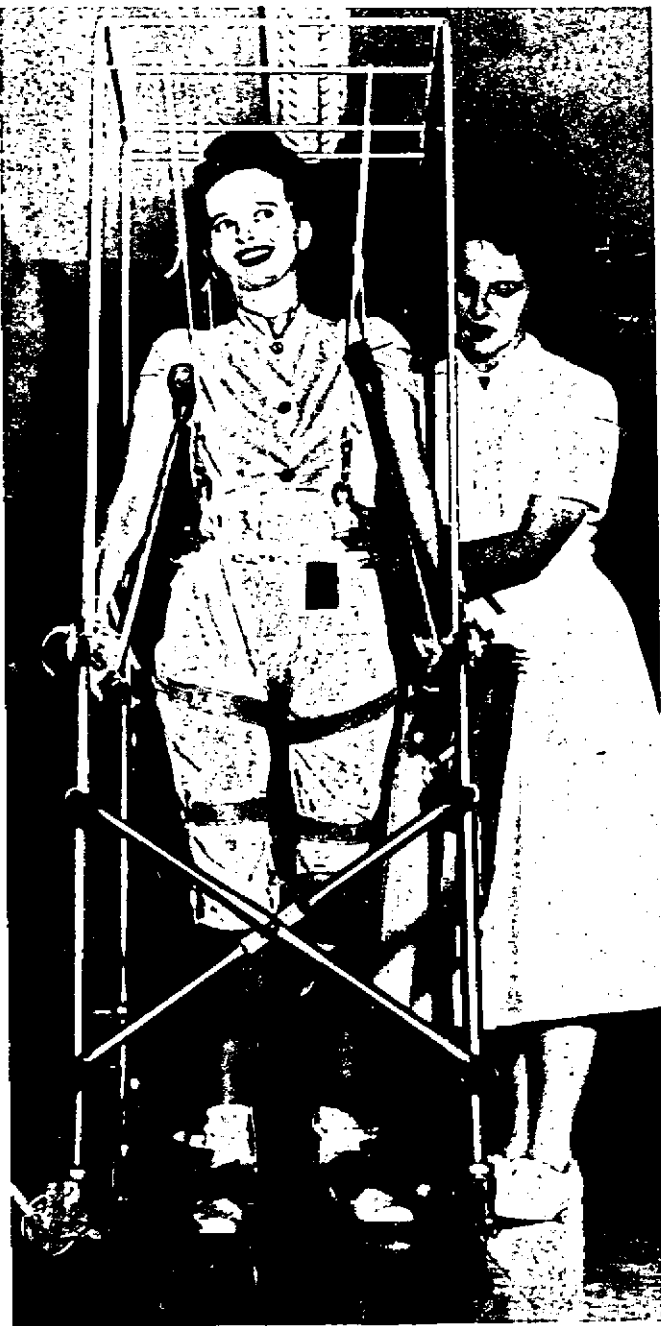

A Small emergency supplies will be available — for research purposes. Doctors still want to determine whether vaccine used on the spot can shorten the duration of an outbreak.

Q Will people have to get annual "booster" shots through life?

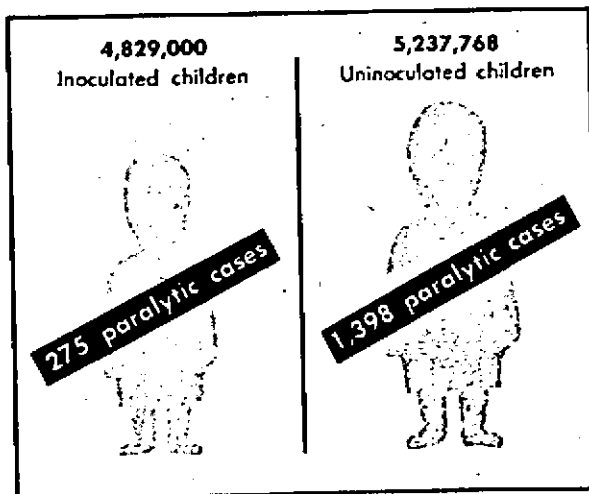

A Probably not. There is evidence that the three-shot schedule gives three or more years of protection.

Q Can vaccine which passes present safety tests cause polio?

A No.

PARALYTIC POLIO is still with us—as shown by this Phoenix, Ariz., housewife who is learning to walk again. But this year the Salk vaccine may halve new paralysis cases.

REPORT from 30 states involving 10,000,000 children shows Salk vaccine reduced paralytic cases by about 80 per cent.

STURDY CAMEL, Canary Islands' beast of burden, holds full load of wandering Americans — the Walter family of Haddonfield, N. J.

A family 'paradise' on $200 a month

These Americans got away from it all — and so can you. . . by RICHARD WALTER

MY FAMILY of six, including children stair-stepped from 4 to 9, has just returned from a year of relaxed and gracious living in Spain's balmy and beautiful Canary Islands. We lived in a seven-room lava-block villa in a subtropical mountain valley, with a full-time cook and housemaid and a gardener. We all learned Spanish and formed lasting friendships with many of the Islanders. We swam in 80-degree surf whenever we felt like it, climbed mountains, coffee-clatched under the palms at sidewalk cafes. But most important, we caught our breath after nine breathless postwar years in Suburbia Americana and took a fresh look at ourselves.

This new life was not the life of Riley. But it was what we wanted and needed — far from traffic jams, heart attacks, TV sets, the do-it-yourself craze, "Mom, where are my rubbers?" and the 5:19 Ulcer Special.

By any light it was worth many times the $200 a month we spent. With the right approach it could be done for even less. "With 4,000 pesetas ($100) a month," a Canario shipping man told us, "my family of five lived very comfortably. Now at 10,000 ($250), we could live indecently."

Of course, the Canaries aren't the only dish in the ocean. There's Madeira, Majorca, Jersey (the other Jersey), Ischia, the Caymans, St. Helena, Tobago, Tahiti and a covey of other island paradises. Like humans and houses, each has its good and bad points. But we chose the Canaries, and here's why.

There are seven requirements for a family paradise:

- 1) Dry, sunny, year-round summer weather. Object: to eliminate snow suits, rain gear, asthma.
- 2) Year-round ocean swimming.
- 3) Living costs one-third to one-half what they are at home.
- 4) First-class medical care 24 hours away.
- 5) Opportunity to learn a useful foreign language.
- 6) Access to stimulating, educated people with a viewpoint different from ours.

7) A culture with different standards and an easy-going tempo.

The much-cartooned desert island, equipped only with palm tree and native girl, would never meet these requirements. Nor would an isle such as Capri, with its daily wave of tourists. The island we felt fitted specifications most exactly was Grand Canary Island, one of the seven inhabited Canary Islands in the Atlantic 700 miles southwest of Gibraltar and 100 miles off the west coast of Africa.

The climate exceeded our most optimistic dreams. It was neither tropical — in the sense of monsoons and humidity and torpid heat — nor temperate as we understand the term in the U.S. In winter, warm, dry air from the African desert repelled the chill trade winds from the north. Winter mornings were good "suit weather." Afternoons were warm enough for swimming. In summer the cool trades drove the hot desert airs back into the Sahara. And all year the friendly Gulf Stream sent seas of constant warmth — warmer in winter than Southern California's surf in summer.

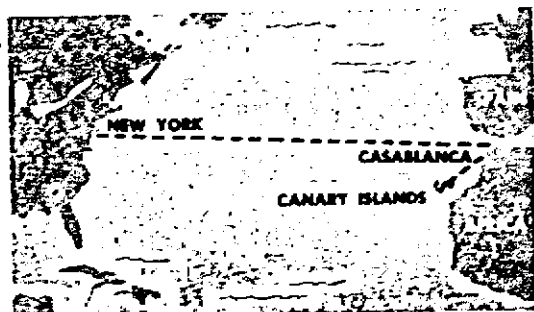

Who's for a Merienda?

Except in the port area there were no houses by the sea, so we settled for a mountain villa and a small European car to bridge the gap. From here we drove to any of four beaches. One was an oasis with palms, a lagoon, five miles of dunes along a warm, shimmering sea and not another living person in sight. Just us, alone with sun, sand and sea, in June — and in January, too.

A day at the beach might be followed by a different kind of day — a morning of shopping, a big midday meal, a siesta and a Canary merienda from 6 until 10. This is a wonderful blend of high tea, cocktail party, dance, debate and children's soiree — the way to entertain in Grand Canary. Or instead we might climb the 2,000-to-6,000 foot mountain peaks that walled our world. Or wander through the orange groves and banana plantations and talk to the friendly, unhurried farmers. And the evening air might ring with guitar music and the laughter of young couples discussing tomorrow's fiesta.

Language was a problem at first. Only one of us had studied it — two years of high-school Spanish with a four-month night-school refresher. It was two or three months before we could carry on an intelligible conversation. As a resident you need to know the language, and the more you know the more fun you have. As we learned more, all of us formed friendships we'll treasure for the rest of our lives.

"Friends," said one of the island's leading citizens, "are for more than giggling with." And in weeks to come, this man's family took us into their hearts. Their house became ours when we visited the city. They helped our children with Spanish. They took us on beach parties. They loaned us clothes for a formal reception. They took us to military maneuvers, football games, concerts. Even Christmas was a day shared, and homesickness was far from our minds.

In some cases we had to overcome certain prejudices against Americans. One day, crossing a village square, we were stopped by a Canario couple. The woman asked if we were from the Basque country of Spain, where there are many blonds. Told we were Americans, she reacted with shocked surprise. "But it can't be," she protested. "In America, people do not have so many children. One or two, yes? But not four." To her, America was the land of skyscraper dwellers with Only Children.

To a Canario, money and material possessions are quite secondary. Unwritten charge accounts at the shops are the rule. Too-prompt payment of a bill may be an unfriendly act, suggesting that the debtor thinks the creditor hard-pressed. No one allows impatience to cause embarrassment to another. One day, after piling up more groceries than she had money for, my wife tried to return the extra items. The clerk was greatly distressed. Although he had never seen her before, he insisted she take the goods and pay some other day.

"The important thing is that you should be happy," he said. "When you are happy you will always return. If you do not return I will be desolate because I have thrown away the chance to make a new friend."

Living costs turned out to be even lower than we had anticipated. Of the $5,000 saved for this "year away," we had to allot $2,150 for transportation. This left $2,850 for 14 months' living expenses for six of us. At first we felt we'd be lucky to get by on this $200 a month without a car and with only a gardener and a cook. After our second month we discovered that even $165 a month would cover us, so we added the car and a full-time housemaid.

How was this possible? Our villa and servants came to $50. Food ran to $60 or $70, with nine of us eating. Haircuts were 12 cents for me and 10 for the boys. Movies (such as Son of Paleface, with Bob Hope wisecracking in Spanish) were 10 cents for adults, 2½ for children. Milk right from the cow was 10 cents a quart, oranges right off the tree and bananas straight from the plantation 3 cents a pound. Gin: 70 to 95 cents a fifth. Scotch: $2.80.

Sorry, No Peanut Butter

Living costs can come higher for the visitor who does not accept the Canario way of life. Facial tissues, for instance, are not available at any price. Neither is peanut butter. A No. 2½ can of Hawaiian pineapple costs 90 cents. If you insist (we didn't) upon celebrating Thanksgiving with turkey, you could pay the combined monthly wages of your cook and housemaid. And though American cigarettes are smuggled in at $1.25 a carton, anything else from the U.S. may cost double what it does here.

When is the best time for you to take a year away from it all? Don't wait for retirement. Go now — at 30, 35 or 40 — when you still have years left to benefit from it.

To find your paradise will take research. You'll find that very little has been written about living on islands. There are travel pamphlets, to be sure, but few down-to-earth facts on schools, medical care and what's for lunch. With a three-year collection of travel magazines, an encyclopedia and some Harian publications (mailing address: Greenlawn, N.Y.), you can work up a list of 40 or 50 possibilities. To these apply the "tests" above. If this only leads to a tie, visit the consulates of each. We also wrote to the Spanish Information Office, 485 Madison Ave., New York City.

Dromedary Presents Its New Angel Food Mix

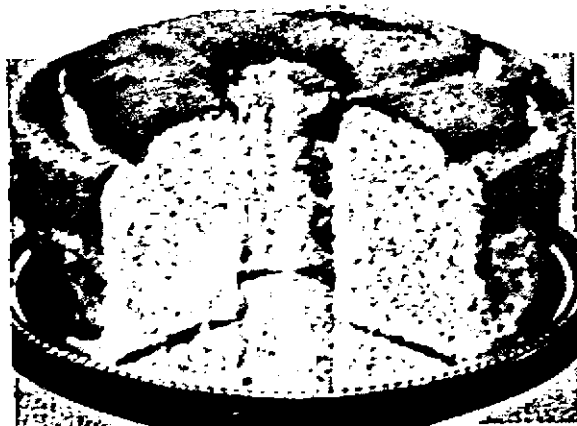

Inspired by the historic recipe used in the Birthplace of Juliette Gordon Low, Founder of the Girl Scouts

Angel Food, indeed! Light as a moonbeam, fluffy as a summer cloud, white and moist as a fresh snowfall—that's the kind of Angel Food Cake you'll bake with Dromedary Early American Angel Food Mix. No matter how good you've made Angel Food Cake before, you'll outdo yourself with new Dromedary!

And, as any good cook knows, the secret is in the recipe. Dromedary has turned to a favorite recipe used in the Birthplace of Juliette Gordon Low, founder of the Girl Scouts of the United States of America. The inspiration for this new mix—a veritable masterpiece of the baking art—was found in an old family cookbook. Result: an Angel Food Cake that bakes high and light and with a yummy crust and flavor all its own. Dromedary is the only Angel Food Mix wrapped in Glittering Gold Foil to keep it mixing-bowl fresh!

Once again, Dromedary makes baking history with another historic recipe. You, too, can make history at your own table if you bake a Dromedary Angel Food Cake—soon!

DROMEDARY received rights to the Angel Food recipe used in the birthplace of Juliette Gordon Low in return for its support of the restoration and endowment of that historic home now owned by the Girl Scouts of the U. S. A., a member organization of the National Trust for Historic Preservation.

Tips for you
on how to get away for a year at ease

WHOOPEDEDOO on beach

To reach your island, I recommend travel by freighter. It starts you off in the right mood: simple, informal, inexpensive. There is no direct transportation between the U.S. and Grand Canary, so we went first to Casablanca, Morocco, on a Royal Rotterdam Lloyd freighter. For the leg from Casablanca to Grand Canary, we wrote for third-class reservations to Compagnie de Navigation Paquet, Marseilles, France. Combined fare for both ships came to $173 each, or $1,038 for the six of us.

Here are some other ways to hold down expenses:

- 1) If you have a family like ours, you can get a group passport for $10 instead of six separate ones for $60. The only catch: you must cross national borders as a group.
- 2) Keep luggage light and manageable. We held to three suitcases and four army foot-lockers.
- 3) Check currency rates before setting out. We saved 10 per cent on living expense by buying the legal limit of Spanish currency through our U.S. bank. The rest of our needs were sent by our bank to a Grand Canary bank. This saved 8 per cent.

What about your job? My company generously allowed me a leave of absence. Our school superintendent granted leaves to the children, too. He said the experience would more than make up for the loss acts out 15th-century Spanish invasion. Among "defenders": four Walters.

of a year of formal schooling. (And he was right.)

What to do about your car and your house? We sold our car, and leased the house to an Army colonel for 14 months at a rental which permitted our agent to pay all fixed expenses at home.

A caution: If you're a big-time Charlie, out to paint the town, you'll think the Canaries strictly for the birds. Might as well shoot your $5,000 in New York or Paris. Though there's a luxury hotel on each of the main islands, Canarios don't cotton to visitors who shout, "Bring on the dancing girls" (or milk shakes or ice cubes or sirloin steaks).

If you find your paradise and leave behind the clutter of civilization, you may wonder why you should ever return. We did many times, finally realizing that the homing instinct was bound to win out. The longer we stayed away the more we appreciated what we could make of our lives back here.

This is one good reason to live away for a year, and there are many others. With time to think, you gain a new perspective. You can learn to relax, to cut down needless ritual, to gain a sense of well-being. Your family has a new unity. You can return to new jobs and old responsibilities with vigor and confidence.

These are just a few of the benefits realized from a year in an island paradise. Do they appeal to you? ■

FEBRUARY FUN for Barry Walter is romp in warm surf. Though school day ran from 9 to 7, three-hour siesta allowed play time.

FAMILY LINEUP of Walters includes (l. to r.) Dick, Kathleen, Barry, Brian, 7; Karen, 6, and Craig, 4. Family found a year away gave them new unity.

New-formula LA FRANCE BLUING WASHES OUT "NYLON GRAY"

Also, keeps new nylon bright... keeps out the 'gray'!

Easy as this:

1 Soak garment 5 to 10 minutes in a washbowl full of hot La France suds. Nothing else needed... La France is detergent, nylon-brightener and bluing all in one.

2 Wash, rinse, hang to dry... and that's it! After just five washings even the dingiest nylon is bright again.

NOTE Gentle La France won't let fabric get "yellow" like most bleaches. White things stay white, colored things stay bright when you wash them in new La France Bluening. Remember La France is also wonderful for rayons, dacrons and cottons.

Use New-formula La France in the automatic washer for the family wash, too—no special bluing rinse needed. Get the economical 6-oz. package today.

HUMAN HELICOPTERS ON SKIS

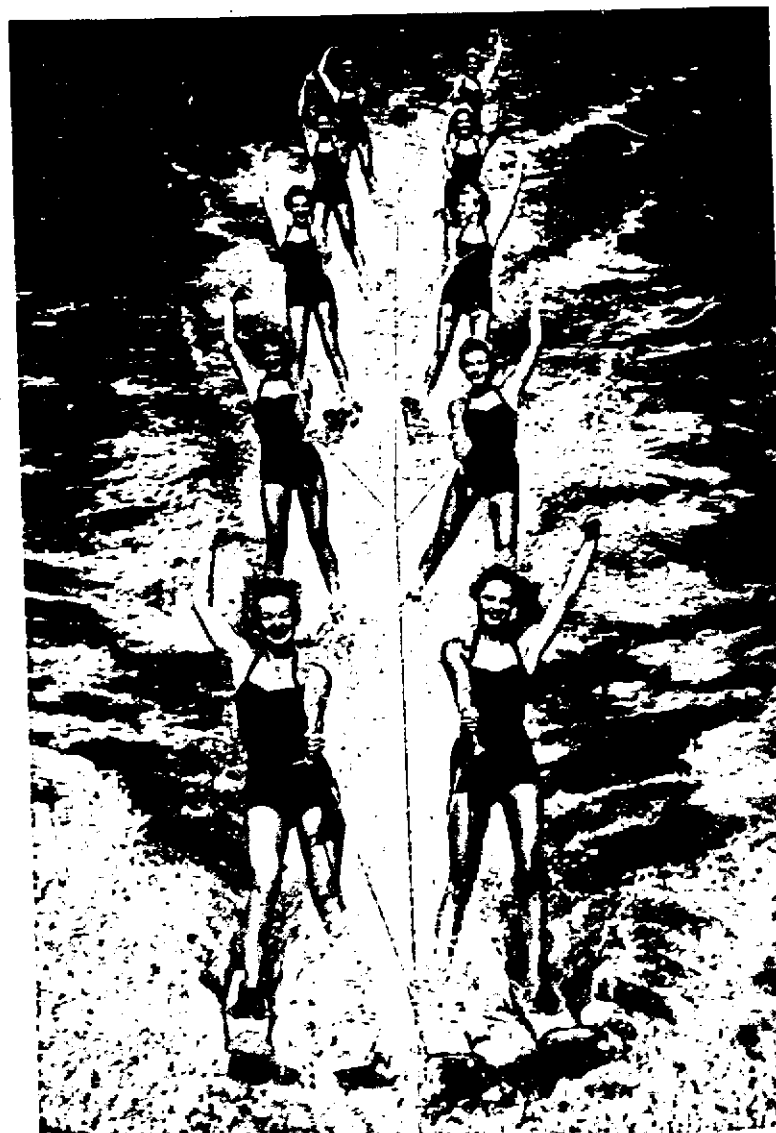

CYPRESS GARDENS, FLA.

Below is a somewhat different Cypress Gardens stunt.

DANCE on water skis is less strenuous than the "helicopter spin" and—in this case—more glamorous. These 10 pretty maidens are skiing in a conga line.

Have you outgrown fun?

FUN ISN'T JUST FOR CHILDREN, you know—or for the rich—or the happy-go-lucky. Every woman needs fun, almost as much as she needs food!

Fun keeps you feeling young, looking young. And you should keep in mind, especially if you have a family, that fun makes you fun to be with.

But—if you're like all too many women today—maybe you're missing out . . .

Perhaps each day seems alike to you . . . gray, and . . . yes, a little grim. You do the same monotonous chores. You drag yourself from one task to another.

You feel yourself irritated by little things. Even your children's laughter, perhaps, tends to make you edgy and annoyed. And what make it worse is that underneath you know there's really good-natured, even-tempered you.

It's difficult to understand why this gradual change has come about, leaving you feeling so . . . well, so "in-between."

No, you're not really sick

You tell yourself that you're not really sick, so you actually can't blame your health. But you're far from being really well.

"It might comfort you to know that you're not the only one who feels 'wrong' day after day. Millions of people have the very same experience. They're missing out on fun, too—and they don't know why, either.

After all, it just wouldn't occur to the average person that anything as simple as the caffeine habit may have a marked effect on the way he feels.

Yet, without realizing it, you may be one of the millions bothered by the caffeine in coffee or tea.

Your doctor would tell you . . .

Your doctor would be the first to tell you that, for some women, one of the worst offenders against the human nervous system is the caffeine in coffee or tea.

The use of this strong stimulant day after day, week after week, may make you tired, dragged-out, nervous, irritable.

However, if you're addicted to this habit, there's no reason in the world why you can't get yourself in tune again, begin to feel as you'd like to.

You replace a bad habit with a good one

You switch from caffeine-heavy drinks to a new, wonderful, caffeine-free hot beverage . . . Imitation Coffee Flavor Instant Postum—available for the first time.

What a rich aroma this new beverage has! And it tastes so full-bodied, so satisfying!

Your grocer has both new Imitation Coffee Flavor Instant Postum, and famous regular Instant Postum with a distinctive flavor that millions have enjoyed for many years.

You make Postum instantly, right in the cup. Just add boiling water and stir. You can enjoy it straight or with cream and sugar, all day long, without fear.

There isn't a taut nerve, a sleepless hour or a headache in Postum. It can't make you nervous, irritable. It can't keep you awake at night because it doesn't have a single speck of caffeine in it.

You owe it to yourself and to your family to try this wonderful, caffeine-free beverage not just once, but for 30 consecutive days. After all, you can't expect to free yourself from the accumulated effect of a habit of years in two or three days, or even a week.

Costs half as much as most coffees

Whether you choose new Imitation Coffee Flavor Instant Postum (red label) or regular Instant Postum (blue label), you'll get up to 100 cups from the 8-oz. jar and up to 50 cups from the 4-oz. jar—for less than a cent a cup! Postum is so inexpensive, compared with most coffees—cup for cup, it costs only half as much.

So try Instant Postum for at least 30 days—take this one step that may make a real difference in your everyday life—every waking hour, every sleeping hour.

Don't let another day go by without giving this caffeine-free beverage a fair trial. Start the 30-day test today. See if you don't feel better! Act better! Look better!

YOUR CAR ON THE COMPLETE C.I.T. PLAN

You and your family get extra protection when you buy your car the C.I.T. way—in regular monthly payments out of income. Your car dealer can arrange everything on the C.I.T. Time Purchase Plan, and all these protections can be yours from the moment you receive the keys to your new car:

YOUR CAR PROTECTED FROM COLLISION LOSSES. If you should have an accident, under the C.I.T. Plan you may have your own car dealer make the repairs promptly, with genuine factory parts and approved service methods. No need to shop around for bids or estimates. No second-rate repairs. Fastest claim adjustment service, too.

FURTHER PROTECTIONS TO YOUR CAR. You are protected in case of fire, theft, malicious mischief, vandalism, flood, explosion, riot, pilferage and many other causes of loss.

TOWING AND ROADSIDE HELP. If you or any member of your family should run out of gas, have a dead battery, flat tire, starter failure, or any other breakdown on the road, you simply call the nearest service shop, get a receipted bill, and you will be reimbursed up to $10 for service and labor.

ESTABLISHED CREDIT WHEREVER YOU DRIVE. Anywhere you travel in the United States or Canada, you have full credit for any emergency repairs required by your car. No need to dip into travel funds or try to cash checks. The nearest C.I.T. office pays the repair bill for you. You repay in convenient monthly instalments.

HELP IN LEGAL DIFFICULTIES. If you or any member of your family are held on traffic charges, the C.I.T. Plan enables you to obtain a bail bond up to $5,000 at no additional expense; saves delay, embarrassment, money. (Unavailable to California or Canadian purchasers.)

CASH BENEFITS IN PERSONAL ACCIDENTS. You are covered in case of your death or loss of sight or limbs arising from many common traffic accidents, as specified in a Limited Travel and Pedestrian Accident Policy. (Unavailable to California or Ohio purchasers.)

LIFE INSURANCE. If you should die from any cause while this insurance is in force on your life, your family will own your car free and clear without further payments.

All these protections will help you enjoy carefree driving. Over fifteen million people have had them when they bought their cars out of income on the C.I.T. Plan. You can get this low-cost financing and protected transportation through your car dealer no matter what make of car you buy. Ask for the complete C.I.T. Plan when you buy your next new or used car.

PLAYERS, judging from the stance of the figures, may have taken these positions when ball was pitched in game.

BASEBALL: Back to the Indians?

600-year-old statues, found in Mexico, now may prove they played it first

CATCHER used a pot or basket instead of a mitt, probably stood a good distance behind the batter—since he didn't wear a mask.

PITCHER threw a near-regulation-size ball—of an unknown material—with the overhand motion of modern hurlers.

MEXICO CITY.

How old is baseball? According to many historians, the first game was played on June 19, 1846 between the New York Nine and the New York Knickerbockers in Hoboken, N.J. Now, however, there's evidence that baseballs may have been tossed around at least 500 years earlier in the rocky plateaus of western Mexico.

The evidence: three reddish clay figures found in tombs of Indians said to be Tarascan. Shown in the photos on these pages, the 600-year-old figures depict Indians in stances amazingly similar to those of a present-day pitcher, batter and catcher.

First found in 1952 or '53, the figures only recently came to light when artist Diego Rivera donated them to Mexico's National Museum here. The 1½-lb., foot-high figures stunned archeologists here and in the U.S. When PARADE showed these pictures to an archeologist at New York City's famed Museum of Natural History, he was nonplused. "This is the first evidence we've ever had," he said, "that North American Indians apparently played a game so similar to today's baseball."

Judging from the stances of the figures, it is at least possible that the players stood in relation to one another as the photographer has placed them above—the way a present-day pitcher, batter and catcher would stand. Whether there were any more players is unknown, but from other relics the scientists have found that the games—played before large crowds in rectangular stadiums—were a lot grimmer than today's pennant races. Reason: The contests involved the tribe's warriors and their prisoners—and if the prisoners lost, they paid with their lives.

PHOTOS BY HECTOR C. MANJARREZ

BATTER was outfitted with a chest protector of armor and a helmet, probably his battle equipment. The bat was made of solid wood, may also have been used as a war club. High "collar" of chest protector, it would seem, allowed batter to duck his head inside like a turtle to guard himself against "bean balls."

PATIO COOK-OUT uses barbecue with revolving spit, warming oven, detachable shelves. Note foil drip pan in front to catch fat and prevent flame-ups; you can make this yourself. The meal pictured centers around chickens on spit. To cook, heap briquets slightly to rear of firebox; allow 1¼-1½ hours for 3-lb. birds.

Summer's coming—so here are wonderful ways
you can fix food with charcoal and grill

by Beth Merriman, PARADE FOOD EDITOR

California claims it all started there, but what about New England clambakes and Southwest barbecues? In any case, this business of cook-outs is America's new love. The butcher, the baker, the barbecue maker can bear witness, along with many others in the food and appliance fields. This summer, the whole country will be cooking outdoors with charcoal.

You can spend a lot or a little for your barbecue grill. None of those pictured here is excessively costly, but all are efficient and easy to use. Whichever you choose, follow the manufacturer's directions for best results.

As for fuel, buy charcoal briquets of good quality. Start your fire 45 minutes before you cook. Space briquets a half-inch apart. Wait until ash coats each briquet. Tap it off before and during cooking. The heat will be terrific — and when you try these PARADE "barbecue specials," the results will be, too!

Hamburgers and corn—a grill dinner for four

This compact, lightweight grill folds up and can be carried anywhere. It uses charcoal briquets with aluminum foil placed underneath to reflect and intensify heat... To barbecue corn-on-the-cob: Husk, remove silk, soak in salted ice water 20 minutes, drain; brush with soft butter, sprinkle with salt and pepper; wrap in doubled heavy foil, twisting ends; cook 12-15 minutes, giving each ear a quarter-turn four times... To make Hamburger Squares: Pat the seasoned meat thin; cut in squares; top four squares with packaged sliced process cheese, sliced stuffed olives and remaining meat squares; cook 5-6 minutes on each side; serve between bread slices... To grill french fries: Wrap frozen french-fried potatoes in foil; heat on grill until hot, crisp and brown.

Double-duty grill cooks a meal—and burns dry waste

This deep, convenient device can be wheeled around to collect and burn leaves, grass, etc.; with lid inverted and grill in, it's a charcoal brazier... To barbecue ham and pineapple: Use inch-thick slices of precooked ham; slash fat edge; heat 30 minutes, turning once. Wrap pineapple slices in heavy foil with a little butter, brown sugar and cinnamon; grill 10 minutes; unwrap; place on ham after turning... Wrap servings of sliced squash with butter and seasoning in doubled heavy foil; grill half an hour, turning once... Rub skins of potatoes with soft butter; wrap in doubled heavy foil; cook 1-1½ hours, turning several times.

Liver-and-bacon on a grill you can easily flip over

This grill turns over with a twist of the wrist, holding food firmly in place. It can be raised or lowered to control the degree of heat... For this quick-and-easy meal, slice large onions and grill 5 minutes with calf's liver. Flip grill; remove top; add bacon and sliced tomatoes; replace top; cook about 5 minutes longer. During last two minutes of cooking, put bacon on top of liver to blend their flavors.

PINEAPPLE COCONUT SPRYCRUST

- ½ cup less 1 tablespoon Spry
- 3 tablespoons canned pineapple juice, heated
- 1 teaspoon milk
- 1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 4 tablespoons chopped coconut

Put Spry in mixing bowl. Add heated pineapple juice and milk and whip with fork until all liquid is absorbed and a thick, smooth mixture is formed. Sift flour and salt together onto Spry-whip and stir quickly into a dough. Pick up and work until smooth and blended; shape into a flat round. Roll between two 12" squares of waxed paper into a circle ¼" thick and about size of paper. Peel off top paper, sprinkle 2 tablespoons chopped coconut over pastry, leaving about a 1" border plain. Re-cover with paper and gently roll coconut into dough. Turn pastry and paper over and repeat process, rolling in remaining 2 tablespoons coconut. Peel off top paper, place pastry in 9" pie pan, pastry next to pan. Remove paper, fit pastry into pan, trim ¼" beyond pan, turn back even with edge of pan, flute rim. Prick shell all over with fork. Bake in very hot oven (450°F) 12-15 min.

Simple but Sensational!

SPRYCRUST IS FLAVORED PIECRUST!

Now for the first time you can make as many different piecrusts as there are flavors—chocolate, honey, mocha, just to mention a few.

Based on the famous Spry "Water-Whip" pastry method, Sprycrust is an entirely new and original kind of pastry. And it's amazingly simple to prepare. You whip in flavor—you roll in a texture. Important: Do not, under any circumstances, make substitutions for Spry.

Ask any good cook you know. The real test of a shortening is piecrust. So if you have had failures with piecrust, don't blame yourself. Blame the shortening... and switch to Spry. No other shortening can top Spry for pure shortening power. And this power is uniformly distributed through every pound. Thanks to homogenizing, plus a patented process of protecting its purity, Spry has the "built-in" safety to guarantee perfect piecrust every time you bake.

The untold story of

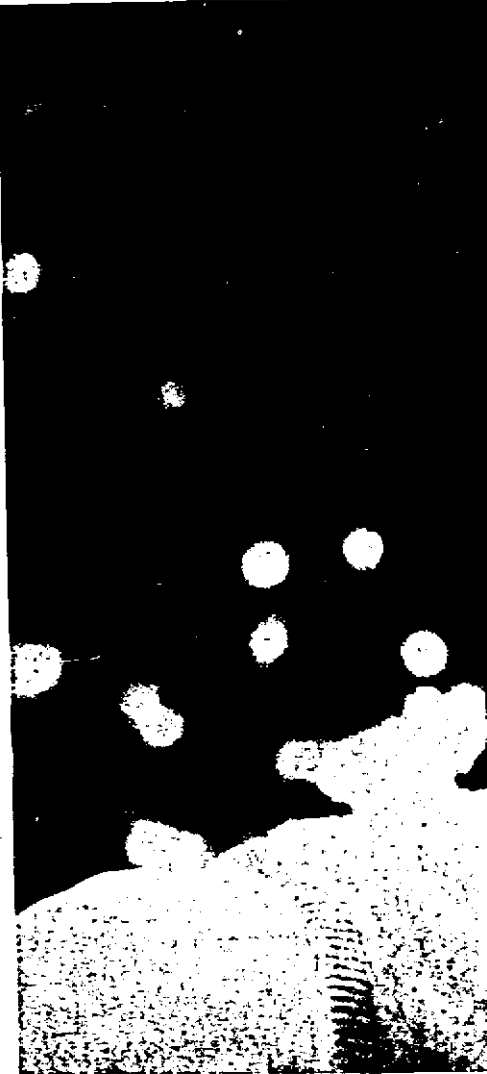

Gregory Peck

PART II

He became an actor by accident—now he grosses $500,000 a year. Here's how Eldred Peck made the grade in Hollywood

by LLOYD SHEARER

PARADE WEST COAST CORRESPONDENT

AUSTERE LOOK characterizes Peck off-

HOLLYWOOD. When Eldred Gregory Peck was graduated (an English major) from the University of California in 1939, a classmate prophesied: "That guy will make the greatest floor-walker any department store ever had."

Today the classmate is a minion in a New York advertising agency, and lanky Eldred is one of this town's real successes. He has been nominated four times for Academy Awards, he lives in a $105,000 Beverly Hills mansion (five bedrooms, five baths), drives a Jaguar and a station wagon, owns a ranch near Santa Barbara, heads his own independent production company, grosses approximately half a million dollars a year and is the star of two of the outstanding films of 1956, The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit and Moby Dick.

Moreover, demands for his acting services are so intense that he currently enjoys the right to choose his own stories, approve his own directors, dictate his own terms as to salary and profit percentages.

How did Gregory Peck, now 40, achieve this enviable position?

His boyhood, spent in Southern California, was directionless. Child of a broken home, he divided his time unequally among military school, his pharmacist father and his receptionist mother. At college he thought of becoming a doctor, then grew fond of rowing and Elizabethan literature—two pursuits of limited financial potential.

But, because he was tall and personable, he was asked in his senior year at California to join a campus production of Anna Christie. That did it.

Of his stage debut, Peck confides: "I was lousy. I didn't like acting and I'm reticent about my emotions. Even at that, had I been ordinary lousy, I'd probably have forgotten the whole business in time."

"But I wasn't. I was lousy lousy. And it did something to me. It made me sore. You can call it a challenge if you like. But for the first time in my life there was something I had to get out and lick. Nothing had ever hit me like that before."

Thus, following graduation, Peck took off to conquer Broadway with a letter of introduction from his father to a business friend. The letter helped him land a talker's job at the New York World's Fair.

As a talker—"Step right up, folks, and watch 'em go... Around the upright walls of an open bowl... One hundred death-defying miles per hour"—Peck received $25 a week. After a month of it, his voice "sounded like a gravel mixer." So, on his day off, he wangled a spot as a Radio City sight-seeing guide. This lasted until the fall of 1939, when he won an acting scholarship at the Neighborhood Playhouse School of Theatre. Since it paid only $50 a month, he took modeling jobs to augment his income.

While Peck was learning his craft under expert teachers, he slipped a spinal disk one day in dancing class. That aggravated an injury he had suffered in his rowing days—and presently brought him a 4-F draft rating. Two years later, when five Hollywood studios were fighting for his services, Peck admitted frankly that he owed at least part of his popularity to the wartime manpower shortage. "I caught this industry in a squeeze," he said. "At least 12 top-notch actors are away fighting."

The Road—and Greta

Before he came to Hollywood, Peck dropped his first name and signed to go on the road with Katherine Cornell in The Doctor's Dilemma. His part called for eight lines in the third act. His pay: $50 a week.

Says a fellow-actor (English) of Peck at that time: "He seemed to be rather low-keyed for an American, never any jokes or wisecracks. He behaved older than his years. Most young actors sow their wild oats on these road tours—new town, new sweetheart. Not Peck. He fell quickly in love with Miss Cornell's hairdresser, a pretty little thing named Greta."

screen (above) and on. Critics say this expresses his true self. Friends say it hides real warmth.

Greta Konen, petite Helsinki-born daughter of a Finnish jeweler, was earning $60 a week just then. When Greg, two years her junior, first broached marriage, she suggested that they wait until they had fattened their exchequer at least a little.

The following year, Guthrie McClintic offered Peck the male lead in Morning Star at $200 a week. The play ran on Broadway a month, then closed. The very next day, October 4, 1942, Gregory Peck and Greta Konen were married in an Episcopal church in Manhattan.

They began housekeeping in an old brownstone house. "I was sure," the first Mrs. Peck says, "that Greg was going to be tops. His attitude was so positive. He was willing to work endlessly on his parts. He was in three more Broadway plays before we came to Hollywood, and none of them was successful. But in each one he got sensational notices. I can't tell you how hard he worked, in fact, still works."

The Peck marriage endured technically from 1942 to 1955 and was blessed with three sons: Jonathan (now 11), Stephen (9) and Cary (6). Actually it began to unravel in 1952, when the family journeyed to Europe so Greg could make Roman Holiday with an unknown actress named Audrey Hepburn.

Why the marriage began to founder is difficult to tell. Certainly, Peck is no woman-chaser. People who know him relatively well say flatly that the actor is fundamentally shy in the presence of women.

"With Greg," one actress confided in me, "a girl has got to be the aggressor. Unlike most actors, he isn't an exhibitionist. He always gave me the feeling that he was trying to look into his subconscious, only he was afraid of what he might find there." Some years ago, after extensive research into Peck's youth, a writer reported that Peck "tended to stand back and watch while the cheerleaders and backfield men made off with the only girls who interested him."

Peck by nature is not a volatile or temperamental man. He has tremendous self-control. Sometimes, during his first marriage, he would come home after a hard day's work and find dinner guests he didn't like; then he would merely take his plate of food and eat in a bedroom.

In her divorce hearing Greta Peck testified that one night, when she and Greg were entertaining friends, "My husband stayed for half an hour, then took his hat and coat and walked out before dinner. I followed him to the door and asked him if he wanted me to go with him. He said it made no difference whether I did not or not. My husband told me we would be better friends if we weren't married."

PECK CONTINUED

His marriage failed—but he remains a devoted father

FURIOUS MOMENT in Moby Dick finds Captain Ahab (Peck) wielding harpoon on studio whale's flank. Behind peg-leg, Peck's own leg is hooked into a handy hole.

In the divorce settlement, Peck gave his wife their family home and furnishings, $65,000 a year in alimony, custody of the three boys; agreed to pay $750 a month for the boys' support, give up half his interest in three films, World in His Arms, Roman Holiday and Moby Dick; agreed that, after 1965, he would pay his ex-wife 10 per cent of his earnings until she remarries. In the annals of Hollywood's hectic divorce history, few other actors have ever been so generous without compulsion.

For that matter, few have been as considerate to their children as Peck is to his. Two Christmases ago, although estranged from his wife, he had Jonathan flown to Europe for the holidays. Five months ago Peck was married to 24-year-old Veronique Passani, an ex-newspaperwoman from Paris, but he makes it a point to see his sons several times a week. He takes them riding on his ranch, puts in his stint as a Little League baseball father, attentively watches their scholastic progress at the Bel Air Town and Country School.

"Greg is a man," claims his first wife, "who has always taken scrupulous care of his responsibilities. My boys are extremely lucky in having him for a father. When we first came to Hollywood, I never thought Greg and I would develop in different ways and grow apart. But I guess that's what really happened. It's no one's fault."

His First Movie

It was Casey Robinson, a screen writer wanting to turn producer, who first signed Peck to a movie deal. Robinson had seen Peck in Morning Star and had talked emotionally to the young actor about becoming "part of a small intimate group that would make artistic as well as commercial movies." The pitch appealed to Peck, so he came west and starred for Robinson in Days of Glory. The year was 1943, and Hollywood was losing its screen heroes to the armed forces in droves. Peck quickly became what is termed "a hot property," with various studios bidding for "a piece of Peck."

Eventually he was parceled up among MGM, David O. Selznick and 20th Century-Fox, committing himself to make 12 pictures in approximately seven years. All were big-budget productions. Local observers say his best performance to date was wrung out of him in Gentleman's Agreement (1947) by director Elia Kazan. The New York critics, however, voted him their top acting award on the basis of his work in Twelve O'Clock High (1949).

It is safe to say that in all his 23 films Peck never has given a bad performance. Though critics say he lacks the spark of greatness, each of his roles is carefully thought out and painstakingly executed. Frequently called "a director's dream," he is long on industry, integrity and intelligence, short on bluff, bilge and ballyhoo.

Although Peck's name is well-known in the movie colony, his true personality is not. Many colleagues consider him unbending, cold, humorless, even forbidding. While he spends money freely, he rarely seems vivacious or happy; generally he resembles a stock-broker more than an actor. He thinks before he talks and speaks his words one by one as if he were launching carrier pigeons.

One of his close friends, screen-writer Sy Bartlett, insists that Peck gives an erroneous surface impression. "Underneath the serious facade," Bartlett explains, "Greg is one of the kindest, warmest human beings you can ever possibly know. He's so understanding that lots of times he's like a father-confessor. I can't tell you how many people's troubles he's borne. Guys like John Huston, Willie Wyler, Nunnally Johnson, men who are keen judges of character, they all swear by Greg. Why? Because he's solid, he's good in a pinch, you can count on him."

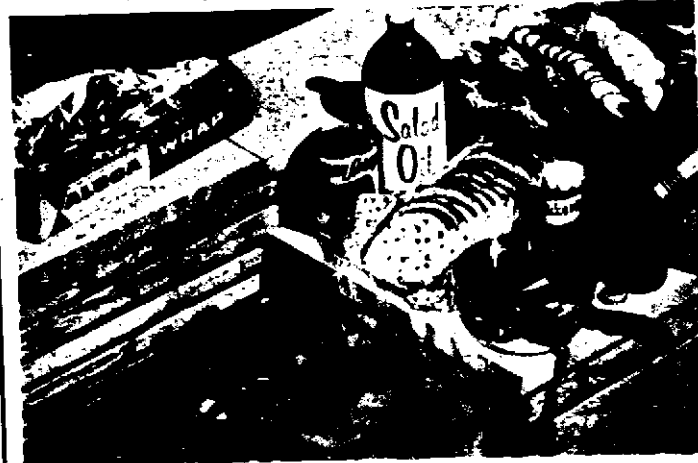

"Maybe he's not a fast man with a gag, but that doesn't mean he's without a sense of humor. A few weeks ago I was married in Palm Springs. One day later Greg came up and slapped me on the back. 'And they said,' he cracked, 'that your marriage wouldn't last!'"

RELAXED MOMENT during shooting of Gray Flannel Suit in Westport, Conn., sees Peck in horn rims, comparing swings with the pro on a local golf course.

As for Peck's own new marriage, it seems to be wearing well. The second Mrs. Peck is an attractive young brunette of French-Russian extraction who hero-worships her husband and, in the Gallic tradition, permits him complete mastery of their home. Peck has taken Veronique with him on picture locations in Ceylon (The Purple Plains) and Ireland (Moby Dick), and undoubtedly will take her with him this coming July when he is scheduled to leave for the South Seas with director John Huston on the production of a new film, Typee.

As movie celebrities go, Gregory Peck is probably the most un-Hollywood-like actor in the business. He saves his acting for the camera; few other stars can control themselves that long.

To prepare Cook-out Barbecued Broilers with Ac'cent
2 to 3 broiler-fryer chickens, split lengthwise		2 teaspoons Ac'cent

*Chicken: Hook wing tip behind shoulder joint on to back. Shake Ac'cent on both sides of chicken. Place on grate. Brush both sides with barbecue sauce. Start cooking with cut side toward grate set 12 inches or more from heat. Cook slowly until tender, turning frequently and basting each time. Allow 1 to 1½ hours cooking time. Use any left-over barbecue sauce for dunking.

*Excellent results depend upon slow cooking—glowing coals (not flame) and proper distance from heat source.

Teen-age Topics

It's about time for a column devoted solely to the boys. Here are some of their recent letters:

Q. I am in business college and like the same girl another boy likes. He has a car and can afford to show her a good time. I can't. Should I forget her? — L.H.M., Beaumont, Tex.

A. Tell the girl that you like her but that you can't afford to entertain her more elaborately. If she is mature enough, she will not judge you solely by material things.

Q. I am a boy 15 years old. My father says that I may not learn to drive the family car until I have stopped biting my nails. I have tried many times but failed. Please help me. — R.E., Hartford, Conn.

A. Habits of this kind are very hard to control, but when the reward is great enough, sometimes a person can give up such an unattractive one. Nail-biting, especially in the teens, can be a sign of severe tension. It would be a good idea to find out the cause of your tension before you even attempt to learn to drive.

Q. I am 18 and go with a girl who is 16. We love each other but she won't go steady with me because she is afraid her last boy-friend will make all of her friends dislike her. (He was my best friend at one time and we had an argument over her.) What can I do? — P.L., Pine Bluff, Ark.

A. If she has stopped going with him, there really shouldn't be any problem. I suggest you go out with some other girl. You may decide your friendship with this boy means more to you than the girl.

Q. I am a boy 15 years old and have a fairly large amount of money in the bank which I earned myself. I would like to buy a $45 rod and reel, but my mother thinks it is foolish to spend so much. What do you think? — W.N., Maryville, Tenn.

A. I feel that unless money a child earns is actually needed for the support of the household, parents should not forbid his buying what he wants with it — within reason.

Q. I am a boy of 16 and have been dating a girl of 14. I have taken her out only five times, but some of the kids at school have started a rumor that we are going steady. After hearing it, her mother won't let her date me until she has gone out with other boys. But since the other fellows think we're going steady, they won't ask her out. How can I solve this problem? — M.C., Saginaw, Mich.

A. If you really want to help, just take out a few other girls. In time, the boys will understand that this first girl was not your exclusive property at all. She should then have the variety of dates her mother prefers.

"To Thee I Will Give The Keys of the Kingdom"

George Johnson didn't hate the Pope. Indeed, he held the head of the Catholic Church in high esteem as a leader in the spheres of morality, world peace and human rights.

But nobody could convince George Johnson that the Holy Father had any special authority to speak officially for Christ. Where in the Bible, George wanted to know, is there any mention of such a person as a Vicar of Christ? Where in Holy Scripture does Our Lord delegate any of His authority to a single human being?

It was not until he read, and read again, the words of Jesus to Peter (Matthew 16:18-19) that George Johnson began to understand the Catholic claim of papal authority.

"And I say unto thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it" ... "And, I will give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven: and whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth shall be bound in heaven: and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven."

The Catholic claim concerning the authority of the Pope does not depend solely, of course, upon this or other significant passages of Holy Scripture. For the Vicarship of the Pontiffs had been universally recognized throughout Christendom long before the books of the Bible had been gathered together, and several centuries before the Church had officially selected the writings which were to be regarded as inspired.

But for the benefit of those who wish to weigh the Catholic claim in the light of the Bible, we respectfully suggest that they do as George Johnson did—read and read again Our Lord's words to Peter, "And I will give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven..."

For is it not a clear delegation of His authority when Christ tells Peter: "... whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth shall be bound in heaven..."? For a long time George Johnson had believed Our Lord's reference to "this rock" meant Peter's faith and not Peter's person. But now he saw in the Savior's words a specific command to exercise specific powers of judgment, which had to be an act of Peter the man.

A highly interesting and authoritative story of the origin of the papacy... the reasons why Catholics believe as they do concerning the Pope... a brief but exciting history of the Popes since the time of Peter, the first Pontiff—all these and many other interesting facts are contained in a pamphlet which we will gladly send you free on request. We will mail it in a plain wrapper and nobody will call on you. Mail coupon today. Ask for Pamphlet No. PR-11.

Three Acres of the Past

Sunday, May 27, 1956

HIDDEN AWAY among the derricks and oil pumps in the shadow of Signal Hill is a small plot of ground that time has passed by.

It looks much the same today as it did 80 years ago, and it apparently isn't going to change much in the next 80.

This gentle slope of sun-drenched land is the old Long Beach Municipal Cemetery, and its mysterious past is rivaled only by the oddity of its location.

SITUATED AT THE north-west corner of Orange Ave. and Willow St., deep in Signal Hill territory, the cemetery actually is Long Beach property. All around the industry of Signal Hill probes the earth for black, liquid treasure. But despite the fact that the little burial ground sits atop fabulously rich oil deposits, no wells mar its greens, for it is protected by the City of Long Beach and the oil derricks stop at its borders, like an army halted by a river.

Adjoining the old graveyard on the west is Sunnyside Cemetery, but a low hedge and a good many years separate the two. Sunnyside was started in 1906, making it a "Johnny come lately" when compared with the old municipal cemetery.

NO ONE IS SURE just how old the burial ground is—the oldest marked grave is that of one Milton F. Neece who was buried in 1878 at the age of 17 years.

But the graveyard goes back farther than that. Leonard Ryan, sexton, has been there since 1937. He tells about an old man who used to come around the cemetery back in the late 1930s. This elderly gentleman told Ryan that his father had been buried there "years ago—when I was a little boy." Ryan estimates that the man was in his 80s when he first met him!

Even official records don't shed much light on the early days of the cemetery. Mae D. Pierce, chief clerk in the Long Beach city engineer's office, can show you the old books.

THE CITY OF LONG BEACH was first incorporated in 1887, and took over operation of the graveyard on July 10, 1900, from the old Long Beach Cemetery Association or "L. B. Cemetery Co." as it was listed in many entries.

In those days the acreage was known as Signal Hill Cemetery, and the lots had all been sold off for private burial areas.

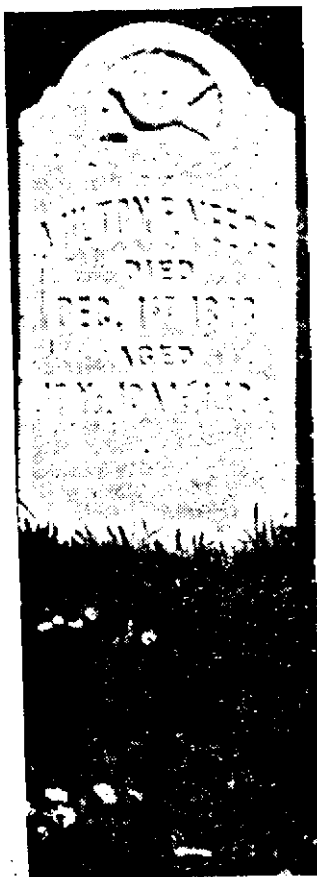

The record books were kept in such a vague manner that the city was unable to determine how much was paid for the lots—or how many persons were interred in the graveyard. The north end of the burial ground was a potter's field of unmarked and unidentified graves, and while the city has made a valiant effort to survey the headstones and spot them on a map, it never will be able to find out much about the potter's field graves.

ON THE EARLY PAPERS the 3½-acre burial ground is described as the "east one-quarter of farm lot 68, American Colony tract." And mention of the American Colony brings up the name of the cemetery's most famed occupant, William Erwin Willmore.

Willmore, city planner, visionary and philosopher, was an official of the American Colony Land and Water Association, organized in 1882. He signed an option contract to pay $100,000 for 4,000 acres of Rancho Los Cerritos, in order to build Willmore City.

His bubble burst and in 1901

he died a pauper, but his Willmore City grew into Long Beach. He lay in a forgotten grave until 1913 when the Signal Hill Civic League erected a modest monument over his final resting place.

THE CITY AND Leonard Ryan have done much for the old burial ground. The city converted some old driveway area after it took over administration of the cemetery, and made some more lots available—but today there are only about 10 or 12 lots left for sale.

Ryan recalls how, 19 years ago when he came there, the graveyard was pretty well forgotten. Wild mustard was making inroads among the graves and there was no water line. Ryan knocked on doors in City Hall until he got a water line and instructions to "do the best you can." He did his best—and it was good enough. The little cemetery is beautiful.

THE ADMINISTRATION of the burial ground has been handed back and forth for years. When the city first took over, it was put under the Board of Public Works, then it went to the Water Commission and later was put under Parks and Public Service. Even today there is no perpetual care assurance—the cemetery is kept up under a park maintenance appropriation!

Oil pumps creak and groan all around, and heavy traffic thunders by on streets just outside the fences, but inside the little burial ground everything is peaceful—just as it was when William Erwin Willmore gazed out across the plain to the sea and envisioned a city growing there.

Inside the fences are three acres of the past.

Wall separates the grave of William Erwin Willmore, city's "father," from busy Orange Ave., oil wells.

As crumbling old markers of L. B. Cemetery become irreparable, modern, ground-level stones replace them.

warm approval of the idea, and the mail still is bringing 20 to 30 letters a day.
"Best darn party I never gave," says Oilman Fairfield.

crackling campfires, stuff themselves from heaping plates of wholesome food, and sleep under brilliant stars far from the smoggy skies of the Southland.

THE PYLES BOYS' CAMP, now in its eighth year, has been inspiring unusual things in the California oil industry ever since it was founded.

The camp, high in the rustic solitude of Sierra National Forest, was organized, built, and is supported entirely by men and women of the oil industry. It came into being back in 1949, when a group of oil men decided to pay their respects to Robert M. Pyles for his years of service to the industry. Pyles, Huntington Beach oil man, told his friends that the tribute that would give him the most satisfaction was a camp for deserving youngsters.

THEY GAIN AN average of six pounds of weight and two inches of chest expansion.

They also gain some intangibles that can't be measured.

The camp quietly and unobtrusively instills in them qualities of good citizenship, self-reliance, and cooperation with others.

"A lot of the boys come up looking for a gimmick in the deal," says Bob McAdams, former Scout executive who directs the camp program. "They have never had anything given to them without strings before, and they take the city-bred viewpoint that there must be some angle."

INSTEAD, THEY find a camp where there isn't a single sign saying "Don't" where the only thing expected of them is to enjoy themselves and get along with the rest of the gang.

"Some people say you can't do much with a boy in two weeks," McAdams says. "But we know by a lot of experience that you can."

The Pyles files bulge with heart-warming evidence that this is true. Mexican lads from squalid farm-labor camps get a wider horizon of life and learn a deeper meaning in the flag ceremony held each day at camp. A Negro boy who knew first-hand the warping effect of racial discrimination stood up at the final campfire and with misty eyes told his new-found buddies:

"THIS CAMP taught me that if I like others they'll do the same for me."

A boy with a continual chip on his shoulder, who had never got along with others, lost his belligerence in the camp camaraderie and wound up winning the boys' vote as honor camper.

When the camp shuts down in September, a follow-up program goes into operation and each year it has been expanded. The oil men keep in touch with the boys and help maintain the feeling, born at the camp, that "somebody cares."

THE PYLES CAMP provided vacations for 40 boys the first year of its operation. Last year it served 350. This year more than 400 will make the trek into the High Sierra and in the closing two weeks this fall the camp will be host to its 2000th boy.

The oil industry has thrived on long-shot gambles, and in the Pyles camp it has hit a gusher from its unique investment in the youth of California.

Its reward has been a whole crop of better boys, some of whom Bob Pyles hopes will become the oil men of tomorrow.

IN EIGHT YEARS, the California oil industry has pumped a quarter-million dollars in cash and another quarter-million in donated labor and material into the camp high in the mountains 30 miles northeast of Springville, Calif.

Oilmen packed the entire camp and all its equipment over trails into the remote site. Each year a group of oil leaders drum up the budget for the operation of the camp. This year it runs to $30,000. And each year a host of oil people—high salaried executives and plain riggers and drillers alike—journey to the camp to help hundreds of boys enjoy healthful and character-building vacations that they otherwise could not afford.

THE CAMP PAYS all expenses for the boys—transportation, food, bedding, recreational equipment—the works. If a boy doesn't have proper clothes, the camp outfits him free of charge. It draws no lines on race or color, and opens its hospitality to Negro and Mexican youngsters as well as white.

"A boy is a boy," Bob Pyles puts it simply.

The camp operates for 12 weeks, and each boy gets 13 thrilling days among the towering trees and sparkling trout streams of the High Sierra. The camp is deep in the unspoiled mountain reaches and can be reached only by a six-mile hike. Each season the tons of food and supplies must be mule-packed in.

THE BOYS, from 12 to 16 years in age, are selected from the oil producing areas of the state, many from Long Beach and Orange County. Pyles himself, with the help of judges, social workers, police officers, and school officials, picks the boys.

"We have two basic requirements," Pyles says. "A boy must be unable to afford a camp vacation and the kind of youngster that will profit from it."

During their two weeks at camp, the boys ride horses on mountain trails, learn crafts, woodsmanship and conservation, swim and junk rainbow trout from streams, sing around

Good food and a real vacation deep in the Sierra does wonders with boys of 12 to 16 years of age in R. M. Pyles Boys Camp. Sports fare is varied.

AWAY BACK in the administration of Calvin Coolidge, Freeman E. Fairfield founded Oil Tool Corporation, which now has its headquarters at 3075 Cherry Ave. in Long Beach. Over the years, Oil Tool Corp. has grown and prospered.

This month its 30th anniversary rolled around, and in keeping with the tribal customs of the business world, Fairfield decided to celebrate his company's 30th birthday.

Corporation birthdays, according to proper tribal rites, are observed with either a mass cocktail party or a Nero-type banquet where good fellowship flourishes amid high-calorie viands.

But Oil Tool Corp. decided to stage a different kind of celebration. Instead of feeding a throng of already well-fed businessmen, Fairfield sent out engraved announcements to the 2,500 friends and business associates on his guest list.

The announcements informed them that Oil Tool Corp. was 30 years old, and that the company was celebrating by making a contribution in the guests' names to the R. M. Pyles Boys' Camp.

Last week Oil Tool Corp. gave the boys camp a whopping check representing the "tab" for the party that Fairfield didn't throw.

THE PARTY where nobody came proved to be a remarkable success. Already, Fairfield has been snowed under with letters from his "guests" expressing

When Oil Tool Corp. was 30 years old, Freeman Fairfield (c), president; R. J. Osburn (r), vice president, gave check to R. M. Pyles (l) for boys camp.

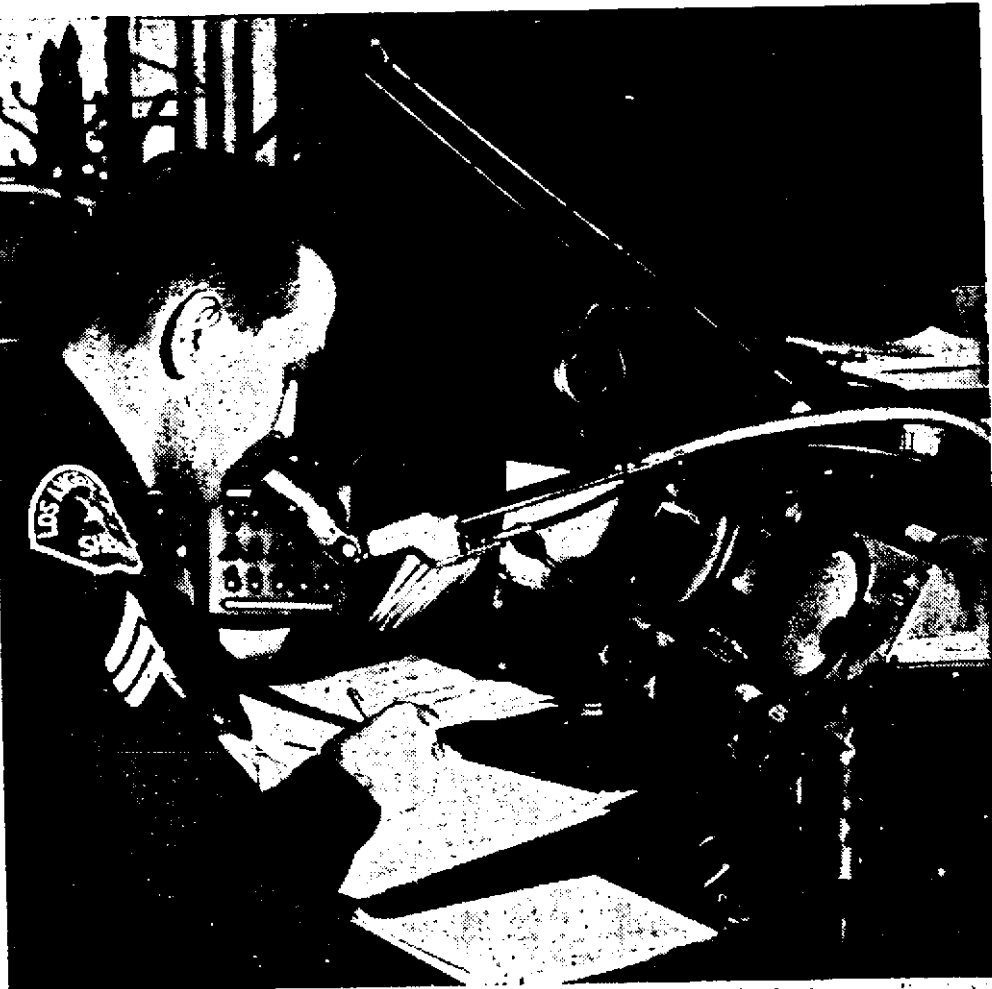

2-Way Crime Stopper

Picture and Story

By Jack B. Kemmerer

LAW ENFORCEMENT groups, for many years, have made widespread use of mobile communications, but not everybody knows how they operate. Here's a glimpse, and a case in example, behind the scenes, with Sgt. W. V. Hotra of the Norwalk detective bureau of the Los Angeles County sheriff's office playing the part of an armed stickup man. In this case, as in many that are called to police attention, private citizens report unusual incidents—all of which are thoroughly checked out although many are false and misleading. As it is in this enactment of a crime, a private citizen driving out of a gas station notices a man getting out of a car with a gun in his belt. The man's actions further arouse the citizen's suspicions. He looks for an opportunity to tip off the police. A block from the gas station, he finds a public telephone.

Citizen stops, phones the sheriff's office, telling about suspicious autoist.

Sheriff's Radio Central controls units throughout 3325 square miles of county. Seconds after citizen's call, deputy broadcasts: "Attention all units, special attention Norwalk Car 454, a 211 in progress. Investigate."

Deputy C. F. Buck in Car 454, patrolling Norwalk area, acknowledges call, proceeds to the scene of the possible armed robbery — a 211.

Meanwhile, the citizen's suspicions were 100 percent correct, robbery is in progress. Bandit rifles cash box, seeks more loot inside.

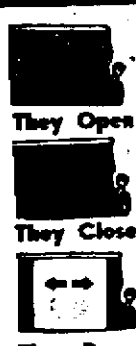

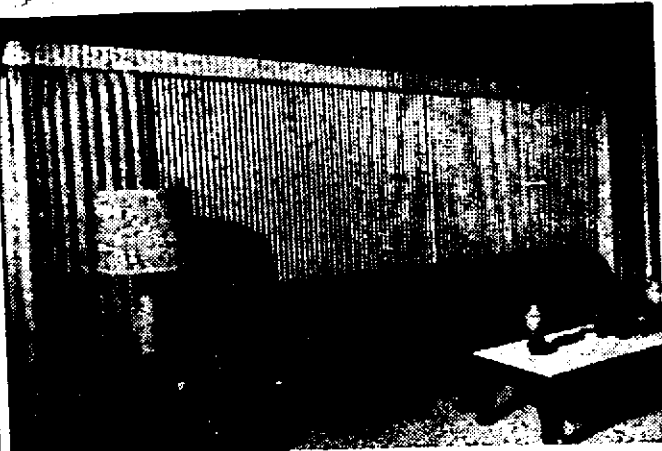

In less than five minutes from time of robbery report, Buck makes an approach: slipping up on unsuspecting gunman, he is able to disarm the man.

Using mobile radiophone in his patrol car, Buck calls for assistance to haul the suspect off to county jail.

Invitation to a 13-ager Party

Teen-agers like plenty of refreshments at their parties, substantial food but attractively prepared, easy to pick up and eat, as posed photo shows.

EVERY thirteen-ager should be allowed to have a party at least two or three times a year. Parents who have not yet permitted their youngsters to have this privilege might be surprised to learn that the preparations for such affairs are quite

By Stella George

simple, and the cost is relatively small. First of all, invitations to the party should be given about three weeks in advance. It is a good idea to telephone the guests in order that mothers can talk with one another, confirm the time, and be reassured that the party will be well chaperoned.

The number of guests should be limited to six or seven couples. If a rumpus room is not available, the living room (and perhaps the dining room, if there is one) will be used.

A party is more festive if some kinds of decorations are evident. Perhaps the most inexpensive and effective ornamentations are balloons. These cost as little as a cent each, and if they are blown up, rubbed against a coarse material, then put against the wall or ceiling, they will stay in place without hurting the paint or woodwork in any way.

REFRESHMENTS for a teenage party should be substantial yet attractive. An excellent menu might include punch made with grape juice, orange juice and ginger ale; two or three kinds of sandwiches, such as pea-

Dish of Pulchritude

Pulchritude shines like a universe of brilliant stars in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Opposite Sex," forthcoming song and dance spectacular. There are blondes and there are brunettes and there are redheads. Some of them are great stars and some of them you'll probably meet for the first time—much to your utter satisfaction. Here's a sample of what we mean:

Brunet charmer from England, Joan Collins helps garnish the dish of beauty served in "The Opposite Sex."

Ann Miller's exciting toes...and other attributes...for tap dancing, portrays character of glib chorine.

Pensive Janet Lake seems to be thinking of something soulful as she sits on Hollywood springboard.

SPEEDBOAT RACERS HAVE NEW NAME

They Call Them 'Spraymaniacs'

By Bob Ruskauft

THEY'VE DEVELOPED a new name for these "disciples" of high speed over water.

They are calling them "Spraymaniacs." The disease which obsesses them is called "Spraymania."

There are other names for it, but none any better.

It strikes in moderate and heavy form, but attacks are rarely light. If moderate, those stricken eventually outgrow it, though they never forget it. If heavy, it never quite leaves. Those it has struck hard never bother to fight it. Further, they can sometimes even explain why.

THOSE FOR WHOM the disease is incurable are generally the greatest in their speed clan. The faster they go, the rougher their class, the greater the risk. They know this. Knowing it, the fast-and-rough is exactly what they go for.

Nor have they been "just lucky so far." With rare exceptions, the top ones among these prop-riders have experienced nasty, injury-producing spills. Some of the injuries have been serious.

On Wednesday some prime examples among the high priests of Spraymania will be at Long Beach Marine Stadium, racing hell-for-leather (as usual) in the 11th edition of the All-Western Sweepstakes regatta, for inboard racing hydroplanes and runabouts. The event is one of three top-flight inboard meets on the upcoming national holidays, all part of a record program of raceboat action on the famous "lanky lagoon" during 1955.

All of the true Spraymaniacs

will be there. They always come back. They must. Not for money; none gets back what it costs. So, at first thought, it might seem strange.

Take Kenny Ingram, as an example. Two years ago this 40-year-old machine shop superintendent was run over in an accident on Marine Stadium. He lost an arm. Last year he was back, racing in a successful season. This year though, instead of his 48-cubic-inch hydroplane, Ingram is due out with a new, faster job, in the 225-cubic-inch class. He has a special steering arrangement to drive with his "store-made" hand.

His philosophy: "Pretend it never happened."

Or take Bob Willis of the Willis Oil Tool Co. on Signal Hill. Three years ago he drove a boat called Roughneck to win the National E-Racing Runabout title, at Buffalo. Later, Willis was in a nasty spill on Salton Sea. So, last year, he went into the faster 225 class. Now he's into the souped-up dynamite fleet of 266-cubic-inch hydroplanes.

"I like speed," explains hand-some Bob.

Three years ago Sid Street, Kansas City automobile dealer, was hospitalized for months, following a spill with his 266-cubic-inch hydroplane, Z-Z-Zip, also on Salton Sea.

TWO MONTHS AGO Street was out on Marine Stadium testing a new Z-Z-Zip, built up by the famed Southland "brain-trust" of Joe Guess and Bob Sykes. The chance hasn't come yet, but the boat has displayed an ability to turn 135 miles an hour, far over present record. Said Street: "If she'll hold together I know we'll do it."

He won't be racing here May 30, but Kenny St. Oegger, a veteran of Marine Stadium action, will be gingerly trying out the strengthening leg he broke when Hawaii Kai flipped March 4 in Honolulu. A new Hawaii Kai unlimited hydro is being built at St. Oegger's place, General Fixture Co., in Los Angeles, for Henry J. Kaiser. St. Oegger will drive it.

Said Kenny: "We are duplicating the hull. It went beautifully. Barring accident, we'll get the unlimited piston-boat record."

THREE DAYS BEFORE he made his record jet hydroplane run of 216.2 m.p.h. on Lake Mead, Nev. I asked England's Donald Campbell "Why this stuff?" He smiled and asked: "Why does a man climb a mountain?"

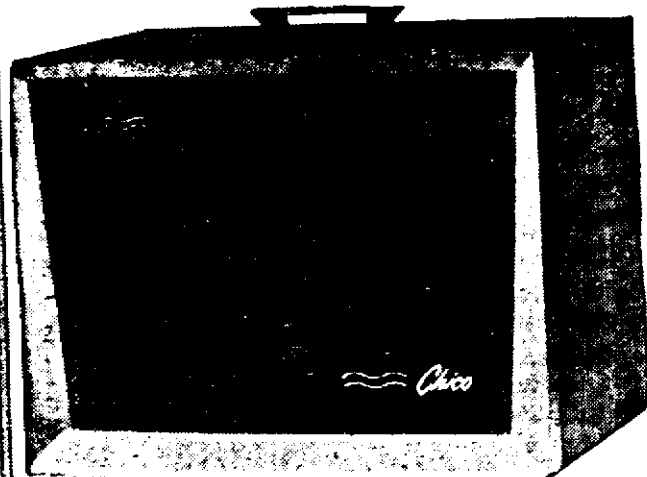

Why, indeed, Spraymania? Well, you just have it, though some will give a deeper reason.

It's only by extracting the utmost, and then a little more, from these swift, souped-up mechanical demons, that those who race discover things. Those things are instructive to engineers and builders. As Campbell commented:

"Whatever you put on a blueprint and build isn't enough. Somebody has to go out and prove whether it works or not."

Those who go out are thoroughly aware how serious this Spraymania can be. But what they discover may eventuate into something better—and safer—for you and I to drive in more leisurely fashion, a few years hence.

She Soloed in Ballet

SHE MOVES easily, lightly, carrying trayloads of dishes as if she were a ballet dancer. And slim Elizabeth Haire, 51, waitress and bus girl at Manning's Coffee Cafe, 125 W. Broadway, IS a ballet dancer.

She danced in the Orient for 17 years, much of the time as first soloist with the Russian Ballet Dancers. She has danced in most of the large theaters, night clubs, and smart restaurants in China, Japan, Java, Hong Kong and Manila.

BORN IN THE UKRAINE, as Elizabeth Karasseff, the daughter of a doctor, she received her general education and her ballet training in Moscow. Her dancing name was Lila Veresshaguina, or more often merely "Miss Veresshaguina."

By way of the Russian-Asiatic Railway, since surrendered to the Chinese, she traveled with the Russian Ballet dancers to Harbin in 1928, where her dancing career began in the Harbin Opera House. In those days Harbin was half Russian and half Chinese.

After two years there, the

By Vera Williams

Russian Ballet Dancers began traveling. "Most of the time," she says, "we had a prima ballerina, a premier, a ballet master, four first soloists, eight second soloists."

"The group played in the big places, but one, two, three or four of us would play the smaller places. We did three, four or five ballets a year. Always there was practice, rehearsals."

"We had to have many beautiful costumes, and they cost much money."

"We made more money playing, like in the movie theaters, between shows. Sometimes we played three or four movie theaters at one time. Without time to change, we would go in our costumes in a car from theater to theater, three performances a day in each theater, and maybe restaurants also at night."

"SHANGHAI," she says, "was our main town. We would go from Shanghai to other places, but always we would come back."

Her last appearance was in 1945 in the Lyceum Theater in Shanghai. She came to Long Beach in 1948 and has been at Manning's for four years. She has become an American citizen.

Her first husband, whose last name was Veresshaguina, died in Russia before the war. Her second husband, an American named Haire, now is in Japan.

Her mother, son and two grandchildren live in Russia. At least they did the last she knew. "We cannot get letters back and forth, but we hear from each other roundabout."

DOES SHE DANCE any more?

She shakes her head. "Sometimes I give a ballet lesson. A school calls me to help with a pupil. They like the way I teach."

Does she want to dance any more?

"That is past. . . Oh, sometimes when there is pretty music on the radio and I am alone, I dance. But no one sees me."

Just a little bit out of real life character in her daily work, Elizabeth Haire strikes a pose reminiscent of days when she was first soloist in ballet.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH

DELAPLANE

"Would it be possible for us to take our dog—a small dog—with us on a trip to Europe this summer?"

THE Airlines will fly a dog. And some of the shipping lines have de luxe kennels. But you run into terrible complications in England particularly. A six months quarantine right to start. I think France is easy. The French take their dogs into restaurants and feed them from the table quite often. It is a doggy country. If you want to find out about quarantine charges in England, write Spratt's Patent Ltd., 41/7 Bow Road, London E. 3.

"We have a choice of stopovers (due to time schedules). Which is better, Hong Kong or Manila?"

MY CHOICE would be Hong Kong. Manila is certainly foreign and exotic and interesting. But Hong Kong is more of a city. If you want a little wild life, take the boat over to Macao. Gambling, opium layouts, smuggling and quite a pretty town too. I'd keep clear of the Chinese border though. Once in a while they have a little trouble and you could come back with your brain laundered. A good town if you mind your own business.

"How about road connections between Mexico and Guatemala?"

AS always, still in the planning stage. Below Tehuantepec about 100 miles turn off to Arriaga on the coast. You load your automobile on a flat car and ride it down to the Guatemala border. Requires a certain amount of patience and persuasion sometimes to get an empty flat car. A 50-peso note is a handy persuader.

"Should we take travelers checks or is there a better way?"

After trying travelers checks, personal checks, letters of credit and transferred funds, I've decided on the travel checks. Even though at this moment I have been waiting three months for a return on one stolen $50 check.

Personal checks are too hard to cash. Letters of credit put you through too much paper work in banks where the language is a problem. Same goes for transferred funds. The travel checks cash anywhere. And I suppose I'll get the $50 sometime.

"We would like to drive through Spain but we wonder if the roads and accommodations are good..."

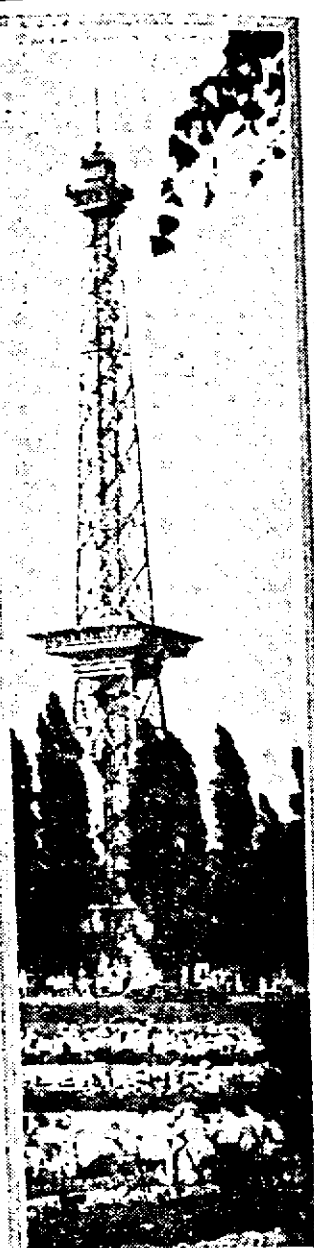

THE Spanish roads are not super highways. But they are what we would call good secondary roads. Hotels and restaurants may be a problem. Especially during the heavy tourist season. There are very good State-operated posadas. But they are small and often full. However, I've done it couple of times. Without reservations, just wandering from place to place. And I always managed well enough.

"Do we get visas on our passports here or when we get to Europe?"

NO visas necessary any more in any country this side of the Iron Curtain. Just an up-to-date passport. And a vaccination within the last three years to get back into the United States.

Your mailed questions will be answered (no phone calls). Send stamped and addressed envelope to: Stan Delaplane, Southland Magazine, Independent, Press-Telegram, Sixth and Pine, Long Beach 12, Calif.

Berlin Fair

Around Berlin are the popular fair grounds with the Funkturm, or radio tower, as the focal point. An express elevator goes up the tower to give visitors a rare view of the city. Restaurant is shown in foreground.

Steeped in History

Visitors touring southeast Washington generally make their headquarters at Walla Walla, the gracious and historic old city founded along the Oregon Trail. One attraction near the city is the Marcus Whitman National Monument and grave—the site at which this famous missionary was massacred by renegade Cayuse Indians in 1847.

State Parks Pack 'Em In

THIS SUMMER even more than last, America's state parks systems will be bursting at the seams. Reports from all states to the National Association of Travel Organizations indicate that camping sites especially are going to be scarce. In states, vacationers already are too late to reserve sites on which to pitch tents.

The increased popularity of camping is one of the vacation phenomena of the mid-20th Century, says the association, which speaks for the whole U. S. travel industry. Tent and trailer camping in state parks grew 60 per cent in popularity from 1952 to 1954. Preliminary reports to the National Park Service indicate an additional 15 per cent camping in the state parks during 1955.

To help meet the tremendous upswing in parks popularity, California has made many additions and improvements. Among these is the transfer of 1,831 acres of Shasta National Forest land to Castle Crags Park, which will have 50 new camp sites, a comfort station and other facilities with summer. McArthur-Burney Falls Memorial Park has a new concession building. Pfeiffer-Big Sur Park officials have a "Litterbug" program in which children receive prizes for the most litter collected in the park. Prizes are Smokey Bear fire prevention pins and horseback rides.

The U. S. has more than 2,000 state parks, ranging from small picnic areas to tremendous acreages with million-dollar lodges and complete resort facilities. Arizona now is the only state of the 48 without some sort of state parks system.

Attendance at the park system has jumped more than 40 per cent since 1952, and should be more than 180,000,000 in 1956.

HORSEBACK RIDING, mountain climbing, water sports, camping and resort activities are among holiday pastimes available at beautiful Wallawa Lake in Northeastern Oregon.

SHAKESPEAREAN PLAYS, presented in an outdoor theater, have brought nation-wide attention to the Oregon Shakespearean Festival at Ashland in Southern Oregon. This year's dates: August 1 through September 1.

WORLD'S LARGEST Log Cabin is the Forestry Building in Portland, built for the Lewis and Clark Exposition in 1905. Today it houses a museum dedicated to the Pacific Northwest's forest industry.

In California's Antelope Valley little did he realize that less than 25 years later the public would be beating a path to his isolated and rockbound door.

At their homestead ranch Edwards and his family decided in 1928 to build a weekend summer home in the desolate but beautiful spot high above the desert floor of Antelope Valley. Their first construction was a huge rock fireplace built against the massive rock formations and which today greets visitors to the Antelope Valley Indian Museum in the main room of the buildings.

Due to his interest in minerals, shells and Indian archeology, Edwards hit upon the idea of establishing a small museum to hold his growing collection. Throughout the Antelope Valley interested persons added to the growing collection and made loans or gifts of valued stone implements, baskets and other Indian material.

THE SMALL MUSEUM was bulging at the seams by 1938 and needed more room. Grace and Joe Oliver, Antelope Valley ranchers, decided to buy the property and expand the buildings for the benefit of the area's school children. Grace Oliver has been an ardent archeological fan for years and had made many trips to Central and South America, Canada, and East and South-west collecting Indian materials.

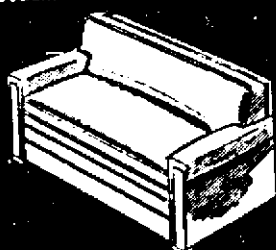

The Olivers made extensive additions to the museum, adding both rooms and more Indian material including complete displays of the work of modern Indian tribes. Today, the rambling chalet-type buildings house as fine a collection of Indian art as any museum in the country and the Olivers take great pride in showing the unique museum carved in the rocks of Piute Butte.

LAGUNA BEACH MAN RECALLS HIS PART IN

The Golden Age of the Theater

Famed on the inland waterways of the U. S. were showboats like this. The Cotton Blossom, on which Oswell Jackson trod the boards, resembled this.

By Caroline Coleman

"IT WAS the golden age of the theater—and I was part of it!"

High in his snug hillside house at Laguna Beach, with the ocean glittering far below, Oswell Jackson—"Ozzie" to his artist friends—"Jack" to his actor friends—looks over his press books, clippings, photographs.

In his career and his memories he comes close to encompassing the golden age of the American theater—an age that many theater-goers think is far past.

Jackson greatly regrets that he did not see Edwin Booth, but he saw the other greats of his youth and he appeared with some of them.

"I SUPED WITH Bernhardt in 'Camille' and 'The Scorchers,'" he says, "and I suped with Duse in 'Francesca da Rimini.'"

"A super—supernumerary—is an extra, one who appears in a mob scene, perhaps he carries a spear, but he has no lines to speak. Supe is the verb."

Jackson then was a young Chicago theatrical student, and the students received 50 cents a night for "suping" in the great shows that came along.

"Sarah Bernhardt was the greatest of them all," he says, "well, of course there was Eleonora Duse—but they were so different. Duse was suppressed. Bernhardt let go and did the terrific climaxes.

"Duse was aloof. She wore no makeup. She did not come to the rehearsals with us. We never saw her until we went on the stage with her.

"BERNHARDT loved to be with people. Bernhardt never came in the stage door. She came in the front door, heading a procession. Following her came her manager, her secretary, her leading man. And do you know who her leading man was in those days? Lou Tellegen. He was 19 years old and very handsome." (Tellegen later committed suicide by stabbing himself 78 times with a knife.)

"Bernhardt spoke French—no English," recalls Jackson, "but I always thought she could speak English if she wanted to."

He recalls that one time a student, Marie Schweisthad, who spoke a little French, was chosen by Bernhardt to play the part of her maid in "The Scorchers."

"Bernhardt told her in French she wanted her hair down and loose, fluffed out for the play.

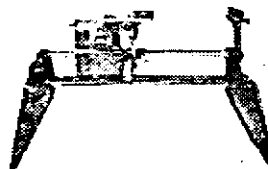

"THE PLAY WAS about the Spanish inquisition, with a terrific climax with only Bernhardt and the maid on the stage.

"The curtain rung down. The crowd began cheering and yelling 'Bravo! Bravo! Bravo!'

"Marie started to run off the stage, but Bernhardt pulled her back, and with her arm around (Continued on Page 29.)

... And Then He Met DeMille

Cecil B. DeMille, John Jensen, Long Beach artist, talk on set of "The Ten Commandments." Sir Cedric Hardwicke, head shaved for Pharaoh role, sits in.

By Vera Williams

JOHN JENSEN, Long Beach artist and former student at Chouinard Art Institute, Los Angeles, is mighty glad he entered a picture in a student exhibition there a few years ago.

"There was this sketch of mine on the walls," Jensen tells the story. "Along came Henry Wilcoxon, Cecil B. DeMille's associate producer.

"Wilcoxon liked the sketch and asked to meet me. He invited me to the studio. I thought he was ribbing me.

"But I went, and met DeMille — and DeMille hired me."

JENSEN WAS a production designer on the circus story, "The Greatest Show on Earth." Now he is hard at work on DeMille's VistaVision story of "The Ten Commandments," his imagination channeled through paints, brush, pen and pencil, scale ruler and sketches and drawings of all kinds.

In association with Arnold Friberg, the celebrated Mormon artist and illustrator, Jensen has created Biblical impressions of major scenes, together with action, wardrobe and character interpretations for "The Ten Commandments."

These visualizations, detailed on canvas or pad paper, serve every department — costumes, properties, camera and construction.

IN MANY INSTANCES a look at the artists' sketches has given Producer-Director DeMille a new idea in playing a scene or a new interpretation or piece of business, character-wise, for Charlton Heston, Anne Baxter, Yul Brynner, Edward G. Robinson, Yvonne De Carlo, Debra Paget, John Derek or others in the picture.

Pictorial high points of "The Ten Commandments" include Moses on Sinai receiving the law for all mankind; Hebrew slaves toiling in brick pits to build a great city for their Egyptian captors; pomp and ceremony of the court of Pharaoh; Biblical plagues; the Exodus; the splitting of the Red Sea.

EDITH HEAD, Paramount stylist; Ralph Jester, designer and production man; Dorothy Jenkins, designer; Friberg and Jensen divided costume interpretations, even to the extra men playing in the Exodus sequence far from the camera.

Jensen concentrated on costumes worn by John Derek as Joshua and Edward G. Robinson as Nathan, the traitor.

The Golden Key of D & E
 Opens New Fairyland of Homes
"Prince Charming"
 SERIES

"And they lived happily ever after" is the way that all good fairy stories end, and to make this happy conclusion come true for modern Prince Charmings and their ladies fair, D and E proudly presents the most enchanting community of homes ever designed—Fairview Ranchos Prince Charming Series. Straight from the pages of "Sleeping Beauty," "Snow White," and all of the happiest books of childhood . . . come these charming homes with their low sweeping roofs, wide overhangs, their quaint windows, shutters, and brick trim, and their nostalgic remembrance of long ago and far away. Here is the happiest living of all . . . in D and E's incomparable Prince Charming homes.

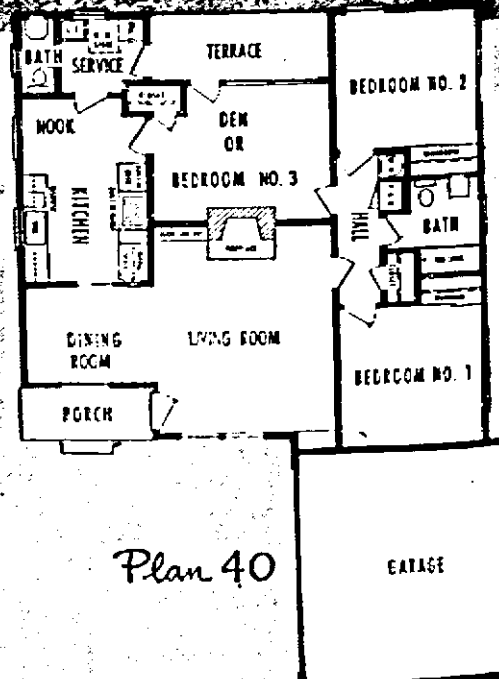

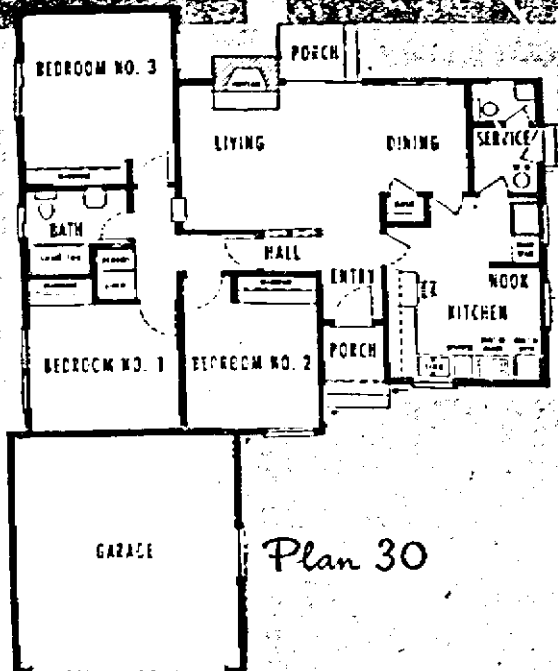

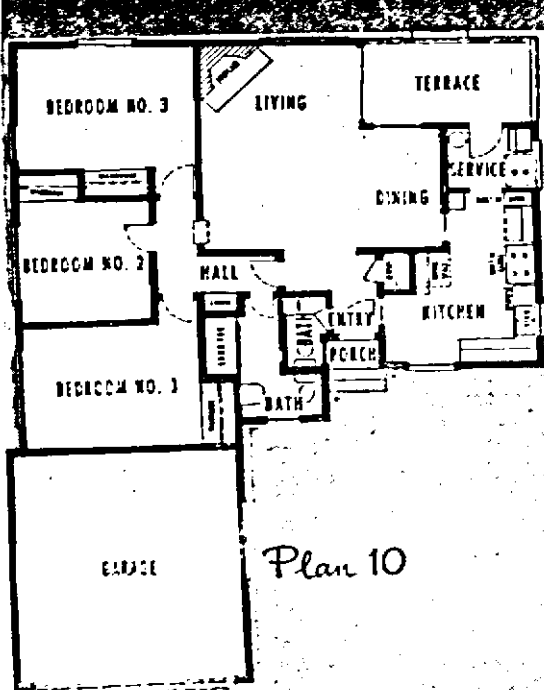

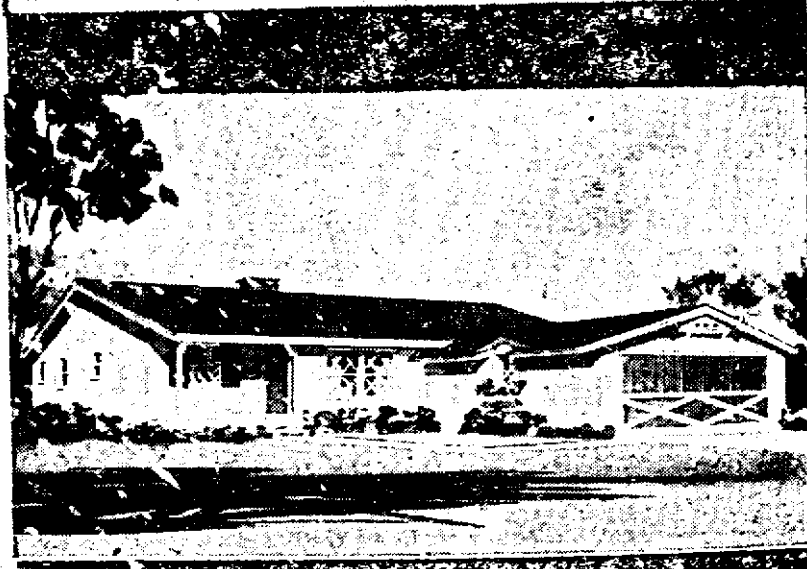

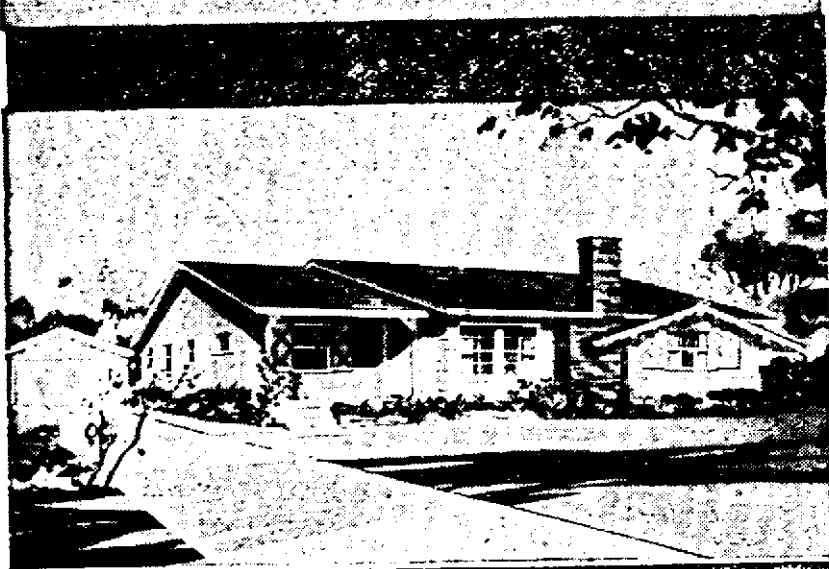

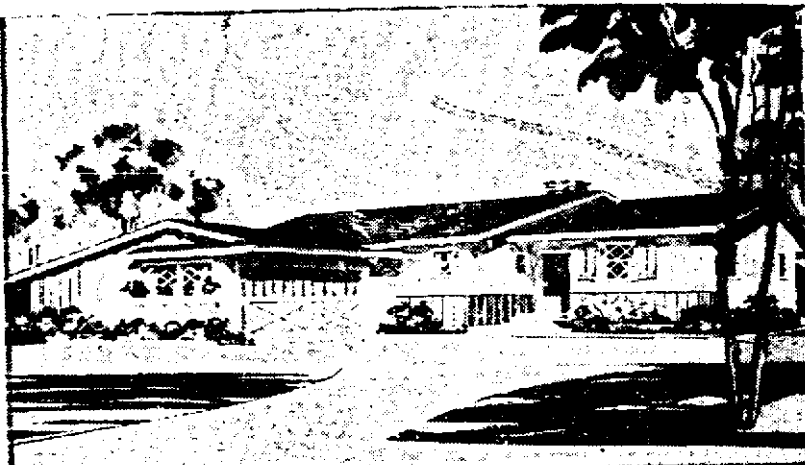

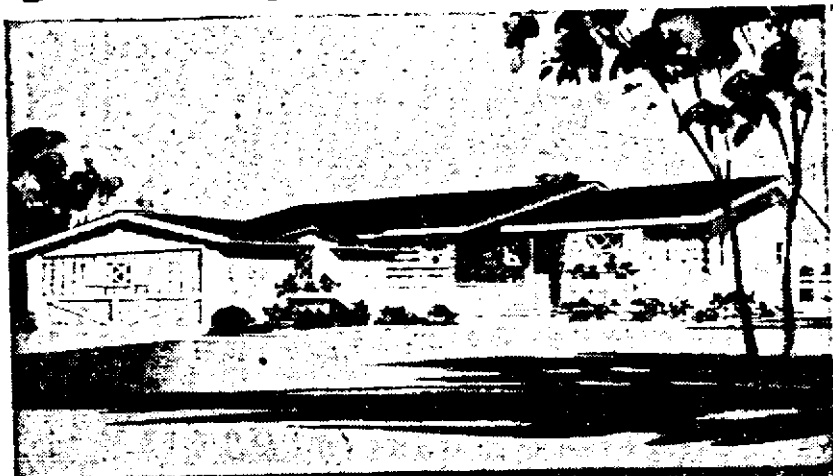

For all their quaintness and charm, these Prince Charming homes are no stage set of canvas and paint . . . for here is sound, conventional quality construction—as only D and E Builders, with a proud record of thousands upon thousands of homes built in Southern California, can bring you. You'll find solid hardwood oak floors laid over diagonal sub-flooring raised 18 inches above the ground. The walls and ceilings are genuine lath and plaster, so durable and adding so much to the resale value. A whole world of luxury features ranging from the massive fireplace to the lavish built-in kitchen appliances promise a lifetime of living "happily ever after!"

The Prince Charming Model 1-C

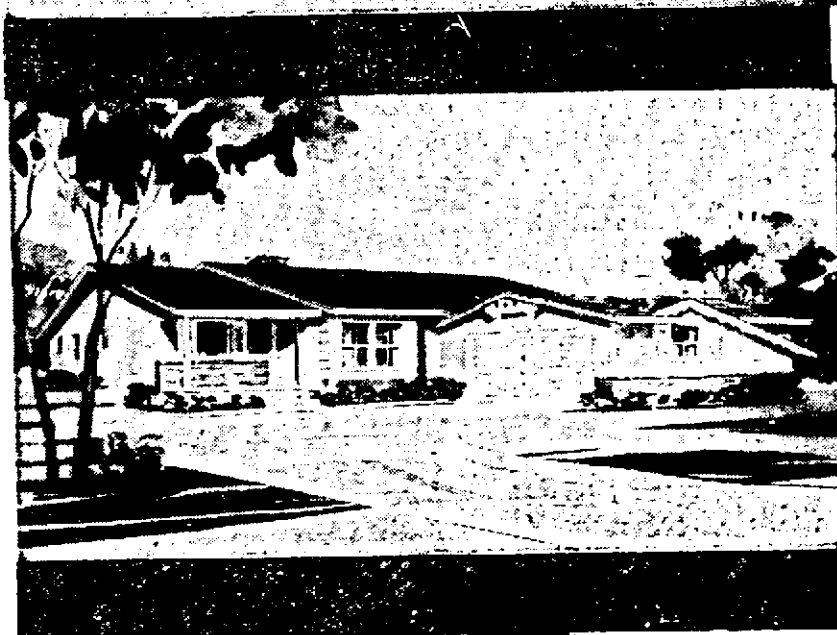

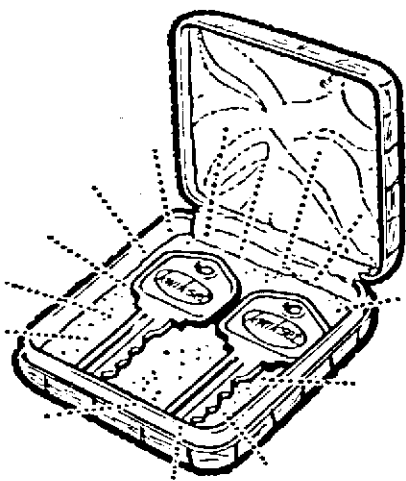

The Golden Key is Your

The day when you first turn the key and open the door to your own Prince Charming home will be the happiest of your life! And so that you may always cherish this memorable occasion, the builders of your home will present to you this miniature jewel box containing two gold keys ... your passkeys to a lifetime of happiness!

of D & E

Passkey to Happiness!

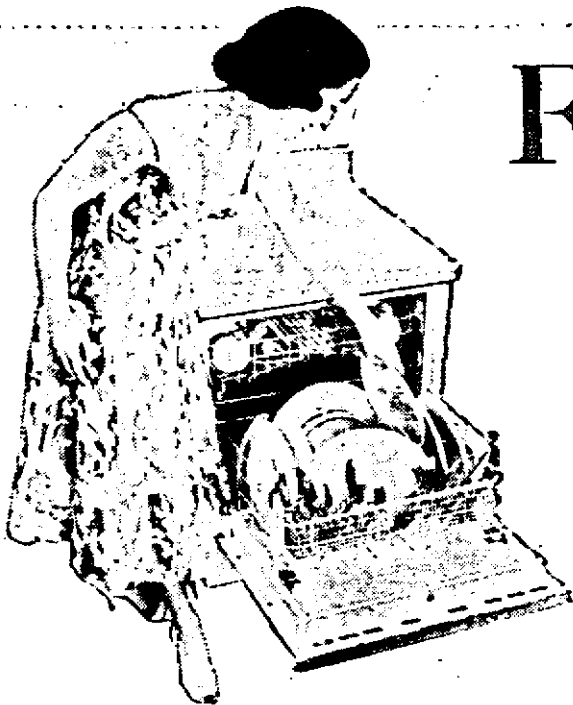

In addition to sound, quality features such as the solid oak floors and genuine plaster walls and ceilings . . . and the elegant Waste King gas kitchen built-ins (see next page) . . . the Prince Charming homes offer a multitude of down-to-earth features that guarantee highest resale value should you ever decide to sell: 100-ampere electrical wiring to handle all modern appliances • circuit breaker supplanting the old-fashioned fuse box • Viking 40-gallon water heater • separate service porch to keep the kitchen clutter-free • Armstrong spatter linoleum in kitchen • colored ceramic tile worktops and splash in kitchen • Sawyer Bel-Air ash hardwood cabinets • Coralite around tubs • custom light fixtures in dining areas • slab doors • weatherstripping on exterior doors • Kwikset brass interior hardware • concrete walks and asphalt drives • sewers, curbs, sidewalks, street lights, all utilities in • and many, many more!

Dr. P. Victor Peterson and Dr. Betty Kazan of Madison, Wis., recall points of interview which resulted in Dr. Kazan coming to Long Beach State College.

LONG BEACH STATE ADOPTS

The Forward Look

By Jess Glawson

LONG BEACH State College, through the efforts of its energetic president, Dr. P. Victor Peterson, has developed a unique system of faculty and staff recruitment which seems likely to place the local school among the most "forward-looking" collegiate institutions in the nation.

Traditionally, colleges and universities have relied almost solely upon local institutions to provide the necessary personnel for filling staff vacancies. As a result, recruiting areas have remained small and local ideas, local opinions, and local prejudices have been reinforced—creating, in many cases, a narrow and illiberal provincialism which thwarts the broad aims of education.

Believing that a primary function of education is to provide students with "the broader view," Long Beach State has sought to give deserved recognition—and representation—to as many as possible of the divergent ideas, philosophies, and opinions which compose American thought.

EACH YEAR Dr. Peterson makes a tour of carefully selected American colleges seeking trained educators to fill faculty vacancies at Long Beach State. His primary purpose is to procure high-caliber personnel who will keep the local college "abreast of the times," and who will reflect credit upon the community it represents. Approximately 50 per cent of the instructors at State have been recruited in this manner.

Dr. Peterson made his sixth annual tour this year. In 30 days he interviewed more than 200 applicants, visiting five universities in four states during one week alone, and hired 70 new instructors for Long Beach State College. Traveling by train, plane, and bus, he often found it necessary to remain active 24 hours a day in order to meet all his scheduled interviews.

RECRUITING IS not confined to these "scheduled interviews," however. Dr. Peterson tells "the Long Beach Story" everywhere, and follows up every lead which may result in the hiring of another top-flight instructor for the college.

One such lead resulted in his meeting and hiring Dr. Irving Ahlquist who has become one of the area's best-known educators, and who is much in demand as a speaker and lecturer. During his first tour (1949), Dr. Peterson was introduced to Dr. Ahlquist by a bookstore operator in Cedar Falls, Iowa. A brief conversation whetted the president's interest in the young historian and a subsequent interview confirmed his opinion that "here was the type of educator we needed." Less than a week later, Dr. Ahlquist became the newest member of the Long Beach State College faculty.

DR. PETERSON'S 1956 tour took him to the Universities of Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Chicago, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska, Colorado, Denver and Utah, and to Washington University, Northwestern University and Iowa State College.

Dr. Peterson said recently, "The progress Long Beach State has made in gaining recognition among the higher institutions of learning is surprising and gratifying. On my first trip of this type, Long Beach State was an unknown, and now it has become a well-known college and a credit to Long Beach."

Desserts Like Mother Makes

ACTRESS, speaker, humorist, book reviewer—but mostly mother—that backgrounds our hostess today: Mrs. T. H. (Fanny) McEnroe. That she is "mostly Mom" is conveyed clearly in this quote:

"Raising a family of three lively boys, with their many friends making our house 'open house' day and night, there are bound to be favorite recipes down through the years. Here are a few that were, and still are, often called for. Most of them are man-fare (none of this frothy stuff, Mom) so skip these desserts if you want to reduce!

"There is one pet recipe to celebrate all great events: when THE girls came along (to show parental approval); when THE grandchildren arrived (to show grand-parental delight); when the boys came home from school, from service, or just to show our special love, this ice box pudding is our universal choice."

(Editor's note: The recipe for Ice Box Pudding is the featured one today.)

Fanny's next recipe is for nut cake. She says, "Use the same recipe as for the cake pudding, omitting the chocolate and adding one-half cup chopped nuts instead. Top with your favorite frosting."

Of her pineapple upside down cake she says, "Our erudite professor son gives this an extremely high grade."

Pineapple Upside Down Cake

- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1/2 cups sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cups water
- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 3 tsp. baking powder
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. vanilla

While mixing cake batter, put 4 tablespoons butter or margarine, and one cup brown sugar in heavy iron skillet. Cook slowly until smooth. Turn off heat and arrange slices of pineapple (cherry in center) in syrup. Put batter over fruit and syrup and bake in same skillet. When done turn upside down on your fanciest plate, leaving fruit on top.

Apple torte is a McEnroe favorite, too, and of it she says: "I won my husband with this. Easy to make and faster to disappear. (the dessert, I mean)."

Apple Torte

- 2 cups apples (chopped small)
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup walnuts
- 2 beaten eggs
- 1 1/2 tsp. baking powder
- 1/2 tsp. salt (Mother always said "a pinch" but some people pinch harder than others)
- 1/2 cups flour

Mix all together, adding eggs last. Pour into large pie plate and bake one-half hour, over

Fanny McEnroe's Ice Box Pudding:

- 1 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons butter (cream together)
- 1 egg broken into cup. (Beat, and fill cup with milk. Pour into butter-sugar mixture. Beat hard.)

Sift together into first mixture:

- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 1/2 teaspoon soda
- 1 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Bake at 350° for 40 minutes. While still warm, break cake apart into bowl and drop the following sauce over the layers of cake.

- 1/2 cake cooking chocolate melted with
- 1/2 pound butter
- 1 cup sugar

Stir into chocolate mixture, but do not cook:

Three raw eggs (drop separately into above, beating hard after each). Alternate cake and sauce in bowl. Refrigerate 24 hours (unless discovered) and top with whipped cream.

Mrs. T. H. (Fanny) McEnroe is one who knows value of a good dessert in a family where male appetites prevail.

375 degrees F.

Fanny has twin sons, too, and accompanying her recipe for chocolate chip pie were these words:

"The twins, both artist and plumber, go big for this. I used to make this with semi-sweet cake chocolate, but the chocolate chips are so much easier. And I'm not too hot with flaky pie crust, but the filling always makes up for that. And it's too rich to eat the crust, anyway!"

Kitchen Tip:

To remove the meat from those pesky pecan or Brazil nut shells, put the nuts into a kettle and cover with cold water. Bring to a boil for 2 minutes. When thoroughly cool and dry, you will be delighted at how easy they are to shell—and generally they come out whole.

Chocolate Chip Pie

Dissolve one package chocolate chips in double boiler. Add: 3 tbs. sugar and BEAT 2 tbs. milk and BEAT 4 egg yolks. BEAT after each one 4 stiffly beaten egg whites. Whip these into the chocolate mixture and pour into baked pie shell. Top with whipped cream.

Echoing a Pattern of Living

Fireplace, reduced to simple form, and a continuous wall of wood extending beyond glass exterior wall add interest to the James Nakanishi home.

Photos by H. S. Melvin

South exposure of the Nakanishi house is constructed almost completely of glass, forming outdoor link.

INDICATIVE of a trend in contemporary architecture being promoted by architects across the nation is the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Nakanishi, 690 Havana Ave., designed by Kazumi Adachi.

The house is constructed on the age-old post-and-beam principle; but, paradoxically, its design is the result of an attempt to echo the pattern of life as it is lived today.

Considerations weighed by the architect, Adachi, in planning the house included a limited budget and a necessity for accommodating two small children

By Eileen Ball

as well as two adults, all of whom like company and privacy in about equal measure.

ACHIEVING A QUALITY of privacy was especially necessary because of the site, located at the corner of Havana and heavily-traveled 7th St. The length of the lot, 130 feet, runs parallel to 7th, where the noise and sight of busy traffic were unwanted factors. The house, therefore, was oriented to the south away from the intersection. No privacy-robbing windows face toward either of the streets, yet the exterior elevations from both sides are extremely interesting.

The west exposure (facing Havana) has caused considerable comment with its unusual fireplace. Set into an otherwise uninterrupted wall of narrow vertical wood siding bleached to a driftwood finish is an exterior brick firebox that accommodates the living room flush fireplace. From this simple masonry cubicle extends a round clay chimney.

From 7th St. a pleasing combination of textures contributes much to the good appearance of the house.

A small courtyard enclosed with weathered grapestakes is located to the left of the front door. A small shade garden situated in an ell provided by the house and the fence abounds in lush tropical plants that are effectively backed by walls of light yellow stucco. The trim and front door are stark white as are the heavy cantilevered beams that extend out beyond the ceiling to provide an overhang. Set up high between the beams at ceiling level are fixed panels of glass that admit gentle north sunlight to the living area. A stationary panel of fluted glass, the same width and height as the doorway, is located to the right of the front door.

Either exterior view of the house—the west with its unconventional fireplace or the north with its extended beams—is an example of a growing trend to leave structural members of a building exposed for the sake of the decorative elements they provide.

for its placement. For one thing, the economy factor dictated that all plumbing be centralized in one area. (The laundry is back-to-back with the kitchen and the bath.)

ALSO, THE SMALL enclosed patio-courtyard on the 7th St. side of the house is Mrs. Nakanishi's service yard, and a door located but a few steps to the left of the front door and across from the laundry enclosure opens to this yard. Consequently, the south garden is reserved for outdoor living without the necessity to serve as a drying yard, as well.

An immediate impression of the living area is one of simplicity and openness. A resilient cork floor adds warmth of feeling to the near-austerity of the architecture.

Along the entire 21-foot south

ALTHOUGH THERE are virtually no windows along three sides of the house, almost all the entire south exposure is glass. (The technical possibilities inherent in the post-and-beam type construction makes unnecessary the need for interior walls to support roof weight and also permits widespread use of glass for exterior walls.)

The front door opens to a hallway that leads to the living area on the right and serves to connect the three bedrooms and bath toward the left. This part of the hallway serves admirably as an entry, thus saving the living room from a lack of privacy every time the door opens.

Directly opposite the front door are louvered doors that conceal washing facilities. As unusual as this arrangement may seem, there were sound reasons

Mystery and lack of convention add interest to this residence as viewed from Havana Ave.-7th St. corner.

side of the room glass panels extend up to the higher-than-average ceiling.

The north wall is plaster. North light filters into the room high above eye-level through the stationary glass panels set between the beams.

At the far end of the room is a fireplace reduced to a simple form. A low raised hearth of concrete and a simple frame of a single course of red brick are modest embellishments for the flush opening. The fireplace is set in a wall of vertical wood furring bleached to a driftwood finish. The manner in which the wall extends to and on through the glass to provide a baffle for the patio on the outside is one of the ways the architect has created a merger of interior and exterior that is so typical of this house.

FROM A VISUAL standpoint, the south "wall" of the living area is one with the garden fence which is a much more

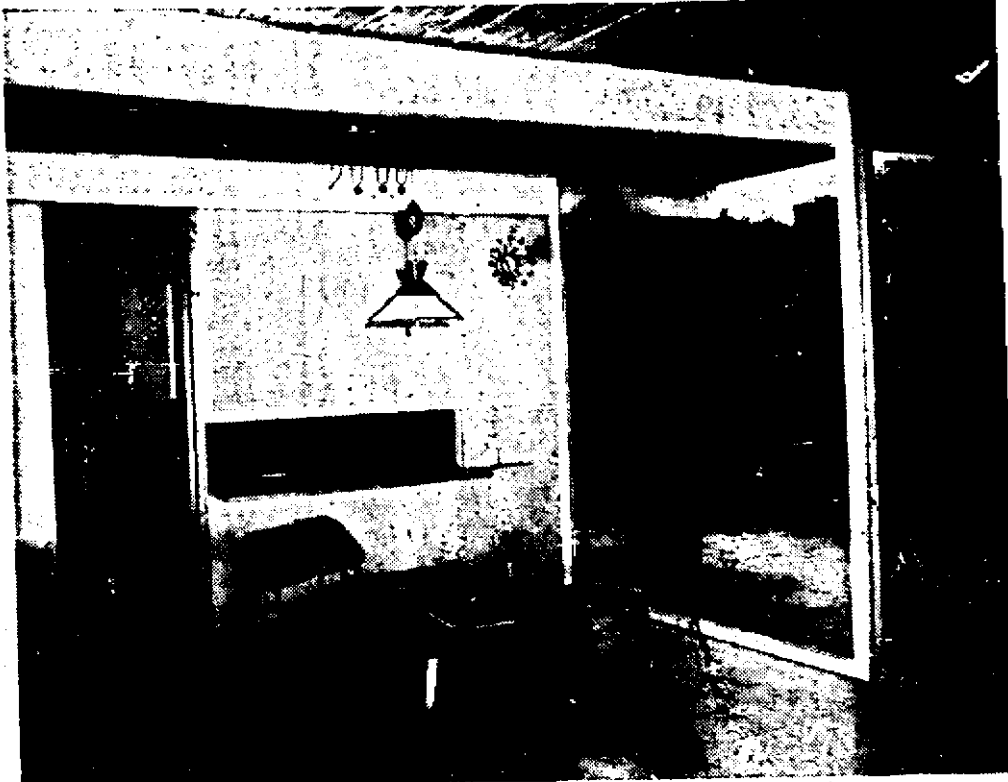

defined barrier than are the glass panels that impose little feeling of division.

Furnishings for the living room are simple, handsomely-styled and very mobile since this sort of area accommodates ever-changing demands.

Near the kitchen is the area designated for dining. A counter panel in the wall between the living room and kitchen may be pulled down for buffet service. Its serving surface is topped with plastic in the same grey-blue color used throughout the kitchen.

A second unique feature of the kitchen is the way its glass window-wall slides open for refreshment service to the patio.

THE BATH and three bedrooms are arranged, in that order, along the hallway to the left of the entry. The left wall of the hallway is almost entirely devoted to storage behind sliding doors of varnished no-voply (a material made of pressed wood shavings).

A buffet panel lets down for easy table setting and serving of food and party refreshments from kitchen to modern dining area of Nakanishi home.

Both the children have rooms with floor-to-ceiling glass panels that overlook the patio. There is adequate built-in wardrobe space for the accommodation of clothing and toys.

The master bedroom has a built-in wardrobe and chest that features 8 tray-drawers colorfully painted white, lemon yellow and orange. An adjoining storage room is roughed-in for the ultimate installation of plumbing fixtures.

CYCLO-MASSAGE . . .

a new physical modality to help you look better, feel better, and more fully enjoy life.

Two of mankind's healers . . . heat and massage . . . are now combined in a flat, comfortable cushion—the Niagara Thermo-Cyclopad. This fascinating new "aid-to-better-living" will encourage relaxation and help relieve the pain commonly associated with arthritis, bursitis or rheumatism.

The Thermo-Cyclopad is a result of Niagara's extensive research program conducted in hospitals, laboratories and colleges. It can be used on chair, couch or bed—lie on it, sit on it, use it behind back or on hands, feet, arms, legs. It is amazingly versatile . . . and effective.

- relieving many types of high or low back pains.
- relaxing nervous and emotional tensions and enhancing sleep.
- decreasing the over-all sense of fatigue and drowsiness of long hours of work.
- producing a feeling of relaxed well-being on the part of the user.
- increasing blood circulation.
- decreasing many types of pain as that commonly associated with medically-diagnosed chronic arthritis or bursitis.
- relieving pain associated with muscle spasm as in sprains and other injuries.
- decreasing muscle spasms of a variety of types.

The manufacturer of the famous Niagara Thermo-Cyclopad wants you to be convinced before you invest. Upon your request you can now use it in your own home or office without any cost or obligation to you.

Please deliver the Niagara Thermo-Cyclopad to my home for approval without any cost or obligation to me.

By Horseless Carriage to a Ball

Autoists turned cowboys and cowgirls recently when members of Newport Beach Regional Group, Horseless Carriage Club, drove their cars of ancient vintage to Glenn Ranch in the San Bernardino Mountains and had a ball for themselves. They swam, ate, wore their old time costumes dancing, rode horseback or just plain loafed and enjoyed themselves. A cameraman who was along took pictures to prove it.

And when their stay was over, Horseless Carriers headed downhill, waved a farewell by Henry and Elora Hertz, Glenn Ranch owners, operators.

Martha, Tom, John and Ernie Boyer, Long Beach folk, enjoyed excellent ranch food.

There was dancing for the guests, part of regular ranch entertainment schedule.

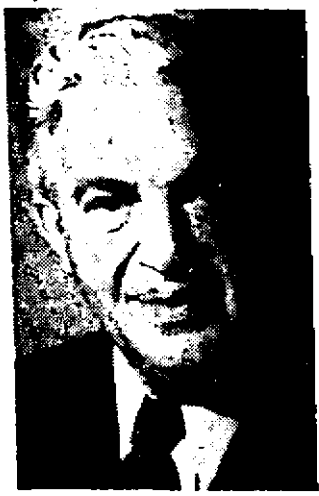

Photos by Chuck Sundquist

Glenn Ranch boasts of a typically western lounge and there the guests are invited to make themselves informally at home. Entertainment is provided.

Oswell Jackson was handsome leading man in the theater's golden period.

At 72, Jackson, now long retired from the theater, resides in Laguna Beach.

"Then Bernhardt ran her fingers through Marie's hair and said in French to the audience, 'Doesn't she have beautiful hair?' "It was nothing for a great actor or actress to have 12, 14, 16 curtain calls," recalls Jackson. "You never hear anything now like the way they clapped and yelled 'Bravo!' in those days."

Jackson turns his press book to a "Sorceress" picture of Bernhardt, as a woman suspected of being a witch, facing her inquisition accusers. Then he says slowly, "But Duse — now Duse had something, a quality that no other woman ever had, even Sarah Bernhardt."

JACKSON SAW Leslie Carter in "DuBarry," Henry Irving and Ellen Terry in "Merchant of

Venice," E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe in "Romeo and Juliet" and "Merchant of Venice," Robert Mantell in "Macbeth" and "Richard III," Richard Mansfield in "Ivan the Terrible" and "Richard II" and Julia Marlowe in "Ingomar."

He saw "The Two Orphans" done by an all-star cast—Sarah Truax, Grace George, Mrs. Sarah Cromwell Lemoine, Elita Proctor Otis, Bijou Fernandez, Henry Dixey, Wilton Lackaye, Louis James, W. E. Dodson, James O'Neil, Clara Morris.

"Clara Morris, who had been retired for 10 years, came back in a small part. As she walked on the stage, the whole audience as if by signal rose and cheered."

Jackson started his own career in 1905 in the "melodrama circuit," to New York, Canada and the Pacific Coast, either one-week or one-night stands. His first play he recalls was Bertha M. Clay's "Dora Thorne" and he played in "Lena Rivers" and "Thorns and Orange Blossoms" and "The Lost Trail."

HE HAS A PICTURE of himself in a cowboy costume in "The Lost Trail."

"I was the Hopalong Cassidy of my day," he said.

"I knew Mary Pickford on that melodrama circuit," he says. "She was Gladys Smith in those days; she was 10 years old, playing the little mother in 'The Fatal Wedding.' She had the prettiest gold curls you ever saw. Her brother Jack was a baby then; Lottie was 2 or 3 years old."

In 1911 and 1912, Jackson was on the showboat Cotton Blossom on the Ohio, Mississippi and Illinois Rivers.

Built on a barge and pushed by a small steamer, the Cotton Blossom seated 800 persons. It had a stage at one end, state-rooms over the stage for the actors to dress.

Beginning at Fort Pleasant, the Cotton Blossom moved down the Ohio to Cairo, and the Mississippi to New Orleans and then back again. If the river was high enough, it went up the Illinois to Peru, Ill.

PLAYS WERE GIVEN on the Cotton Blossom — "The Lonesome Pine," "Tempest and Sunshine," "The Old Homestead" and the perennial "Thorns and Orange Blossoms."

Jackson, the leading man, believes that he got the highest salary ever paid to a showboat entertainer on the Mississippi — $25 a week and board.

"The board was wonderful," he says. "Farmers traded potatoes, corn, chickens, etc., for showboat tickets."

He was in stock for years, playing in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," "The Devil," "Getting Gertie's Garter," "Cappy Ricks," "Three Wise Fools," "Smilin' Through." For years he was with the Poli Stock Co., playing New England towns. In 1923 and 1924 his salary was $200 a week — "a mighty lot of money in those days because there was no income tax and what a man made was his."

HE PLAYED on Broadway in "White Cargo," he played with Charles Coburn in "The Right Age to Marry," he read the prologue in a Ruth St. Denis dance pantomime.

"I did 'Abie's Irish Rose' for 50,000 miles," he says; "New York, Texas, Florida, Canada, the Middle West."

He still has a letter addressed to "Oswell Jackson, America's Handsomest Leading Man." It reached him at the Majestic Theater in Topeka, Kan.

He retired from the stage in 1935 after appearing in "Romance" with Eugenie Leontovich. He first came to Laguna in 1927, was away 10 years and then returned in 1941. He is now 72, is six feet tall, straight, has green eyes and a mane of snowy hair. His wife, Fanny, died five years ago. His home is at 552 Cypress St.

He has always been interested in art and has five lectures on art and the theater which he gives.

Hay Fever Climate

Tourists have various reasons for picking their vacation spots. They may like the fishing, the swimming, or the scenery. An increasing number of them, says Northwest Orient Airlines, go each summer to resorts along Minnesota's North Shore to get relief from hay fever. The wind and waters of Lake Superior—largest body of fresh water in the world—create an "air-conditioned" climate in which the fugitives from pollen find relief.

Journey Without a Passport

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Independent, Press-Telegram Book Editor

IT ONCE TOOK time and money to travel, but not any more. Today we can sit in our living room and go round the world in just a few evenings. No tickets to buy, no passports or visas to worry about, no hotel reservations to bother with, no foreign language problems to cause embarrassment.

Clad in pajamas, robe and house slippers, and under the glow of our favorite lamp, we can travel not only to far-off countries, but into some of the most interesting or astounding places in those countries—with the finest guides—in "Ten Years of Holiday" (Simon and Schuster, $3.95).

The guides, of course, are no fewer than 40 writers who, if they were suddenly to quit writing, would leave disappointment when we buy our magazines; for it is their work which sparks the best of the best periodicals.

Only the best work of these writers appear in Holiday Magazine over the last decade appears in "Ten Years of Holiday" and this, as expected, makes for a pretty solid book—one that can be read now and a year or 10 years from now with genuine pleasure.

V. S. Pritchett takes us to Spain, Sean O'Faolain to Italy, Neil M. Gunn to Scotland, Richard Llewellyn to Wales, Alan Moorehead to Rome, to name a few guides and their foreign routes; and here in the United States, William Faulkner goes with us to his native Mississippi, Jean Stafford to New England, Budd Schulberg to Florida, Phil Strong to Iowa, E. B. White to New York. Among others are Bernard DeVoto, James Thurber, James Street, Laurens Van der Post, C. S. Forester and John Steinbeck. The introduction is by Clifton Fadiman.

The articles and essays which comprise the bulky volume were selected by the editors of Holiday. They are the travel treat of the year.

AND SPEAKING of travel, one of the zaniest treasures of humorous writings and cartoons ever assembled on the subject is edited by no other than Lawrence LaMar and is titled "Happy Holiday" (Dodd, Mead, $3.50). All bordering on the ridiculous, there are nonsensical chapters on "French for Americans," "How to Tip Correctly," "Gondolas Are So Romantic" and "On a Set of French Dishes," to name a few, interspersed by giggle-getting cartoons. LaMar himself wrote several of the chapters, and helping out are such comics as Robert Benchley, James Thurber, Earl Wilson, S. J. Perelman, Cornelia Otis Skinner, Norman R. Jaffray, Ogden Nash and Stephen Leacock.

It's all fun, every word of it!

VINA DELMAR, the author of "Bad Girl," has written another sure-fire best seller in her new novel, "Beloved" (Harcourt, Brace, $3.95).

With great historical accuracy, Miss Delmar traces the story of Judah Benjamin from his birth on a West Indian island to his supreme position as one of the great legal minds in the era of the Civil War.

The title "Beloved" comes from Benjamin's faithful wife's nick-name for him. His great, forgiving love for his wife inspires him to become one of the finest legal minds America has ever known, respected, yet pitied by all.

A GOOD MANY LONG BEACH PEOPLE shook hands with Sen. Estes Kefauver during his recent campaign-for-President visit here. They liked him and wished they knew more about him. They can learn all about this newsworthy figure now in "The Kefauver Story," an informal biography (Dial, $3). The book, written by Jack Anderson and Fred Blumenthal, Washington correspondents for Parade magazine, devotes considerable space to the campaign issues close to Kefauver and his campaign methods, and it also covers his life at home with his family, with which he is shown here.

a gnawing love for a woman he knew he could never hold, Benjamin became attorney general under Jefferson Davis. Benjamin's ceaseless devotion to his beautiful wife and his underlying loyalty to the principles in which he believed are touchingly blended into a fine novel.

Vina Delmar lives in nearby Beverly Hills. Her hobby for many years has been collecting material on the Civil War, which together with her natural gift for story writing has produced an exciting and colorful novel.—F.T.H.

CHILD DEVELOPMENT books are either useless or priceless, but "Youth, the Years From Ten to Sixteen" by Arnold Gesell, M.D., Frances L. Ilg, M.D., and Louise B. Ames, Ph.D. (Harper, $3.95) is the follow-up of two previous volumes which left nothing to be desired as to the understanding of children. The present and welcome volume takes up the problems of the developing child. Those parents who have read the earlier volumes will know at once what this one will be. And it is impossible in a short review to give all the priceless qualities which make this volume a must for thinking parents. If you have a child approaching puberty, this book will become tattered from reading.

POGO, the beloved comic-strip possum of the Independent and Sunday Independent, Press-Telegram, is back in the book stalls with some wonderful new adventures. You'll find them in "The Pogo Sunday Book" (Simon and Schuster, $1), and they're better than anything cartoonist Walt Kelly has done yet, if that is possible.

J. B. PHILLIPS, a retired English vicar and author of numerous religious books, discusses the hunger for faith-giving power in today's busy world, and how to achieve that power through Christian ideals in "New Testament Christianity" (Macmillan, $2.25), a reverent, understandable and inspiring work.

NEW PAPERBACK originals (first time published in book form). "The Year's Greatest Science-Fiction and Fantasy," 18 tales chosen from more than 1,000 pieces (Dell, First Edition, 35c); "The Bright Phoenix," science-fiction novel by Harold Mead (Ballantine, 35c); "The Secret of Mary Magdalene," the story of a tantalizing woman who became a humble follower of Christ, by Paul Iltton (Signet, 25c); "The Last Chance," a fast-paced western by Frank O'Rourke (Dell, first edition, 25c); "Presidential Year," a novel of American politics by Frederick Pohl and Cyril M. Kornbluth (Ballantine, 35c); "Washington Lowdown," behind the scenes in the American capital, by Larston D. Farrar (Ballantine, 35c).

HOME BUILDERS or those wishing to remodel who are interested in cooling and warming a home will find the subject quite thoroughly covered in "Home Air Conditioning" (Van Nostrand, $3.95). Author G. J. Stout is an instructor at the University of Florida and knows what he is talking about.

Leave entertainment at a teen-ager party to the guests themselves. They likely won't care for a prepared set of games to which they must conform.

nut butter, tuna fish and hard-boiled egg; assorted cookies, mixed candies, and nuts. Paper cups and paper napkins are all that is needed in the way of accessories, since teen-agers don't want to be bothered with plates. They like to pick up a cookie or a sandwich and eat it, and they don't want to balance plates or trays on their laps. The sandwiches can be made on the morning of the party, wrapped in waxed paper, then wrapped again in aluminum foil.
Most teen-agers do not like to have planned games for a party. As one thirteen-ager expressed it:

"You play games when you're very young, and maybe when you're old, like 30 or 40, but we like to do other things!"

THE POINT IS that most teen-agers like to play post office (or a variation thereof) or dance to the latest hit tunes. Parenthetically, it might be mentioned that post office is not a game for parents to view with alarm. If mom and dad will remember back a few years, they will recollect that they, too, liked to play the game when and if opportunity offered itself. It is important, however, that the father and/or the mother of the host or hostess be on hand during the party. They can remain in the kitchen or another nearby room, and diplomatically check on the activities every 15 minutes or so. This can be done tactfully and effectively if they bring in refreshments periodically or ask a question or two, such as, "Is there anything you need?" or "Is everyone having fun?" or even, "Isn't it too cold (or warm) in here?" They may not receive a coherent answer from the busy group, but at least they will be reassured that the party is running smoothly.

GUESTS INVITED to a teen-age party usually arrive on time or ahead of schedule, and the party should end promptly at the time designated. If by chance any parents are unable to pick up their youngsters, the parents of the host or hostess should see that each guest gets home safely.

From a teen-ager's standpoint, his social prestige is extremely important, and his success or failure socially can affect his whole attitude towards life. Giving parties will greatly help him gain poise and self-confidence. It's a wise parent who realizes that by encouraging a thirteen-ager to have good parties at home, he may discourage the youngster from wanting to attend the wrong type of party elsewhere.

PET PARADE

He's a Golden Pal

By Eleanor Avery Price

IF IT IS CORRECT as the late Gertrude Stein is reputed to have said that "a rose is a rose is a rose," then possibly it should be said that "a dog is a dog is a dog." True, all dogs have characteristics in common, but there are many breeds of dogs just as there are dozens of rose varieties, and each has its devoted admirers for its own characteristics.

Many people become so fascinated or attached to one or two breeds of dogs that they fail to consider the merits of others. Some of our finest breeds are still therefore a long time in coming to the front.

In the field of sporting dogs, the Golden Retriever is high on the list of those deserving attention. Among all the large dogs, the Golden cannot be beaten for his placid, affable behavior even as a puppy, for his sweetness and tolerance toward mauling children, his aptness in learning, his bright beauty, and for his great love of being a retriever or setter. He makes an ideal home pet, the unbeatable pal for children, the perfect companion for the sportsman, with a nose far better than average. And he is at home in the water or on the land.

SHOULD YOU NOT be interested in answering the call of open country and yet still want a Golden for his other fine qualities, you can keep this dog perfectly content with ten minutes backyard retrieving daily. Never throw rocks for him (or any dog) to fetch, for not only is there the hazard of his accidentally swallowing them, but there is the danger of the wear on the enamel of his teeth. He'll enjoy retrieving a ball.

Insist that the dog bring back the article you send him to retrieve. He'll soon catch on and enjoy this game to the utmost even when he is still a youngster. And, since, he loves water, let him romp in the sprinkler or "tease" water coming out of the hose.

IF YOU WANT to make a real field and stream dog out of your Golden, obtain a good book on this subject.

The Golden's fine qualities originated back in Asiatic Russia where he was used as a guardian of sheep and was able to watch them alone through the long, hard winters.

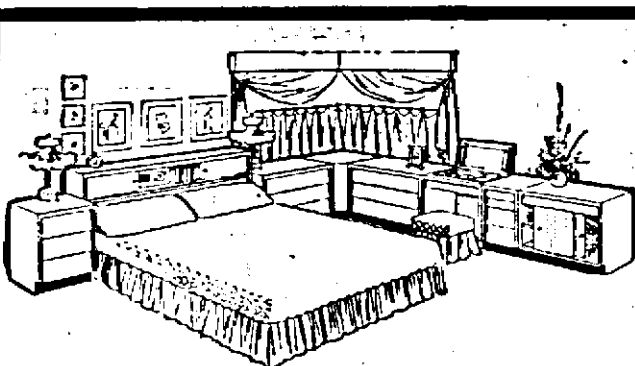

His intelligence came to the attention of the British when

some of these dogs were seen in a traveling circus act, and before long the Golden was a favorite hunting dog in Scotland and England.

AS WITH ALL floppy eared dogs, be on the lookout for any excessive digging at the ears. Ear canker, if neglected, can become a real problem. If the itching does not cease after three or four applications daily of a few drops of camellia oil for a week, or with powdered boric blown into the ear canal with a paper funnel, consult a good veterinarian. Cauterizing the ear canker should stop the trouble if it does not yield to medication.

Grand Duke of Granada, Golden Retriever puppy, is the fine pal of Arntzen children, David Feuer, Kathy Lee.

Picture That Has to Be Snapped Today!

Give baby a background he dominates, as he does the household . . . and shoot today; he'll grow up tomorrow!

By the Shutterbug

ONE OF THE better known copybook maxims says something about never putting off until tomorrow what you can do today.

Well, when it comes to picturing your baby as he is today—that's one thing that just can't be done tomorrow.

Babies grow so fast that planned and regular picture taking is a must if you want a picture record that doesn't have a lot of empty places in it.

SINCE BABIES mostly live indoors, you'll need a source of artificial light. Flash on camera is the simplest way to do it—enabling you to shoot any time, any place, and on the spur of the moment when he's being especially appealing.

Flash has never been known to injure a baby's eyes, so you need have no fears on that score. However, once in a long time, a bulb will shatter when it flashes. Always put a flash guard over your reflector, just to be sure.

WINNERS IN THE recent Long Beach Camera Guild competitions: Black and white prints—Murray Shaner, first; Evelyn Richmond, second; Virginia Callender, third; and Virginia Callender and R. Selvester, honorable mention; color slides—Elva Hayward, first; Murray Shaner, second; Gerald Church, third;

Virginia Murray Shaner and Floyd Williamson, honorable mention. Judge was George French, past exhibition chairman of El Camino, and PSA member.

Murray Shaner won first place in black and white in Southern California Council of Camera Clubs and Neil Shipley, honorable mention in color; Carl Van Steenbergen had a color slide accepted for exhibit in the 25th annual salon of the Boston Camera Club with the slide "Reflections" which was awarded a silver medal for color harmony by the Photographic Society of America.

HOW TO

Build Two Sturdy Gates That Will Add Dignity to Any Fence or Wall

A GATE SMART ENOUGH in design to dignify any fence, is built of 1x12 stock. Mitred edges are beveled to get V-groove effect. Back is braced with 1x4 battens. Lag screws hold hinges, and gate is hung on a stout 4x4 post.

SIMPLE GATE OF STURDY construction makes it all the more handsome. Heavy lumber, prominent nailheads add to the massive effect. Faces of gate are almost identical, but joints are staggered for strength. Weight of gate makes sturdy hinges a must.

You CAN Beat That Alkali!

Black locust is hardy tree, tolerates alkaline soil. In spring it bears masses of fragrant white flowers.

By Karen Smith

IF YOUR SOIL contains salt-soaked sand or is considered alkaline, it would be wise for you to grow plants whose roots will not be harmed by these accumulations. The list of plants is limited but the selection is good.

Some form of corrective measures to the soil should, of course, be considered. Gypsum or sulphur added to water and flushed into the ground will reduce the alkalinity. Consult your nurseryman as to the quantities, for he understands the nature of the soil.

Several loved annuals and perennials are not soil fussy. They include blazing star, calendula, day lily, iris, marguerite, mesembryanthemum, portulaca, statice latifolia, Shasta daisy, sweet alyssum, verbena, baillandia and zinnia.

Among shrubs which, with a little care, will thrive in this type soil are crape myrtle, strawberry madrone, Geraldton waxflower, California juniper, the bottle

WHICH "LAWN TYPE" ARE YOU?

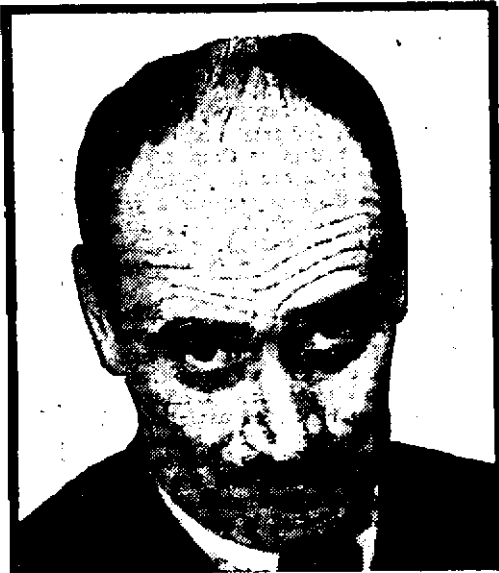

...and which Northrup King Lawn Seed is best for you?

"LAWN PROUD"

You want a showplace. You dream of thick velvety turf, lush and resilient... a lawn total strangers will stop to admire, that will be the envy of the neighborhood. So plant Northrup King GOLF Brand Lawn Seed. It's a blend of finest perennial grasses, including well known Kentucky bluegrass... along with new improved fescues. Given the regular care a fine lawn deserves, it will grow more luxurious and beautiful every year!

For a truly superior lawn plant NORTHROP KING GOLF Brand Lawn Seed.

"LET'S BE REASONABLE"

You care enough to want a lawn definitely superior, but it doesn't have to be a "show" lawn. Your goal is an attractive, permanent lawn. It must stand plenty of day-to-day living, and need only reasonable attention and care. So, plant Northrup King FORE Lawn Seed. It's a blend of good perennial grasses, including quality bluegrass. And because it contains hardy fast-sprouting fescues, your FORE lawn will become quickly established!

For a sturdy attractive lawn plant NORTHROP KING FORE Lawn Seed.

"I JUST WANT GRASS"

And you want it in a hurry, right? What's more, you need the kind of grass that can survive rough treatment... from pounding feet, dragging clothesbaskets, kids, dogs, more kids, wagons, trikes. So, plant Northrup King PAR Lawn Seed. It's a blend of hardy fast-sprouting grasses. These are grasses that quickly produce a thick sturdy turf, with a minimum of care. Count on PAR to grow a rugged lawn for work and play.

For a quick economy lawn plant NORTHROP KING PAR Lawn Seed.

NORTHROP KING LAWNFOOD... feeds your lawn 2 important ways. It contains fast-acting chemical nitrogen for immediate growth and color, plus slower-working organic nitrogen for season-long growth and root development. 50 lbs. covers 5000 sq. ft. Goes further, so it costs less!

NORTHROP KING WEED KILLERS. Spray away lawn weeds, using your garden hose! No complicated mixing or measuring. 2, 4-D WEED KILLER kills most broadleaved weeds. Pint covers 2000 sq. ft. CRAB-GRASS KILLER kills crabgrass, also controls many common lawn diseases. Pint covers 1200 sq. ft.

An Oddity from Australia

SAID TO BE one of the oddest of flowers, the unusual "Kangaroo Paw" from Southwestern Australia is now in bloom at the Los Angeles State and County Arboretum in Arcadia. Because of its unique appearance, this showy herbaceous perennial plant, Anigozanthos Manglesii, is exciting attention from Arboretum visitors, according to Horticulturalist Don Woolley.

The "Red-stemmed Green Kangaroo Paw" is a member of the Amaryllis plant family. The flower stalk shoots up from narrow, black-tipped iris-like leaves. It consists of a woody, brilliant red stem about 20 inches tall, topped with metallic green fingers, or "kangaroo paws," about five inches long.

"Kangaroo Paws" has promise as a novelty plant for Southern California gardens, Arboretum officials believe. It was grown from seed and the base leaves now form a cluster about a foot high. Older plants may become two to three feet in size.

These plants may be seen in bloom at the Arboretum on Sundays when it is open to the public free of charge from 10:30 to 4 p.m. During the week, parties of 10 or more may have escorted jeep-train tours by appointment. The Arboretum is located at 301 N. Baldwin Ave. The telephone is DOuglas 7-3111.

bushes, especially Sallistemon viminalis, golden wonder (Cassia splendida), lavender, Mexican mallow, oleander, pampas grass, blue plumbago, myoporum, California evergreen cherry, dwarf pomegranate, Spanish broom and tamarisk.

MOST OF THESE plants are evergreen and frost resistant to at least 22 degrees. Grape myrtle and tamarisk are delicious.

From the evergreen trees, you can choose carob, Acacia pycnantha (golden wattle), camphor, California fan palm, Parkinsonia aculeata.

Best deciduous trees for alkaline conditions are sweet gum (liquid-amber), Modesto ash, Chinese elm, Chinese flame trees, Chinese pistachio, California sycamore, big-leaved maple, black locust, Fremont poplar, and mulberry, especially the fruitless variety. Chinese elm and the mulberry grow with amazing speed, and black locust is not lagging far behind.

Should none of these suggested plants fill the bill, consult a reliable nurseryman for advice.

Put Ruffles Around Your Garden

Bodger Photo

Growing ruffled petunias of the giant size, such as Fluffy Ruffles (above), will pay floral dividends.

By Walter Finch

AMONG the garden's most spectacular flowers is the giant, fancy petunia, and for the gardener who is willing to take a little extra trouble, the reward in beauty is far greater than the effort spent.

These fanciest of petunias are a favorite subject for florists, and may be found for sale in pots already in bloom. But you can grow them from seed yourself, and have dozens of plants for the price of one in a pot. Here's what to do:

First, be sure you are getting the true fancy strains. You will find them under the name of Giants of California, or Ramona Strain Giants of California, or Paramount Giant. These are the very largest and most heavily ruffled of all, with beautifully veined blooms in a variety of colors. Then, if you admire the fringed petal type, still with huge flowers and often with veining and contrasting throat colors, you should look for the individual varieties Fringed Snowstorm, Pink Triumph, Theodosia, White Mound, or mixtures labeled Fluffy Ruffles or Fimbriata. Any of these will give you tremendous flowers. You'll find that you must pay 25 cents a packet or more for the hand-pollinated seed of these aristocrats.

IT PAYS TO START fancy petunia seeds indoors, for the little seedlings are generally not equal to competition with garden weeds. A mixture of one part leaf mold, one part sand and one part garden soil is generally recommended, although you may want to try a mixture of half vermiculite and half soil, or even pure vermiculite. If the latter alternative is used, then transplant rapidly after germination is completed to a good soil where some fertility will get the seedlings started.

When the planting mixture is ready, press it firmly in the seed flat or into milk cartons cut in half the long way. The soil should be moist but not wet. Sow the seed very thinly in rows (two rows to a milk carton are plenty) directly on the surface of the planting mixture. Don't attempt to make a furrow or to cover the seed as you would in the garden. Sprinkle a very thin covering of pure sand or vermiculite on the seed. It is really not necessary actually to cover the seed — just give it something to nestle into. Then cover the flat or carton with a piece of paper or pane of glass. This is to maintain high humidity and assist germination.

YOU MAY FIND it unnecessary to water the container at all until the seed has sprouted, but if the surface does begin to dry out, then punch a few small holes in the bottom of the carton and set the whole carton in a shallow pan of water for a few minutes.

When the seedlings show one or two sets of true leaves they may be transplanted to pots or, if it is warm, to the garden itself. Give the plants six to 18 inches growing room, depending on the variety, and feed them generously as the growing season continues.

The result will be the fanciest petunias in the neighborhood!

Tips on Gardening

GARDENING TIPS for the week... Hanging baskets go a long way towards decorating patios. Attractive wooden baskets are now available in several different shapes. Nurserymen usually offer hanging baskets already painted. You will find this kind of gardening interesting and colorful.

Most shade loving plants like a fairly humid atmosphere. You can produce this from time to time by showering these ornamentals with cold water. Fuchsias especially react favorably to this cold shower treatment.

While birds have certain irritating habits, they are nevertheless part of an outdoor scene. Bird baths, houses, or just food will attract these feathered friends to your garden. There is no end of fun in watching their peculiar tactics.

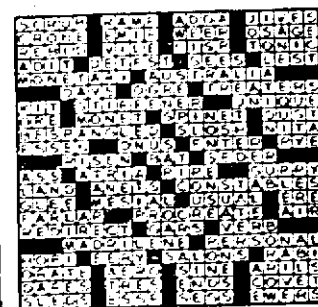

Some roses naturally have weak stems. But in some cases stems appear weak because the plants are not receiving proper sustenance and vitality from the soil.

A little extra potash is always advisable in these cases. Also, treatment with a good trace-element product to furnish the minerals in which they are deficient! If you gave them a treatment of trace elements right after you pruned them, they are now ready for another. If you didn't give them one treatment, don't neglect doing it now because their need for it is just twice as great. Trace elements will be effective on your entire rose bed, giving the bushes strength for their second blooming period.

It is natural that a few yellow leaves appear on the lower cane structure of your bush at this time of year. Only if they become too numerous and appear in the terminal structure, do you need to look for a remedy.

Hand-carved feeding station, kept stocked with food, will attract birds and bring their song into garden.

Snack Bar for Birds

By Bertha Blanchard

AN ATTRACTIVE feeding station adds beauty and enjoyment to the house and garden of any bird lover. Such a garden piece can easily be made by any amateur woodworker.

The six-foot, carved post gives protection as well as privacy to feeding birds. A metal tray set on top of the wooden shelf makes an easily cleaned, sanitary feeding place.

Of course, the most interesting detail of all is the hand-carved bird, painted in life-like colors—a picturesque background for the shelf. The quaint shingled roof, that partially shades the tray, gives a touch of charm and individuality to this feeding station.

TONY GUILLEN
Work. Work. Work...

SO YOU THINK you might
like to be a restaurant owner?

You might change your mind
after you read about the terrifically long hours put in daily by
Tony Guillen, owner of El Patio
No. 1 Cafe, 337 Pacific Ave., and
El Patio No. 2 Cafe, 3503 Atlantic Ave. The superb quality of Tony's cuisine has made him one of the Long Beach area's most successful Mexican restaurant
owners.

But Tony has to pay for that success with work, work, work.
For example, look at the hours
he put in last Monday: He got up around 7:30 a.m., had breakfast
and drove his oldest boy to school. About 9 o'clock he arrived at El Patio No. 1. Because
Alice Galaz, his chief aide at No.
1, has been ill recently, it was necessary for Tony to do most of the cooking there all day.
About 5 p.m. he drove across town to El Patio No. 2. He supervised the busy activities of the larger cafe until 9 p.m. when he dashed back to No. 1 and closed it for the day. Then he drove all the way back to No. 2,
where he worked until long after
it closed at midnight.

He tumbled into bed, fairly exhausted, at 1:30 a.m., having worked approximately 16 hours.

Despite all that rugged labor,
Tony remains one of the most cheerful men in town, always smiling, with a good word for everybody.

THE PRICES at Tony's cafes
are always extremely reasonable.
One of his most popular items
is the Combination Special, a dinner that this column has raved about previously. For only
$1.25, it includes all of the following carefully prepared, fresh foods: A delicious tostada, which is an avocado salad on a crisp
tortilla; an enchilada with cheese; a taco with lettuce and beef; a plump tamale, and side dishes of wonderful frijoles (refried beans) and Spanish rice.

Among his a la carte specialties are such palate delights as chicken enchiladas, chile relle-nos and chorizos (Mexican sausage.)

El Patio No. 2 is open daily
from 11:30 a.m. to midnight and
closes Tuesdays. El Patio No. 1
is open daily from 11:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. and closed Sundays.

VEL*
MAKES DISHES SHINE
WITHOUT WASHING OR WIPING!

"VEL SOAKS DISHES CLEAN — SAVES YOU ALL THE HARD WORK!"

Don't Wash—JUST SOAK
Dishes soak grease-free in seconds! No washing is needed. If food clings, a touch of the dishcloth gets it off. No greasy dishwater with Vel.

Don't Wipe—JUST RINSE
Just soak and rinse. Dishes dry without wiping! Even grease in pots and pans is so completely dissolved no hard scouring is needed.

Package for package — VEL CUTS GREASE BETTER
• Better than liquid detergents • Better than the leading washday detergent • Better than soap

—and yet NO
'DETERGENT BURN' TO HANDS!

PROVE IT YOURSELF

"HAND-HEAT TEST" shows why:

Dip hands in water. Then put a tablespoonful of any leading washday detergent in one hand — put a tablespoonful of VEL in the other.

FEEL THE HEAT from washday detergents, indicating irritating alkalis and harsh chemicals that cause "Detergent Burn"!

FEEL NO HEAT with Vel because Vel contains no irritating alkalis or harsh washday chemicals that cause "Detergent Burn"!

VEL is a miracle of mildness! Vel helps you avoid rough, red hands — causes no "Detergent Burn"!

Marvelous for dishes and finest fabrics

SQUEAKY THE YOUNG CHIPMUNK, EAGER TO BE ON HIS OWN, SCURRIES FORTH INTO THE BRIGHT SUNLIT WOODS

BUT HAVING NO BURROW TO HIDE HIM FROM HIS ENEMIES, HE SELECTS A SUITABLE SPOT AND BEGINS DIGGING

AFTER HOURS OF EXCAVATING, THE YOUNG GROUND SQUIRREL HAS A COZY TUNNEL BENEATH A GREAT BOULDER

BUT BEFORE HE RESTS FROM HIS LABORS, SQUEAKY CUNNINGLY CAMOUFLAGES HIS NEW QUARTERS

DIGGING UPWARD, HE MAKES A NEW OPENING BENEATH A TANGLE OF TREE ROOTS, WITH NO TELLTALE PILE OF EARTH

THEN HE PLUGS THE FIRST ENTRANCE WITH DIRT, REMOVES THE SURPLUS, AND SKILLFULLY COVERS THE SPOT WITH LEAVES

Wedding Rehearsal

BY HARRY WEINERT

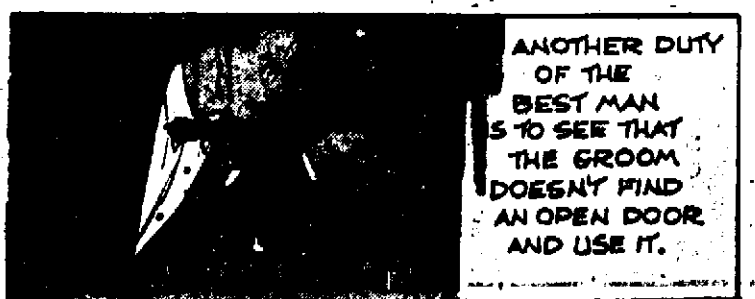

THE FIRST HITCH OCCURS WHEN SOMEONE NOTICES THAT THEY FORGOT TO BRING THE FATHER OF THE BRIDE

'ANYBODY WANTA PLAY OLD MAID?'

RUSHING INTO THE DOGHOUSE.

With more years of research... more study and experimentation... more major contributions to dental hygiene during the past 79 years than any other company in the world, COLGATE—WORLD LEADER IN TOOTHPASTES—NOW ANNOUNCES

COLGATE BRISK* FLUORIDE TOOTHPASTE

Contains the ONLY FLUORIDE proved in 10 years of clinical tests

HARDENS TOOTH ENAMEL, MAKES TEETH STRONGER

starts working instantly TO DEFEAT DECAY

Scientists proved this Fluoride
And Brisk's Fluoride is the only Fluoride proved in 10 year clinical tests... the same fluoride now being used successfully in water supplies... the same dentists use successfully to reduce decay. That's why this same fluoride, so widely approved by medical, dental and governmental authority, is now in Brisk.

Benefits both adults and children
Brisk's Fluoride/85, Colgate's exclusive new formula, helps protect all permanent teeth whether in adults or children over six. Brisk's Fluoride is instantly released... works on contact as you brush your teeth... strengthens tooth enamel as no other decay-preventive ever could.

Works even while you eat, drink or sleep
because Brisk's Fluoride/85 not only gives you wonder-working Fluoride to strengthen tooth enamel, but provides a second, tested decay-fighter that starts working instantly... keeps working all day against the formation of decay-acids. Unless you get Brisk, you cannot get the benefits of Fluoride/85.

Only BRISK has FLUORIDE/85,
gives extra protection Fluoride alone can't give...
works best where you need it most

Brisk's Fluoride actually concentrates in weak or "soft" spots where decay usually starts — combines with tooth enamel, becomes part of the tooth itself — thus protects as no other decay-fighter can. And Brisk's new, stay-active decay-fighter reaches into tight crevices between teeth — into food-traps where decay acids form — starts working instantly to defeat a major cause of decay.

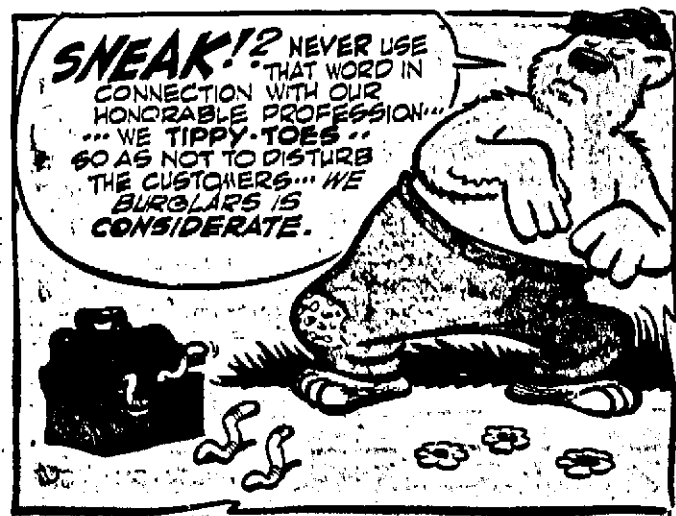

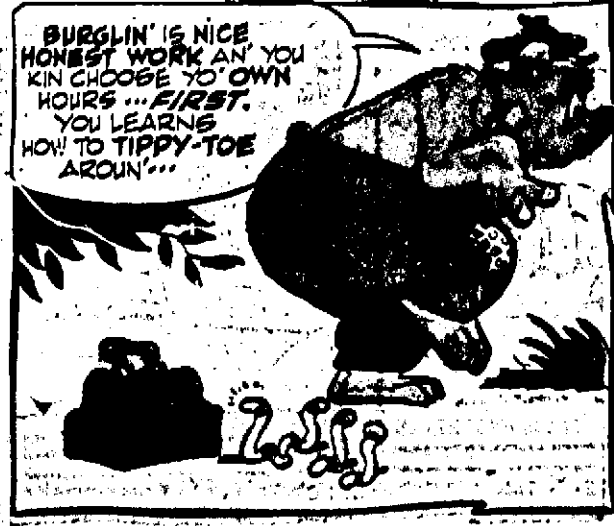

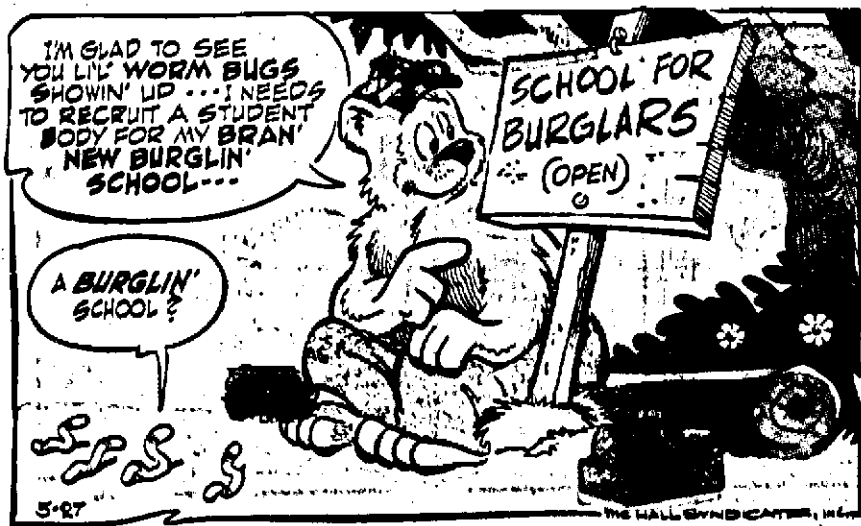

WONDERFUL FLAVOR!
Helps keep breath fresh all day!
And there's no "tinny" aftertaste with new Brisk! Your mouth tastes sparkling cool and sweet! Brings out all the natural whiteness of teeth!
